Bullock To Speak At Banquet

The Texas State Comptroller of Public Accounts, Bob Bullock, will be the featured speaker and guest of the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce at their annual banquet scheduled for Friday Jan. 21, 1977.

Tyler County Chamber officials say that tickets for the event will go on sale shortly after the first of the year and expect a large turnout due to Bullock's appearance.

Bullock began his first term as Comptroller of Public Accounts in January, 1975.

He served as Texas Secretary of State from 1971 to 1973 under the administration of then Governor Preston Smith. He served as an assistant attorney general in 1967-68 in charge of the Anti-Trust and Consumer Protection Division.

Bullock was elected from his hometown of Hillsboro to two terms in the Texas House of Representatives (1956-1959).

He was appointed by the governor in 1963 as a member of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

He is a 1955 graduate of Texas Tech and of Baylor University Law School in 1958.

Bullock, 46, is an Air Force combat veteran of the Korean conflict. He served in the Air Force from January, 1951 to October, 1954.

Bullock To Be C. of C. Speaker

Lowe Is Commissioner

WOODVILLE--Tyler County Judge Allen Sturrock appointed Kenneth Lowe of Chester Thursday to fill the Precinct 2 commissioner's post left vacant by the death of H.M. Parks.

Judge Sturrock said in a prepared statement that the selection was made "after much thought and soul searching" and that the choice "best fits the situation that we are faced with at this time."

Lowe, 60, is a native of Chester and worked as a county employe with the late Commissioner Parks for four years. Judge Sturrock cited this as one reason for the appointment, since Lowe was already familiar with the situation.

Lowe is an army veteran of World War II and Served 18 months in Europe as a member of the combat engineers. He has lived in the county all but 20 years of his life, having worked in Magnolia for five years and Houston for the other 15.

"I'll try to do the best I can," said Lowe about his appointment. He added that the Precinct 2 employees had already resumed regular work after one day off for the funeral of Commissioner Parks.

Parks was stricken by a heart attack while deer hunting Saturday morning, Nov. 13, and was dead on arrival at Tyler County Hospital.

Lowe will serve the remainder of Parks term which will last through 1978. He and his wife Ethel reside in a home on the Pump Station Road. They have three children, all of whom are married.

Grand Jury Indicts Six

WOODVILLE--The June 1976 term of the Tyler County Grand Jury returned six indictments and was granted a 90-day extension by 88th District Judge Clyde E. Smith Jr. last Thursday.

The indictments returned included two for forgery and passing, one for aggravated robbery, one for theft, one for criminal mischief to cattle and one for theft by check. Names of those indicted were not available at presstime.

In granting the 90-day extension, Judge Smith specified that the grand jury was "to investigate the present matters before it and none other."

Approximately 18 persons were subpoened to appear before the grand jury last Thursday, with another 10 or more volunteer witnesses also present. The jury stayed in session until approximately 7 p.m.

The June term grand jury will meet again on Tuesday, Nov. 30 at 8:30 a.m. to hear more witnesses. No indictments may be returned at that time, since Judge Smith will be on vacation until Dec. 6, as the district judge must be present to return indictments or to dismiss the jury.

The December 1976 term of the Tyler County Grand Jury is scheduled to be impanelled on Dec. 16 at 8:30 a.m. A list of the jury members will appear in next week's BOOSTER.

Band Auction Dec. 3

There will be a Kirby High Band benefit Barbeque and auction to be held Friday, Dec. 3, at the Woodville Fire Station proceeds of which will help defray expenses for the Band trip to Miami this year.

According to Band Director Jerry Brown, the local merchants are contributing items to be auctioned off by local professional auctioneer Jerry Grimes.

According to Brown, among the items to be auctioned are 50 pounds of heavy beef T-Bone steaks, a four-year battery and many other items.

Brown said that persons who plan to attend the auction can consult next weeks edition of THE BOOSTER for an itemized list of the items to be auctioned off to the highest bidder. The items list will also be aired on KVLL Radio, he said.

Kirby Band Wins First

WEST ORANGE--The Kirby High School Band of Woodville, received a first division rating Saturday at the University Interscholastic League Regional Marching Contest. All three judges rated the band first division. All the bands in the region competed within their classification. The contest was held at West Orange High School stadium. Some of the judges written comments from the comment sheets were:

"Well executed and well designed drill. Beautiful band and show." Doug Silva, Band Director, Spring Branch

"Nice fanfare. Good use of dynamics. Very effective entrance. Good 6 to 5 stride. Nice effect of the 'freeze.' You are to be congratulated on a superior performance. Your drill was well conceived and well executed. You were super today." Ralph Rowe, Band Director, Conroe High School

"Great playing. Really clean, nothing else needs to be said. Beautiful entrance idea. Block Band is really good. Flags are really fine. Good precision. Charles Forque, Band Director, Lee High School Baytown

The Kirby High School & Wheat Jr. High bands will give a Christmas Concert Thursday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

GED Test Is Dec. 4

WARREN--Graduate Equivalency Diploma (GED) testing will beconducted at Warren High School on Saturday, De. Dec. 4, beginning at 8 a.m.

Persons who have not completed high school may obtain the equivalent of a high school diploma by passing the GED test. For more information, contact Jack Blakeney, chief examiner, at 283-2030.

WISD Board Accepts Bond Bid

WOODVILLE--The Woodville Independent School District Board of Trustees took their first step on construction of a new school since the passage of the $3.1 million dollar bond which passed on Sept. 28, by accepting a low bid Tuesday, Nov. 16, for purchases of the school bonds at a interest rate of 6.15977 percent.

Low bidder, among some 26 who were represented in the sale by Noel Johnson and Associates of Dallas, was Underwood, Neuhaus and Co. Inc. That firm was the prime bidder for four other firms grouping for the W.I.S.D. purchase. They include: Cullen Center Bank and Trust; Fred Baker and Associates, Inc.; White, Weld and Associates, Inc. and Rowles Winston and Co., Inc.

High bidder for the district bonds was Rotan Mossle, Inc. with a bid of 6.26775 percent.

District officials have said that they expect availability of the funds for contracting purposes on or around Jan. 1, 1977. The architectural firm of Moore, Stansbury and Vaught of Port Arthur, W.I.S.D. officials said, is preparing an expenditure flow sheet for the coming two years which will alert the Board to needed construction expenditures. Survey operations are already underway on the site location northwest of the Woodville city limits.

Trustees J.W. Gainey and Fred Sullivan made and seconded the motion to accept the low bid.

Craft Fair Dec. 4-5

WOODVILLE--The Woodville Business and Professional Womens Club will sponsor an arts and crafts fair, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 4-5, at the Lions Den one mile east of Woodville on US 190.

Artists and craftsmen from throughout Southeast Texas will display their works and many will perform their crafts on the grounds. Fair hours will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Profits from the fair will be used by the BP&W to provide scholarships for students at each of the five public schools in Tyler County.

Music Celebration Sunday

There will be a patriotic Thanksgiving Music Celebration entitled "The Sound of America" to be held at the First Baptist Church on Sunday Nov. 28. at 7 p.m.

The "Celebration" will be presented by the Fourth through Sixth Grade Choister Choir and the program will be directed by Mrs. Lionel Reese with a narration by Mr. Reese.

According to Phil Sherrod, music director of the Church, "The program will enable persons to reminisce musically about the origin of our country, how it used to be...and how it possibly could be."

Study Club Members and County Attorney Jim Allison

Two Join Spurger Board

SPURGER--Two new members were sworn in to the Spurger School Board at the board's monthly meeting Thursday, Nov. 11.

T.R. McCollum and Jack Sheffield were sworn in to fill two vacancies on the board, according to Superintendent A.B. Crank. Other business at the meeting included payment of bills and approval of the payroll.

The Board will meet next on Thursday, Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m.

OPENS ART STORE--Art critic and curator of the all new Woodland Galleries located ¼ mile west of Woodville is John Moroney (R.) shown shaking hands with Chamber of Commerce President Carl Nichols who was present last week to draw the winning name of a print from the art gallery. Woodland Gallery will feature nature and wildlife prints which are now on display. Moroney invites everyone to come by and view the prints which are priced at "New Opening" values, he said.

Study Club Hears County Attorney

WOODVILLE--The Community Room of Citizens State Bank was the setting for the November 9 meeting of the Woman's Study Club of Woodville. Mrs. Fred Bennett led the group in the Collect and the pledges to the flag.

The speaker, County Attorney Jim Allison, was introduced by Mrs. Walter Montague, who also presented Mr. Allison with a lovely gift of appreciation at the close of his program.

Mr. Allison's program, "The Rights of the Victim," was based on a project entitled, "HAND'S UP", a national volunteer effort to halt crime, which is sponsored not only by the local club but statewide by the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and nationally by the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Attorney Allison distributed copies of an outline called, "Process of Criminal Justice of a Felony Case in Texas," and explained the process throroughly, pointing out the many instances during the process in which the criminal's rights are upheld and very few in which the victim's rights are recognized.

President Mrs. George Tubb closed the meeting with the reading of a prayer.

Hostesses Mrs. C.E. Wright, Mrs. Tom Linam, and Mrs. L.M. Feagin, using a Thanksgiving theme, served coffee and cake topped with a turkey and other Thanksgiving decorations, which was specially prepared for the occassion.

Oops!

A couple of weeks ago the owner of Williams Grocery in Town Bluff were incorrectly identified in the BOOSTER as Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Best. The owners are, in fact, Vernon and Bertha Williams. The BOOSTER regrets any inconveniences caused by this error.

Colmesneil Exes Banquet Is Dec. 4

The society for the preservation of Colmesneil Exes would like to announce the 18th Annual Banquet and Miscellaneous Awards Presentations. The Banquet will be held, for the third year running, at the Newport Country Club, Crosby, Dec. 4, 1976.

Any Ex-Student of Colmesneil High School wishing to become affiliated with this organization should contact Social Directors Mrs. Lois Cowart Weeks, 14941 Deming Drive, Channelview, Texas 77530, or Mrs. Jesse E. (Melba) Minyard, 2701 Halkeis, Pasadena, Texas 77502, and Mrs. Sam P. (Pauline) Davis 5395 Margaret, Beaumont, Texas 77708.

Approximately 60 persons are expected to attend according to director Jesse E. Minyard. He reminds those interested that reservations must be confirmed before Tuesday, Nov. 30, in order to insure having a seat at the dinner.

Sperling To Preach

John Sperling, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Sperling of Woodville, will be guest minister Sunday November 28 in First Christian Church Woodville.

Giving Thanks

Having trouble coming up with a reason to be thankful this Thanksgiving? It might just be that times are too good.

What is traditionally called the first Thanksgiving occurred at Plymouth, Massachusetts, in the fall of 1621. Out of 103 pilgrims who had landed the year before, only 56 survived the first winter. They did not have any trouble being thankful for being alive.

The first national celebration of Thanksgiving took place on Dec. 18, 1777, after the British army under Lieutenant General John Burgoyne surrendered at Schuylerville, New York. The young nation did not have any trouble being thankful that this threat to its existance had been eliminated.

In 1863 President Abraham Lincoln officially set the precedent for holding Thanksgiving on the fourth Thursday in November. At the time, the nation was split by a bloody civil war. Life was once again something to be grateful for.

Today, no war threatens us, and the disease and famine which killed nearly half the original pilgrims are no longer a problem in our daily lives. In fact, life is better than at any time in the past, and that alone, is reason to be thankful.

Turkey Power !!!

So what's so bad about being a turkey? Better think twice before you use that term to describe those you don't agree with.

Once upon a time, Benjamin Franklin supported the noble Thanksgiving fowl as the national bird. Sure, the eagle makes a more striking symbol, but there's a heck of a lot more turkeys in these United States than eagles. And when was the last time you asked someone to serve you some more eagle dressing?

The turkey was not forgotten by our forefathers for its role in country's growth. In Texas alone there are 23 Turkey creeks, including one which runs through Woodville down past Hillister and Warren into Village Creek. Also, there are two Turkey peaks and one Turkey Bend in the state.

Up in the panhandle, approximately 100 miles southeast of Amarillo in Hall County, sits the town of Turkey and its 680 inhabitants according to the Texas Almanac. It's hardly imaginable that those folks would appreciate any slandering of their namesake.

And of course there's Cuero, the self-proclaimed "Turkey Capital of the World." Every fall the citizens of the central Texas town host the annual Turkey fest, consisting of races, contests, eating, dancing and all sorts of goings-on in honor of the turkey. The event has been held faithfully since 1912 and is still going strong with no apparent apathy caused by the adverse use of the bird's name. In fact, the local high school mascot is the Gobbler.

So, reconsider calling that so and so a turkey. A skunk, a rat, or a varmint maybe, but not a turkey.

CANCER ANSWER LINE

American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

A reader asks "Can you tell me of any recent advances in treating children who have cancer?"

ANSWER Line: There has been progress in treating several forms of childhood cancer. Here is a recent example of a dramatic improvement: as recently as 1968, a child with cancer of the lymph system rarely survived. Now the latest follow-up, done on children given intensive drug treatment and radiation at the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City, shows 64% of the young patients free of disease and off therapy for more than four years. Best of all, all these are active, thriving children attending school regularly.

The head of a family wants to know: "Is there such a thing as cancer insurance. Wouldn't it be good to have?"

ANSWER Line: There are a number of cancer policies on the market, but the companies promoting them are not permitted to use American Cancer Society informational materials, and the ACS does not endorse them. The ACS believes that mass insurance is essential but ordinary coverage usually includes cancer treatment without the need for special protection for one disease. Your local ACS Unit will be glad to discuss the matter with you.

A teenager writes: I read in one of your columns that teenage girls think that most girls in their age group smoke cigarettes. Isn't it true that most teen-age girls smoke?"

ANSWER Line: No. According to the latest study, done for the American Cancer Society, only 27 percent of teenage girls smoke cigarettes. However, most teenagers believe incorrectly that it is far more than that percentage they wrongly believe that the majority of teenage girls smoke.

The Consumer Alert

AUSTIN — Anything a politician can do, we can do better. Or so it seems from the flood of letters we receive from our state legislators.

Our latest letter which was mailed September 20th by the House leadership urged Members to "Vote to disagree to the Senate amendment" which added a $25 million item to the Legislative Appropriations Bill.

This amount was for drilling holes and "squirting" cement grout into the walls.

Three points were made in this letter. First, that the repair work would probably end up costing $45 million. Second, there is no assurance that this type of repair would work. And third, "the repair work does not provide one additional square foot of space-space ... which the House desperately needs, even if the Senate apparently does not."

A little inside glimpse into the rivalry between the two houses of Congress.

With the adjournment of Congress, the matter once again is in limbo. But at least now the Architect of the Capitol is working on a plan.

The West Front is actually the only remaining section of the Capitol as originally rebuilt after the British burned it in 1814. Next year, it is important. For all of us concerned with preserving history, it is a year to be alert.

Petticoat Politics

By Jerry Wilson

During the last few days of the 94th Session of Congress, many letters went out to all Members of Congress over the signatures of Speaker Albert, Majority Leader O'Neill and Minority Leader Rhodes. But one in particular was passed on to me about the long neglected problem of the West Front of the U.S. Capitol.

Not too many people are alarmed or even knowledgeable about such a minor problem. Especially with attention for the last few years going to Watergate, to Presidential elections or new interest in the Kennedy assassination.

But the problem remains and even the Bicentennial year found no solution. The West Front of the U.S. Capitol is literally falling down.

And the U.S. Congress is divided into two groups, basically. One, the Members with more years of seniority, want to expand the Capitol west (to add even more office space). The other group wants to renovate and preserve the West Front because it is the only original section left of our historical Capitol building.

The "Dear Colleague" letter which was mailed September 20th by the House leadership urged Members to "Vote to disagree to the Senate amendment" which added a $25 million item to the Legislative Appropriations Bill.

THE WHEAT LOG CAMP WAS DESTROYED SUNDAY

Five boy scouts, Jamie Wheat, F.V. Smith, Chalmess and W.T. Dismukes and Hugh Preston Davis spent Saturday night at the Wheat camp. Getting up early the boys came into town for more provisions and upon their return to the camp found the house burned to the ground. Neighbors who saw the fire were badly frightened, thinking the boys were perhaps asleep and would be burned.

JUDGE GROVER LOWE IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Last Friday, while returning from Tyler where Attorney Lowe had been in attendance at Federal court, and near Lufkin, ran into a Red Ball freight truck.

Reports say he was thrown through the windshield of the car. His injuries consist of the loss of 12 teeth, jaw fractured in two places, and he also received several severe cuts on his arms and head.

The car is reported to be a total wreck.

A TIGER BREAKS ANOTHER BAT

Last week W.G. Allison broke the (Hillister) school bat in order to carry on our game of baseball one of the school boys, Aubrey Maddox, brought his bat to school. The same accident happened to it. The first batter up to the plate broke it. What are we going to do now?

DEATH OF OLD SETTLER

Mary E. Grimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Grimes was born July 22, 1859, and died at her home near Smith Ferry, Tuesday night, Nov. 10, at midnight. Less than a month ago her husband, Dave H. Conner, passed on. The funeral was held on Wednesday, Nov. 11 at the Grimes Cemetery near Mt. Carmel Church. Rev. P.W. Norwood in charge.

WOODVILLE HI KIES WON OVER JASPER HI KIES

As in the old days when Poncho Villa was a member of the Woodville high school team, the play was actually centered about him, and he pulled off a number of plays that had not only the sideliners guessing but the boys from Jasper, too.

From the formation the ball was passed to him. Those on the sidelines also, in company with the Jasper players thought he had the ball as he doubled up and started to run and run and was doubly and thrihly tackled, and all this time the ball was being carried over for a touchdown by George Best.

Oh yes, there was another bit of excitement when Allen Mooney, who was officiating as umpire, found himself in the way of an advancing tornado occasioned by a blocked punt by Jasper, and Woodville recovered the ball and started for a touchdown necessitating a left end run. Say if Mooney had had on a Woodville uniform, and had been in possession of the ball, he'd have gone over for a touchdown in just about two seconds flat.

Among the players for Woodville were Alfred Pate, Bunker Pate, Burton Pate, George Best, Jeff Mooney, Poncho Villa, Jesse B. Williams, Oliver Williams, Soap Sweatingen, Johnson of Doucette, Frank Fain, Carl Higgott, Chas. Higgott, and R.E. Norton.

EDITORIAL NOTES

We said last week Woodville was as dry as the Sahara desert. For once we'll take it back. This is written Thursday 9:15 p.m. and we want to tell the world we believe we are wet—in fact, almost as wet as Al Smith. It must have rained about two or more inches from 2 to 6:30 p.m. and we hereby and hereon unreservedly retract what we said last week. It is also presumed the surface wells about town are all full, or nearly so. Just another reason why we should all be thankful (?).

Colmesneil News

by Lou Ella Moseley

Our Community Center was filled with the glow of warm Thanksgiving spirit Saturday evening as the many out of town guests joined their home folks in an hour of feasting and good fellowship. The speaker for the occasion was Jacques Blanchette who brought helpful information on the history and correct observance of Thanksgiving.

A revival is in progress at the Assembly of God Church through the past and present weeks with Bro. Kenneth Brooks of Sour Lake as evangelist and his singing family bringing the music. Everyone is invited to attend these inspirational services through the remainder of the week.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Svatek during the past week, and spending some time in hunting, were her sister, Thyra Harmon with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Colley, of Anahuac. During the week-end were her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Al Raynor and their daughter, Joyce Price, with her daughter, Sharon of San Antonio.

With Mrs. Dorothy Hile during the present few days is her friend of many years, Mrs. A.R. Gant of Port Arthur.

Iva Gray and Bye Mott were in Jasper Sunday to visit Mrs. Mott's brother, Chester Fowler of Spurger who is confined to a Jasper hospital.

Mrs. Anna Thornton and children, Dwayne and Tammy of Lumberton are spending the holidays with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Foster.

Della Wilson is the proud great-grand-mother of a fine little girl, Shelsea Selena born in Houston, Nov. 4. The parents are Mel and Mrs. Mike Schreader.

Doyle Cowart, a layman in First Baptist Church, brought the message there on Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, Bro. Ron Walling who was in a revival at Mount Carmel, and on Sunday evening serving in this capacity was Bro. Jack Llewellen, pastor at Mount Carmel.

Mrs. D.H. Sykes shares with her friends her happiness in learning that her great-grand-daughter, Vickey O'Conner of Nederland has won first place in a beauty and talent contest in an area including south Jefferson County. She will go to Houston in the near future where she will compete in state contest. Vickey, a brunette, 5 years old, has had training in dancing, speech and other arts.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Rushing of Moot Belview spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ogden. Also visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Higgott, and enjoying a hunting trip, were their son, Joe Frank with his sons, James and Jack of Silsbee.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gregory on Sunday were her daughters, Jean Satchfisher of Beaumont and Frances Cowart of Diboll, and their daughters, Mrs. Gregory who has received treatment in Houston for some time due to an increasing blindness has now completely lost her sight. She has a helper for the blind who calls in her home and is helping her to adjust to her condition.

The warmest of sympathy is extended from her neighbors and many friends to Mrs. Katie Norton and her family in the loss of her son, Harold Norton whose funeral was in Port Arthur Tuesday afternoon with burial in Colmesneil Cemetery. A large number of relatives from throughout the South were present at the service.

Also to E.W. Gibbs and his family in the loss of his wife whose funeral service was in Edwards Chapel on Saturday with burial in Davis Cemetery. Among the many relatives who were present for the service were his sisters, Mrs. R.L. Thornton of Dayton and Mrs. Floyd Stamps of Silsbee.

Chester Loses Bi-District Game

CROCKETT--The Chester Yellowjackets met their match in an experienced Corsicana Mildred team which beat them 33-0 last Friday in Class B bi-district play.

Picking up approximately 450 yards in the game, Mildred put points on the board in every quarter while holding the Jackets scoreless in the mid-3 Three promising Chester drives were snuffed out by fumbles.

Running backs Anthony Freeman and Wayne Hubert who had been the main forces in the Jacket rushing attack a all season were pretty well controlled by the mud and. Mildred.

Chester did find some success in the air with passes from freshman quarterback Julius Johnson and halfback throws from Freeman, but it was not nearly enough to overcome Mildred. Chester's total yardage for the evening was 184 yards.

The loss dropped the Jackets to 6-4 for the year. Only three seniors, Ted Watts, Freeman and Ray Conner, will be lost through graduation, so Coach Larry Blackerby should have another strong team next season.

Kirby Loses Opener to Anahuac 70-67

WOODVILLE--The Kirby High boys varsity basketball team dropped its first game of the season 70-67 to Anahuac in action last Tuesday.

The game was originally scheduled for Anahuac but had to be switched due to the Panthers winning their district football championship!

Coach James Rogers said he was pleased with his team's performance after only two days of practice. The Eagles led at one point in the third quarter, but could not overcome the Panthers.

Coach Rogers stressed that defense, along with the quick break, will play a major role in the Eagles' play this year. He also added that neither was very evident in the Anahuac game.

"We will definitely get after people this year after we instill defense into our players. They are coming around well. We hope to pressure people from the time they get off the bus until they return to the bus," said Rogers.

Coach Rogers also added that the pressure defense and quick offense should provide for some exciting basketball.

Kirby travels to Livingston Tuesday night, with the junior varsity playing at 6:30 p.m. Next Tuesday, Nov. 30, the Eagles will travel to Jasper to tackle the Bulldogs.

Warren Loses

WARREN--The Warren Warriors dropped a 72-50 decision to East Chambers here last Friday night.

Jimmy Rivers led the Warriors scoring with 18 points, followed by Frank Wolf with 41, and Earl Smith with 13.

High scorer for East Chambers was Tommy Marshall with 15 points.

Pirates Pride

By Denise Lindsey and Paul Ramer

With the relief of 12 weeks exams being over, all the students are looking forward to Thanksgiving Holidays which begin Thursday, November 25.

Several students have reported that they have been deer hunting with great success. For example, Buddy Jordon killed a three point and James Morris killed a nine point.

FFA journeyed to Nacogdoches for a Parlimentary Procedure contest. All the area schools participated. VA I won fourth place and VA II won ninth place.

SPURGER LOSES HOME-COMING GAME TO LEGGETT

Poor shooting was again the down fall of the girls basketball team Saturday night as they fell to the Leggett Pirates 43 to 31.

After scoring 16 points in the 2nd quarter to take a 23 to 22 halftime lead, the Sourger forwards were able to score only eight points in the final two periods as they hit on only 20% of their field goal attempts and 33% of the free throws. Connie Hicks was the leading scorer for the Pirates with 15 points. Tina Fredieu led the Spurger defense with 8 rebounds and 6 steals.

BURKEVILLE EDGES PIRATES

The girls basketball team fell before the strong Burkeville team Tuesday night 47 to 42, but not before making the Mustangs battle all the way to the final buzzer, for the victory.

After losing two starters on injuries and trailing by twelve points early in the fourth quarter the Pirates came back to get within one point before Burkeville used a stall to keep the ball away from the Pirates in the closing seconds. Jackie Ratcliff scored 18 points before a torn ligament forced her out of the game to lead the Pirate scoring. Gwen Grissom led the Pirates fourth quarter rally with eight points during that period to give her a total of 14 for the game. Tina Fredieu led the team in rebounds with 9 and steals with 6.

PIRATES LOSE HOME-COMING

The Spurger Pirates lost a homecoming game to Leggett to the tune of 83-42. Ahead from the start the Leggett Pirates rolled to their second consecutive win over Spurger. Superior height and experience enabled the Leggett Pirates to control the game and score almost at will.

Leading scorers for Spurger were Wesley Sanlsbury and Marcus Hale with 12 points each.

BURKEVILLE DEFEATS PIRATES

The Spurger Pirates lost a hard fought contest to Burkeville Tuesday night to the tune of 67-52. The Pirates fought hard but were unable to contain the taller Burkeville team. Poor rebounding and shooting by the Pirates in the second half enabled Burkeville to widen their lead.

Leading scorers for Spurger were Jackie Castle with 25 and Marcus Hale with 12.

INSUR-MATION
David Horn
Farm Bureau Insurance-Livingston

Is the cost of the same kind of policy always the same regardless of the insurance company?

No. Many policies have special features . . . at extra cost. Because of the importance of all types of insurance, and in some cases, the long-term nature, insurance should be purchased with care. The most important single factor is to choose a good insurance agent. He or she will be advising you on matters which will affect your security and pocketbook. Every agent must pass a state test to qualify for an insurance license. Check the company. Has it met State Insurance Commission regulations? Compare companies' premium rate schedules. However, as with anything you purchase, cost is not the only important factor. Service from your agent and the company he represents are of equal value and importance to

by KATHY KINNON

Holiday Pines Lodge had a Volunteer Services Tea for all the people who have given so much of themselves over the last year to make our lives richer. It was so good to see so many of our friends there together. Charles Brittnell read a moving poem he wrote that dealt with sharing your life in service for God. That began our program beautifully and we were very proud of our "Piney Singers." Even though Arnold Rhodes was a guest he played the piano for our group. And our singers thoroughly enjoyed entertaining for our Volunteers. Ruby Capps gave an interesting talk on the need for and the role of Volunteers in the Nursing Homes. Certificates were awarded for service and we hope that everyone left knowing how very special they are to us.

A large group of Harmony Baptist Church sang for us and a retired member, Mr. Byron Lazenby, was instrumental in inviting them to come. They have agreed to be here on the second Saturday of each month.

The Oak Grove Assembly of God Youth Choir came out to sing Wednesday night. This group is under the direction of Mrs. George Haynes and are willing to come on the Third Wednesday of each month. Mrs. Mary Willbern clipped an interesting article out of the First Baptist Church news letter and it tells about the importance of singing. We like singing because there is more brain vigor, more alertness of memory, more zest and more emotional enthusiasm in song.

The November birthdays of Ester Brisben, Ollie Ivy, Lee Lewis and Dora Medley were celebrated with a nice party planned by Genevieve De Loach. Willard Storey played the piano as the residents played individual musical instruments. A special treat was Carolyn Hollman singing a few songs and accompanying herself on the guitar. She, Lou Eddie West and Johnnie Harrison served cake and punch and the Woodville First Baptist Church, with the help of Bobs Prescription Shop, gave each of our birthday people a gift.

For two weeks of each month the residents look forward to the "Melody Masters" Dance. Prior to the dance the residents are wondering what to wear, making sure friends and relatives know what night it's going to be, getting their hair fixed or cut. Then for the next two weeks they talk about what a good time they had. The members of the band are Irving Mott, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Haygood, Robert and Johnnie Howard, A.I. Mills, Mike York and Elmo Gibbs. Clarence Woodrome helped with refreshments last Saturday night and the band promised to return on December 18th.

Our Number One Volunteer, Brad Smith called bingo for us as he does each week. Our residents love the game and especially enjoy the cash prizes that Brad and his friends donate. This weeks winners were Buster Green, Vera Hadnot, Byron Lazenby, Bunker Pate and Mary Willbern. Cash prizes, donated by Brad and George Jarrett, were won by Hershel Bean and Bud Wisenbaker.

The Fairview Baptist Active's came by to visit with their "grandmothers," and the First Baptist Church of Woodville donated to the Home several lusious Oranges as a gift from the Fidelis Class.

All of our Thanksgiving Decorations are up. We're looking forward to our Holiday program that the Chester First Baptist youth are planning under the direction of Reverend and Mrs. Barrie Bryant. We are thankful for the delicious Thanksgiving Dinner our kitchen staff is planning, the nice place to live and a staff that cares, and we're thankful for the volunteers we have and a really outstanding community interest.

BI-DISTRICT LOSS
The Mighty Jackets suffered a terrible blow Friday night. The Jackets fell to the Mildred Eagles. The Jackets fought to the very end, but, the mud and rain finally got to them. All in All the Jackets had a really good year with 6 wins and 2 losses. So the Jackets retire with a District Title, to this we congratulate the boys who did a fine job all year, to head coach Larry Blackerby who did a tremendous job and to the Assistant coaches J.P. Johnson and Steve Evans.

GAMES CANCELLED
The girls games for this past week was canceled. The games for this week will be played as scheduled. As for the schedules they can be found at Lynn's One Stop or you can pick one up at the school. Win Jackets.

CUB CANDLES
Don't forget to get your Cub Scout Candles.

GO JACKETS
It really seems like the guys never run down. They have already started this years basketball season off. Hard at work to catch up with the Lady Jackets. But they have a hard fight. But good luck trying. This year they boys are Coached by Raymond Wallace! So have a winning season.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING
News is short so, enjoy the Turkey and be ready for the next week of hard work. See you later.

This has been a busy week at Fred University. It was a short week due to Inservice Training for the teachers at Woodville on Monday. The students enjoyed their Holidays and came to school Tuesday all full of vim and vigor and rearing to go. Here are some of the events that happened this week:

SURPRISE!! SURPRISE!!
BY SONYA MOORE
Mrs. Doris Davenport, our sixth grade teacher at Fred Elementary school had a birthday on Nov. 21. She was given a surprise party on Friday, Nov. 19, by the school personnel. She said she was the same age as Jack Benny. Thirty-nine, nobody believed her, we think she is younger! The cake was pink and white and also good. Mrs. Nell Williams our second grade teacher decorated it. For her present she got a hand painted china jewelry box. I think she was more surprised than I was.

DRESS UP DAY
Fred University will be invaded with pilgrams and indians next week. Kindergarten through third grade will dress like pilgrims and indians. Hope no one will lose their wigs or hair.

HELLO WORLD
BY MARGARET GILCHRIST & RAYMOND FISHER

Mr. & Mrs. Eli Casey of Fred are the proud grandparents of ten Keeshond grand pupples. They arrived in the world Saturday Nov. 14, 1976. The proud mother is Nika. There are eight boys and two girls. Since there are ten Mr. and Mrs. Casey have to help feed them with a bottle every four hours day and night. We guess that's why Mr. Casey is so sleepy this week.

THIRD GRADE NEWS
BY ROYCE SINGLETARY & MISS WHISENANT
The next day after the election, Randy Peck, a star pupil came running in the room to announce that Carter came in first, Ford second, Chevrolet third, and Plymouth fourth.

During a creative thinking language class Miss Whisenant worked fifteen minutes to get her class to tell her that the moon was supposed to be made out of green cheese. She received answers like gold, caramel, pizza and lemon pie, but no green cheese. How did your day go?

NOTHING

Sin and sorrow entered into the world because of the action of men (Rom. 3.23). I'm truly aware that the devil had his share in making opportunities for man to sin. But, in the final analysis man was the one that decided to sin. Thus, bringing sin into the world with all of the consequences attendant thereto.

But, there are some things with which man has had absolutely nothing to do, and we would do well to keep some of these things in mind.

MAN DID NOT PURPOSE THE LORD'S CHURCH. Quoting from Eph. 3:10, 11: "To the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known by the church that manifold wisdom of God, according to the eternal purpose which He purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord..." Here it is emphatically stated that God purposed the church. Any church not purposed by God cannot be pleasing to God.

MAN DID NOT PURCHASE THE LORD'S CHURCH. From Acts 20:28 "Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which He purchased with His own blood." The blood of Christ is the purchase price of the Lord's church. Therefore, no man could have purchased it. (I Cor. 1:13).

MAN DID NOT BUILD THE LORD'S CHURCH. Men have instituted churches which engage in practices unauthorized in the word of God, but of the Lord's church we read: "And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." (Matt. 16:18).

MAN DID NOT NAME ITS PEOPLE. "And it came to pass, that a whole year they assembled themselves with the church, and taught much people. And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch" (Acts 11:26). In Isaiah 62:2 we are told that the Lord's people would be called by a name that the mouth of the Lord would name.

MAN DOES NOT ADD TO THE CHURCH. In Act 2:47 (KJV) we read: "And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved." The Lord does all the adding.

MAN DOES NOT GIVE THE CHURCH ITS DOCTRINE. "But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man. For I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ." (Gal. 1:11,12). In II John 9-11 John speaks of the "doctrine of Christ" and indicates that men must abide in it. If we do we will be blessed by these many things with which we have had absolutely nothing to do.

THE SPLENDOR OF THE Snow

Snow falls and puts a beautiful white blanket over the mountains, and even before this one is gone, others will fall. It will become deeper and deeper until the spring, when it begins to melt and provides life giving waters to many streams. These streams meet with others and become rivers and provide water for irrigation and lakes throughout our land.

Our Lord, Jesus has said that He will give to any that seek Him "a well of water springing up into everlasting life." — John 4. 14

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love. For most and of His demand for men to respond to their love by loving his neighbor. Without this proclamation of the love of God, no power, wealth or society or any of life and long persuasive and the freedoms which we hold so dear will successfully persist. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should support and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

GIVE THANKS FOR YOUR MANY BLESSINGS

Texas Taxe$

By BOB BULLOCK
State Comptroller

Austin--I've had a lot of people ask me, "What ever happened to your seizures of sales tax delinquents?"

The answer is they're still going on.

So far this year, we have seized 211 sales tax delinquents owing about $1.2 million in back taxes.

The problem is, still the same, some people just can't seem to resist pocketing the five cents sales tax they collect on every dollar's purchase.

The money was never theirs. It's your money and mine, the taxes we pay for state and city services. It's money that should be remitted to the state.

Last year the "raids" were a new thing. When I took office on January, 1975, I learned that previous administrations had allowed 70,000 delinquents to build up a debt to the state and cities of $60 million. We began the seizures to clean the mess up.

At first, the news media were delighted and gave extensive coverage to our "raids." That was what we wanted: the publicity got the message out loud and clear that the state would no longer tolerate those who would pocket the sales tax.

I predicted at that time that the seizures would be the best therapy for reluctant taxpayers, and this has proven to be the case.

Delinquents know now when we say, after dozens of collection efforts, that "This is your last chance," that the "raiders" will be knocking on their door. Just since June, our examiners, 51 delinquents have paid at the last minute to avoid being shut down.

In addition, because we are watching the delinquents much more closely, the seizures are for smaller and smaller amounts. This is good, because the delinquent has a better chance of coming up with the money and staying in business. Then everybody wins: the state and cities get their tax dollars and nobody's out of work.

I also predicted last year that the newness would wear off the seizure program and the "raids" would become a matter of routine in the news media, getting less and less coverage.

This has also proven to be the case. And while it is understandable, I regret it in some ways. Because merchants need to be constantly reminded what will happen if they start paying their bills with sales taxes collected from their customers.

Indians Mix Industry And Art

INDIAN VILLAGE—Industry and art?

Definitely yes, according to Ishmael Soto.

Soto is a nationally acclaimed potter and sculptor who, with his equally talented wife, Finh Alban, is conducting a year-long pottery training program at the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation between Woodville and Livingston in East Texas.

"The pottery production here will become a self-sufficient industry, but all good will still be hand-made, individual creations," Soto said.

"Everything is being produced in a creative atmosphere. That's what's different about our pottery—the individual effort. We're an industry but not a factory."

Approximately 20 students ranging in age from 15 to 65 are in the program. Trainees began October 1 putting in eight-hour days, learning every aspect of pottery production.

"The training, including costs for consumable supplies instructors and wages, are all part of a package of various state and federal programs put together by the Texas Industrial Commission in conjunction with the Texas Education Agency, according to Quentin Mercy of the TIC. The package is funded through Angelina Junior College which administers the program.

"The native ability of the artisans here on the reservation is free and unhampered," Soto said. "They learn in a day what people I have taught in universities and museums have difficulty learning in a year."

Art works to be sold at the reservation will range from 50 cents, pendants to $100 vessels, Soto added.

Every step of the production will be followed at the reservation, beginning with mixing their own clays and glazes. These kilns will be utilized, and some porcelain products made.

Our products will include things that are functional and utilitarian as well as decorative. We will use old Indian art and shapes as a springboard for creating our own specialized pottery," Soto said.

Mini Bus Serves Elderly, Disabled

Five days a week the Tyler County mini bus carries the elderly and disabled of the county on errands that ordinarily they would not be able to make. It is not a large bus, but the little ten-seater is a big part of the lives of almost 200 persons.

Every weekday morning, Jack Barnes of Chester drives the Chevy van from Woodville to pick up passengers and deliver them to such places as the grocery store, doctor's office, or post office. Once their errands are completed, Barnes drives them back home.

The mini bus service first began in December, 1974, and will soon be two years old. When it started, it was the only service of its kind in the 12-county area that makes up the Deep East Texas Council of Governments, but now there are seven other mini bus services.

The main force behind the bus service was the DETCOG Committee on Aging. The Rev. Jesse Adams of Woodville, chairman of the committee, says that it took approximately two years of trying before the service could be obtained.

"We finally hit on a scheme in Austin, and in three days literally had people from there on my doorstep," said Rev. Adams. He added that it was another nine months before the service was actually inaugurated.

The county finances the mini bus operation which costs approximately $500 per month according to County Auditor's Assistant Ann Fondren. All gasoline expenses are paid for through a Federal grant she added. In another two years, the county will own the bus outright.

For the month of October, the mini bus traveled 2067 miles, used 229 gallons of gasoline and hauled approximately 331 passengers.

The bus is scheduled to make a different route each day of the week. Mondays, Barnes drives it to Chester, while on Tuesdays, he goes to Doucette, Colmesneil and Rockland. Wednesday finds the blue and white bus in Fred, Spurger and Warren, and on Thursday, it is to Dam B, Frost Bluff and Woodville. Friday is also reserved for the Woodville area and Doucette.

Barnes and Mrs. Allie Owens, the mini bus and information referal secretary, said that the service had little patronage the first few months and carried only 30 or more passengers per month, the success of the service is evident.

To be elligible for the mini bus program persons must be either over 60 and without transportation, or physically disabled. The bus also carries clients to the Mental Health, Mental Retardation Developmental Center, and students to arts and crafts classes at the Outpatient Clinic.

Rev. Adams said that the service has been criticized by some since it cannot provide a "taxi-type" service. That is, persons cannot call the mini bus number for a ride at just any moment.

However, Mrs. Owens also reported that the cooperation the service got from the area merchants and medical professionals was encouraging. She said that many doctors and dentists had set their schedules so that the bus passengers could make appointments to correspond to the bus schedule. Also, one grocery store has put chairs inside the store so that the passengers could sit while waiting for the bus.

Anyone interested in joining this free service is encouraged to call 283-5517 or 283-3084. Persons in the Chester area may call Barnes at 969-2573 for rides on Mondays.

Adams Named To Task Force

AUSTIN--The Rev. Jesse Adams of Woodville was among nine Southeast Texans named recently to the statewide task force on Generation Connection, a project sponsored jointly by Mrs. Dolph Briscoe, the Department of Public Welfare and other state and local organizations. Rev. Adams is the chairman of the DETCOG Advisory Council on Aging.

The task force will campaign to enlist the aid and cooperation of business, industry, churches and other community organizations to help provide the resources for improving the quality of life for older Texans.

Mrs. Briscoe will be in Southeast Texas early next year to serve as chairman of a "Generation Connection" forum. Purpose of the forum will be to identify all the resources in the community and to determine the needs of older citizens.

The goal of the project is to shift the emphasis away from federal and state assistance to community involvement.

Mrs. Bricoe, with the aid of the task force and the sponsoring organizations, is attempting to solicit ideas for developing new programs and coordinating current one to ensure a statewide effort for aiding older Texans.

Also, the sponsoring groups in "Generation Connection" are advocating new legislation for the protection of the elderly from life-threatening situations and legal representation for older people when others are seeking guardianship over them.

The other member of the task force from Southeast Texas are Dr. John Gray, president, Lamar University; Don Cash, Beaumont city councilman and president of Texas Association of Regional Councils; John Oden, chairman of the Southeast Texas Regional Planning Commission Advisory Council on Aging; Dr. William R. Johnson, president, Stephen F. Austin University; Dr. Ben Dickerson, Department of Sociology and Gerontology, SFAU; Mrs. Gladys Hampton former DPW regional administrator, Nacogdoches; Jim Robb, director, Southeast Texas Regional Planning Commission Council on Aging, and Marion Martin, director, Deep East Texas Council of Governments Council on Aging.

The sponsoring agencies for "Generation Connection" are Texas Association of Regional Councils, Texas Senior Citizens Association, National Retired Teachers Association, American Association of Retired Persons, National Association of Retired Federal Employees, First Lady's Volunteer Program, Governor's Committee on Aging and the State Department of Public Welfare.

'Mail Early' Is Postal Suggestion

Woodville postal officials are urging this week that Christmas mail and packages be posted as soon as possible.

Because of an unprecedented increase in mail volume generated by a 15-state United Parcel Service strike, I urge you to mail domestic parcels no later than Dec. 3 and seasonal greetings by Dec. 10 to assure delivery by Christmas Day."

The reminder came from Woodville Postmaster Milton Durham. He also asked that patrons remember to use Zip Codes on all packages, cards and letters.

He reminded also that there will be no mail delivered or processed near Thursday. The Woodville Post Office will be closed for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Select Firewood With Proper Care

By BILL TERRY
TEXAS FOREST SERVICE

How to select the proper firewood is a typical question fireplace owners ask. A few guidelines on firewood and how to store it will increase the pleasure you'll obtain from your fireplace.

There are two things to remember about the selection of firewood. The first rule of thumb is that a dry log burns smoother and easier than a green log, and second, that proper wood aging is a matter of stacking and storage. The wood will dry best if stacked in a place that is airy and protected from moisture, such as a carport or an open air storage shed. It is good practice to keep logs or blocks from coming in direct contact with the ground or concrete. This will reduce the amount of ground moisture absorbed and discourage insect activity.

Be selective in the wood you buy. Hardwoods, such as oak, maple, ash and hickory are preferable since they burn more evenly than pine or fir. Pine and fir are filled with pockets of resins and oils that often explode causing annoying poppings and scattering dangerous burning cinders. These softwoods ignite easily, so slivers could be used for kindling.

Burning rolled newspapers is a popular practice, but don't plan on spending the winter by a fire of newsprint. These logs produce little heat and many ashes. In short, it is a practical means of disposing of newspaper and supplementing one's wood supply, but is a poor fuel source.

Many timber companies are looking for someone to remove damaged and diseased trees left over from cutting. By contacting a timber company office, you may receive permission to cut firewood.

Small sawmills often have scrap piles where wood is available for the asking. It may not be cut the way you likely would, but it burns well.

It is recommended that firewood be stored 2 to 4 months prior to use for aging. Also, in particular, about what type of wood you buy. These precautions will insure a cheerful burning fire and not a premature pile of smoking ashes.

Going to the picture show was only 35¢ when I first saw "Gone With The Wind" nearly forty years ago.

And in the intervening years, I have sat through repeat showings as spellbinding as the first time around.

Then, most recently, a chance to prop my feet up in the den, and watch it in living color, compliments of NBC-TV.

It's difficult to put your finger on what special something "Gone With The Wind" has to make it a smash success each time it is revived. Certainly its competition television debut with half the sets in the country tuned in, attests to its tremendous drawing power even today.

Superb casting has to be a primary reason for its continued popularity, although nearly all of the featured stars have been gone for years.

The screen story-line faithfully followed Margaret Mitchell's book, which had been a smashing success before Hollywood bought the screen rights. It's a pity Margaret wasn't around to see "Gone With The Wind" become a screen classic.

I should hasten to add that putting out five dollars to go to the movies is not a high priority on my leisure time. By the time I've figured out whether a movie is PG, X-rated, or R, I've lost interest, or worse than that, the dialogue lost me, the last couple of films I saw, ever.

But: for "Gone With The Wind", I'd brave the popcorn chewers, and icecold cokes down the back of my neck.

There's one other movie I've seen, perhaps more often than "Gone With The Wind."

It's really kind of a World War II pot-boiler, starring Gregory Peck in "Twelve O'Clock High." I honestly believe I know the dialogue better than the cast in that one. And it's a little sad to realize there aren't enough B-17's, spitfires, or hurricanes left anywhere in the world to re-make that movie.

I have probably missed a lot of great films since "Gone With The Wind" was first released, but the floodlights criss-crossing the sky in front of the theatre, lasting in their formal gowns, and all the hoopla attending its opening in Seattle are pleasant memories.

With any kind of luck, it will be another three years, or a couple of years, and I can just watch TV Guide for the next appearance of "Twelve O'Clock High."

Movies are better than ever.

Consider these facts

...and check first at home before you do your Christmas Shopping

1. As often as not you will find the best services and prices at home. You're a prime customer here; not just part of a mob.
2. A substantial part of your home merchant's margin on sales to you goes to help you support community facilities that benefit you - fire and police protection, schools, churches, etc.
3. Local business provides jobs for your neighbors, your children if they'd like to live near you, and perhaps even you.

Hunter Hazards Many and Varied

AUSTIN–Hunting to most of America's early settlers was not a sport. It was a means of survival. The hazards of hunting game in a wild and untamed land were many, but it was often the only alternative to starvation.

During this fall and winter season, more than 20 million Americans will again take to the open country to hunt. Today's hunter may have different motives and rewards, but many of the hazards our ancestors faced still exist.

For this reason, The Texas Safety Association has issued a call for all hunters to take extra precautions during this Bicentennial hunting season.

TSA Vice President for Recreational Safety, Gwain Bonner, points out that: "Although the primary hazard to earlier hunters was a hostile environment, today's hunter carries his primary hazard with him-his gun. Fortunately, hunting and firearm accidents have something in common with all mishaps ...they are preventable.

"Prevention," Bonner continued, "requires that we first identify the problem areas and place them in proper perspective. The, effective countermeasures and precautions can be taken."

"The Texas Safety Association has identified ten major hazard areas related to hunting. A brief description of the ten follows, and includes measures for preventing and/or minimizing the possibility of accidents."

FIREARMS

Two cardinal rules of gun safety are (1) don't load a gun until you're ready to shoot, and (2) don't point a gun at anything you don't want to shoot.

Many accidents occur when hunters transfer loaded guns in and out of autos, campers, boats, etc. Loaded guns also are a hazard when hunters are climbing fences, walls, trees, or moving quickly through rough terrain.

It might sound absurd to advise a hunter to be sure of his target before pulling the trigger, but casualties mistaken for game number in the hundreds every year.

OVEREXERTION

In addition to the danger of a heart attack, overexertion can cause fatigue, which in turn exposes the hunter to all sorts of additional and unnecessary hazards. If you're not acclimated to the rigors of your sport, spend enough time to get in good physical condition; which, by the way, would be good for you in any event.

FALLS

Falls, mostly from trees, ledges, slopes and rocks, account for many hunting accidents. Remember, even simple injuries and sprains can lead to serious consequences when you're far from medical care. Try to avoid climbing that tree, chasing that doe, jumping that stream, or taking that 'shortcut'.

DROWNINGS

Water is a silent menace to all hunters, not just waterfowl hunters in boats. If you find yourself suddenly in water, don't thrash about in panic. Think. Don't remove your clothing, trap air in your clothing which will float you to the surface. From this floating position, the hunter can move toward safety in a modified breast stroke.

HYPOTHERMIA

Severe injury and death can occur from prolonged loss of body temperature, or hypothermia. Dress warmly and keep dry. If you're in an open fast moving vehicle, the wind-chill factor can cause rapid loss of body heat even in above freezing temperatures. Wear clothing in layers which will provide better insulation.

EXPOSURE

Severe and crippling injuries can result from simple frostbite, and prolonged exposure can be fatal. One early sign of frostbite is intense tingling discomfort followed by loss of sensation and a peculiar stiffness. Treatment consists of rapid rewarming, in lukewarm water if possible. Extremities such as toes, fingers and ears are most susceptible to frostbite.

LOST

If you become lost, stay put. If you must move, try to find a high vantage point to spot help and be spotted. Conserve food, water and energy. Improvise a shelter, keep warm. Remember the international distress signal is three short blasts fired into the air in quick succession. Many hunters carry whistles for use as a safety communication device.

ANIMAL ATTACKS

In some of the wilder areas, hunters may have to be on guard against animal attacks. Remember, almost any wounded animal can be dangerous, and blood sometimes attracts predators. Local information and advice should always be sought.

ALCOHOL

A swig of spirits may seem to have a warming effect on a cold day, but its value is deceiving (alcohol actually lowers skin temperature). Alcohol impairs judgement and coordination. It creates additional hazards, and is not used by responsible hunters.

IN FROM THE FIELD

Hunters would be remiss if they limited their firearm safety concerns solely to the open field. National Safety Council statistics show that 900 persons died in firearm accidents in public places in 1975. It is estimated that about half of these deaths were related to hunting. At the same time, 1,600 persons died from firearm accidents in the home environment. Obviously, the hunter's concern for his gun must not end when he returns from the field.

When you return home with your unloaded gun, lock the gun and ammunition in separate places. Keys should be kept by a responsible person, not on a hook next to the gun cabinet.

Handicapped 'Lost' In Texas

More than 10,000 children did not go to school today. This is not unusual. They have never gone to school. They are handicapped children "lost" somewhere in Texas.

These children have physical or mental handicaps that keep them from attending school. At least that used to be the case, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) says. Now there is a program to locate these children and give them the free public education Texas law says they should get.

No one knows for sure how many youngsters are not in school because of hearing, seeing, mental, emotional, physical or learning problems. Before the Texas Education Agency (TEA) began the "Child Find" program they estimated there were 10,000 such children. But in only six months they have located more than 5,000. The program, funded through 1978, probably will find thousands more; such persons between the ages of 3 and 21. Education officials estimate public education now serves only 76 percent of the handicapped children in Texas.

Anyone knowing of a handicapped child between the ages of 3 and 21 who is not in school easily can get the person some help by calling one of three numbers. Calling 1-800-292-9668, a statewide toll free Child Find number, costs nothing and will bring help from a local source. Someone also can call the local school district or Regional Educational Service Center.

One a handicapped child is located, the local school district does an appraisal. If eligible for special education, the child gets needed services through the school district or other community resources. If needed, counsellors can meet with the parents to help with problems they may have.

All this effort pays off in human and monetary terms. It costs about $20,000 to educate a handicapped child in Texas. It would cost society approximately $200,000 not to educate the child. The $200,000 estimate includes other types of treatment. Long-term care, lost taxes an educated individual could pay, etc.

Of course savings in human terms are immeasurable. Special education focuses on what someone can do instead of what he can't. Even a little progress gives parents hope and gives children increased ability to help themselves and contribute to society.

Pet Care Program Offered For Kids

If your children have a pet, or if you're thinking about getting a pet for your child, you'll be interested in a new program that has been developed by the Bureau of Veterinary Public Health of the Texas Department of Health Resources. The purpose of the program is to teach children how to care for their pets.

Dr. William Bilderback, director of the state's Zoonosis Control Program, explained that the pet care project is intended for children in the second grade. He said, "This is something we have never had the capability of doing, and it's something that most of us have dreamed about in the past, but now it's a reality."

The program is designed around a single classroom lesson, using a filmstrip with a pre-recorded narration. A coloring booklet reinforces the major concepts in the lesson, and each participating child receives a second booklet to take home.

The educational materials were developed by the Pet Food Institute, the trade association of pet food manufacturers, and by the Orange County (California) Veterinary Medical Association Women's Auxiliary. Additional printed materials, including a Teacher's Guide, have been prepared and produced by the Texas Dept. of Health Resources. A Spanish-language version of the filmstrip, phonograph record and printed materials is being developed now and should be available next Spring.

Bilderback said, "We do have some marvelous educational programs for adults, but this never seems to quite do the job, and we've failed in the past to have educational materials that reach the real 'education point.'" He stressed the importance of teaching pet care at an early age so that children will have a base on which to build the fundamentals of environmental responsibility and pet ownership."

The educational materials will be available to teachers through the Texas Regional Education Service Centers. In addition, the women's auxiliaries of the local schools. Also, a veterinarian in each of the Texas Public Health Regions will be available to present the program.

The content of the program stresses the importance of providing a suitable shelter for a pet, the pet's nutritional and grooming needs, and rudimentary pet training. The theme, "a pet is a very special friend," emphasizes the child's responsibility toward the pet.

Although most people regard pet care as a "common sense matter," Bilderback pointed out that children don't know how to care for their pets unless they are taught. The problem is particularly acute in the cities, where pets can't fend for themselves and thus are entirely dependent on their owners for public health and emotional needs. Veterinarians and public health officials see and hear about instances of pet abuse and mistreatment daily.

Pets that don't receive proper care can become the victims of a variety of diseases, many of which are transmissible to humans. That's why the state public health agency has become involved in the pet care project; zoonosis control is the science of controlling diseases that are transmitted by animals to humans.

Bilderback also commented on a subject that is not specifically included in the school program: the proper selection of a pet. He said, "The basis for selecting a good pet is, first of all, stay away from the exotics." Exotic animals—that is, animals which have not been domesticated—usually cannot be cared for properly in the homes, he said. The exotic pet may be a beautiful creature, he said, "but it's not, but wild animals also are the greatest source of diseases and extreme behavior problems. Furthermore," Bilderback said, "if it were a (suitable) pet in the first place, we would already have it in our homes."

Other than avoiding exotic pets, Bilderback said the selection of a good pet is purely a matter of personal choice with consideration given to the environment in which the pet will be kept (for example, not trying to keep a large dog in a small city apartment) and the kind of association the individual wishes to have with the pet.

Information about the school program on pet care may be obtained by writing to Dr. Bilderback at the Texas Department of Health Resources, Austin, Texas 78756.

Pension Increases Due

HOUSTON—A 7 percent increase in monthly benefit rates for Veterans Administration pensioners, plus increases in the annual income limits on which the pensions are based, become effective January 1, 1977. The pension changes were approved by the President on September 30.

Affected are about a million veterans and 1.6 million veterans' survivors receiving VA pensions, Ted W. Myatt, VA Regional Director, pointed out.

The increases are estimated to cost $432 million in fiscal year 1977.

Income limitations were raised as follows: To $3,540 for veterans of surviving spouses without dependents and to $4,760 for those with dependents under the current program; to $3,100 and $4,460 for those under the prior pension law; and for parents under the dependency and indemnity compensation program, the limits were raised to $3,540 for a single parent and $4,760 for parents living together or with a spouse.

The maximum unearned income limitation for children entitled under the current pension program was increased $190 to $2,890.

A significant addition in the new law provides for a 25 percent added differential to all pension rates for eligible veterans who are 78 years of age or older. Primary beneficiaries of this provision are some 318,000 World War I veterans whose average age is 80.

Aid and attendance rates for veterans on the pension rolls was increased by $22 to $155 and the housebound rate by $4 to $57. For surviving spouses on the pension rolls, parents receiving DIC payments and surviving spouses and parents receiving death compensation, the aid and attendance rate was increased to $74.

Another new provision permits payment of a reduced aid and attendance monthly allowance to eligible veterans whose pension payments are denied or terminated because annual income exceeded the statutory limitation by less than $500.

Pensions are paid to wartime veterans who are totally disabled from non-service-connected causes if they are disabled before age 65 and come within income limits. After age 65, only income is taken into account. Pension payments to widows of wartime veterans are determined by income limitations.

The pension bill also makes permanent an 8 percent increase in monthly pension payments enacted last year with an October 1, 1976, expiration date.

Elderly Need Good Nutrition

COLLEGE STATION—Don't tell your age by your eating habits—you may be aging, but you can eat young, Frances Reanover, foods and nutrition specialist, says.

She's with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Calorie requirements are the only difference between what young and old people should eat—nutritional needs are generally the same. The body doesn't need any one particular food—it needs components of food: protein, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals, called nutrients.

"Daily caloric needs decline with each decade over 50, so caloric intake must usually be reduced. Requirement for most other nutrients remains fairly constand during older life," she explained.

Foods furnishing nutrients are grouped into four basic groups:

"Major sources of protein in the American diet are red meat, poultry, fish and eggs. This group also contributes iron and some thiamine (Vitamin B1). The excellent protein contribution of milk and milk products is often overlooked. Dried peas, beans and peanut butter, especially when combined with meat or milk proteins are also good protein sources. Cereal protein and meat protein, combined in a frozen entree, provide useful protein at mealtime.

Calcium is the nutrient most likely to be consumed in amounts below recommended levels in the diets of the elderly. Milk and milk products furnish most of this important mineral. Those who do not drink milk may enjoy cheese, yogurt or milk desserts. Also, small amounts of calcium are found in vegetables, especially the dark leafy varieties. The milk group also supplies riboflavin and, if fortified, Vitamin D. Two cups of milk or equivalent calcium in dairy products is needed daily, she said.

"The fruit and vegetable group furnishes Vitamins A, C, some calcium and iron. In the American diet, orange juice has become the major source of Vitamin V. But other sources are grapefruit, cabbage, broccoli, vine-ripened tomatoes, green peppers and such fruits as strawberries and cantaloupe. A serving of a Vitamin-C rich food each day is recommended.

"Think 'green' and 'orange' for food sources to furnish Vitamin A. Deep green leafy vegetables, winter squash, carrots and cantaloupe are all excellent sources of carotenes, which are converted to Vitamin A by the body.

I'm the only microwave oven with a brain!
My name is MODEL RR-9
Touchmatic Radarange MICROWAVE OVEN
made only by Amana
I make microwave cooking even simpler.
I'm so easy to operate.
Amana COOKMATIC Power Shift puts you in full control of everything you cook.
Pick the operations you want it to perform by touching the numbers and cycle instructions on the smooth, clean face of the control panel. It's that simple. Then push the Start Button. Solid state reliability.
As you make your selections by touching the control panel, the solid state brain recognizes your instructions, remembers and accurately carries out your cooking program. It's that easy.
Of course, you can interrupt the cooking at any time to season, baste, or whatever. The Touchmatic system remembers exactly where it was and resumes cooking as soon as you press the Start Switch.
Radarange Cooking is fast, clean, cool, and saves energy.
It's simple to operate, simple to use — built with solid state reliability. Of course, with 675 watts of cooking power, the Touchmatic Radarange Oven still cooks almost everything in one-fourth the usual time. For example:
a 5 lb. roast takes just 35 minutes;
a hamburger — 60 seconds;
a hot dog — 20 seconds;
Vegetables (from frozen to serving) take 5 or 6 minutes;
a baked potato — 4 minutes.
The Touchmatic Radarange Microwave Oven. Yes, we've made the greatest cooking discovery since fire even greater. And so simple.
Come in and see me now!

G.I. Bill Extensive

The nation's third GI Bill, which has provided educational assistance for 6.6 million veterans and active-duty members with military service since Feb. 1, 1955, will be available for persons entering the armed forces after Dec. 31, 1976, Ted W. Myatt, Veterans Administration Regional Office Director, said today.

The Veterans Education and Employment Assistance Act of 1976 (PL 94-502), signed into law by President Ford Oct. 15, set the termination date for GI Bill eligibility. It also designated Dec. 31, 1989 as the closing date for all training for those already eligible under this program, Myatt said.

Offsetting the end of GI Bill eligibility, the new law created a voluntary contributory educational assistance program for persons initially entering military service after Dec. 31, 1976, jointly operated by the Veterans Administration and the Department of Defense. The program will offer 36 months educational assistance entitlement with a 10-year delimiting date.

Participants in the new program may contribute $50 to $75 monthly from their salaries, up to a maximum $2,700. The contributions will be matched by the VA at the rate of $2 for every $1 made by the service member.

The new law also provided for an 8 percent increase in monthly allowances for all current training offered by the GI Bill, except flight training, retroactive to Oct. 1. The basic entitlement for trainees was extended from 36 to 45 months.

Prepayment of the monthly allowance was eliminated, effective June 1, 1977. Also, after June 1, advance payment at the start of training will be permitted only at the request of the trainee and provided the school agrees to comply with the requirements of the law.

Other features of the new law include:

* Increased maximum amount for educational loans from $600 to $1,500.
* Terminated enrollments and reenrollments by current active-duty members in predischarge education program (PREP) after Oct. 31, 1976. PREP will be available during last six months of first enlistment for service members who participate in new voluntary contributory education program.
* Removed delimiting date for seriously disabled and blind veterans enrolled in vocational rehabilitation training.
* Prohibits an attorney-in-fact from negotiating benefit check as such action is considered as assignment.

The current GI Bill was effective June 1, 1966, providing educational assistance for eligible veterans who served on active duty after Jan. 31, 1955. When all training under the bill has been terminated, its 23-year life-span will have almost doubled that of each of its predecessors.

The World War II GI Bill ended July 25, 1956, after 12 years. Lifetime of the Korean Conflict GI Bill was 12-½-years, ending Jan. 31, 1965.
