

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF WOODVILLE SCHOOL FROM 1873 TO 1907.

It is the purpose of this edition of the Messenger to give, as complete as possible, a history of the school of Woodville, showing its development from a poorly supported country school of one or two teachers, to the magnificent High School which it has now attained, and which we feel so proud of, as well as giving a complete account of the commencement exercises that have marked the close of the session of 1906-07.

PROF. S. P. WALTRIP,

The writer is indebted to Mrs. Lucy Shivers, Miss Florida Booth, Mrs. D. P. Rock, Mr. Jim Minter and others for the information given below. It may be well to say just here that some points, being so near, are not so accurate, but it is as near correct as possible under the circumstances.

The town of Woodville was founded in the early forties, and with it, as well as with other towns of the state at that time, no system of schools was in existence. The only educational advantages that the children had, were poorly managed parochial schools, taught for the most part, by men, who happened to come along with out other employment.

The school not being directly under the control of the people, and too, the conditions being such that the educational interests were not aroused, this necessarily carried with it a poor school house. Uncle Jim Minter says he remembers which lasted only eight months, well while in school during 1862 and '63 that the doors of the school building were so out of plumb that they could not be shut, and as for the windows, they were in too bad condition to be mentioned. These conditions remind the writer of what his father had said concerning his early school days in Alabama, during this same period. He said that while the girls were reading their lesson, the boys were sent out in the woods near by to learn their spelling and multiplication long enough to make a name returning for a three months school. However, there ever advanced. And while some lessons were left over for the following day, the rod was never used, and now, at the same time, the school was not graded, hence it will be seen that the school had practically no present time they receive their promotions if their work is satisfactory, therefore the beginning of the public school. This condition prevailed until the beginning of the public school with Dr. William Riley in 1872-73, who taught a ten months public school. Dr. Riley was followed by Prof. Stoval in 1873-74, who also taught a ten months public school.

It is said that during the very early period, there were scarcely enough children for one teacher during the pay term. Prof. Stoval was followed by Prof. Gibson, who taught the session of 1880-81. It is said that during Prof. Gibson's term, he was unable to meet his classes for a week on account of sickness, and the school was put in charge of Hon. John H. Kirby. Next came Prof. Frank Crow, a brother of Mr. M. R. Crow, who taught the session of 1881-82, being followed by Prof. Eddie Stoval for the session of 1882-83. During Prof. Eddie Stoval's term the people became satisfied over school matters, and hence the school was divided into two schools being maintained for two sessions, after which they were again united under Prof. Arnold in 1884. Prof. Breeding directed the school during the session of 1884-85, while for the next two sessions two sessions it is not remembered who had charge. During the session of 1886-87 Prof. Leak was head master, while the following term was characterized by the co-principals, Profs. Leak and Bonham, as well as the chartering and building the Huntington Institute. With the building of the Huntington Institute the school interest was shown a healthy growth, and every other subject fails to draw attention from one of our citizens, a conversation of school interests, Barker two sessions,

Johnson one year, and Prof. Williams in 1893-94, under whose term the Huntington Institute was burned. With the loss of this building, education was struck a serious blow. The people had worked hard to reach this point, and when they realized that all of their efforts had disappeared in a cloud of smoke, despair settled over the city, and education was maintained in 1900. However, school was maintained after the fire, being first in the hands of Prof. Porter 1894-95, followed by Prof. Poindexter in '95-'96, with Prof. Barker from 1896-'99. Prof. Sanderson directed the school during the session of 1899-'00, followed by Prof. Sharp in 1900-'01. With Prof. Mark Majors, 1901-'03, it is a pleasure to the writer to say that the school which now stands as a monument, erected and dedicated to the cause of education for this and future generations, had its

Few Changes in the Faculty

The School Board and citizens have for several years past realized that frequent changes in their faculty seriously impair the efficiency of their school, hence it is their policy to secure the best available teachers and retain them as long as they can possibly do so. The School Board exercises extreme care in the selection of their teachers, and especially so, in the selection of their superintendent. When it became necessary to make a change in this office last year, a member of the Board was sent into the town of the present superintendent, with instructions to investigate his standing, ability, and character, and to visit the school in order to have a thorough knowledge of the ways, procedure, serious mistakes, and sources of the best teaching force.

The Work Done

Our school's work during the past year has been up to the standard and requirements of the regular schools of the state. We have eleven grades, since municipal grades for a permanent state certificate; however, the students are allowed to graduate on completion of the tenth grade. A science course has been added the past session, which includes experimental physics and chemistry; and a fairly well equipped laboratory of over a hundred dollars worth of apparatus was provided.

In this part of the state there is a growing demand for trained teachers; hence, what is known as a teacher's course was added

The best evidence of school interest among us was shown during the recent election, presidential election, this district, which includes Woodville, embracing 25 square miles, only 216 votes were cast during the trustee election, and only 66 were cast during the presidential election, while there was a difference of 9 square miles of territory in favor of the presidential election. This speaks for itself.

A Commercial Course, Included

The course is not to prepare students to pass teacher's examination; but to train them in their teaching ability. Two young men and six young ladies availed themselves of this course in the past session.

Antonio City Business College, Pres. Spanish-American Institute, Ciudad Profiri Dinos, Mexico, Supt. Bartlett City Schools, Pres. Hewett Institute, Beckville, from which place he came to take charge of our school.

Prof. S. P. Waltrip received his education in the public schools of Texas, and has had ten years of experience in public school work, most of the time being spent as principal of a high school. Prof. Waltrip has held this position at Buffalo, Oxwee, and Grapeland, from which place he came to Woodville to take a similar position. Prof. Waltrip's talent, experience, and education makes him especially fitted for the important position of principal of the Tyler County High School.

Miss Florida Booth, our first assistant, was educated in the city schools at Woodville. After leaving this position, she immediately returned to teaching, and in this capacity, for twenty years, the last eight of which has been in her alma mater. Her efficiency as a teacher has been manifested by the fact that twenty seven years of her service have been in Tyler County, and on leaving a school, it has been her choice and not that of her Board.

Miss Lucy McAlister Shivers, our second assistant, has been added to the faculty for the coming year. Mrs. Shivers, like Miss Booth, received her early education in the Woodville High School, afterwards attending the San Houston Normal Institute. Mrs. Shivers has had twenty three years of experience in the public schools of this state, spending a part of the time in the Nacogoches College, and the Port Naches public school. Mrs. Shivers taught in one school for nine successive years, which is a sufficient evidence of her superior ability as an educator.

Miss Jessie Rich, our third assistant, did the most of her advanced work in the Spurger High School. Miss Rich is the daughter of a school master, and hence she has had the best of training for her chosen profession.

Miss Tussie Tomlinson, who occupies the fourth assistant's place, attended the Woodville school, and also the San Houston Normal Institute. She has taught one year in our school, and although her experience as a teacher has not been very extensive, still she has manifested marked ability, and her future as a teacher is assured.

Our primary department is under the supervision of Miss Myrtle Triplett, Miss Triplett also received the major portion of her training in the Tyler County High School. No teacher has ever given more general satisfaction in this community, or from the tenth grade to the ninth grade. The Key was transferred to the little fellows than has been Miss Triplett. Her ability and success is manifested by the frequent requests from other school Boards to secure her services.

With the past session, university methods of instruction were introduced into the school, and they have been especially helpful in English and Science.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.
 The commencement exercises of the Tyler County High School were held in the auditorium of the High School May 17, 18, 19, and 20.

This is the first time in the history of Woodville that regular commencement exercises, including graduating exercises, were held. And for a people so deeply interested in school affairs as our people, to see and to realize that their institution of learning was being fruit, transported them into a dream of delight. Long before the time for the program to begin, streams of people began to make their appearance, and by the time the exercises began, the auditorium was filled. Such was the condition each exercise. Every evening seemed to get better, culminating in the long to be remembered Monday evening, May 20, when five intelligent, beautiful, and charming young ladies received their diplomas. Hon.

MISS FLORIDA BOOTH, First Assistant.

Joe W. Thomas, a member of the thirtieth Legislature, addressed the graduates; while the diplomas were delivered by Hon. T. C. Mann.

The graduates consist of Misses Jessie Bookman Crow, Mildred Hutchison, Collier, Mary Seale, Jim Lee Tomlinson, and Kathleen Douglas Rock. Miss Rock achieved the highest grade, hence the valedictory. Miss Seale had the second highest, and therefore was salutatorian, while Miss Crow came next and was class prophet.

Certificates of promotion were awarded to those completing the grammar school a pertinent, who were Misses Alberta Best, Loh under the supervision of Miss Kellough, Edward Riley, Sallie Myrtle Triplett, Miss Triplett, Anna Wickline, also received the major portion of her training in the Tyler County High School. A special feature of the occasion was the transfer of the Key of Knowledge from the tenth grade to the ninth grade. The Key was transferred by Miss Mildred Collier, and received by Miss Sarah Cruise.

The Commencement Sermon was preached by Rev. J. W. Rhodes, pastor of the first Baptist Church of Woodville. The sermon was pronounced by all who heard it as one of the most beautiful and impressive sermons that has ever been delivered from a pulpit of Woodville. The text was taken from 1 Cor. xiii: 13. "And now abideth faith, hope, and charity, these three; but the greatest of these is Charity."

RECENT IMPROVEMENTS.
 During the past session the school Board placed in the auditorium fifty single desks, twenty four recitation benches, which now completes seating the auditorium. An organ will be provided at the beginning of the coming session, and with full seating capacity, regular chapel exercises will be held. The Board contemplates putting a new roof on the building in the next few weeks, and will cure the defect in the construction of the roof.

CONCLUSION.
 Thus with this sketch of our school, both past and present, we wish to make known to the outside world what we have done and are still doing for the cause of education—that we have sipped from the Pierian spring, and from its waters we have received that impulse and enthusiasm that will ultimately culminate in an institution from whose walls the very best talent in the country will emanate, for we breathe the same spirit with President Mirabeau B. Lamar when he said:

"A cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy."
 It is the only dictator that freemen acknowledge and the only security that freemen desire.

Tribute to an Old Cow.

An auctioneer is said to have paid this tribute to an old cow: "Of all the annual friends of man she is the greatest. When about to sit down to your Sunday dinner, I wish I could strip the table of what she produces. I'd remove the cup of milk waiting at baby's chair, I'd take the cream and cheese, the butter, custard pie and cream biscuits, the roast beef and leave you a meal of potatoes, beets, pickles and tooth picks. Every scrap of her from nose to tail is used by man. We use horn to comb our hair, her skin on our feet, her hair keeps plaster on our walls, her hoofs make glue, and her tail makes soap. Her blood is used to make our sugar white, and her bones to fertilize the soil.—Bartlett Tribune.

ORIGINAL ALAMO BELL.

Valuable Historical Relic is Again in the Old Mission.

San Antonio, Tex., May 20.—T. L. Johnson of Seguin brought the original Alamo bell to San Antonio yesterday and now it is suspended by a rope from one of the rafters in the center of the old mission.

The bell is made of brass, weighing fifty pounds, and is handsomely embossed with various figures. It shows signs of years of hard use, but its tone is as clear and musical as the tone of a new bell.

This old bell, which was a silent witness to the most historic struggle in the cause of liberty, has never been recorded on a new page of our history. It was taken from the San Antonio river by Anton Lockmar, the first husband of Mrs. Eugene Giraud, at a point directly west from the town of the Alamo, in September, 1845, and was presented by Anton Lockmar to the old Irish banker, John Twobig, and by him submitted to the Catholic clergy, then in charge of the San Fernando Cathedral and the old Catholic mission of San Antonio, for identification, and was by them authenticated as the old Alamo church bell.

John Twobig kept this bell in his office until the fall of 1852, when he married Miss Bettie Calvert, the daughter of Major J. S. Calvert of Seguin, to whom he presented this bell. Major Calvert had just opened the old Magnolia Hotel in Seguin and the old bell was immediately put into commission as the hotel bell call, and it remained hung on its scaffold from 1852 until 1900, when an attempt was made to steal it. The bell was then taken down and put in a place of safety.

Major Calvert presented this relic to his daughter, Mrs. C. K. Johnston, and she presented it to her youngest son, T. L. Johnson. It was at the request of Miss Florence Eager, custodian of the Alamo, that the bell was hung in the old mission, where it is to remain until Mr. Johnston asks that it be returned.—Weekly Sentinel.

A Good Creed.

"Do not keep the alabaster boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving, cheering words while their ears can hear them, and while their hearts can be thrilled and made happier by them; the kind things you mean to say when they are gone, say before they go. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, send to brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them.

"If my friends have alabaster boxes laid away, full of fragrant perfumes of sympathy and affection, which they intended to break over my dead body, I would rather they would bring them out in my weary and troubled hours, and open them, that I may be refreshed and cheered by them while I need them.

"I would rather have a plain coffin without a flower, a funeral without an eulogy, than a life without the sweetness of love and sympathy.

"Let us learn to anoint our friends beforehand for the burial. Post-mortem kindness does not cheer the troubled spirit. Flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over life's weary way."

Tent meeting at Rockland.

Rev. G. W. Thomason, General Missionary for New Bethel Association and Rev. Elbert Pool of Jacksonville, are conducting a successful tent, meeting at Rockland. Rev. Thomason states that notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, indications are, that much good will result from the meeting. Rev. Thomason seems very enthusiastic, in this work and says he wants to see Woodville have a tent meeting, wants the people to think and talk about one, and suggested that about July would be a good time to hold it.
