Booster Bits

By WILEY POSTON

Noticed a nice little ad in the Booster of the Woodville Service Center. We were talking with Mrs. Turner on the phone about the services they offer and it looks like a good thing. They do plumbing repair, welding, and a variety of services that folks always seem to be needing. Buddy Waggoner and Jim Turner operate it and we are always glad to see enterprising folks get started. Hope you will use this service.

Judy Sturrock dropped by to see us. Judy was chosen Miss Port Arthur in the pageant last Saturday and she will represent them in the Miss Texas Pageant in Ft. Worth. We wish her good luck. We also wish our Miss Tyler County, Linda Pate, a lot of luck too. Linda is a fine sweet girl and will represent us well. We also want to thank the ABWA ladies for their great efforts in keeping the Miss Tyler County Pageant going and for the nationwide publicity we get from their efforts. We do not refer to it as "free publicity" because if you know work, tears, and heartaches that goes into the pageant, you would say they are paying dearly for the publicity we enjoy. Seriously, we do appreciate our Wisteria Chapter of the ABWA, and I will remind them that I still have lemon pie coming for dessert.

J. B. Best & Company are celebrating their 50th Anniversary and doing so with a gigantic sale. This company has been a pillar in the community and we sure hope everyone will visit them during the big celebration.

People we saw department: Lewis Hudson, A & M Motor general manager, with a big smile and nice howdy. E.D (kinfolks) Walker doing a good job in the real estate field. Durham Saw Company's Mrs. V. L. Durham, along with her mother from Georgia, dropping by the Booster office.

Edward's Funeral Home Mrs. Joe Edwards being very helpful in helping us with the news. The Mooney brothers, judge Jeff and Allen, displaying real brotherly love as they came across the street from the courthouse together. Citizen's State Bank's Iris Whigham with her usual nice smile and friendly greeting when we saw her in the bank recently.

The Woodville Nursing Center had open house for the public to see the new wing that has been added, making it now much larger with even more facilities. We can remember the groundbreaking ceremonies and then watched it being built from the pouring of the concrete to the completed unit. We also saw it fill up very fast with some of the sweetest, finest, senior citizens we've known, and now to think it has doubled in this short period of time, requiring additional space. Not only has Woodville Nursing Center provided more adequate care for our elderly people, but has added greatly to the economy of Tyler County with its large payroll and purchasing. It added greatly to Tyler County also when it brought Rev. Rowat Smith and his lovely family to us. We had a chance to visit with our dear friend John Karcher recently and we recalled the days when the Center was taking shape. It took a lot of doing, but Tyler County can now be very proud of it. The Tyler County Hospital Board and commissioners court can also be proud of their efforts in bringing the Woodville Nursing Center to Tyler County.

For lines farther than 100 feet from a main, an extra charge of 50 cents per foot for one inch or smaller taps and $1.00 per foot for over one inch will be charged.

Tapping to sewer mains are, for a four inch tap, $80 and, for six inch $150. Above six inch size taps will be charged two-thirds the actual cost of installation.

Gas line taps are $40 for one-inch line. All above one inch will be charged two-thirds the actual cost of installation.

It's Official: Wiley Grandpa

Ken and Brenda Poston of Diboll are the parents of a son born Wednesday of last week in a Lufkin hospital. The new arrival weighed in at seven pounds twelve ounces and was named Kevin Anthony Poston.

Ken, who is general manager of Radio Station KSPL, is the son of Wiley Poston of KVLL, and logically that makes Wiley a grandpa. Incidently, Wiley got the news of the birth of his first grandson via radio--it was broadcast over KSPL, repeated on KVLL and coincidently Wiley, who was in Beaumont, had just tuned in on KVLL when Bill Mack put the news on the air.

Since both father and grandfather are radio station managers how else would you expect the news to get to grandpa?

10-County Singers To Meet Friday

The 10-County Singing Convention will hold its regular third Friday session at the VFW Hall Friday night beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Jimmy Brown and Bob Bell are in charge of the singing and all gospel music singers are invited.

Quick-Change Gang Nabbed

A quick-chance artist and four accomplices who were arrested last week after bilking local merchants out of $50 were fined and two of them given short jail sentences in county court Monday.

The four were arrested by Police Chief John Grammer and Assistant Chief Ed Sumrall after they got away with $40 from Gassiott's Department Store and $10 from Frank Lessor Service Station in a scheme in which they presented a $20 bill and then, finding they had smaller change, switched with clerks after pocketing the change from the $20 bill.

County Judge Jeff Mooney fined Artis Johnson, who gave his home address as Omaha, Nebraska, $138.50 including court costs on each of the two charges. He was also directed to make restitution to the merchants. He remained in jail Tuesday.

His four accomplices received $63.50 fines on each count and one, Edgar David Simmons of Dallas, received a three day jail sentence on each count. He served the time and paid his fine and was released.

The other three defendants, all women, were fined $63.50 each on each count. Beatrice Coleman and Lola Wigall remained in jail Tuesday while Dora Williams paid her fine and was released. They all gave Dallas addresses.

J. B. Best Store Observes 50th Anniversary

J. B. Best and Company this week begins celebration of its 50th year in business in Woodville, having been established by the late J. B. Best and operated today by his son, James Best, and son-in-law, J. H. Kenesson, Jr.

It was in 1919 that J. B. Best decided to go into business for himself after several years of working in other stores and operating a Watkins wagon business. He rented a frame building at the corner of Bluff and Charlton streets and began operating a general merchandise store which catered to the needs of the people of the county in that period. He sold everything a family needed including feed, hardware, groceries and dry goods.

Mr. Best operated this store for 20 years and in the latter part of 1937 started construction of a brick building on the present location. He moved into the new building on June 8, 1938, and the business has been continuously carried on in the same building, later enlarged, since that time.

Mr. Kenesson joined the business experience in 1907 at a store between Hillister and Spurger at Mooney's Hill operated by J. A. Mooney, father of Allen and Jeff Mooney. Later he worked in company stores operated by Houston Land and Lumber Company at Warren and Kirby Lumber Company at Village Mills, and in a general merchandise store in Woodville operated by Reid and Tubb.

From 1911 to 1915 he was a dealer for Watkins products in Tyler County. He covered the county four times a year since it took three months to complete each round in a wagon.

J. B. Best and Company a few years ago dropped its feed [illegible] central [illegible] brands [illegible] and sh[illegible] a complete mens shop was added following the enlargement of the original brick building to its present size.

Robert is well known here since he and his parents, brother and sister spent many summers at the Shivers place west of town when he was younger.

KVLL CORNER

By ORVIS WOODS

Hi there. It's good to greet you again by means of newspaper. We just returned from a trip to Music City (Nashville, Tenn.). I'm happy to report a safe trip and a great time. Although we were gone only a few days this time, we accomplished quite a lot. Here are some of the highlights of the trip...

We visited music row (16th Avenue South) and the Country Music Hall of Fame. We had the pleasure of watching a live recording session in progress. Jerry Wallace, a great artist who recorded "Sweet Child of Sunshine", was doing the recording. What a session! The songs he was recording will be released in a few months probably, and they are absolutely great. We attended both the Friday and Saturday night Opry and the Loretta Lynn Hoffer, where our contestant, Bonnie Sharp brought the house down with his singing. Again Ronny thrilled the audience this time at the Ernest Tubb Mid-Night Jamboree. If you had been listening to WSM-Radio Saturday night, you would have heard him. I was thrilled to introduce him for his performance over WSM. I feel that Ronny will be going back for more appearances in the future. Also I might add that Loretta Lynn and her associates went out of their way to make our stay in Nashville a most comfortable and pleasant one.

Don't forget these two TV shows: "Hee-Haw" on Saturday evening over CBS and "The Johnny Cash Show" over ABC on Saturday night. (It replaces "The Hollywood Palace.") Also don't forget that Carl and Pearl Butler are going to be at Mor-Jagon's Bayharm this Saturday night, June 21, at 8 p.m. The Bayharm is in Shepland, Texas.

DAM "B" NEWSNOTES

By MRS. G. B. BICE

Our Vacation Bible School takes the Fairgrounds this week. We had such a wonderful week. Our attendance was marvelous. The writer has been in many Bible schools down through the years but the one at Fairview was by far the best yet. Our workers did such a marvelous job. With a leader like our Mrs. Linda Spathard's, everything went like clock work. The performance of the children Friday night just made one's heart full and running over. We thank the parents for their cooperation and we give God the praise.

After a few days of service in Moscow Baptist, Bro. Spinkhanks was back with us for Sunday morning service with his usual nice message. The church was almost filled and we welcome the many visitors. We are glad you came our way.

Was good to have Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hartman and son with us again. We do miss our folks when they are away.

Was good to see Mrs. Nell Fitzgerald in church. Nell has been on a very low limb for a while but hope she is feeling better.

Miss Jessie Dwyer was not able to be in church. Her health is poor.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Buckles are home for the summer. Mrs. Buckles teaches in Wolmer. Int as soon as the fall begins for school to be out, they hit for their home on Dam B. It is nice to know folks like the Buckles.

We were so very glad to have Mr. and Mrs. L. Simms of Pasadena in our church service Sunday. Mrs. Simms told us she knew some Bices in Pasadena and were they kin to our bunch. I told her they sure could be as they were pretty thick, but I did not know who they were. If I had known them I would have invited them to my house on the 22nd for the Bice reunion. If my Bice seen this column, just consider you are invited so grab a lunch and hit the road to G. B. Bice's on Ogden Bluff at Dam B.

We were glad to have Janice Hunter of Houston AFB, in the Sunday School class. She is the daughter of our friends Mrs. Bettie Grimes.

Congratulations of Norman Mc-Clintock who has recently become a member of our church. If is nice to know all our members but with a church growing like Fairview, one needs to be wide awake to keep up. But we want to know and love all our people.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips were happy to have with them their grandson, Harry David of Beaumont. We were glad you shared your boy with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole of South Park brought in several young folks with them to our church.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tortorich was made happy by having their two nephews, Eric and Matthew Harper of Nederland spend the week with them. Those boys had such a good time riding their bicycles.

We were happy to have the Buster Maywalks back again this weekend. Will be so nice when they can come home for keeps.

Visiting in the Tommy Hooper home over the weekend was his sister, Mrs. Merita Kuntzman, also Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Blevins all from San Angelo. Other weekend and Monday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kuntzman and daughter of Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Mcdaughen spent the weekend here at their place on Ogden Bluff at Dam B.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Simoneaux were here at their cabin over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Caffey and G. B. Bice went fishing at Bayburn last Thursday. They did not get too many fish but enjoyed the scenery.

Pete Lingford and family of Houston spent Father's Day with his dad and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lingford.

Mr. and Mrs. Noral Smith spent Sunday afternoon with the Floyd Lane family of Kirbyville.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaughin of Port Arthur left on a vacation and will visit a son in Tyler. Mr. McLaughin is one of our Dam B folks.

When it rains it usually pours so it was here Sunday afternoon. Some of our junior boys were playing at a friends home rolling barrels when our Jack Brown got his arm broken. He is in Tyler County Hospital and is doing as well as expected.

It was very nice to have Mrs. John Cramer, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Cramer and Misses Thepsa Crosby and Sheila Atkins join our Sunday school class. Mrs. Leo Seaman is the teacher for our class and let me tell you, she is a long up good teacher. She was away Sunday and had the pleasure of taking her place. It was a joy long to be remembered.

Those visiting in the Dewey Smart home this week were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cutrer up Port Neches.

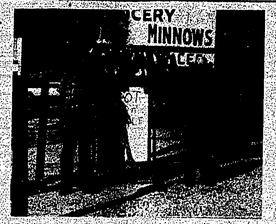
We were happy to make the Mrs. Dewey Smart, one of our lovely ladies is in Tyler county hospital suffering with one of her arms waiting for the doctor to decide her trouble. We miss both Jack and Mrs. Smart in service very much. Sunday night and trust you will both be back with us soon.

We had two very fine young men join us for service Sunday night. The boys have been sent here by our Home-Mission Board and will be in the Fairview vicinity this week and go to other churches. Their job is to preach the Gospel to folks around the three lakes, Dam B, Sam Rayburn and Toledo Bend, following as much as possible, the Savior's command, "Go preach the gospel to every creature." We are very glad to help these fine young men in their work. They are David McLemore from Arkansas and George Hemgway of Florida. They seem to be very fine young men, good Christians and will be ministering to folks around for ten weeks. We feel sure these boys will be doing a great work for the Master. We are proud to help them.

The Baptist associational meeting will be held in Kay Baptist Church at Colmesneil this week on Tuesday.

Fairview will hold their brotherhood meeting Thursday night. The WMU will also meet on the same night. Be glad if everyone who can will join us.

This is a new day that God has given me. Will I waste it or use it for good? What I do today is very important because I am exchanging a day of my life for it. When tomorrow comes this day will be gone forever, leaving in its place something I have traded for it. I want it to be gain, not loss; good, not evil; success, not failure, so I won't regret the price I paid for it.



Friday the 13th certainly didn't mean bad luck for these two fishermen. "Grandpa" Wise of Woodville, left, and Lee Harvey of Jasper caught these 104 white perch Friday, June 13 at Sam Rayburn. They were fishing from the bank.

HOMEMAKING HINTS

By Mrs. Maurine J. Mooney, HD Agent

With June comes summer and with summer comes important and timely gardening chores. Do not neglect June gardening demands as you enjoy the rewards of summer out-of-doors.

1. Azaleas and Camellias. During early summer, both azaleas and azaleas form flower buds for next season's blooms. Healthy plants will produce abundant flower buds, while those which are neglected have poor flower potential. During June and the summer, a lack of water, poor soil, lack of plant feed, improper insect and disease control, may seriously affect next season's bloom. Provide proper care for azaleas and camellias now to insure good flowering.

Azaleas have shallow roots which demand moist summer soils, careful cultivation and summer mulch.

2. Summer watering. As hot summer days approach, rains tend to decrease. Do not limit plant growth and production with a lack of water. Supply a good soaking, not just a sprinkling. Light waterings develop shallow roots which dry out quickly and cannot supply needed foods for the plants. Over watering on the other hand, where soils remain wet, eliminates air from the soil, and the roots suffocate. Allow the foliage area of plants to dry off before nights as wet plants over night may encourage plant diseases.

3. Gardenia and Hydrangea. These early summer bloomers should be pruned immediately after flowering. Next year's blooms will be formed on the plants by late summer. A delayed pruning may eliminate next year's blooms. White fly and scale on gardenias and spider mites on hydrangeas may be controlled with malathion. Spray well beneath the foliage, and repeat applications every 30 days if necessary.

The thirsty hydrangea demands frequent waterings. If exposed to much sun, water twice a day. The plant is taxed when in bloom, therefore requires lots of moisture.

Hydrangea blooms should be conditioned before bringing indoors. Cut the blooms in the late evening, selecting fresh blooms. Immediately burn the ends of the stems and plunge into deep cold water overnight before arranging indoors. Allow same blooms to dry on the flat for fall and winter arrangements.

4. Summer care of pot and container plants. Container and pot plants can be handsome accents to any garden. Well selected plants in containers may be shifted from spot to spot and arranged for best attractiveness.

Pot and container plants out-of-doors require careful summer care. Summer wind and heat quickly dry the containers, thus if they are in the sun or exposed to wind, they should be checked daily for watering.

Necessary, frequent waterings quickly wash plant foods from the soil, thus the plant requires frequent feedings.

Perhaps the best container and pot plant fertilizer is commercial liquid house plant foods which may be added when watering the plant several times a month, or monthly depending on the type plant. Flowering annuals and hanging baskets may be fertilized weekly, while others may require only a monthly treatment.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Marry Me—I Dare You!"

During a college party, one of the girls noted a playful challenge on her boy friend's T-shirt.

"Marry me—I dare you!"

The idea seemed so hilarious that they drove across the state line, found a justice of the peace, and went through a formal wedding ceremony. Afterward, both the bride and the groom returned to their respective homes. A few days later, uneasy about what they had done, they went to their local law office for advice. Both asked the same question: Is our marriage valid? The answer was "No." Why? Because they were never truly married.

"Mere words," said the judge. "Without any intention corresponding to them will not make a marriage."

Most courts agree that, if a marriage is not valid, it has no legal standing. However, it is a different story if the marriage—although meant to be temporary—is no joke. Thus:

"An engaged couple had a bitter quarrel the night before their wedding day. In tears, the girl said she would break up. But the young man pleaded:

"My boss has promised me a raise on the basis of our getting married. Let's go ahead so I can get the raise. Then, later, we can have the wedding annulled."

But in this case, the court refused to grant an annulment. The judge said this ceremony, even though entered into for a special, limited purpose, was still a marriage at the moment it was performed.

What about "trial marriages"? One young girl married with the private understanding that, if things did not work out, either one of them could have it annulled.

But here, too, the court found no grounds for annulment. As one judge put it:

Marriage is not something to be swept aside lightly. To permit annulment of a marriage otherwise legal, from mere proof that the parties agreed beforehand to dissolve it upon the cooling of the dignity of the marriage relationship."

Waterfront Community Gives Berth to High-Quality Homes

Now that they've met the needs of two-car families, some home builders have shifted gears and are selling sail for the two-boat market.

This means providing not just boating and bathing facilities, but the type of modern quality homes that families who can afford boats are likely to look for.

In one successful waterfront community on New York's Long Island, Mister Hill, Minister Lee is quite attractive, modern and selling close to home buyers by emphasizing convenience and using better building materials, even though it means higher selling prices. He also improved the basic waterfront facilities with marina, backyard docks and navigable inland canals.

Homes in this unusual community appropriately called The Moorings are one of a kind in design. Miller has no model homes. Instead, potential residents bring their own architectural "blueprints," or clean ideas from an extensive file of house plans he provides. Miller sets construction standards and stresses quality building materials, such as Andersen window units, for the homes he builds. He keeps on display a cross-section of an Andersen window to demonstrate the quality features, and estimates that 95 percent of the homes have welded insulating glass and removable grilles. Tempered glass—now a standard safety feature in Andersen sliding doors—is recommended for all homes because it is less likely to break or to cause injury should accidental breakage occur.

A total of 86 homes is planned for "The Moorings" 116-acre tract. Most home sites are on Great South Bay or along bulkheaded canals deep enough to accommodate large cruisers. Owners of the few landlocked lots (which border a beautifully-wooded bird sanctuary) have a private yacht basin and dock rights.

The community has a system of private roads, and plans are underway for two pools and a social center. Property maintenance is handled by a homeowners' association.

County Agent Reports

By Clinton R. Currie

Insect stings can be deadly. Figures on a national basis show that more deaths result from bee stings than from bites of poisonous snakes.

The list of stinging insects includes bees, wasps, hornets and yellow jackets.

While the reaction by most individuals is a sharp pain for a short time followed by swelling, the reaction by others may be an acute allergy, a serious illness or even death for some people. Yellow jackets, honeybees, bumblebees and hornets are listed as the worst offenders.

Persons sensitive to insect stings must be extremely cautious when doing jobs which expose them to stinging insects.

You should use a good insect repellent or the wearing of protective clothing when working outdoors. Light colored clothing is suggested.

Avoid sudden motion. Motion and air movement will attract a mad bee. Bees and wasps most often sting when they are touched or their nests disturbed.

Persons sensitive to insect stings are advised to see the advice of a physician on what to do in case of a sting, it could save a life.

There are controls for cattle grubs and they work. These livestock pests are the larval stages of the heel fly which annoys cattle during the late spring and early spring.

Losses from heel flies and cattle grubs are many. The instinctive reaction of cattle fleeing heel flies interferes with normal grazing and causes weight and energy losses. The grubs, as they migrate through the animal's body cause annoyance and irritation and compete with the animal for nutrients, resulting in reduced production of meat and milk. Grubby slaughter animals are frequently docked because the carcass-blemishing warbles must be trimmed resulting in meat waste and unattractive, less valuable carcasses. Holes do damage the value of hides for leather use.

Effective grub control depends upon the proper use of systemic insecticides—chemicals fed or applied to the animals body which are then distributed through the body tissues to control grubs inside the animal. Best results are obtained when animals are treated as soon as possible after the formation of the heel fly activity and when the grubs are small.

Because of the number of insecticides available, the county agent suggests that interested persons come by his office for copies of MP-56, "A Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry" and fact sheet L-725, "Common Grubs of Cattle." These publications outline in detail recommended chemicals and their use.

HOMERS HIGHLIGHTED IN LITTLE LEAGUE ACTION

RED SOX AND YANKEES FIGHT FOR POSESSION OF TOP SPOT.

Yankees-Tigers

The Yankees opened a 10-0 lead in the first two innings and held off a late surge by the Tigers and went on to win 10-7 in little league action last week.

The Yankees opened the game with four big runs in the first frame. Only one hit and three walks plus numerous wild pitches and passed balls were all that was needed to score.

The second inning the Yankees poured in six more runs with singles by Royce Best, Jim Mashburn, Lance Parker and a double by Jimmy Reid highlighting the run producing inning.

The Tigers staged a little rally of their own in the second and fourth inning by giving a score to the Yanks. Only one hit and three walks combine hit and three walks coupled with passed balls and wild pitches gave the Tigers their three runs. Mickey Thrower highlighted the fourth by leading off the inning with a base-empty homer. Then singles by Carl Parks and Jerry Mack led to more runs before the hammer fell.

Jimmy Reid was the winning pitcher for the Yankees sending relief help from David Tolbert while the loser was Thrower.

Red Sox-Dodgers

Larry Miller had two homers and a triple to pace the Red Sox to a 11-1 romp over the Warren Dodgers in little league action last week.

Miller lined his first homer in the first with two outs and two aboard to give his team a 3-0 defeat. His triple in the third started a two run rally and his last homer came in the fourth again with two runners aboard. Altogether Miller had six runs batted in for the night and scored three himself.

Warren got their lone tally in the second frame when Jimmy Rivers was hit by a pitched ball and came around to score on passed balls.

The winning pitcher for the Red Sox was Cliff Piffer who helped his own cause with a two run shot in the fourth. The loser was Warren Thompson.

Red Sox-Astros

The Red Sox trounced the Astros 17-1 in little league action last week.

The Sox opened the contest with only two runs in the first inning on a single by Larry Miller with two runners aboard.

The league leaders then tallied eleven in a runaway in the second frame.

John Cockerham, Larry Miller, David Mahan, Jerry Lewis and Dan Smith all had runs batted in that inning with Lewis and Smith getting homers.

This was not all as they rallied for four more runs in the last inning.

The Astros got there by way of three bases on balls and one hit batsman.

The winning pitcher for the Red Sox was Robert Best and the loser was Kenneth Yafante.

Smith, Larry Miller each had two hits while Lewis had his homer.

Tigers-Indians

The Tigers defeated the Indians 10-6 in little league action last week.

The Indians were the first to strike as they tallied a long run in the second inning on walks to Claude Johnson and William Leonard and a run scoring single by Toddie Battien.

They rallied for three more in the top of the third with the big blows being singles by William Larry and Randy Coleman.

The Tigers were not to be outdone as they bounced back to take the lead with a big ten run inning. Billy Swearingen had a double and a triple to lead the assault for the winners. Hits by Bryon Burnett, Mickey Thrower, Chuck Comte, Aubrey Jackson and Ronnie Mclam also led to runs.

The winning pitcher for the Tigers was Bill Swearingen while the loser was Gary Sylestine.

Swearingen and Thrower were the leading hitters for the winners with each having two hits while William Larry was the leading hitter with two hits for the Indians.

Tigers-Astros

The Tigers outlasted the Astros 10-9 in little league action last week.

The Tigers matched the Astros in the top of the first to start their scoring machine but that was all. The Astros seven run rally in the side was enough. Hits by Aubrey Jackson, Ronnie Mclam, Mickey Thrower, Charles Kratter highlighted the frame.

The Tigers managed seven in the third frame when Jimmy Rivers, Kratter and Jackson drove in Thrower who had singled. They then added one more in the fourth when Jackson lined a homer with one aboard to end the game with the three run rally.

The winning pitcher for the Tigers was Thrower and the loser was Taylor.

Kratter had three hits to pace the winners while teammates Billy Swearingen and Mickey Thrower had two apiece. Bailey had the only hit for the Astros.

Cards-Astros

The Colmesneil Cardinals romped the Astros to the tune of 12-1 in little league action last week.

Colmesneil pushed across five runs in the initial inning on a combination of walks, errors by the Astros, and a double by Jimmie Pittman.

The Redbirds added a run in the second inning on a lone single by Lonnie Odell BEAN, Gary Conard and Tim Brown.

The Astros rallied to their own cause as they tallied in the second on a single by Collins and two straight walks.

Colmesneil pushed across three more in the third on hits by Gary Conard and Jimmie Pittman.

Jimmie Pittman was the winning pitcher for the Cardinals and Kenneth Yafante was the loser.

Gary Conard, Jimmie Pittman and Jammie Pittman were the leading hitters for the winners.
