Runoff votes set May 29 and June 5

TYLER COUNTY — With tie votes recorded in two local races, runoff elections have been scheduled by both the Chester Independent School District and the City of Colmesneil.

Chester ISD will hold its runoff on May 29 to pick a school board member while Colmesneil city voters will be asked to go back to the polls on June 5 - the same day as the statewide senatorial runoff - to fill one council seat.

The Chester school board runoff was prompted when incumbent board member Kenneth A Baker and challenger Mike Davis tied for second place in the May 1 race for two at-large board seats. The two contenders each received 83 votes behind Jeannie R. Johnson, who won one of the seats outright with a vote count of 98.

A runoff in the Colmesneil City Council election was forced when incumbent Tommy Svatek and challenger Kenneth Davis tied for second place in the race for two at-large council seats. Both men received 80 votes in the May 1 election behind incumbent Ronald M. Hearn who was re-elected with a vote count of 89.

Early voting in the Chester school election is scheduled to begin at the school sometime next week - probably on May 19 - or as soon as election ballots are printed. Early voting will be held on weekdays during school hours through May 25.

In the Colmesneil city race, early voting will run from May 20 through June 3 at the city hall between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The senatorial runoff, which pits former Railroad Commissioner Bob Krueger and State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison in a head-to-head race, also will be held June 5 with early voting to be held between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays from Monday, May 17 through June 1. Early voting will again be held in the Domino Building located on the west side of the Tyler County Courthouse in Woodville.

The statewide runoff was called after none of the 24 candidates for the senate seat won a majority in the May 1 election. Krueger, who was appointed to the U.S. Senate post following the resignation of Lloyd Bentsen, is running as a Democrat while Hutchison, who finished in first place on May 1, is campaigning as a Republican.

Funds sought for juvenile officer

-Schools, city asked to share expenses with county-

By Greg Peak
Editor

WOODVILLE — Negotiations between the county, all five Tyler County school districts and the City of Woodville are now underway in an effort to split the costs of a full-time juvenile officer operating through the Tyler County Sheriff's Department.

During Monday's meeting of the Tyler County Commissioners Court, Sheriff Gary Hennigan reported that while a formal agreement has not yet been reached with the schools, all five of the superintendents have indicated their support for sharing the local cost of the officer with the county.

"I've also spoken with Don Shaw (Woodville city secretary) and he has indicated that the city also might be willing to get involved," Hennigan told the commissioners.

The juvenile officer program is now in its second year under a state grant. Under the terms of the grant, the state provided $30,000 for the first year of the program, an amount which is reduced by 20 percent or $6,000 each year. Local funds are expected to be used to make up from the reduction until at the end of five years, the program is expected to be funded entirely with local money.

This year, the county is providing all of the $6,000 in local funds required to match the grant, in addition to providing the officer with a patrol car and uniforms.

Commissioners indicated that because of tight budgets and a slow economy, it will become increasingly difficult for the county to fund all of the local share. Because of this, they have elected to seek some financial help for the program from the county's schools.

County Judge Jerome Owens noted that while the juvenile officer, Deputy Mike McCulley, provides educational programs to the schools, he also works with each of the school districts to "provide student discipline from a law enforcement standpoint."

While school districts surrounding Tyler County are experiencing many more problems requiring a law enforcement officer's presence, Owens noted that local districts are seeing a growing need which might ultimately require them to hire full-time security officers.

Although the situation has not yet reached that point, Owens said that providing the juvenile officer to work with the local schools is the first step toward solving campus security problems.

"The schools, by their willingness to participate in funding this program, see a need for this service," Owens noted.

"That was one of the reasons we brought this up," Precinct 3 Commissioner Jerry Mahan said. "We wanted to see how much interest the schools have in this program."

Mahan and other commissioners indicated that had the schools not been willing to help support the program, it would have indicated that the program probably would not have been worth continuing.

Under the plan now being discussed, beginning on Jan. 1, 1994 the five county school districts would be asked to fund half of the local match for the grant which would be pro-rated based on the average daily attendance of each district.

The city would be asked to pay 10 percent of the local share while the county would pick up the remaining

Woodville Lions Club hosts agriculture commissioner

WOODVILLE — Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Rick Perry will speak to the Woodville Lions Club during the group's noon luncheon Thursday, May 13, at the Lions Den off Highway 190 East.

Rick Perry

Perry, a fifth generation farmer and rancher from Haskell, took over as the agriculture commissioner in January 1991.

In the two years since taking office, Perry is credited with launching a series of initiatives to spread the word about Texas farmers and ranchers and the good work they do throughout the world.

Prior to his election to the agriculture commissioner post, Perry served as a state representative for three terms serving Callahan, Haskell, Hood, Palo Pinto, Shackelford, Stephens, Throckmorton and Young counties. While serving in the legislature, he was named one of the 10 most effective lawmakers by the Dallas Morning News in 1989.

He is a 1968 graduate of Paint Creek High School and received a bachelor of science degree in animal science from Texas A&M University in 1972. After completing college, he served in the U.S. Air Force, attaining the rank of captain and serving as a C-130 aircraft commander in the Tactical Airlift Command.

New wastewater system eyed by Woodville council

By John Morrison

WOODVILLE — Woodville City Council will try to tackle it's increasing sewer problem when they meet in a special workshop meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday, May 18.

Council decided Monday to call the planning and work session meeting after hearing a report from councilmen Dr. W.S. (Bill) Nichols and Tom Knapp, who recently toured through two innovative rock/reed filter wastewater plants in Louisana and returned with their interest heightened in what they learned. They recommended that Woodville possibly develop a similar program, but only after proper research and study and engineering has been completed.

Costs could range around the $3 million mark so council is treading carefully as they approach the subject.

"It would be well worth it for us to sit down and work out the costs before we undertake such a project," said Councilman Knapp who indicated his interest in the system.

According to City Secretary Don Shaw, a film of the Crowley plant will be shown which illustrates how the rock/reed filtration system works.

The City of Woodville is facing stringent federal and state mandates to develop plants to meet future sewage levels. Currently the city is at 75 percent capacity on its exiting waste water treatment facility and is required by law to have planning for expansion underway or replacement.

"We are being forced to do this we don't want to but we have no choice," Knapp added.

Called a "reactor" because of the way the constructed rock/reed system is developed, it allows the combination of sub-surface and free surface emergent vegetation to eat effluent produced through the Woodville sewer system. Site selection is important for the plant location and, according to council, "The plant has got to be designed and built right."

One problem with the system that was mentioned at an earlier meeting on the subject was that the rock/reed design has shown a tendency to clog after three to five years.

"The problem is," according to Shaw, "even if we hired an engineer today it would still take at least three years to build the plant. How do we provide for the anticipated growth between now and then?"

Shaw said further that the city currently spends about $100,000 a year on treatment chemicals and electricity to run the existing plant. Neither would be needed at a proposed rock/reed facility Shaw pointed out.

In other business at the Monday meeting the council:

• heard a request from Sam Houston Electric Co-op to allow that firm to install a water line to the SHECO facility located about a mile past the Woodville City limits on Highway 287 N. The council asked that Shaw and SHECO officials get together and work out arrangements and bring a formal proposal back for council vote, "after you get your game plan together," Mayor Billy Rose said;

• withheld action on gas contract provisions pending further discussions with a recently hired gas consultant;

• received a good report from City Auditor Monty Pipes, who said the city had a few "tightening measures that his firm was recommending the city install, but that generally everything was already in place with good administration and procedures. The

At the Village

By Dottie Johnson

It was a typical week at Heritage Village. The kind we enjoy the most. And that means busy.

It ended on Tuesday with over a hundred middle school choir members from Woodville, Lumberton and Evadale taking a picnic lunch break in the Village. Later they enjoyed an old fashion boarding house supper at the Pickett House to top off a day long practice session that culminated in a full fledged concert at Kirby Auditorium.

The idea of the combined choirs started last year when the Choir Director at Lumberton and Woodville's own Ruth Houston put their heads together to create a music festival for small school choristers. So few students are selected to go to regional competition, Ruth explained, and this effort gives everyone a chance to prepare for and perform a concert in front of a live audience.

And so they come together and practice, new songs and old, take a break at the Village - then return for further rehearsals before supper and performance. It's a hard day's work that brings great satisfaction to students and teachers alike.

Choir clinic, 'Whispers' cast call among typical activities

And coming to the Village gives them all a chance to put this extraordinary musical experience into the perspective of history, yesterday's and today's.

Just knowing they were here again was a reminder of the thanks parents showered on Ruth Houston following last December's Madrigal Dinner. The music was delicious, the young singers a shining example of what exceptional talent, exceptional teaching is all about.

Ruth Houston has been doing just that for Woodville, its school district, the Dogwood Festival and the United Methodist Church for over 20 years. During the past five years, she has added Heritage Village to her long list of those to whom her musical prodigies are very special people indeed.

Touring the Village

Now that was Tuesday, but only part of it, for that same afternoon the entire student body of the Oberlin, Louisiana, Covenant School, arrived for a tour, following a similar visit to the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation in the morning.

Tour groups last week included an interesting adult group from Sam Rayburn Time Share. It was an unexpected tour, no reservations made, but the Villagers took it all in stride with Mark Greer putting aside his paint brush in the Hamm House to act as tour guide. It's a good thing he has so many hats - and talents.

Leaders from Rayburn frequently offer tours for their time sharers to familiarize them with the area they are sharing. This particular group was quite diverse, bringing together people from in state and out, some from as far away as California, but they all had one thing in common. They said their visit to Heritage Village Museum was the best tour they had been on. So take a bow, everyone. Take a bow, Mark. And take a bow, Leroy McGovney. One lady from Dallas was so impressed with his paintings, she bought one.

Last Thursday, 100 gifted students from Vidor were on board with the usual array of demonstrators to bring the Village alive for them. On Friday, it was the first of three visits from Hudson ISD near Lufkin. There were about 45 fifth graders in the first wave, and it was mighty good to see Paul Walker on board, stepping into the shoes of Ewel Wood, who has been hospitalized, so the youngsters wouldn't miss this important demonstration. Two additional student groups from Hudson will fill the Village with life this coming Thursday and Friday.

With a good Saturday and an even better Sunday from our trusted weekend tourists, who love to touch and taste a bit of early Texana at our Village, you can easily see our staff and volunteers have not been just sitting around eating bonbons.

Casting call Saturday

And it's not going to calm down, now that casting and early rehearsals are getting underway for our fifth annual presentation of "Whispers In The Wind," scheduled for June 18 and 19, 25 and 26, at the Village.

This coming Saturday, May 15, at 10 a.m. all former cast members and all those who would like to be part of this annual historic production, are urged to meet with our new director, Cindy Alexander, at the Village.

If you're a ham, you know it, but Cindy might not. So come on out to the Village Saturday morning, and let's break a leg. We've got a show to put on.

State Capitol Highlights

School finance plans offered

By Lyndell Williams
and Ed Sterling
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — With only three weeks remaining until June 1, when a state district judge's order would sever school funding for public schools in Texas, a joint panel of the House and Senate education subcommittees met last Thursday, welcoming ideas from the public on how to solve the crisis.

An estimated 20,000 teachers in 142 school districts won't see paychecks this summer if the Legislature does not solve the crisis by the June 1 deadline set by Judge Scott McCown of Austin.

Of the 385 people who attended the hearing, many were members of Texans Against Robin Hood Taxes, a group that opposed Proposition 1, a proposed constitutional amendment that was defeated in the May 1 election. Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, criticized ideas by the group's chairman, Tom Pauken, who proposed dedicating lottery profits to property-poor school districts and limit funding to basic education programs.

Most of the proposals, however, would require constitutional amendments, and a statewide vote on the amendments could not take place before Aug. 14.

A proposal for a state income tax resurfaced at the hearing, this time through Rep. Billy Clemons, D-Pollock. Clemons suggested dedicating income tax revenues to public schools and doing away with school district-levied ad valorem taxes.

Dallas lawyer Tom Luce issued a proposal to cut some school programs, tax commercial and industrial properties at the state level instead of the local level, and for the state to fork over 75 percent of public school funding — a 32 percent increase.

Representing 19 metropolitan school districts, Texas School Alliance proposed a plan that over the next two years would pump an additional $1 billion in state funds into public education, or would consolidate school district tax bases if the proposal for extra funds were rejected.

Prison Measure Stalls

A proposed $1 billion bond issue for new prisons and jails ran into difficulty in the Texas House last week, as minority lawmakers vowed to block final passage until a school funding compromise is reached.

"We'll give them something on prisons when they give us something on education," said Rep. Irma Rangel, D-Kingsville, head of the House Hispanic caucus.

At issue is a resolution for voter approval for bonds to build new prisons and state jails. The measure passed the House 91-50, nine votes short of the 100 needed to place it on the November ballot.

Gun Bill Shot Down

By a three-vote margin, the Texas House defeated a proposal to link a concealed weapons bill with continued operation of the Texas Department of Public Safety. The vote was 70-67.

Supporters said the proposal was the only way to force the Senate to vote on the measure allowing Texans to carry concealed guns.

At issue was an amendment to a bill to reauthorize the DPS, which is scheduled to "sunset" in September. The amendment, by Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, called for a November vote on the proposal that would let adults carry concealed weapons if they get training and a state permit.

Speaker's Day Fete Modest

Some 280 former state representatives attending Speaker's Day last Friday noticed the difference Speaker Pete Laney brought to the annual event.

The event included a continental breakfast, a tour of the new Capitol Extension and a barbecue on the Capitol grounds. In the past Speaker's Day has been an elaborate and expensive affair.

Breaking tradition, Laney refused to accept any expensive gifts from lawmakers or lobbyists, said Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, who planned the event.

In 1991, Speaker's Day included a dinner and dance at the Erwin Center. The event cost $110,940, including $57,000 for food and beverages, with lobbyists picking up most of the tab.

In comparison, Laney's first Speaker's Day cost about $13,000. Lobbyists bought most of the 550 tickets, but the public also purchased them.

"I don't like to say I'm cheap," said Laney, who enjoys Arby's roast beef sandwiches and popcorn. "I'd like to say I'm frugal."

Other Highlights

•Rep. Vilma Luna, D-Corpus Christi, was sworn in last week as the newest member of the Texas House. Luna, a 35-year old lawyer, fills the seat vacated by Eddie Cavazos, who was appointed to the Texas Employment Commission.

•Sen. Don Henderson has filed a bill to "liliiii" access to 911 dispatchers. Tangle wood surbdivision, where former President George Bush lives, Henderson, R-Houston, said the measure is intended to keep out tour buses and sightseers hoping for a glimpse of the former first family.

Mill provides needed jobs

Dear Editor:
(Regarding a letter printed last week by D.F. Miller about E&L causing all these environmental problems.)

I can't see for the life of me how anyone can raise so much cain over something that has been taking place all over East Texas for more than a century. The black water mill ponds spot East Texas like the many small sawmill towns that used to go that still exist here. And I wonder how many of these old mill ponds left by no longer existing mills are some pretty good fishing, as are some of the ones that are still being used.

Anywhere in the world where there is a lot of hardwood and marshy or swampy lands together you are going to have black water. There are a lot of these places here in East Texas, in Louisiana, Mississippi, Florida, Georgia, Arkansas, Missouri, and even one small area I know of in Western Kentucky. Also these are some of the most environmentally rich areas on the planet Earth.

How can you call a decision to create employment and a livelihood, both directly and indirectly, for some seven or eight hundred families a mistake? As for the noise the drum de-barker makes, I think that it is like living by a railroad track. The noise only bothers those who want something to complain about.

As for the nice people who have moved here from elsewhere to retire, that's all well and good, but they need to understand that there are many more people still working for a living than retired. Besides that, now many of them have retired from somegas belching, stinking, polluting, noise making, petro-chemical plant or refinery that has for the past ninety-odd years been causing environmental problems all over this country.

As for the owners of E&L living outside of the county, yes they do. But you need to check into the tax records at the courthouse and see for yourself that they do pay their fair share of Tyler County taxes.

I remember when they bought the mill back in the seventies. The mill was in very poor condition and doing very little. The payroll and the amount of taxes paid were low. These people invested heavily, both in money and effort, and they built, and repaired, and put more and more people to work. They supplies more and more hardwood lumber to so many places, but mostly to the oil fields. Then the oil fields shut down in the early eighties. The decision was made to convert the sawmill to something still to supply a need for hardwood chips.

Instead of shutting the mill down and putting a large number of Tyler Counties out of work, they once again invested heavily. They even asked for and received help from the leaders of Tyler County in the form of approval of the industrial Revenue Bonds. Everything was well looked into, well publicized, well explained, and all laid out on the table for all to see and know about. Nobody complained and things went forward. More and more people went to work at E&L. It was good then and it is still good for Tyler County.

I know that there have been problems, and each one that has come up has been dealt with. These people have spent several million dollars keeping the mill up to date and seeing that each and every issue, large or small, is kept within the guidelines of the environmental and water control standards.

It just seems to me that no matter how hard these people try to be good neighbors, it's never going to be good enough for some folks. I just hope that someone has a good enough answer for the people who'll lose their jobs, if and when , all this hassling causes them to give up and shut the mill down.

Times are tough here in Tyler County, but you ain't seen nothing yet. Just keep on until you have to pay the bills around here without E&L's payroll. If we need to wake up and take care of an environmental issue, then let's also try to wake Dorothy up and get her to realize that we have enough people around here living out of the taxpayers' pockets. The jobs provided by E&L Lumber Co. are much needed here in Tyler County as well as much appreciated.

Sincerely,
Mike Stacy

Appreciation voiced for donations

Dear Editor:

To my friend David Sowell, the Tyler County Sheriff's Posse, Terry Riley, Mr. Harmon, Dr. Porcari, Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Jernigan, Jimmy Pate, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mott, the Spurger Methodist Church, Pastor John (who got out in the rain to deliver a check for $2,000 from the Golden Cross), and the other many Tyler County residents I do not know by name. I wish to express my heartfelt thanks for your love and kindness.

For me and my family this means to much to us to know so many care.

At this time I'm doing fine, and having chemotherapy treatments in Houston.

It looks like at this time the bone marrow transplant might take place in August.

Again, my thanks. I love you all, and God Bless you.

God spared our children

Dear Editor:

It's me again. It used to happen over there, down there, up there or around there, but it's plain ole' here. It has come, the time for us who know we've been born of the Holy Spirit, to call it like we see it and tell it like it is, no matter what the color, race or creed.

Those of us that have love in our heart of our fellow man, let's give God the thanks and praises because if we really got it, God is the one who gave it to us. Now, if we have not love, let's ask God for a heart-full of love. Quick.

The first step to being destroyed is envy. If that remains in our hearts long enough it turns to hatred. If it remains, it becomes malice, then malice takes roots and starts spreading. It turns into something like cancer and even a small child has heard that cancer is an incurable deadly disease. We can be cured from a heart-full of hatred, but the problem is some of us fail to even realize what a bad condition we're in. Then we won't humble ourselves before God and confess our sins. Then we're destroyed to a position where there's no return.

The other day someone asked me a question. They asked, what kind of a sheriff's department do you all have, to call in a force that large to a small operation like the Rump Shaker? Why, he should've been able to handle that problem himself, now don't get me wrong. If I tell you that I didn't have a lot of different thoughts about the incident I would be lying before God. Had I been asked a lot of questions a few hours after I heard about it, I would've answered them different than the way I answer now.

My mother always told me to always try to think twice before I speak. I don't always do that, but if we don't be so quick to speak, the Holy Spirit will give us the right thoughts and we'll speak right.

Since I've had time to think about the incident, pray about it, read about it in the scriptures, guess what I came up with? Thanks, praises, prayers, honors to the Almighty God. Guess why I say that? Jesus Christ is sitting at the right side of Jehovah God pleading for everyone and God spared all our children's lives that night.

Hey, my kids and I are not better than anyone else but I had a son in there. He said he had been there about 20 minutes when Bam! Hit the deck! Boom!! Gun shot.

He told me "Mama, I saw fire from the gun barrel." He said, "I just knew I was shot." But you know what I said? Thank God you weren't and thank God for saving lives.

No matter what type of person our sheriff, judges or those who have authority over us are, we've all got to stand before the throne of God and give account of every deed done in our body. Good or bad. And it won't do any good to say, 'Well, God, I would have lived right if it hadn't been for that lying sheriff, crooked judge, the juries, jailers, DPS, lawyers, sisters, brothers, mothers, fathers, children.'

No! No! That won't work. I can throw a rock and hide my hand. God sees that hand. I can hide skeletons in my closet. God sees through the wall. I can sweep my dirt under the carpet, but by and by God will uncover my dirt.

God said to the children of Israel, don't worry about your leaders, your enemies. I see what they're doing. Vengeance is mine. God knows who the culprit is, but remember this. Trying to correct other people's faults is like tying a neck tie. We can do it better on ourselves.

God loves you! And guess what? I love you too.

DETDA sets Woodville session

WOODVILLE — Members of the Deep East Texas Development Association will review Champion International's "Special Places in the Program" at their Friday, May 21 meeting in Woodville.

The meeting begins at 10 a.m. in the Woodville Inn.

The Champion program, which has been responsible for setting aside a number of unusual forest areas in East Texas since 1990, is the first formal land-preservation effort ever established by a forest products company on its own lands.

Champion will show a slide/sound presentation on the Texas program and John Wylie of Huntsville will be available to answer questions.

Later this year, Champion plans to extend the pilot Texas program to all of its timberlands throughout the United States. Set-asides under the program are planned for Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, New York, Maine, Minnesota and other states.

Champion was recently named "1993 Forest Conservationist of the Year" by the Sportsmen Conservationists of Texas for the Special Places program and the company's wildlife management efforts in East Texas.

Champion, which manages 1.1 million acres of forestland in 32 East Texas counties, has set aside 12 sites in eight East Texas counties and plans another set-aside this year. The sites include areas which have unique environmental, historical, geological or wildlife characteristics.

Reservations for the May 21 meeting in Woodville may be made by calling the Deep East Texas Development Association's Lufkin office at 639-4734. The $10 fee includes a buffet lunch.

Warren man indicted for sign vandalism

WOODVILLE — A 20 year old Warren man was indicted by the Tyler County Grand Jury last week for destroying two dozen highway signs on Farm-to-Market road 3290. The offense allegedly occurred in the early morning hours of April 16.

According to Texas Department of Transportation Maintenance Supervisor Mark Hanks, damage to the signs totalled $954.29. Deputy Ty Polhamus with the Tyler County Sheriff's Office, was able to match casts of the tire tracks made at the scene with those of the suspect's vehicle. Nowlin says the suspect used his car to knock down the 24 signs around midnight on the 16th.

FM 3290 is located off FM 1943 just east of Warren.

Welcome to My World

A walk on the beach

The sun, hanging low and red in the sky over the Gulf of Mexico, sheds its light on a lone figure, wearing a windbreaker and shorts, walking the beach at Padre Island in the very early morning.

The tide is rushing out, leaving behind pieces of driftwood, Portuguese men-of-war, and assorted other debris dragged in from the muddy waters of the Gulf Coast. Low breakers add their sighing rush to the low wind whipping the man's jacket about him. The clouds flare red above him, as the sun's light is bent over the horizon to touch the soil of Texas.

Many people consider a private beach, in the early morning, to be an ideal place for contemplation. Although this man cannot afford a private beach, he agrees with the idea, and he has left his home before dawn today to spend some time alone with the ocean, before the summer crowd of tourists hits the coast.

A fisherman, wearing a baseball cap and cut-off jeans, waves to the man walking down the beach. As he unloads his equipment from his truck, he looks at the rising sun, already brighter and higher in the sky. To this fisherman, the day is one of promise, of redfish or shark in the cooler by sunrise.

After exchanging words and comments on the water to the fisherman, the walker continues down the beach. After a moment, he stops and removes his sandals and walks down to the water's edge, allowing the wet, muddy sand to wrap itself about his feet. He luxuriates in the feel of the earth under his toes, above his foot, and thinks about the day ahead, when he will be trapped in an office, hard, steel and concrete.

He contemplates a young lady's warm curves, chuckling to himself, a little embarrassed, walks back to his sandals and continues his stroll.

Today is to be a normal day on the beach. A young boy from Nebraska, visiting relatives, will find a sand dollar, and will return home the envy of the school for a day. A young man and woman will be ticketed for indecent exposure, after being discovered in what they thought was a concealed place among the dunes. About fifty children will be stung by jellyfish, washed ashore by the tide, and their mothers will search their purses for steak tenderizer. A dolphin will play with some swimmers, get caught on the beach by the retreating tide, and be rescued by loving hands to swim the gulf once more.

A man will be shot today, causing some confusion, but no great concern.

The sun will set, and people will return to their homes, or hotel rooms, or park benches and await the next sunrise.

But for now, for a short moment while the costal city awakes, all that there is is the beach, the ocean and a young man walking, watching the sun rise.

Merchants support flower program

To the residents of Tyler County:

I have received so many comments regarding the flower boxes around the square downtown. It is really wonderful how much attention and interest is being created by the Color Tyler County program. It has been infectious - it has spread to the other business locations and to entire neighborhoods.

I appreciate all the nice compliments I have received but I would like to say that without the support of the downtown merchants who sponsor and help support the program financially, it would not be possible. We need to be supportive of them also.

The flowers are so beautiful and they are being grown for everyone to enjoy.

My thanks once again to these merchants:

Sears store to close June 9

Dear Tyler County:

Your Sears store is closing June 9th. Nancy and I want to thank you for your support for the past six years. Sears has been a part of Tyler County for approximately 23 years. Dorothy Miller began the catalog business in 1970. The store was purchased by Ron Cormier in 1981. The third owners were Margaret and George Haynes. They bought the business in 1984. Nancy and I are the fourth and final owners. We moved to Woodville in January 1987. We purchased the business with the goal of making it an appliance center. We reached that goal in 1990 with the help of a very supportive public. We were able to relocate to our current location and begin selling merchandise off of the floor just as a retail center should.

We now begin our close-down procedure. This will cover the next four weeks. You will be seeing ads in The Booster concerning the upcoming sales. Once again Nancy and I are asking for your support. Everything must go wall to wall. There will be some once in a lifetime prices.

So times change and we have to change with them. Nancy and I have opened a Farmers Insurance Agency. The Lord has blessed us with an opportunity to stay in Tyler County. Our kids (Nathan and Heather) consider this home. Nancy and I can easily understand why.

Thank you so much,
Russ, Nancy,
Nathan and Heather Pilgrim

Holiday Pines ManorReport

By Jessie Haynes

The new month started out good. We're all seeing that the April showers paid off. The flowers here are just beautiful. The roses are a pretty pink. They are the seven sisters variety.

Our week started off with exercise with Helen Palin. All attending enjoyed. Then we had our usual Monday morning domino game.

The afternoon brought our resident council meeting. We voted on our volunteer of the month. We chose the Warren First Baptist Church. They are a very devoted group of people. We enjoy seeing them each week. They are here on selected Tuesdays to help in the beauty shop. Every Wednesday they are here for our Wednesday morning church service. If it's not their week to bring the message they are here to lead in the singing. Thanks to them for their years of devotion to us.

We also chose our resident of the month. Our choice was Leona Pipes. Leona is a very sweet lady who is always helping out someone else, fellow residents and staff. She enjoys serving coffee and helping other residents to their rooms. She also takes care of our house cat and anticipates the arrival of kittens. Leona enjoys visiting at home with her family and her favorite activities are bingo and our dances and she doesn't miss either.

Our hairdressers of the week were Gladys Smith and Opal Hall. They are members of the Warren First Baptist Church. Thanks, ladies.

Also many of our ladies got permed this week and our ladies were Virginia Kirk, Curol Mahan and B.J. Courville. Thanks to all these ladies for their donation.

We are now having our outside lunch bunch on Tuesdays again. This Tuesday was a beautiful day for our picnic. We all enjoyed and look forward to the coming weeks on the patio.

Thanks to Duane Bible and Faye Kirkland for assisting with bingo. We're glad they joined our group of volunteers.

Our Wednesday morning church service was with Sister Gina Hurrison from the Agape Church of Colmesneil along with the members of Warren First Baptist Church leading our singing. We all enjoyed the service - thanks to everyone attending and making the service special.

The ladies of the Warren First Baptist Church also brought along our Mothers Day surprise. It was a new item to hang in our room. They were made of satin balls decorated with silk flowers and ribbon. They are just beautiful. Thanks, ladies.

The afternoon brought our arts and crafts session with Flo Mozes. We made a pinata to honor Cinco de Mayo day.

A beautiful day for Thursday and choir was special. We enjoy this time each week with Stephanie Baker. Thanks Stephanie.

That evening we were entertained by the C.C. Haygood Band. We wish to thank them for coming and we look forward to seeing them next time.

Friday we had Bible study with Duane Bible and a very good study and fellowship.

Saturday was Saturday. We enjoyed watching cartoons and we also had a pinata party and we made our pinata stronger than we thought. It was tough getting it to bust open but we finally managed and the rewards were bountiful.

The evening came and we sat around the rounds and enjoyed another sing-a-long session with Lila and a dance or two. We look forward to this event each week. Thanks Lila. Mothers Day finally came. We enjoyed our church service with Bro. Williams bringing the message and Bro. Bobby Cruse leading the singing.

Then we had our Mothers Day celebration. We were entertained by Tim Hughes, while we were served our beautiful Mothers Day cake made by Judy Greer. We received boxed candy donated by Wal-Mart. Then we listened to poetry being read by Melinda Leach, and were reminded of some of those cute little sayings Mom used to use like "this hurts me more than it hurts you" and others. Fran Fortenberry was also there and she shared some of her pictures of her Mom and a card her daughter sent her for Mothers Day. We all enjoyed the party very much, thanks to all of you who made it possible.

Myrtle Andrews and myself would like to thank Frances Webster for our corsages. Thanks goes out to Walter Wigley for the hydrangea for the staff and residents to enjoy. We also want to say thanks to a new group of volunteers. They are the Warren United Pentecostal Church. They came for our afternoon service. We enjoyed their singing and the message brought.

Thanks to all of you that made our week and Mothers Day special.

The children of Wee Wisdom visited last Friday. They brought with them smiles, laughter and flower baskets. Spud, our house pet is almost grown. He is up to two pounds and thinks he is human. The residents and staff have spoiled him.

We wish to thank Carol Mahan and B.J. Courville from Executive Hair for the permanents they gave to the ladies for Mothers Day.

We want to welcome to our home Bobby Phillips of Silsbee, Preston Dean of Rockland, Bruce Harlan of Doucette, Paul Logan of Woodville, Horace Jordan of Spurger, Arthur Sagerser and John Hensarling of Woodville, and Hazel Jako of Warren.

Welcome back from the hospital, Ruth Hensarling, Faye Collier and Ovid Welch. Bro. Virgil Single went home for Mothers Day. All of his nine children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, daughters-in-law and sons-in-law were all home for Mothers Day. He came back all aglow.

This week is National Nursing Home Week. We started out Sunday with the Martin Family. For those who miss this event, you missed a blessing in song and music.

Tuesday was our residents' birthday party. Those having a birthday this month are Annie Weaver, Jewel Houston, Tom Barlow and Pat Bobbitt. The Ackers of Indian Springs entertained everyone with Gospel Bluegrass music. The residents really did enjoy them.

We will be having our volunteer recognition Thursday May 13 at 2 p.m. here at WCC. All volunteers are urged to come and join in the fun.

The residents are enjoying their daily discussions with Betty McDonald. Thanks, Betty, for coming. Since this is National Nursing Home Week, we want to extend a special welcome to everyone to visit our home and see our newly landscaped yards, front and back. Again, thanks to all of our visitors and volunteers who bring joy and happiness to the residents of WCC.

I love you Mother, said little Nell.
I love you better than tongue can tell.
And she teased and pouted half the day,
Till Mother rejoiced when she went out to play.
I love you Mother said little Bess.
I love you more than I can confess.
She sang and was cheerful all the day,
And Mother was happy she could stay.

The Calvary Baptist Church came and sang for us Thursday evening. We all enjoyed the song and fellowship. The Christian group of girls, with their leader, Mrs. Graham, visited with us Wednesday night. Thank you for your prayers and visit.

Friday we had a very nice treat. Lambo the Clown entertained us. The employees also joined in the fun. We had lots of fun and fresh fruit for a snack.

I enjoyed a nice visit from my daughter Denry and her husband Friday. I love you.

Dear Reader:

I wanted to take this opportunity to tell you about a very special mom. First of all, I want you to know that these simple words on this page do not do justice to this lady. You see, if this mom's good deeds were all listed on paper, it would fill the pages of a very large novel.

This mom taught her children two special kinds of love. First and foremost, the unconditional love of God and, next, the unconditional love of family. Then, she did something very important that many moms don't do: She gave her children the freedom to make their own choices with the comfort of knowing they had a place to go if they stumbled on life's path. And stumble they did. But she was there with a loving hand to pick them up. She was also there to celebrate their many triumphs.

Most of what she does goes unnoticed, and that's just the way she prefers it. She has been known to give of her time, money and especially her heart to those in need and never once take any of the credit.

In closing, I would like to encourage everyone to read Proverbs 31:10-31. This beautiful passage describes this mom perfectly. To quote verse 28, "Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her."

I know God has a special place in heaven for this wonderful mom. The reason I know is because I've had the privilege of being her daughter. I just want to thank you JEAN WEST for loving me and my family and for always being there when I needed you. I pray that the lessons I've learned from you will help me to be as good a mom to my three boys as you have been to your children.

God bless you mom. I love you and I wish you a very Happy Mother's Day.

Sincerely,
Angela West Richardson

County thinclads ready for Austin run

TYLER COUNTY — It will be the Woodville girls and the Colmesneil boys representing the county at the state track meet in Austin this weekend.

The Woodville girls will be back in an attempt to win another gold medal in the 800 meter relay. For the Colmesneil boys it could be a banner meet with the possibility of medals in five events.

This year three of the girls return in hopes of a repeat performance. Seniors Stephanie Williams, Natalie Hadnot, and Kiki Lewis are joined by sophomore Michelle Foster.

Although placing second behind Waco Connally in the regional meet in Brenham over a week ago, the female foursome is bursting with confidence regarding their chances in Austin.

"I think we're going to get first again," admitted Williams earlier this week. "We messed up bad with our hand-offs in regional."

The Woodville girls posted a 1:45.38 in the finals at regional. That time is the fifth best of the eight qualifying times reaching the state meet. But according to Williams the girls have and will do a lot better.

Last year, with Lynette Harris, the girls raced to a time of 1:43.2. This year's best qualifying time is 1:44.27 by Dangerfield.

Woodville track coach Melvin Houston is also optimistic about his girls' prospects. "I feel that our chances are good," says Houston. "We should finish in the top three."

While the Woodville girls will have only one shot at a gold medal, it is a different story for the Colmesneil boys.

The team is led by junior sprinter Les Stinson who took a bronze medal in the 400 meter last year and who will run the second leg on the 400 meter relay Saturday.

Stinson, who broke the 50 second barrier for the first time at region, has the fifth best time of all qualifiers in the 400 meters at 49.97.

"I'm ready for it," says Stinson of the 400. "I've been working out hard and I think I have a good shot at it."

The best qualifying time is held by Bert Robinson of Chilton at 48.77. Jason Dickey of Robert Lee, the defending champion, has the second best time at 49.23.

Colmesneil's 400 meter relay team, comprised of Greg Bean, Stinson, Keith Byerly, and Kevin McQueen, has the second best qualifying time at 43.29. Only Chilton, with a time of 42.41, has a better mark.

Colmesneil track coach Mike Jacobs says that the relay team should medal Saturday. "We ought to do pretty good . . . if we run," he adds.

Other medal potentials include distance runners Scott Eddins and Jacob McKinney, along with long jumper Eric Daniels.

Like Stinson, it is a return visit to the capital city for both Eddins and McKinney. The Bulldog distance men took sixth in their respective events last year.

Eddins was hampered by a long rain delay in his first appearance last year as a sophomore. The delay forced the race to be run past midnight.

This year, due to a schedule change, he will run his event Saturday afternoon.

Eddins believes that he will fare better this year in the 1600. "For one thing I won't be as nervous as I was last year," says the Colmesneil runner. "I also have a game plan . . . to stay in the lead."

Eddins has the fourth best qualifying time with a 4:39.0. The top qualifying time is 4:32.31 by Willie Garcia of Utopia.

The Austin trip will mark the third and final run for McKinney who has run a total of 16 laps at Memorial Stadium.

Although holding the eighth best time of the qualifiers, McKinney has run a 10:02 in the 3200. Only Karsten Duncan of Roscoe has broken the 10 minute mark.

"I've trained, I've worked hard enough, I'm in the best shape that I have been in the last three years, so this is the meet to do it," says McKinney.

McKinney will join Eric Daniels as the only county competitors Friday night. McKinney will begin his run around 6:15 Friday evening, while Daniels will start his bid for a gold medal in the long jump at 6 p.m.

Daniels has the fifth best mark of all the qualifiers at 20' 11". Leading the pack is Eric Ward of Austwell-Tivoli with a leap of 22' 11.75".

Daniels says that he is looking forward to jumping in front of the 30,000 plus fans that will be on hand for the championship meet. "All those people there will pump me up," says the Bulldog leaper. "Maybe I can get a 22'."

While Daniels and McKinney spotlight their talents Friday night, the rest of Tyler County's contingent will perform beginning at noon Saturday.

"We're just going to try to do the best we can do," says McKinney. "We will try to get enough points for the team . . . maybe give the team a chance to place one, two, or three in the state."

Last year Woodville scored 40 points out of a possible 40 points to take second in the state. This year Colmesneil has the possibility of scoring 60 points. With a break here or there, the county might have another top state track team by nightfall Saturday.

CAPITOL COMPETITORS — Over a dozen county athletes will journey to Austin this week to compete in state track and tennis finals. Colmesneil will send eight to the track meet while Woodville will send four girls to the track meet and Marcus Dickerson to the tennis finals. Colmesneil's team includes (top to bottom left) Jacob McKinney, Scott Eddins, Less Stinson, Keith Byerly, Lee Van Brewer, Greg Bean, Eric Daniels and Kevin McQueen. Woodville will be represented by (top to bottom right) Dickerson, Michelle Foster, Keisha Brazil, Kiki Lewis, Natalie Hadnot and Stephanie Williams. Coaches include (center, L-R) Mike Jacobs of Colmesneil, Melvin Houston of Woodville and Sergio Ramos of Woodville.

Dickerson will give it up for state tennis tourney

WOODVILLE— Like many athletes, Woodville's Marcus Dickerson has given up a lot of things to become better in his sport.

This weekend he will give up his senior prom in order to play in the state 3A tennis tournament in Austin. But neither he, nor his date, mind the inconvenience.

"I told her what might happen," admits Dickerson, referring to the prom date, "but there is a chance she might come to Austin to see me play."

Dickerson opens the state tennis tournament against David McDonald of Bonham at 11 a.m. Friday. A win will put him in the semifinals at 4 p.m., and another victory will move him to the finals Saturday morning at 9:30.

Full of confidence after posting a 21-3 record this year, Dickerson says, "I believe I have a real good chance of making it to the finals."

Once there he figures to meet Satyen Patel of Canyon, one of the top players in the state.

"He is the player to beat," says the Woodville senior. "He is ranked in the super championship division of the United States Tennis Association."

Dickerson is also ranked in the U.S.T.A., but in the championship division. He lost his bid to move into the super championship division last month in a tournament held in Plano, one week before regional play.

Regardless, the Woodville tennis champion is anxious to compete in Austin and feels that his positive attitude will be an advantage in tournament play.

"I have been taught that a match is won before either player walks on the court," says Dickerson. "That's the most difficult part of tennis . . . the mental part . . . concentration, focus, and not being intimidated."

The Woodville player definitely hasn't been intimidated this year. Dickerson breezed through district play without losing a game, and coasted through the regional championship without losing a set.

The difference in his play this year as compared to last year says Dickerson is his change from being a base line player to a serve and volley player.

"I plan to stay at the net in Austin," admits the regional champ. "I don't plan on letting myself get overwhelmed."

Dickerson has two coaches. One is Woodville tennis coach Sergio Ramos. The other is Ron Wesbrooks of Beaumont.

While Ramos works on Dickerson's fundamentals, Wesbrooks works with Dickerson's mental game and strategy.

Both coaches have seen Dickerson come a long way in the past year. One in which he has already received a tennis scholarship to Temple Junior College, and is still being looked at by Hardin-Simmons University and Centenary University.

Not bad for a player who only picked up a racket for the first time in the eighth grade.

"I started playing because my parents played," remembers Dickerson.

His mother and dad, Larry and Sharon Dickerson, had little idea that their after school exercise would turn out this way for their son . . . and his brother.

"He is even with me in ability," admits the older brother, "but I still beat him because of experience."

Experience, along with the mental attitude that has carried him all the way to the state championships in Austin this week.

Warriors knock off Hardin, 10-6

WARREN — The Warren Warriors may not be going to post season play, but they are sure making life miserable for other members of district 24-2A who might have ideas of making the playoffs.

The Warriors threw a wrench in the post season plans of the Hardin last week with a 10-6 home victory.

The Warriors were led at the plate by Harold Martin, Doyle Lavergne, and Roy Lavergne. All had two hits each, with Doyle Lavergne driving in two runs and Martin swiping two bases.

The Warriors jumped out to a 7-0 lead in the first inning en costating to their second district win of the season.

The Warriors held a 9-7 lead before the buccaneers exploded for eight runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

The game was highlighted by Warren's Joe Duke's steal of home. The Warren first baseman also had three hits and drove in three runs.

Both Harold Martin and Roy Lavergne each had two hits and two runs batted in. Catcher Chris Guidry drew four walks in the game.

Read took the mound loss.

Warren ended the season Tuesday when they hosted district leader Deweyville. The Pirates were unbeaten going into the Warren contest with a perfect, 6-0 record.

East Chambers and Hardin were tied for second place with 3-3 district marks, with Warren a 2-5 and West Hardin at 1-6.

It's odd man out for Chester, Spurger, Colmesneil

TYLER COUNTY — Something has to give this week for the Chester Yellowjackets, the Spurger Pirates and the Colmesneil Bulldogs.

Two of those three teams are heading for the post season playoffs next week. One will stay home.

The wild card in the trio's plans is Burkeville, a team which has already cost Colmesneil dearly.

Going into Tuesday's games, Chester sat atop the district 20-A baseball standings with a 5-2 record. Behind them was Spurger with a 4-2 mark. In third place was Colmesneil with a 4-3 record.

Chester was to have played Burkeville in its last district game Tuesday, while Spurger will play Burkeville in a doubleheader Saturday. Colmesneil was to have finished district play Tuesday against Zavalla.

A Chester win would give the Yellowjackets no less than a tie for first place in the district standings.

If Chester wins Tuesday, then Spurger must win both ends of its doubleheader Saturday to tie Chester for the district title. A loss by Spurger would then open the door for Colmesneil to move into a second place tie.

In other words, if Burkeville is beaten by both Chester and Spurger they will tie for the district title. If Burkeville wins any of the three games, Colmesneil will move into a second place tie with either Chester or Spurger.

The district tie breaker for either first or second place will be played Monday at a neutral site, most likely Hennigan Park in Woodville. The bi-district playoffs will begin May 21.

Chester had plenty to smile about and frown about in a bitter-sweet week last week. The Yellowjackets jumped into first place in the district standings with a 7-4 win over Spurger and then lost a key district clash with Colmesneil, 2-1, Friday.

Colmesneil did what it had to do to stay alive in the district playoff hunt with a 10-4 win over Burkeville and a win over Chester.

Chester's win over Spurger was keyed by a four-hit pitching performance by Jacob Conner. The Yellowjacket sophomore struck out 10 and had three hits in the game.

Bob David, Matt Stanley, and Bob Jewell each had three hits for Chester in the win. The Yellowjackets banged out 12 hits in the game.

Colmesneil used a home run by Marcus Allen to topple Chester. Allen drilled the first pitch over the left field fence with the game tied in the sixth inning to provide the winning margin.

Both teams had scored solo runs in the first inning. Colmesneil got its run on a walk to Kevin McQueen, a steal, and a single by Scott Eddins. Chester scored on singles by Bob David and Jeremiah Barnes.

Allen was the winning pitcher for the Bulldogs. He struck out 10.

Catcher Jeff Allen and Eddins drove in seven of Colmesneil's 10 runs against Burkeville. Allen went three for four at the plate, including a two run home run in the second, while Eddins had two hits and four runs batted in.

McQueen picked up the mound victory, pitching five innings, giving up three hits, striking out seven, and walking three.

Colmesneil blew the game open in the second inning with six runs on four hits and two walks.

Spurger rebounded from its loss to Chester to blow past Zavalla, 16-5, Friday. The Pirates banged out 16 hits in the game, while Brian Adams kept Zavalla hitters in check, allowing only four hits in the game.

Woods wins state speakers' event

FORT WORTH — Deri Woods of Woodville took first place in the Texas Baptist Youth Speakers' Tournament on Saturday, May 1, at Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth.

Woods, a junior at Woodville High School and a member of the First Baptist Church in Woodville, advanced from competition at the church, association and regional levels on her way to the state finals.

Her winning speech, "My Father's A King", was based on her position in Jesus Christ as a child of The King. It was memorized and judged on composition and delivery.

As the state representative, Woods will speak this summer at Glorieta Baptist Conference Center in New Mexico. She has also been offered full tuition scholarships to East Texas Baptist University in Marshall and Wayland Baptist University in Plainview, as well as partial scholarships to three other Baptist universities.

Woods is the daughter of David and Dru Woods of Woodville.

Woodville falls to Buna, SFA

WOODVILLE — After making the playoffs for the past two years, the Woodville Eagles were officially eliminated from post season play last week with a pair of losses in the 24-3A district title chase.

The Eagles fell to Buna 5-2, in a road game, and then lost a 9-2 contest to Stephen F. Austin of Port Arthur Friday night at home.

The losses dropped the Eagles to 6-7 in district play and 12-12 for the season.

Both Woodville losses were keyed by the Eagles' inability to get hits with runners on base. Against Buna the Eagles left 10 runners on base. Against SFA, Woodville's 11 runners were stranded.

The Eagles did bang out eight hits against Buna, including three by Derrick Hennigan and two each by Lynn Hadnot and William Moncrief.

Lance Badgise got the only extra base hit with a run scoring double in the sixth inning.

Woodville batters struck out 11 times during the contest.

Gary Weaver took the loss on the mound, allowing ten hits, striking out six, and walking two. Three of Buna's 10 hits were doubles.

Against SFA the Eagles managed only five hits. John Bostic led Woodville batters with a two for two performance.

SFA scored three unearned runs in the first inning, and five more in the fifth on two singles, three doubles, a wild pitch and two passed balls.

Travis Weaver took the mound loss, but had to leave the game in the second inning after dislocating a finger on his left hand diving back into second base.

SFA led the district race going into the final game with an 10-3 record. Orangefield was in second place in the district standings.

Davis receives band honor

WOODVILLE — The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Staci N. Davis has been named a United States National Award winner in band.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Davis, who attends Woodville High School, was nominated for this national award by Travis Hobson, band director at the school. The award winner will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

Davis is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R.J. Shields. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Davis of Bridge City and the late Mr. and Mrs. M.E. Conner of Port Arthur.

Cormicle earns USAA honor

WOODVILLE — The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Tanya Sue Cormicle has been recognized for academic achievement as a United States National Honor Roll Award winner.

Cormicle, who attends Woodville Junior High School, will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than every before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, their executive director.

The USAA National Honor Roll Awards provide honor roll students with many benefits and services and is a great tribute to a student's dedication, talent and ability.

Extension club honors homemaker of year

By Dottie Johnson

WOODVILLE — "It's the people," Mary Ella Sheffield told friends and relatives, who gathered in the covered entry way at the courthouse on Tuesday, May 4, to honor her as the Tyler County Extension Homemaker of the Year.

This honor came as part of the Extension Homemakers' annual Achievement Day to spread interest in their many community projects and activities.

It's the people, Mrs. Sheffield said, who had made her 24 year membership in the Beech Creek Extension Homemakers Club so special.

During those years, Mary Ella recalled times when the club had as many as 50 members, who gathered in the homes to hear programs on everything from personal appearance to how to make small repairs on an automobile, dispelling the idea that baking and canning and sewing were the only areas in which the homemaker was interested. Today's homemakers extend their influence into the areas of illiteracy and preserving family values.

Mrs. Sheffield's day of honor started in the office of County Judge Jerome P. Owens, who signed three copies of a proclamation, declaring the first week in May 1993 as Extension Homemaker Week in Tyler County and naming Mrs. Sheffield as the Homemaker of the Year.

The proclamation referred, in part, to the family as the core of society and the well being of that family as dependent on the value system adhered to by Extension Homemakers, who "continue in a program of education and enlightenment to further these values within the community for the betterment of family living."

Mrs. Sheffield's mother Donna Jordan McClain belonged to the 52 year old Beech Creek Club from 1962 until she passed away in 1977.

On hand to congratulate Mrs. Sheffield, along with members of the Beech Creek and Colmesneil Extension Homemaker Clubs, were her three aunts, Idia and Gertie McClain and Hazel Sheffield, her cousins Evelyn Wright and Dorothy and J. C. Morris, and her husband Jack Sheffield, all of Spurger.

Extension Homemaker clubs provide women an opportunity for continuous, up-to-date education in a variety of areas relating to home, family, community and country.

The Beech Creek Club meets at 10 a.m. on the third Wednesday of each month in the Lions Den at Spurger. The morning meeting and program is followed by a covered dish luncheon. The Colmesneil Club meets at 1 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month at the Colmesneil Community Center.

Both of these clubs are open to people of all ages, regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin. For further information, call the Tyler County Extension Office at 283-8284.

• received the city's Tree City Flag from Sue Tortello, who reported that this had been the third year in a row the city has received the award.

• voted to add Sherryl Reed to the bank signature card as she was now working in the city bookkeeping department.

Other action

During Monday's meeting, the commissioners also:

• Took no action on a request for a new copy machine submitted by Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace Wanda Brasher. Citing a tight budget, he court instead asked the JP to make use of a copy machine located in the sheriff's department. Both Brasher and the sheriff's department are located in the Tyler County Criminal Justice Center.

• Approved a request submitted by Elaine Clow of the Tyler County Children's Service Board regarding the appointment of new board members. Mike McCulley and David Sowell were each appointed to three-year terms on the CSB's regular board while Deindre Collier was named to a three year term on the CSB's reserve board.

• Approved a budget calendar for fiscal year 1994 which calls for the formal budget process to begin on June 4 when the county issued departmental request forms to all elected officers and department heads. The department heads will then have until June 15 to submit their requests for 1994 funds. A preliminary budget is then scheduled to be presented to the commissioners for consideration on June 30 and departmental hearings on the spending plan will be conducted between July 6-9.

If a tax increase will be needed to support the 1994 budget, a hearing on the matter will be held on July 26 and a vote on the tax hike will be taken on July 30. Public hearing on the final budget as well as the adoption of the budget and the formal adoption of the new tax rate is scheduled for Aug. 16.

• Tabled action on bids for the purchase of a new car for the sheriff's department and tabled action on the sale of two used sheriff's patrol cars to give Hennigan an opportunity to study the buds.

• Scheduled their next meeting for May 20.

Jobless rate continues to climb

WOODVILLE—After soaring above the 10 percent mark for the first two months of 1993, Tyler County's unemployment rate fell by almost two percentage points during March, according to figures released by the Texas Employment commission.

The March rate - the latest currently available - fell to 8.9 percent, well below the four-year high of 10.7 percent recorded in February. Last year, the March jobless rate stood at 8.0 percent for the county.

The new 8.9 percent figure translates to mean that out of an estimated labor force of 7,239, there were about 644 Tyler County residents looking for work during the month.

In addition to the improvement employment news for Tyler County, the statewide numbers were equally as bright.

"Texas has certainly taken a turn for the better," said Texas Employment Commission Chairman Eddie Cavazos. "With 9,097,600 Texans working, up from 7,960,100 in February, we can afford to be a little optimistic about the economy."

The state's unemployment rate, at 6.7 percent in March, was at its lowest level in over six month. The number of unemployed Texans dropped from 703,100 in February to 579,800 in March.

The latest rate is well below the 8.1 percent jobless mark recorded for February as well as the 7.4 percent rate listed for March 1992.

"Hopefully, we are seeing a new upward trend in employment," Cavazos said.

Texas employers added 22,100 nonfarm salaried jobs between February and March. In the service-producing sector, trade experienced seasonal gains in eating and drinking places and government grew due to completion of spring staffing for schools and colleges. These industries contributed to the majority of growth.

The weakest area continued to be in the goods-producing sector, which includes manufacturing, mining and construction.

Most of the 27 Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSAs) recorded declines in unemployment between February and March. Exceptions included Wichita Falls, up slightly, and Lubbock, unchanged.

The five MSAs with the lowest unemployment in March included Bryan-College Station at 3.2, Austin at 4.3, Amarillo at 4.9 and San Antonio and Victoria at 5.3 percent each.

The area with the highest joblessness include McAllen-Edinburg-Mission at 14.6 percent, down from February's 18 percent; Brownsville-Harlingen at 10.4 percent, down from 13 percent; Beaumont-Port Arthur at 10.2 percent, down from 11.9 percent; and Odessa at 9.2 percent, down from 11.5 percent.

"We are excited to see that even area with high unemployment have shown a decrease in joblessness from the previous month," Cavazos said.

March jobless rates for other East Texas counties include:

Customers should beware of 'slamming'

WOODVILLE — Some customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone of Texas are finding themselves victims of "slamming" — the unauthorized switching of long distance carriers. Many of these victims actually, but unknowingly, sign-up to have their long distance service switched.

"Some of these scams take the form of contest entry blanks," said Eddie Arnold, external affairs manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone of Texas. "Customers unwittingly fill out contest forms for contests being conducted by certain unscrupulous long distance carriers.

"The 'fine print' states that the contestant is authorizing a switch to the carrier conducting the contest," said Arnold. "Without reading the fine print, the customer signs the contest form and unwittingly authorizes the switch. The first time the customer realizes they have switched is when they receive their Southwestern Bell Telephone bill and it indicates they have switched carriers."

In 1992, Southwestern Bell Telephone of Texas had approximately 46,000 reports of slamming from its total customer base of 14 million customers, or less than 1 percent.

"I would urge telephone customers in Woodville to read the fine print of any contest they enter that might authorize a switch in long distance carriers," said Arnold.

Public Notice

On April 16, 1993, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWBT) filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission) for approval of a new optional service, Network Subscriber Information Interface (NSII). NSII is a new service feature developed primarily for the provision of Voice Messaging Service (VMS). It will give a VMS provider (as SWBT's customer) the ability to receive originating call information from SWBT's central office and to activate and deactivate a Message Waiting Indicator (MWI) on the line of the VMS provider's patron. NSII also gives the VMS provider the ability to activate and deactivate an intermittent dial tone on a patron's line in multiple offices. The VMS provider will be able to perform these functions in multiple offices through a connection to a single Message Node office. The Message Node will be a predesignated central office and will interconnect with all central offices within the Message Node Service Area. Upon approval of this application, NSII will be available to customers where facilities are available. Available facilities are not currently deployed statewide. The proposed effective date of this service is June 20, 1993.

SWBT estimates these new services will increase its annual revenues during the first year by approximately $2.4 million. VMS providers and Telephone Answering Services and their subscribers are the types of customers likely to be affected by approval of these services.

The proposed recurring monthly rate and nonrecurring installation charge is as follows:

Rate Element	Recurring	Nonrecurring
NSII	$6,000.00	$2,000.00

Persons who wish to comment on this application should notify the Commission by June 10, 1993. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at 512-458-0256, or 512-458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Runoff votes set May 29 and June 5

TYLER COUNTY — With tie votes recorded in two local races, runoff elections have been scheduled by both the Chester Independent School District and the City of Colmesneil.

Chester ISD will hold its runoff on May 29 to pick a school board member while Colmesneil city voters will be asked to go back to the polls on June 5 - the same day as the statewide senatorial runoff - to fill one council seat.

The Chester school board runoff was prompted when incumbent board member Kenneth A Baker and challenger Mike Davis tied for second place in the May 1 race for two at-large board seats. The two contenders each received 83 votes behind Jeannie R. Johnson, who won one of the seats outright with a vote count of 98.

A runoff in the Colmesneil City Council election was forced when incumbent Tommy Svatek and challenger Kenneth Davis tied for second place in the race for two at-large council seats. Both men received 80 votes in the May 1 election behind incumbent Ronald M. Hearn who was re-elected with a vote count of 89.

Early voting in the Chester school election is scheduled to begin at the school sometime next week - probably on May 19 - or as soon as election ballots are printed. Early voting will be held on weekdays during school hours through May 25.

In the Colmesneil city race, early voting will run from May 20 through June 3 at the city hall between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The senatorial runoff, which pits former Railroad Commissioner Bob Krueger and State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison in a head-to-head race, also will be held June 5 with early voting to be held between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays from Monday, May 17 through June 1. Early voting will again be held in the Domino Building located on the west side of the Tyler County Courthouse in Woodville.

The statewide runoff was called after none of the 24 candidates for the senate seat won a majority in the May 1 election. Krueger, who was appointed to the U.S. Senate post following the resignation of Lloyd Bentsen, is running as a Democrat while Hutchison, who finished in first place on May 1, is cumpaigning as a Republican.

Funds sought for juvenile officer

-Schools, city asked to share expenses with county-

By Greg Peak
Editor

WOODVILLE — Negotiations between the county, all five Tyler County school districts and the City of Woodville are now underway in an effort to split the costs of a full-time juvenile officer operating through the Tyler County Sheriff's Department.

During Monday's meeting of the Tyler County Commissioners Court, Sheriff Gary Hennigan reported that while a formal agreement has not yet been reached with the schools, all five of the superintendents have indicated their support for sharing the local cost of the officer with the county.

"I've also spoken with Don Shaw (Woodville city secretary) and he has indicated that the city also might be willing to get involved," Hennigan told the commissioners.

The juvenile officer program is now in its second year under a state grant. Under the terms of the grant, the state provided $30,000 for the first year of the program, an amount which is reduced by 20 percent or $6,000 each year. Local funds are expected to be used to make up from the reduction until at the end of five years, the program is expected to be funded entirely with local money.

This year, the county is providing all of the $6,000 in local funds required to match the grant, in addition to providing the officer with a patrol car and uniforms.

Commissioners indicated that because of tight budgets and a slow economy, it will become increasingly difficult for the county to fund all of the local share. Because of this, they have elected to seek some financial help for the program from the county's schools.

County Judge Jerome Owens noted that while the juvenile officer, Deputy Mike McCulley, provides educational programs to the schools, he also works with each of the school districts to "provide student discipline from a law enforcement standpoint."

While school districts surrounding Tyler County are experiencing many more problems requiring a law enforcement officer's presence, Owens noted that local districts are seeing a growing need which might ultimately require them to hire full-time security officers.

Although the situation has not yet reached that point, Owens said that providing the juvenile officer to work with the local schools is the first step toward solving campus security problems.

"The schools, by their willingness to participate in funding this program, see a need for this service," Owens noted.

"That was one of the reasons we brought this up," Precinct 3 Commissioner Jerry Mahan said. "We wanted to see how much interest the schools have in this program."

Mahan and other commissioners indicated that had the schools not been willing to help support the program, it would have indicated that the program probably would not have been worth continuing.

Under the plan now being discussed, beginning on Jan. 1, 1994 the five county school districts would be asked to fund half of the local match for the grant which would be pro-rated based on the average daily attendance of each district.

The city would be asked to pay 10 percent of the local share while the county would pick up the remaining

Woodville Lions Club hosts agriculture commissioner

WOODVILLE — Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Rick Perry will speak to the Woodville Lions Club during the group's noon luncheon Thursday, May 13, at the Lions Den off Highway 190 East.

Perry, a fifth generation farmer and rancher from Haskell, took over as the agriculture commissioner in January 1991.

In the two years since taking office, Perry is credited with launching a series of initiatives to spread the word about Texas farmers and ranchers and the good work they do throughout the world.

Prior to his election to the agriculture commissioner post, Perry served as a state representative for three terms serving Callahan, Haskell, Hood, Palo Pinto, Shackelford, Stephens, Thorckmorton and Young counties. While serving in the legislature, he was named one of the 10 most effective lawmakers by the Dallas Morning News in 1989.

He is a 1968 graduate of Paint Creek High School and received a bachelor of science degree in animal science from Texas A&M University in 1972. After completing college, he served in

New wastewater system eyed by Woodville council

By John Morrison

WOODVILLE — Woodville City Council will try to tackle it's increasing sewer problem when they meet in a special workshop meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday, May 18.

Council decided Monday to call the planning and work session meeting after hearing a report from councilmen Dr. W.S. (Bill) Nichols and Tom Knapp, who recently toured through two innovative rock/reed filter wastewater plants in Louisana and returned with their interest heightened in what they learned. They recommended that Woodville possibly develop a similar program, but only after proper research and study and engineering has been completed.

Costs could range around the $3 million mark so council is treading carefully as they approach the subject.

"It would be well worth it for us to sit down and work out the costs before we undertake such a project," said Councilman Knapp who indicated his interest the system.

According to City Secretary Don Shaw, a film of the Crowley plant will be shown which illustrates how the rock/reed filtration system works.

The City of Woodville is facing stringent federal and state mandates to develop plants to meet future sewage levels. Currently the city is at 75 percent capacity on its exiting waste water treatment facility and is required by law to have planning for expansion underway or replacement.

"We are being forced to do this we don't want to but we have no choice," Knapp added.

Called a "reactor" because of the way the constructed rock/reed system is developed, it allows the combination of sub-surface and free surface emergent vegetation to eat effluent produced through the Woodville sewer system. Site selection is important for the plant location and, according to council, "The plant has got to be designed and built right."

One problem with the system that was mentioned at an earlier meeting on the subject was that the rock/reed design has shown a tendency to clog after three to five years.

"The problem is," according to Shaw, "even if we hired an engineer today it would still take at least three years to build the plant. How do we provide for the anticipated growth between now and then?"

Shaw said further that the city currently spends about $100,000 a year on treatment chemicals and electricity to run the existing plant. Neither would be needed at a proposed rock/reed facility Shaw pointed out.

• heard a request from Sam Houston Electric Co-op to allow that firm to install a water line to the SHECO facility located about a mile past the Woodville City limits on Highway 287 N. The council asked that Shaw and SHECO officials get together and work out arrangements and bring a formal proposal back for council vote, "after you get your game plan together," Mayor Billy Rose said;

• withheld action on gas contract provisions pending further discussions with a recently hired gas consultant;

• received a good report from City Auditor Monty Pipes, who said the city had a few "tightening measures that his firm was recommending the city install, but that generally everything was already in place with good administration and procedures. The

HENNIGAN PARK
TYLER COUNTY LITTLE LEAGUE
WOODVILLE EAGLES

At the Village

By Dottie Johnson

It was a typical week at Heritage Village. The kind we enjoy the most. And that means busy.

It ended on Tuesday with over a hundred middle school choir members from Woodville, Lumberton and Evadale taking a picnic lunch break in the Village. Later they enjoyed an old fashion boarding house supper at the Pickett House to top off a day long practice session that culminated in a full fledged concert at Kirby Auditorium.

The idea of the combined choirs started last year when the Choir Director at Lumberton and Woodville's own Ruth Houston put their heads together to create a music festival for small school choristers. So few students are selected to go to regional competition, Ruth explained, and this effort gives everyone a chance to prepare for and perform a concert in front of a live audience.

And so they come together and practice, new songs and old, take a break at the Village - then return for further rehearsals before supper and performance. It's a hard day's work that brings great satisfaction to students and teachers alike.

And coming to the Village gives them all a chance to put this extraordinary musical experience into the perspective of history, yesterday's and today's.

Just knowing they were here again was a reminder of the thanks parents showered on Ruth Houston following last December's Madrigal Dinner. The music was delicious, the young singers a shining example of what exceptional talent, exceptional teaching is all about.

Ruth Houston has been doing just that for Woodville, its school district, the Dogwood Festival and the United Methodist Church for over 20 years. During the past five years, she has added Heritage Village to her long list of those to whom her musical prodigies are very special people indeed.

Touring the Village

Now that was Tuesday, but only part of it, for that same afternoon the entire student body of the Oberlin, Louisiana, Covenant School, arrived for a tour, following a similar visit to the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation in the morning.

Tour groups last week included an interesting adult group from Sam Rayburn Time Share. It was an unexpected tour, no reservations made, but the Villagers took it all in stride with Mark Greer putting aside his paint brush in the Hamm House to act as tour guide. It's a good thing he has so many hats - and talents.

Leaders from Rayburn frequently offer tours for their time shares to familiarize them with the area they are sharing. This particular group was quite diverse, bringing together people from in state and out, some from as far away as California, but they all had one thing in common. They said their visit to Heritage Village Museum was the best tour they had been on. So take a bow, everyone. Take a bow, Mark. And take a bow, Leroy McGovney. One lady from Dallas was so impressed with his paintings, she bought one.

Last Thursday, 100 gifted students from Vidor were on board with the usual array of demonstrators to bring the Village alive for them. On Friday, it was the first of three visits from Hudson ISD near Lufkin. There were about 45 fifth graders in the first wave, and it was mighty good to see Paul Walker on board, stepping into the shoes of Ewel Wood, who has been hospitalized, so the youngsters wouldn't miss this important demonstration. Two additional student groups from Hudson will fill the Village with life this coming Thursday and Friday.

With a good Saturday and an even better Sunday from our trusted weekend tourists, who love to touch and taste a bit of early Texana at our Village, you can easily see our staff and volunteers have not been just sitting around eating bonbons.

Casting call Saturday

And it's not going to calm down, now that casting and early rehearsals are getting underway for our fifth annual presentation of "Whispers In The Wind," scheduled for June 18 and 19, 25 and 26, at the Village.

This coming Saturday, May 15, at 10 a.m. all former cast members and all those who would like to be part of this annual historic production, are urged to meet with our new director, Cindy Alexander, at the Village.

If you're a ham, you know it, but Cindy might not. So come on out to the Village Saturday morning, and let's break a leg. We've got a show to put on.

School finance plans offered

By Lyndell Williams
and Ed Sterling
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — With only three weeks remaining until June 1, when a state district judge's order would sever school funding for public schools in Texas, a joint panel of the House and Senate education subcommittees met last Thursday, welcoming ideas from the public on how to solve the crisis.

An estimated 20,000 teachers in 142 school districts won't see paychecks this summer if the Legislature does not solve the crisis by the June 1 deadline set by Judge Scott McCown of Austin.

Of the 385 people who attended the hearing, many were members of Texans Against Robin Hood Taxes, a group that opposed Proposition 1, a proposed constitutional amendment that was defeated in the May 1 election. Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, criticized ideas by the group's chairman, Tom Pauken, who proposed dedicating lottery profits to property-poor school districts and limit funding to basic education programs.

Most of the proposals, however, would require constitutional amendments, and a statewide vote on the amendments could not take place before Aug. 14.

A proposal for a state income tax resurfaced at the hearing, this time through Rep. Billy Clemons, D-Pollock. Clemons suggested dedicating income tax revenues to public schools and doing away with school district-levied ad valorem taxes.

Dallas lawyer Tom Luce issued a proposal to cut some school programs, tax commercial and mineral properties at the state level instead of the local level, and for the state to fork over 75 percent of public school funding — a 32 percent increase.

Representing 19 metropolitan school districts, Texas School Alliance proposed a plan that over the next two years would pump an additional $1 billion in state funds into public education, or would consolidate school district tax bases if the proposal for extra funds were rejected.

Prison Measure Stalls

A proposed $1 billion bond issue for new prisons and jails ran into difficulty in the Texas House last week, as minority lawmakers vowed to block final passage until a school funding compromise is reached.

"We'll give them something on prisons when they give us something on education," said Rep. Irma Rangel, D-Kingsville, head of the House Hispanic caucus.

At issue is a resolution for voter approval for bonds to build new prisons and state jails. The measure passed the House 91-50, nine votes short of the 100 needed to place it on the November ballot.

Gun Bill Shot Down

By a three-vote margin, the Texas House defeated a proposal to link a concealed weapons bill with continued operation of the Texas Department of Public Safety. The vote was 67-64.

Supporters said the proposal was the only way to force the Senate to vote on the measure allowing Texans to carry concealed weapons.

At issue was an amendment to a bill to reauthorize the DPS, which is scheduled to "sunset" in September. The amendment, by Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, called for a November vote on the proposal that would let adults carry concealed weapons if they get training and a state permit.

Speaker's Day Fete Modest

Some 280 former state representatives attending Speaker's Day last Friday noticed the difference Speaker Pete Laney brought to the annual event.

The event included a continental breakfast, a tour of the new Capitol Extension and a barbecue on the Capitol grounds. In the past Speaker's Day has been an elaborate and expensive affair.

Breaking tradition, Laney refused to accept any expensive gifts from lawmakers or lobbyists, said Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, who planned the event.

In 1991, Speaker's Day included a dinner and dance at the Erwin Center. The event cost $110,940, including $57,000 for food and beverages, with lobbyists picking up most of the tab.

In comparison, Laney's first Speaker's Day cost about $13,000. Lobbyists bought most of the 550 tickets, but the public also purchased them.

"I don't like to say I'm cheap," said Laney, who enjoys Arby's roast beef sandwiches and popcorn. "I'd like to say I'm frugal."

Other Highlights

•Rep. Vilma Luna, D-Corpus Christi, was sworn in last week as the newest member of the Texas House. Luna, a 35-year old lawyer, fills the seat vacated by Eddie Cavazos, who was appointed to the Texas Employment Commission.

• Sen. Don Henderson has filed a bill to "limit access to Hobbin's Tangiewood Subdivision," where former President George Bush lives. Henderson, R-Houston, said the measure is intended to keep out tour buses and sightseers hoping for a glimpse of the former first family.

Mill provides needed jobs

Dear Editor:

(Regarding a letter printed last week by D.F. Miller about E&L causing all these environmental problems.)

I can't see for the life of me how anyone can raise so much cain over something that has been taking place all over East Texas for more than a century. The black water mill ponds spots East Texas like the many small sawmill towns that used to or that still exist here. And I might add that most of these old ponds left by no longer existing mills are some pretty good fishing, as are some of the ones that are still being used.

Anywhere in the world where there is a lot of hardwood and marshy or swampy lands together you are going to have black water. There are a lot of these places here in East Texas, in Louisiana, Mississippi, Florida, Georgia, Arkansas, Missouri, and even one small area I know of in Western Kentucky. Also these are some of the most environmentally rich areas on the planet Earth.

How can you call a decision to create employment and a livelihood, both directly and indirectly, for some seven or eight hundred families a mistake? As for the noise the drum de-barker makes, I think that it is like living by a railroad track. The noise only bothers those who want something to complain about.

As for the nice people who have moved here from elsewhere to retire, that's all well and good, but they need to understand that there are many more people still working for a living than retired. Besides that, now many of them have retired from some gas belching, stinking, polluting, noise making, petro-chemical plant or refinery that has for the past ninety-odd years been causing environmental problems all over this country.

As for the owners of E&L living outside of the county, yes they do. But you need to check into the tax records at the courthouse and see for yourself that they do pay their fair share of Tyler County taxes.

I remember when they bought the mill back in the seventies. The mill was in very poor condition and doing very little. The payroll and the amount of taxes paid were low. These people invested heavily, both in money and effort, and they built, and repaired, and put more and more people to work. They supplies more and more hardwood lumber to so many places, but mostly to the oil fields. Then the oil fields shut down in the early eighties. The decision was made to convert the sawmill to a chip mill to supply a need for lumwood chips.

Instead of shutting the mill down and putting a large number of Tyler Countians out of work, they once again invested heavily. They even asked for and received help from the leaders of Tyler County in the form of approval of the industrial Revenue Bonds. Everything was well looked into, well publicized, well explained, and all laid out on the table for all to see and know about. Nobody complained and things went forward. More and more people went to work at E&L. It was good then and it is still good for Tyler County.

I know that there have been problems, and each one that has come up has been dealt with. These people have spent several million dollars keeping the mill up to date and seeing that each and every issue, large or small, is kept within the guidelines of the environmental and water control standards.

It just seems to me that no matter how hard these people try to be good neighbors, it's never going to be good enough for some folks. I just hope that someone has a good enough answer for the people who'll lose their jobs, if and when, all this hassling causes them to give up and shut the mill down.

Times are tough here in Tyler County, but you ain't seen nothing yet. Just keep on until you have to pay the bills around here without E&L's payroll. If we need to wake up and take care of an environmental issue, then let's also try to wake Dorothy up and get her to realize that we have enough people around here living out of the taxpayers' pockets. The jobs provided by E&L Lumber Co. are much needed here in Tyler County as well as much appreciated.

Sincerely,
Mike Stacy

God spared our children

Dear Editor:

It's me again. It used to happen over there, down there, up there or around there, but it's plain ole' here. It has come, the time for us who know we've been born of the Holy Spirit, to call it like we see it and tell it like it is, no matter what the color, race or creed.

Those of us that have love in our heart of our fellow man, let's give God the thanks and praises because if we really got it, God is the one who gave it to us. Now, if we have not love, let's ask God for a heart-full of love. Quick.

The first step to being destroyed is envy. If that remains in our hearts long enough it turns to hatred. If it remains, it becomes malice, then malice takes roots and starts spreading. It turns into something like cancer and even a small child has heard that cancer is an incurable deadly disease. We can be cured from a heart-full of hatred, but the problem is some of us fail to even realize what a bad condition we're in. Then we won't humble our selves before God and confess our sins. Then we're destroyed to a position where there's no return.

The other day someone asked me a question. They asked, what kind of a sheriff's department do you all have, to call in a force that large to a small operation like the Rump Shaker? Why, he should've been able to handle that problem himself, now don't get me wrong. If I tell you that I didn't have a lot of different thoughts about the incident I would be lying before God. Had I been asked a lot of questions a few hours after I heard about it, I would've answered them different than the way I answer now.

My mother always told me to always try to think twice before I speak. I don't always do that, but if we don't be so quick to speak, the Holy Spirit will give us the right thoughts and we'll speak right.

Since I've had time to think about the incident, pray about it, read about it in the scriptures, guess what I came up with? Thanks, praises, prayers, honors to the Almighty God. Guess why I say that? Jesus Christ is sitting at the right side of Jehovah God pleading for everyone and God spared all our children's lives that night.

Hey, my kids and I are not better than anyone else but I had a son in there. He said he had been there about 20 minutes when Bam! Hit the deck! Boom!! Gun shot.

He told me "Mama, I saw fire from the gun barrel." He said, "I just knew I was shot." But you know what I said? Thank God you weren't and thank God for saving lives.

No matter what type of person our sheriff, judges or those who have authority over us are, we've all got to stand before the throne of God and give account of every deed done in our body. Good or bad. And it won't do any good to say, 'Well, God, I would have lived right if it hadn't been for that lying sheriff, crooked judge, the juries, jailers, DPS, lawyers, sisters, brothers, mothers, fathers, children.'

No! No! That won't work. I can throw a rock and hide my hand. God sees that hand. I can hide skeletons in my closet. God sees through the wall. I can sweep my dirt under the carpet, but by and by God will uncover my dirt.

God said to the children of Israel, don't worry about your leaders, your enemies. I see what they're doing. Vengeance is mine. God knows who the culprit is, but remember this. Trying to correct other people's faults is like tying a neck tie. We can do it better on ourselves.

God loves you! And guess what? I love you too.

Welcome to My World

A walk on the beach

The sun, hanging low and red in the sky over the Gulf of Mexico, sheds its light on a lone figure, wearing a windbreaker and shorts, walking the beach at Padre Island in the very early morning.

The tide is rushing out, leaving behind pieces of driftwood, Portuguese men-of-war, and assorted other debris dragged in from the muddy waters of the Gulf Coast. Low breakers add their sighing rush to the low wind whipping the man's jacket about him. The clouds flare red above him, as the sun's light is bent over the horizon to touch the soil of Texas.

Many people consider a private beach, in the early morning, to be an ideal place for contemplation. Although this man cannot afford a private beach, he agrees with the idea, and he has left his home before dawn today to spend some time alone with the ocean, before the summer crowd of tourists hits the coast.

A fisherman, wearing a baseball cap and cut-off jeans, waves to the man walking down the beach. As he unloads his equipment from his truck, he looks at the rising sun, already brighter and higher in the sky. To this fisherman, the day is one of promise, of redfish or shark in the cooler by sunset.

After exchanging words and comments on the water to the fisherman, the walker continues down the beach. After a moment, he stops and removes his sandals and walks down to the water's edge, allowing the wet, muddy sand to wrap itself about his feet. He luxuriates in the feel of the earth under his toes, above his foot, and thinks about the day ahead, when he will be trapped in an office, hard, steel and concrete.

He contemplates a young lady's warm curves, chuckling to himself, a little embarrassed, walks back to his sandals and continues his stroll.

Today is to be a normal day on the beach. A young boy from Nebraska, visiting relatives, will find a sand dollar, and will return home the envy of the school for a day. A young man and woman will be ticketed for indecent exposure, after being discovered in what they thought was a concealed place among the dunes. About fifty children will be stung by jellyfish, washed ashore by the tide, and their mothers will search their purses for steak tenderizer. A dolphin will play with some swimmers, get caught on the beach by the retreating tide, and be rescued by loving hands to swim the gulf once more.

A man will be shot today, causing some confusion, but no great concern. The sun will set, and people will return to their homes, or hotel rooms, or park benches and await the next sunrise.

But for now, for a short moment while the costal city awakes, all that there is is the beach, the ocean and a young man walking, watching the sun rise.

Merchants support flower program

To the residents of Tyler County:

I have received so many comments regarding the flower boxes around the square downtown. It is really wonderful how much attention and interest is being generated by the Color Tyler County program. It has been infectious - it has spread to the other business locations and to entire neighborhoods.

I appreciate all the nice compliments I have received but I would like to say that without the support of the downtown merchants who sponsor and help support the program financially, it would not be possible. We need to be supportive of them also.

The flowers are so beautiful and they are being grown for everyone to enjoy.

My thanks once again to these merchants:

Sears store to close June 9

Dear Tyler County:

Your Sears store is closing June 9th. Nancy and I want to thank you for your support for the past six years. Sears has been a part of Tyler County for approximately 23 years. Dorothy Miller began the catalog business in 1970. The store was purchased by Ron Cormier in 1981. The third owners were Margaret and George Haynes. They bought the business in 1984. Nancy and I are the fourth and final owners. We moved to Woodville in January 1987. We purchased the business with the goal of making it an appliance center. We reached that goal in 1990 with the help of a very supportive public. We were able to relocate to our current location and begin selling merchandise off of the floor just as a retail center should.

We now begin our close-down procedure. This will cover the next four weeks. You will be seeing ads in The Booster concerning the upcoming sales. Once again Nancy and I are asking for your support. Events happen fast in wall to wall. There will be some once in a lifetime prices.

So times change and we have to change with them. Nancy and I have opened a Farmers Insurance Agency. The Lord has blessed us with an opportunity to stay in Tyler County. Our kids (Nathan and Heather) consider this home. Nancy and I can easily understand why.

Thank you so much,
Russ, Nancy,
Nathan and Heather Pilgrim

Holiday Pines ManorReport

By Jessie Haynes

The new month started out good. We're all seeing that the April showers paid off. The flowers here are just beautiful. The roses are a pretty pink. They are the seven sisters variety.

Our week started off with exercise with Helen Palin. All attending enjoyed. Then we had our usual Monday morning domino game.

The afternoon brought our resident council meeting. We voted on our volunteer of the month. We chose the Warren First Baptist Church. They are a very devoted group of people. We enjoy seeing them each week. They are here on selected Tuesdays to help in the beauty shop. Every Wednesday they are here for our Wednesday morning church service. If it's not their week to bring the message they are here to lead in the singing. Thanks to them for their years of devotion to us.

We also chose our resident of the month. Our choice was Leona Pipes. Leona is a very sweet lady who is always helping out someone else, fellow residents and staff. She enjoys serving coffee and helping other residents to their rooms. She also takes care of our house cat and anticipates the arrival of kittens. Leona enjoys visiting at home with her family and her favorite activities are bingo and our dances and she doesn't miss either.

Our hairdressers of the week were Gladys Smith and Opal Hall. They are members of the Warren First Baptist Church. Thanks, ladies.

Also many of our ladies got permed this week and our ladies were Virginia Kirk, Carol Mahan and B.J. Courville. Thanks to all these ladies for their donation.

We are now having our outside lunch bunch on Tuesdays again. This Tuesday was a beautiful day for our picnic. We all enjoyed and look forward to the coming weeks on the patio.

Thanks to Dunne Bible and Faye Kirkland for assisting with bingo. We're glad they joined our group of volunteers.

Our Wednesday morning church service was with Sister Gina Harrison from the Agape Church of Colmesneil along with the members of Warren First Baptist Church leading our singing. We all enjoyed the service - thanks to everyone attending and making the service special.

The ladies of the Warren First Baptist Church also brought along our Mothers Day surprise. It was a new item to hang in our room. They were made of satin balls decorated with silk flowers and ribbon. They are just beautiful. Thanks, ladies.

The afternoon brought our arts and crafts session with Flo Mozes. We made a pinata to honor Cinco de Mayo day.

A beautiful day for Thursday and choir was special. We enjoy this time each week with Stephanie Baker. Thanks Stephanie.

That evening we were entertained by the C.C. Haygood Band. We wish to thank them for coming and we look forward to seeing them next time.

Friday we had Bible study with Duane Bible and a very good study and fellowship.

Caring day was Saturday. We enjoyed watching cartoons and we also had a pinata party and we made our pinata stronger than we thought. It was tough getting it to bust open but we finally managed and the rewards were bountiful.

The evening came and we sat around the rotunda and enjoyed another sing-a-long session with Lila and a dance or two. We look forward to this event each week. Thanks Lila. Mothers Day finally came. We enjoyed our church service with Bro. Williams bringing the message and Bro. Bobby Cruse leading the singing.

Then we had our Mothers Day celebration. We were entertained by Tim Hughes, while we were served our beautiful Mothers Day cake made by Judy Greer. We received boxed candy donated by Wal-Mart. Then we listened to poetry being read by Melinda Leach, and were reminded of some of those cute little sayings Mom used to use like "this hurts me more than it hurts you" and others. Fran Fortenberry was also there and she shared some of her pictures of her Mom and a card her daughter sent her for Mothers Day. We all enjoyed the party very much, thanks to all of you who made it possible.

Myrtle Andrews and myself would like to thank Frances Webster for our corsages. Thanks goes out to Walter Wigley for the hydrangen for the staff and residents to enjoy. We also want to say thanks to a new group of volunteers. They are the Warren United Pentecostal Church. They came for our afternoon service. We enjoyed their singing and the message brought.

Thanks to all of you that made our week and Mothers Day special.

Woodville Convalescent Center News

Last week was National Nurses Week. The residents honored the LVNs with a salad luncheon. We are proud of our nurses and all other departments. They do a fine job here at WCC.

The children of Wee Wisdom visited last Friday. They brought with them smiles, laughter and flower baskets. Spud, our house pet is almost grown. He is up to two pounds and thinks he is human. The residents and staff have spoiled him.

We wish to thank Carol Mahan and B.J. Courville from Executive Hair for the permanents they gave to the ladies for Mothers Day.

We want to welcome to our home Bobby Phillips of Silsbee, Preston Dean of Rockland, Bruce Harlan of Doucette, Paul Logan of Woodville, Horace Jordan of Spurger, Arthur Sagerser and John Hensarling of Woodville, and Hazel Jako of Warren.

Welcome back from the hospital, Ruth Hensarling, Faye Collier and Ovid Welch. Bro. Virgil Single went home for Mothers Day. All of his nine children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, daughters-in-law and sons-in-law were all home for Mothers Day. He came back all aglow.

This week is National Nursing Home Week. We started out Sunday with the Martin Family. For those who miss this event, you missed a blessing in song and music.

Tuesday was our residents' birthday party. Those having a birthday this month are Annie Weaver, Jewel Houston, Tom Barlow and Patt Bobbitt. The Ackers of Indian Springs entertained everyone with Gospel Bluegrass music. The residents really did enjoy them.

We will be having our volunteer recognition Thursday May 13 at 2 p.m. here at WCC. All volunteers are urged to come and join in the fun.

The residents are enjoying their daily discussions with Betty McDonald. Thanks, Betty, for coming. Since this is National Nursing Home Week, we want to extend a special welcome to everyone to visit our home and see our newly landscaped yards, front and back. Again, thanks to all of our visitors and volunteers who bring joy and happiness to the residents of WCC.

I love you Mother, said little Nell.
I love you better than tongue can tell.
And she teased and pouted half the day,
Till Mother rejoiced when she went out to play.
I love you Mother said little Bess.
I love you more than I can confess.
She sang and was cheerful all the day,
And Mother was happy she could stay.

The Calvary Baptist Church came and sang for us Thursday evening. We all enjoyed the song and fellowship. The Christian group of girls, with their leader, Mrs. Graham, visited with us Wednesday night. Thank you for your prayers and visit.

Friday we had a very nice treat. Lambo the Clown entertained us. The employees also joined in the fun. We had lots of fun and fresh fruit for a snack.

I enjoyed a nice visit from my daughter Denry and her husband Friday. I love you.

COST CUTTER — Gene Koci of Woodville, president of the Deep East Texas Development Association, presented Texas Comptroller John Sharp of Austin with a mounted double-bit logger's ax as a symbol of Sharp's efforts to cut state government cost. The presentation was made at "John Sharp Night in Deep East Texas", which was sponsored by DETDA, the Deep East Texas Council of Governments, the Texas Forestry Association and the chambers of commerce of Lufkin and Nacogdoches. Wayne Foster, district land manager for Champion International in Woodville, designed and produced the award.

This is a re-print of a letter printed incorrectly in last week's paper: Dear Reader:

I wanted to take this opportunity to tell you about a very special mom. First of all, I want you to know that these simple words on this page do not do justice to this lady. You see, if this mom's good deeds were all listed on paper, it would fill the pages of a very large novel.

This mom taught her children two special kinds of love. First and foremost, the unconditional love of God and, next, the unconditional love of family. Then, she did something very important that many moms don't do: She gave her children the freedom to make their own choices with the comfort of knowing they had a place to go if they stumbled on life's path. And stumble they did. But she was there with a loving hand to pick them up. She was also there to celebrate their many triumphs.

Most of what she does goes unnoticed, and that's just the way she prefers it. She has been known to give of her time, money and especially her heart to those in need and never once take any of the credit.

In closing, I would like to encourage everyone to read Proverbs 31:10-31. This beautiful passage describes this mom perfectly. To quote verse 28, "Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her."

I know God has a special place in heaven for this wonderful mom. The reason I know is because I've had the privilege of being her daughter. I just want to thank you JEAN WEST for loving me and my family and for always being there when I needed you. I pray that the lessons I've learned from you will help me to be as good a mom to my three boys as you have been to your children.

God bless you mom. I love you and I wish you a very Happy Mother's Day.

Sincerely,
Angela West Richardson

County thinclads ready for Austin run

TYLER COUNTY — It will be the Woodville girls and the Colmesneil boys representing the county at the state track meet in Austin this weekend.

The Woodville girls will be back in an attempt to win another gold medal in the 800 meter relay. For the Colmesneil boys it could be a banner meet with the possibility of medals in five events.

Last year the Woodville girls took a pair of relay teams to Austin and placed second in the team standings in class 3A with a total of 40 points.

This year three of the girls return in hopes of a repeat performance. Seniors Stephanie Williams, Natalie Hadnot, and Kiki Lewis are joined by sophomore Michelle Foster.

Although placing second behind Waco Connally in the regional meet in Brenham over a week ago, the female foursome is bursting with confidence regarding their chances in Austin.

"I think we're going to get first again," admitted Williams earlier this week. "We messed up bad with our hand-offs in regional."

The Woodville girls posted a 1:45.38 in the finals at regional. That time is the fifth best of the eight qualifying times reaching the state meet. But according to Williams the girls have and will do a lot better.

Last year, with Lynette Harris, the girls raced to a time of 1:43.2. This year's best qualifying time is 1:44.27 by Dangerfield.

Woodville track coach Melvin Houston is also optimistic about his girls' prospects. "I feel that our chances are good," says Houston. "We should finish in the top three."

While the Woodville girls will have only one shot at a gold medal, it is a different story for the Colmesneil boys.

The team is led by junior sprinter Les Stinson who took a bronze medal in the 400 meter last year and who will run the second leg on the 400 meter relay Saturday.

Stinson, who broke the 50 second barrier for the first time at region, has the fifth best time of all qualifiers in the 400 meters at 49.97.

"I'm ready for it," says Stinson of the 400. "I've been working out hard and I think I have a good shot at it."

The best qualifying time is held by Bert Robinson of Chilton at 48.77. Jason Dickey of Robert Lee, the defending champion, has the second best time at 49.23.

Colmesneil's 400 meter relay team, comprised of Greg Bean, Stinson, Keith Byerly, and Kevin McQueen, has the second best qualifying time at 43.29. Only Chilton, with a time of 42.41, has a better mark.

Colmesneil track coach Mike Jacobs says that the relay team should medal Saturday. "We ought to do pretty good . . . if we run," he adds.

Other medal potentials include distance runners Scott Eddins and Jacob McKinney, along with long jumper Eric Daniels.

Like Stinson, it is a return visit to the capital city for both Eddins and McKinney. The Bulldog distance men took sixth in their respective events last year.

Eddins was hampered by a long rain delay in his first appearance last year as a sophomore. The delay forced the race to be run past midnight.

This year, due to a schedule change, he will run his event Saturday afternoon.

Eddins believes that he will fare better this year in the 1600. "For one thing I won't be as nervous as I was last year," says the Colmesneil runner. "I also have a game plan . . . to stay in the lead."

Eddins has the fourth best qualifying time with a 4:39.0. The top qualifying time is 4:32.31 by Willie Garcia of Utopia.

The Austin trip will mark the third and final run for McKinney who has run a total of 16 laps at Memorial Stadium.

Although holding the eighth best time of the qualifiers, McKinney has run a 10:02 in the 3200. Only Karsten Duncan of Roscoe has broken the 10 minute mark.

"I've trained, I've worked hard enough, I'm in the best shape that I have been in the last three years, so this is the meet to do it," says McKinney.

McKinney will join Eric Daniels as the only county competitors Friday night. McKinney will begin his run around 6:15 Friday evening, while Daniels will start his bid for a gold medal in the long jump at 6 p.m.

Daniels has the fifth best mark of all the qualifiers at 20' 11". Leading the pack is Eric Ward of Austwell-Tivoli with a leap of 22' 11.75".

Daniels says that he is looking forward to jumping in front of the 30,000 plus fans that will be on hand for the championship meet. "All those people there will pump me up," says the Bulldog leaper. "Maybe I can get a 22'."

While Daniels and McKinney spotlight their talents Friday night, the rest of Tyler County's contingent will perform beginning at noon Saturday.

"We're just going to try to do the best we can do," says McKinney. "We will try to get enough points for the team . . . maybe give the team a chance to place one, two, or three in the state."

Last year Woodville scored 40 points out of a possible 40 points to take second in the state. This year Colmesneil has the possibility of scoring 60 points. With a break here or there, the county might have another top state track team by nightfall Saturday.

CAPITOL COMPETITORS — Over a dozen county athletes will journey to Austin this week to compete in state track and tennis finals. Colmesneil will send eight to the track meet while Woodville will send four girls to the track meet and Marcus Dickerson to the tennis finals. Colmesneil's team includes (top to bottom left) Jacob McKinney, Scott Eddins, Less Stinson, Keith Byerly, Lee Van Brewer, Greg Bean, Eric Daniels and Kevin McQueen. Woodville will be represented by (top to bottom right) Dickerson, Michelle Foster, Keisha Brazil, Kiki Lewis, Natalie Hadnot and Stephanie Williams. Coaches include (center, L-R) Mike Jacobs of Colmesneil, Melvin Houston of Woodville and Sergio Ramos of Woodville.

Dickerson will give it up for state tennis tourney

WOODVILLE — Like many athletes, Woodville's Marcus Dickerson has given up a lot of things to become better in his sport.

This weekend he will give up his senior prom in order to play in the state 3A tennis tournament in Austin. But neither he, nor his date, mind the inconvenience.

"I told her what might happen," admits Dickerson, referring to the prom date, "but there is a chance she might come to Austin to see me play."

Dickerson opens the state tennis tournament against David McDonald of Bonham at 11 a.m. Friday. A win will put him in the semifinals at 4 p.m., and another victory will move him to the finals Saturday morning at 9:30.

Full of confidence after posting a 21-3 record this year, Dickerson says, "I believe I have a real good chance of making it to the finals."

Once there he figures to meet Satyen Patel of Canyon, one of the top players in the state.

"He is the player to beat," says the Woodville senior. "He is ranked in the super championship division of the United States Tennis Association."

Dickerson is also ranked in the U.S.T.A., but in the championship division. He lost his bid to move into the super championship division last month in a tournament held in Plano, one week before regional play.

Regardless, the Woodville tennis champion is anxious to compete in Austin and feels that his positive attitude will be an advantage in tournament play.

"I have been taught that a match is won before either player walks on the court," says Dickerson. "That's the most difficult part of tennis . . . the mental part . . . concentration, focus, and not being intimidated."

The Woodville player definitely hasn't been intimidated this year. Dickerson breezed through district play without losing a game, and coasted through the regional championship without losing a set.

The difference in his play this year as compared to last year says Dickerson is his change from being a base line player to a serve and volley player.

"I plan to stay at the net in Austin," admits the regional champ. "I don't plan on letting myself get overwhelmed."

Dickerson has two coaches. One is Woodville tennis coach Sergio Ramos. The other is Ron Wesbrooks of Beaumont.

While Ramos works on Dickerson's fundamentals, Wesbrooks works with Dickerson's mental game and strategy.

Both coaches have seen Dickerson come a long way in the past year. One in which he has already received a tennis scholarship to Temple Junior College, and is still being looked at by Hardin-Simmons University and Centenary University.

Not bad for a player who only picked up a racket for the first time in the eighth grade.

"I started playing because my parents played," remembers Dickerson.

His mother and dad, Larry and Sharon Dickerson, had little idea that their after school exercise would turn out this way for their son . . . and his brother.

"He is even with me in ability," admits the older brother, "but I still beat him because of experience."

Experience, along with the mental attitude that has carried him all the way to the state championships in Austin this week.

Warriors knock off Hardin, 10-6

WARREN — The Warren Warriors may not be going to post season play, but they are sure making life miserable for other members of district 24-2A who might have ideas of making the playoffs.

The Warriors threw a wrench in the post season plans of the Hardin last week with a 10-6 home victory.

The Warriors were led at the plate by Harold Martin, Doyle Lavergne, and Roy Lavergne. All had two hits each, with Doyle Lavergne driving in two runs and Martin swiping two bases.

The Warriors jumped out to a 7-0 lead in the first inning in coasting to their second district win of the season.

The Warriors held a 9-7 lead before the buccaneers exploded for eight runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

The game was highlighted by Warren's Joe Duke's steal of home. The Warren first baseman also had three hits and drove in three runs.

Both Harold Martin and Roy Lavergne each had two hits and two runs batted in. Catcher Chris Guidry drew four walks in the game.

Read took the mound loss.

Warren ended the season Tuesday when they hosted district leader Deweyville. The Pirates were unbeaten going into the Warren contest with a perfect, 6-0 record.

East Chambers and Hardin were tied for second place with 3-3 district marks, with Warren a 2-5 and West Hardin at 1-6.

It's odd man out for Chester, Spurger, Colmesneil

TYLER COUNTY — Something has to give this week for the Chester Yellowjackets, the Spurger Pirates and the Colmesneil Bulldogs.

Two of those three teams are heading for the post season playoffs next week. One will stay home.

The wild card in the trio's plans is Burkeville, a team which has already cost Colmesneil dearly.

Going into Tuesday's games, Chester sat atop the district 20-A baseball standings with a 5-2 record. Behind them was Spurger with a 4-2 mark. In third place was Colmesneil with a 4-3 record.

Chester was to have played Burkeville in its last district game Tuesday, while Spurger will play Burkeville in a doubleheader Saturday. Colmesneil was to have finished district play Tuesday against Zavalla.

A Chester win would give the Yellowjackets no less than a tie for first place in the district standings.

If Chester wins Tuesday, then Spurger must win both ends of its doubleheader Saturday to tie Chester for the district title. A loss by Spurger would then open the door for Colmesneil to move into a second place tie.

In other words, if Burkeville is beaten by both Chester and Spurger they will tie for the district title. If Burkeville wins any of the three games, Colmesneil will move into a second place tie with either Chester or Spurger.

The district tie breaker for either first or second place will be played Monday at a neutral site, most likely Hennigar Park in Woodville. The bi-district playoffs will begin May 21.

Chester had plenty to smile about and frown about in a bitter-sweet week last week. The Yellowjackets jumped into first place in the district standings with a 7-4 win over Spurger and then lost a key district clash with Colmesneil, 2-1, Friday.

Colmesneil did what it had to do to stay alive in the district playoff hunt with a 10-4 win over Burkeville and a win over Chester.

Chester's win over Spurger was keyed by a four-hit pitching performance by Jacob Conner. The Yellowjacket sophomore struck out 10 and had three hits in the game.

Colmesneil used a home run by Marcus Allen to topple Chester. Allen drilled the first pitch over the left field fence with the game tied in the sixth inning to provide the winning margin.

Both teams had scored solo runs in the first inning. Colmesneil got its run on a walk to Kevin McQueen, a steal, and a single by Scott Eddins. Chester scored on singles by Bob David and Jeremiah Barnes.

Allen was the winning pitcher for the Bulldogs. He struck out 10.

Catcher Jeff Allen and Eddins drove in seven of Colmesneil's 10 runs against Burkeville. Allen went three for four at the plate, including a two run home run in the second, while Eddins had two hits and four runs batted in.

McQueen picked up the mound victory, pitching five innings, giving up three hits, striking out seven, and walking three.

Colmesneil blew the game open in the second inning with six runs on four hits and two walks.

Spurger rebounded from its loss to Chester to blow past Zavalla, 16-5, Friday. The Pirates banged out 16 hits in the game, while Brian Adams kept Zavalla hitters in check, allowing only four hits in the game.

Woods wins state speakers' event

FORT WORTH — Deri Woods of Woodville took first place in the Texas Baptist Youth Speakers' Tournament on Saturday, May 1, at Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth.

Woods, a junior at Woodville High School and a member of the First Baptist Church in Woodville, advanced from competition at the church, association and regional levels on her way to the state finals.

Her winning speech, "My Father's A King", was based on her position in Jesus Christ as a child of The King. It was memorized and judged on composition and delivery.

As the state representative, Woods will speak this summer at Glorieta Baptist Conference Center in New Mexico. She has also been offered full tuition scholarships to East Texas Baptist University in Marshall and Wayland Baptist University in Plainview, as well as partial scholarships to three other Baptist universities.

Woods is the daughter of David and Dru Woods of Woodville.

Woodville falls to Buna, SFA

WOODVILLE — After making the playoffs for the past two years, the Woodville Eagles were officially eliminated from post season play last week with a pair of losses in the 24-3A district title chase.

The Eagles fell to Buna 5-2, in a road game, and then lost a 9-2 contest to Stephen F. Austin of Port Arthur Friday night at home.

The losses dropped the Eagles to 6-7 in district play and 12-12 for the season.

Both Woodville losses were keyed by the Eagles' inability to get hits with runners on base. Against Buna the Eagles left 10 runners on base. Against SFA, Woodville's 11 runners were stranded.

The Eagles did bang out eight hits against Buna, including three by Derrick Hennigan and two each by Lynn Hadnot and William Moncrief.

Gary Weaver took the loss on the mound, allowing ten hits, striking out six, and walking two. Three of Buna's 10 hits were doubles.

Against SFA the Eagles managed only five hits. John Bostic led Woodville batters with a two for two performance.

SFA scored three unearned runs in the first inning, and five more in the fifth on two singles, three doubles, a wild pitch and two passed balls.

Travis Weaver took the mound loss, but had to leave the game in the second inning after dislocating a finger on his left hand diving back into second base.

The Eagles officially closed out their baseball season Tuesday night against Kirbyville.

SFA led the district race going into the final game with an 10-3 record. Orangefield was in second place in the district standings.

Davis receives band honor

WOODVILLE — The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Staci N. Davis has been named a United States National Award winner in band.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Davis, who attends Woodville High School, was nominated for this national award by Travis Hobson, band director at the school. The award winner will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

Davis is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R.J. Shields. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Davis of Bridge City and the late Mr. and Mrs. M.E. Conner of Port Arthur.

Johnson is a 1988 graduate of Warren High School and will be graduating from SRSU May 15. His family includes Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson of Spurger, Rev. and Mrs. W.C. Haynes of Woodville, and Mr. and Mrs. Matt Johnson of Fred.

Extension club honors homemaker of year

By Dottie Johnson

WOODVILLE — "It's the people," Mary Ella Sheffield told friends and relatives, who gathered in the covered entry way at the courthouse on Tuesday, May 4, to honor her as the Tyler County Extension Homemaker of the Year.

This honor came as part of the Extension Homemakers' annual Achievement Day to spread interest in their many community projects and activities.

It's the people, Mrs. Sheffield said, who had made her 24 year membership in the Beech Creek Extension Homemakers Club so special.

During those years, Mary Ella recalled times when the club had as many as 50 members, who gathered in the homes to hear programs on everything from personal appearance to how to make small repairs on an automobile, dispelling the idea that baking and canning and sewing were the only areas in which the homemaker was interested. Today's homemakers extend their influence into the areas of illiteracy and preserving family values.

Mrs. Sheffield's day of honor started in the office of County Judge Jerome P. Owens, who signed three copies of a proclamation, declaring the first week in May 1993 as Extension Homemaker Week in Tyler County and naming Mrs. Sheffield as the Homemaker of the Year.

The proclamation referred, in part, to the family as the core of society and the well being of that family as dependent on the value system adhered to by Extension Homemakers, who "continue in a program of education and enlightenment to further these values within the community for the betterment of family living."

Mrs. Sheffield's mother Donna Jordan McClain belonged to the 52 year old Beech Creek Club from 1962 until she passed away in 1977.

On hand to congratulate Mrs. Sheffield, along with members of the Beech Creek and Colmesneil Extension Homemaker Clubs, were her three aunts, Idia and Gertie McClain and Havel Sheffield, her cousins Evelyn Wright and Dorothy and J. C. Morris, and her husband Jack Sheffield, all of Spurger.

Extension Homemaker clubs provide women an opportunity for continuous, up-to-date education in a variety of areas relating to home, family, community and country.

The Beech Creek Club meets at 10 a.m. on the third Wednesday of each month in the Lions Den at Spurger. The morning meeting and program is followed by a covered dish luncheon. The Colmesneil Club meets at 1 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month at the Colmesneil Community Center.

Both of these clubs are open to people of all ages, regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin. For further information, call the Tyler County Extension Office at 283-8284.

Although no formal action was taken by the commissioners on Monday, Hennigan reported that he will continue discussing the matter with the schools and Woodville city officials in an effort to iron out a final agreement which will be presented to the commissioners for their approval at a later date.

Other action

During Monday's meeting, the commissioners also:

• Took no action on a request for a new copy machine submitted by Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace Wanda Brasher. Citing a tight budget, he court instead asked the JP to make use of a copy machine located in the sheriff's department. Both Brasher and the sheriff's department are located in the Tyler County Criminal Justice Center.

• Approved a request submitted by Elaine Clow of the Tyler County Children's Service Board regarding the appointment of new board members. Mike McCulley and David Sowell were each appointed to three-year terms on the CSB's regular board while Deindre Collier was named to a three year term on the CSB's reserve board.

• Approved a budget calendar for fiscal year 1994 which calls for the formal budget process to begin on June 4 when the county issued departmental request forms to all elected officers and department heads. The department heads will then have until June 15 to submit their requests for 1994 funds. A preliminary budget is then scheduled to be presented to the commissioners for consideration on June 30 and departmental hearings on the spending plan will be conducted between July 6-9.

If a tax increase will be needed to support the 1994 budget, a hearing on the matter will be held on July 26 and a vote on the tax hike will be taken on July 30. Public hearing on the final budget as well as the adoption of the budget and the formal adoption of the new tax rate is scheduled for Aug. 16.

• Tabled action on bids for the purchase of a new car for the sheriff's department and tabled action on the sale of two used sheriff's patrol cars to give Hennigan an opportunity to study the buds.

• Scheduled their next meeting for May 20.

Jobless rate continues to climb

WOODVILLE — After soaring above the 10 percent mark for the first two months of 1993, Tyler County's unemployment rate fell by almost two percentage points during March, according to figures released by the Texas Employment commission.

The March rate - the latest currently available - fell to 8.9 percent, well below the four-year high of 10.7 percent recorded in February. Last year, the March jobless rate stood at 8.0 percent for the county.

The new 8.9 percent figure translates to mean that out of an estimated labor force of 7,239, there were about 644 Tyler County residents looking for work during the month.

In addition to the improvement employment news for Tyler County, the statewide numbers were equally as bright.

"Texas has certainly taken a turn for the better," said Texas Employment Commission Chairman Eddie Cavazos. "With 9,097,600 Texans working, up from 7,960,100 in February, we can afford to be a little optimistic about the economy."

The state's unemployment rate, at 6.7 percent in March, was at its lowest level in over six month. The number of unemployed Texans dropped from 703,100 in February to 579,800 in March.

The latest rate is well below the 8.1 percent jobless mark recorded for February as well as the 7.4 percent rate listed for March 1992.

"Hopefully, we are seeing a new upward trend in employment," Cavazos said.

Texas employers added 22,100 nonfarm salaried jobs between February and March. In the service-producing sector, trade experienced seasonal gains in eating and drinking places and government grew due to completion of spring staffing for schools and colleges. These industries contributed to the majority of growth.

The weakest area continued to be in the goods-producing sector, which includes manufacturing, mining and construction.

Most of the 27 Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSAs) recorded declines in unemployment between February and March. Exceptions included Wichita Falls, up slightly, and Lubbock, unchanged.

The five MSAs with the lowest unemployment in March included Bryan-College Station at 3.2, Austin at 4.3, Amarillo at 4.9 and San Antonio and Victoria at 5.3 percent each.

The area with the highest joblessness include McAllen-Edinburg-Mission at 14.6 percent, down from February's 18 percent; Brownsville-Harlingen at 10.4 percent, down from 13 percent; Beaumont-Port Arthur at 10.2 percent, down from 11.9 percent; and Odessa at 9.2 percent, down from 11.5 percent.

"We are excited to see that even area with high unemployment have shown a decrease in joblessness from the previous month," Cavazos said.

March jobless rates for other East Texas counties include:

Customers should beware of 'slamming'

WOODVILLE — Some customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone of Texas are finding themselves victims of "slamming" — the unauthorized switching of long distance carriers. Many of these victims actually, but unknowingly, sign-up to have their long distance service switched.

"Some of these scams take the form of contest entry blanks," said Eddie Arnold, external affairs manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone of Texas. "Customers unwittingly fill out contest forms for contests being conducted by certain unscrupulous long distance carriers.

"The 'fine print' states that the contestant is authorizing a switch to the carrier conducting the contest," said Arnold. "Without reading the fine print, the customer signs the contest form and unwittingly authorizes the switch. The first time the customer realizes they have switched is when they receive their Southwestern Bell Telephone bill and it indicates they have switched carriers."

In 1992, Southwestern Bell Telephone of Texas had approximately 46,000 reports of slamming from its total customer base of 14 million customers, or less than 1 percent.

"I would urge telephone customers in Woodville to read the fine print of any contest they enter that might authorize a switch in long distance carriers," said Arnold.

Public Notice

On April 16, 1993, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWBT) filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission) for approval of a new optional service, Network Subscriber Information Interface (NSII). NSII is a new service feature developed primarily for the provision of Voice Messaging Service (VMS). It will give a VMS provider (as SWBT's customer) the ability to receive originating call information from SWBT's central office and to activate and deactivate a Message Waiting Indicator (MWI) on the line of the VMS provider's patron. NSII also gives the VMS provider the ability to activate and deactivate an intermittent dial tone on a patron's line in multiple offices. The VMS provider will be able to perform these functions in multiple offices through a connection to a single Message Node office. The Message Node will be a predesignated central office and will interconnect with all central offices within the Message Node Service Area. Upon approval of this application, NSII will be available to customers where facilities are available. Available facilities are not currently deployed statewide. The proposed effective date of this service is June 20, 1993.

SWBT estimates these new services will increase its annual revenues during the first year by approximately $2.4 million. VMS providers and Telephone Answering Services and their subscribers are the types of customers likely to be affected by approval of these services.

The proposed recurring monthly rate and nonrecurring installation charge is as follows:

Rate Element	Recurring	Nonrecurring
NSII	$6,000.00	$2,000.00

Persons who wish to comment on this application should notify the Commission by June 10, 1993. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at 512-458-0256, or 512-458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.
