Children escape injury in car chase, shooting

HILLISTER — A 38-year-old Woodville man was free this week under bonds totalling $26,500 after being charged with attempted murder in connection with a car chase and shooting incident reported last week near Hillister.

John E. Lacy was charged with attempted murder on May 24 before Justice of the Peace Wanda Brasher, who set bond at $25,000. He also was subsequently placed under an additional $1,500 bond on a probation revocation motion.

Last week's incident reportedly involved gunshots fired at a car driven by Ola Mae Morris, 30, of Hillister which also contained her four children riding in the back seat and an adult, Richard Wise, who was a front seat passenger.

Wise, who suffered a minor wound from a bullet graze, was the only person reported injured during the chase and shooting spree.

Although Lacy currently is charged with only one count of attempted murder, officers said the matter would be referred to a Tyler County grand jury which could return indictments alleging additional felony complaints.

According to Tyler County Sheriff's Lt. Tracy Ferguson, the incident reportedly began about 7:15 a.m. on Monday, May 24, when the Ford Mustang driven by Morris turned onto the Beaumont Hill Road off FM 1013 east of Hillister.

A second car, identified as a 1983 Buick, reportedly followed Morris' vehicle onto the road, pulled up behind her and began flashing its lights. When Morris refused to stop, the car drove up beside her and the driver began yelling something which Morris told investigators she was unable to understand.

At this point, Morris said she heard a clicking noise and realized that the other driver was shooting at her. The Buick then pulled back behind Morris' car and fired additional shots which penetrated the Mustang's large rear window.

Morris told investigators the Buick then rammed the back of her car, forcing her off the road into a ditch. She said she was able to quickly regain control of the car and proceeded down the road until she was able to obtain help.

Lacy, who was identified as the assailant by both Morris and Wise, was arrested later that same day by sheriff's

Annual powwow set at Indian reservation

INDIAN VILLAGE — Indians from tribes throughout the United States will be converging on the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation on Friday and Saturday, June 4-5, for the 25th annual Indian Powwow.

Located midway between Woodville and Livingston on Highway 190, the reservation will host most of the two-day event at the Indian Village Ballpark located on the north side of the highway, just west of the Indian Village entrance road.

Powwow admission is $3 for adults and $3 for children at the gate.

Activities Friday get underway at 10 a.m. with an arts and crafts show and sale located in the tourist complex area of Indian Village. The show will remain open until 5 p.m.

Gourd dances will begin at the ballpark at 6 p.m. and a grand entry will be held at 7:45 p.m. The grand entry signals the start of an evening of social dances and dance contests in five categories.

In addition, food, arts and crafts, T-shirts, frybread and drinks will be sold at the ballpark during the powwow.

On Saturday, the day-long list of activities begins with the Fourth Annual "Fun Run/Walk" sponsored by the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Health Service. The event starts promptly at 8 a.m. in front of the Indian Reservation Gym.

The running course is a five-mile trek through the scenic Big Thicket area. Those who want to participate by walking will enjoy a 3.7 mile route.

Early registration for the event is underway and the entry fee is $8. Late entries will be charged $10 after noon Friday and T-shirts will be given to the first 100 registered participants.

For serious runners or walkers, last year's running times to beat include 33.12 minutes set by Sue Tortello of Woodville and 27.22 minutes set by Brian Small of Chicago, Ill. Walking times to beat are 44.40 minutes set by Kelly Haiton of Livingston and 43.24 minutes set by Marvin Taylor of Livingston.

Winners in the "Fun Run/Walk" will be selected in male and female categories for runners and walkers and trophies will be awarded for the best time in both events. For more information,

DOUCETTE POST OFFICE MARKs 100TH YEAR—Sharp eyed Doucette Postmaster Estelle Ling will help the Doucette Community mark the 100th birthday of the small postal station with coffee and cake at the Post Office on Friday, June 4. The office was established on May 31, 1993 and the postmaster discovered the date when she was asked to cancel a stamp on June 1st with the cards's sender noting the post office's 100th anniversary. Ling took up the cause quickly and prompted the event. Ling is pictured above holding some of the post office's older documents with pictures of previous postmasters displayed on the right. Doucette Post Office marks centennial

By John Morrison

DOUCETTE — If it hadn't been for the sharp eye of 19-year Doucette Postmaster Estelle Ling, Tyler County wouldn't know that the Doucette Post Office had slipped past it's 100th birthday without even one candle being lit.

"The Birthday party is this Friday, June 4, and everyone is welcome," said Ling.

Postmaster Ling says she received a letter from Colorado asking that she cancel a stamp on June 1st, 1993, and noticed that printed on the letter was a short "Texas Postal History" excerpt noting that the facility was established on May 31, 1893.

It's hard to tell about the development of the Doucette postal history, though, without delving into the history of the town itself.

Estimates of the size of the Doucette in 1893 numbered at 3,500 at it's largest to 2,000 at it's smallest, but either population estimate required an official post office station, even today. But with the absence of the sawmill, today's population has shrunk to about 250, or one-tenth of it's size on century ago.

Ling says she "has a suspicion that the actual volume of mail in 1893 must be closer to what the volume is today because there was only one stream of mail. No third or fourth class."

Work on new sewer plant proceeds

By John Morrison

WOODVILLE — Woodville's city council Friday authorized it's city secretary to negotiate to hire the Dallas engineering firm of Kyle Engineering, Inc., to design plans for a new sewer plant for Woodville.

"Cost for the plant could fall around $3 million," said City Secretary Don Shaw.

And, in a workshop held on Tuesday, May 18, the council heard a presentation from two Louisiana engineers involved in the successful construction and implementation of an innovative rock/reed filtration sewage plant built in the last year in nearby Crowley, La.

The council seems to be developing a keen interest a plant similar to the one in Crowley for Woodville.

The Kyle Engineers were involved in the development of a similar plant in Whitney, Texas.

One interesing twist in the sewer treatment project is that it may need a motor boat to help aerate water on days that produce a higher than normal algae buildup.

Baptist group provides hands-on service

By Greg Peak

DAM B — While most churches throughout the nation are involved in raising money for mission work, many members of a Waco congregation also seek to have hands-on experience in serving God.

All this week, 60-plus members of the Columbus Avenue Baptist Church in Waco will be hard at work remodeling and expanding the facilities at the Hilltop Baptist Church located just west of Dam B in Tyler County.

The small church, pastored by the Rev. Kenn Freeland, is the beneficiary of the annual Texas Missions project sponsored by the 3,000-member Waco church.

"Our members are deeply committed to mission work and we consider this project a part of that work," said Larry Vowell, minister of education/administration for the Columbus Avenue Baptist Church.

"We do a remodeling project like this each year, partly to try and put our mission work into action. The people who are here this week want not only to give money to this work but to be given an opportunity to get out and do some of the work themselves."

Because the Waco church members are unable to take time off to join a foreign mission service, Vowell said the Texas Mission project provides them with an chance to take one week each year to travel and serve a smaller church in need.

This year, the group selected the Hilltop Baptist Church to help under the program. Included in the work is the construction of a 30' x 30' extension on the church's education building which will house three additional classrooms and a kitchen. The group

Runoff vote is Saturday

TYLER COUNTY — Polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, June 5, throughout Tyler County for the statewide senatorial runoff election and in Colmesneil for a city council tie-breaker.

Voters throughout the county are being asked to join those statewide in selecting a new U.S. Senator after none of the 24 candidates in the May 1 special election failed to gain a majority.

The two candidates who drew the most votes in the May vote, State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchinson, and Senator Bob Krueger, will be the only two to appear on the June 5 runoff ballot.

Hutchinson, who is running as a Republican, narrowly edged out Krueger for first place among the May 1 candidates and is currently leading in a number of statewide polls. Krueger, a former railroad commissioner, was appointed to the senate seat earlier this year by Gov. Ann Richards after longtime Senator Lloyd Bentsen resigned to accept the appointment as President Bill Clinton's Secretary of the Treasury.

In addition to the statewide runoff election, voters in the Colmesneil are being asked to return to the polls to fill a city council post after two candidates tied during the May 1 voting.

Incumbent Tommy Svatek and challenger Kenneth Davis will be facing each other in the runoff for the two-year at-large council post. Both men received 80 votes in the first election.

E&L Lumber gives boost to Little League's lights

WOODVILLE — Those traveling at night past the Tyler County Little League ball park located just west of Woodville may have noticed that the fields seem to be brighter.

Additional lights installed recently at the Hennigan Park complex not only gives travelers an impression of additional brightness but gives the youngsters who play night games a better opportunity to perform.

After some 18 years the Tyler County Little League lighting system got a big boost as E&L Lumber Co. and its president, Buddy Lowery, came to the aid of the local organization and donated $2,100 to add lighting units at the park's thjree main fields.

Gary Hennigan, president of the county baseball league, noted that E&L "is not a fly-by-night sponsor" of the organization.

"They have been supporting Little League here since the day they came to Tyler County," Hennigan said. "It seems like every year if we have a special project or need additional help, the Lowery brothers have always been supportive.

"Every community needs supporters like E&L to help make a non-profit organization successful. I know I'm not speaking out of turn when I say the Little League of Tyler County says thanks to the Lowery brothers and E&L Lumber," Hennigan added.

Doucette history on exhibit

There's more to Doucette than meets the eye. Much much more, if you take the time to slow down and ask questions.

That's why Heritage Village is so excited about the history of this once thriving sawmill town that is being pulled together in pictures and artifacts for a month long exhibit in the Village Exhibit Hall.

When you've never seen Doucette from any other perspective than the highway, which only lets you know that you have arrived and departed, it's rather mind boggling to hear one of the early residents talk about "downtown."

Downtown, of course, was several blocks east of today's Highway 69 facing the TNO Railroad tracks, which started Doucette on its way to fame and fortune as the business hub of Tyler County.

There isn't anything left of downtown now, but once you get the lay of the land from those who remember and see the few remaining structures, such as the old Union Church that will celebrate its 27th annual homecoming this coming Sunday, June 6, the superintendent's house that has been home to the Wright family for the past 16 years and the culvert under the tracks through which Frank Fain used to lead his little sister Minnie Pearl on their way to see the movies at the Hoo Hoo Theater, you get a feeling of being there. You understand why Doucette was once the largest town between Lufkin and Beaumont, offering employment, shopping and entertainment to many a Woodville resident.

Mayme Brown, chairman of the Village's Exhibit Committee, and Jack Whitmeyer have been uprooting the memories of several long time Doucetters, such as Janie Herndon, Minnie Pearl Townsend and Estelle Ling, postmaster of the Doucette Post Office, which will celebrate its one hundredth anniversary with an open house next Friday afternoon. All these and more have been most generous in lending a hand to the Village's efforts.

From the Beginning

Doucette really got its start as Carroll's Switch back in 1890, when a man named Alva Carroll built a small sawmill there after the railroad was extended from Woodville to Rockland. A year later he sold his interests to William McCready, Fred Doucette and a Mr. Bodey.

The town was named after Doucette, and two years later, when the settlement was awarded its own post office, McCready became its first postmaster.

In 1898 Fred Doucette and six other men were killed in an explosion and his brother Pete became involved in the operation. Five years later, in 1903, the sawmill was purchased by Samuel Fain Carter and J. P. Carter of Houston, who had as their commissary manager a young man named J. H. Fain, father of Minnie Pearl and her brothers. Frank and Wood fain. In 1906, when the Carters sold their interests to the Thompson Brothers, also of Houston, they transferred Fain to the commissary at their mill at Emporia (near present day Diboll). It was here that Fain's oldest son, J. Wood Fain, was born. Soon after, he moved his family back to Doucette to open his own general merchandise store.

The Thompsons ran the mill and the town until 1911, when the Long Bell Lumber Company, attracted by the efficient well organized sawmill "city" that had already been established, bought out their interests and continued the growth pattern.

In addition to the commissary, "where you could buy anything from a bassinet to a casket," Doucette boasted a drug store with lunch room and soda fountain, a bank, hotel, barber shop and pressing shop and eventually three independent general merchandise stores.

Long Bell continued to operate the mill until 1945, when they sold their interests to International Paper Company which later sold to Louisiana Pacific, which still operates a pole mill on the site.

A number of years ago Bower Johnston wrote in the "Cracker-Barrel" about his very first trip to Doucette in 1921 or 1922. At that time the road from Woodville to Rockland, known as the Belts Ferry Road, ran a bit west of Hwy. 69. It was right at dusk when he entered the town, he wrote, and looking east into the valley he could see the residential areas, the company stores, offices and hotel. "All the street lights were on, and to me it was a beautiful sight." Being the size it was, Doucette was the first city in Tyler County to have electricity.

"Most of the houses in town were owned by Long Bell," he said. "For the monthly rental you were furnished electricity and distilled water. Fuel, in the form of short pieces of lumber, was furnished by the company at the rate of $1 per wagon load."

As he wrote about Doucette and Tyler County, Johnston wanted to remind his readers that although he was not a native son, having been born in Kirbyville, his mother Mary Bower Johnston was from Spurger and his father from Colmesneil.

Which is probably just as good a place as any to say, we'll talk more about Doucette AND its illustrious history in next week's column.

Back at the Village

Meanwhile, back at the Village, Memorial Day brought a number of family groups, who stopped off to eat the tour the Village on their way home from the long weekend.

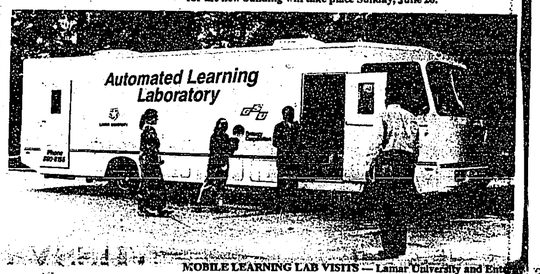
Erlene Clark reported that a group of six came in on Sunday on their way back to Alabama. One of them, an Elaine Hughes, was looking for the school her grandmother, Annie Crawford, attended back in 1906. They were all quite excited to find that the school was now part of our own Pickett House. Elaine said she wasn't sure if her grandfather Hubert Crawford attended the Midway School or not, but they'd be coming back soon, because they wanted to find out more about another of their ancestors, named Ike Turner. Later, in "Sketches of Tyler County", we found a Captain Ike N. M. Turner, who died while in service with Hoods Brigade in 1863.

And speaking of Erlene, who can usually be found in the Museum Store on weekends, she and her family recently donated a collection of old hymn and other religious books her father Percy Treat had kept from Singing Conventions he attended years ago. The donation was made in memory of the late Woody Woodrome, who played such an important role in the development of our musical programs.

Memorials such as these are so important to the growth of the Village and its role in preserving Tyler County and East Texas history. Think about it.

And, if you haven't done so already, mark the dates of June 18-19, 25-26 as the dates of the Village's fifth annual staging of "Whispers In The Wind."

THE REV. PAT O'CONNELL RETIRES — Ordained to be a priest in the Roman Catholic Church some 38 years ago, the Rev. Pat O'Connell, (right) retired from his charge at the Our Lady of the Pines Catholic Church Sunday at ceremonies held at the Woodville Inn with some 150 parishioners and friends participating. Shown with O'Connell is the Rev. Roger Thibodeaux, (at left) who is now in residence and will serve as pastor to the local parish. The Roman Catholic community is currently in the process of building a new 10,800 sq. ft. Family Life Center in Woodville. The project, which was born during Father Pat's 12 year tenure here, "is a tribute to his time with us" said one parishioner. Formal groundbreaking for the new building will take place Sunday, June 20.



MOBILE LEARNING LAB VISITS — Lamar University and Entergy Corp. of New Orleans unveiled an advanced weapon May 25 as part of an educational partnership in the ongoing battle to increase literacy and employment opportunities in Southeast Texas. The new Mobile Automated Learning Laboratory (MALL) will be in Woodville Thursday, June 3, for a noon visit at the Lions Den and a 1:30-3:30 p.m. stop at the Woodville City Hall. The 32-foot motor coach is equipped with 11 personal computers that transform it into a school on wheels that will travel to workplaces and other sites throughout the region.

Little League is team sport

Dear Editor:

This letter is in response to the letter signed Betsy Howard (Tyler County Boostter, Readers Write column of May 26).

There is a comment made that "Unfortunately there are coaches whose only goal is to win! No matter the cost." Apparently, Mrs. "H" has no idea what it takes to win. I wonder if she has ever been a member of a losing team. Or if she has ever had a coach who never tried to win. That would be the easy way out for the coach. Because winning takes a lot of dedication and hard work. Not only on the part of the players, but on the part of the coach as well.

I wonder if Mrs. "H" realizes that a coach puts in every practice hour, game hour that the players do. That runs out eight to 10 hours a week. Not to mention the time a coach spends working on the line-up, cleaning the equipment, running kids to and from practice and games, and raising money for the league. I wonder if Mrs. "H" would be willing to set aside that much time to work with kids.

Mrs. "H" makes reference to the self-esteem of the kids. I think that you will find that the worst thing a parent can do is put a kid in a position that they themselves would never put themselves in. The pressure that a parent can place on a child over a game is incredible. Why don't you just let the kid play the game?

The first time I met our high school baseball coach (Coach Belshoe), he gave all the coaches some excellent advice. He said, "Whatever you do be positive with the kids. If a batter swings at a pitch over his head, don't scream at him. Tell him to keep the pitches below his hands. Tell him good cut. Don't destroy his confidence and put him on the spot." This is the "key" coach. There are no superstars on our team. Just a group of boys who have to play together if they want to win.

There was a question raised concerning the local rules of having to play each player six defensive outs and one time at bat each week. The purpose for such a rule is to make each kid put forth an effort to earn his position. This makes the league more competitive and improves the quality of play. Let's look at what is fair for the kids. It takes nine kids to play the game. Suppose that one out of the nine is in his position with his back turned to the game, glove underneath his arm, and pulling grass and tossing it in the wind. The ball is hit to this player. What do you think the other eight are feeling? It's a team sport!

The coaches didn't make this rule. This rule was established by the Tyler County Little League board. Feel free to examine my books. You'll find it strictly adhered to.

There is an old saying that goes something like this - the man who tries to please everyone only ends up a failure himself. Well, as good as this season is going, I can't please everybody. But, the kids know who supports them. They know who to count on to be there for practice, refreshments, and guidance - their COACH.

I just wish Mrs. "H" would have just come to me to discuss her dislikes, instead of the route taken. I would have been happy to have taken it to the president of the league and if needed, have the kid placed on another team.

Mrs. "H" said, "There are coaches in Woodville who do try to treat each child equally. We appreciate you."

Thank you for your appreciation

Russ Pilgrim

Senior citizens picnic succeeds

Dear Editor:

The Woodville Area Chapter #792 of the American Association of Retired Persons would like to take this means to thank you for your contribution to the success of our Tenth annual picnic for senior citizens of Tyler County May 22, 1993 at the Tyler County Rodeo Arena.

This activity is targeted particularly toward nursing home residents, shut-ins and other disabled or handicapped persons. All three of our local nursing homes were represented this year and as in the past, all received a gift to take home along with memories of good food and a good time.

Many elderly citizens took this opportunity to greet friends that they had not seen since the last picnic. For some this is one of the few outings they now enjoy.

Woodville and all of Tyler County have always supported this activity in such a wonderful way. This year was no different. Again, we say, "THANK YOU!!". We appreciate you so very much.

We earnestly solicit your suggestions for a bigger and better Eleventh Annual Pioneer Picnic.

Sincerely,
Phil Phillips, President

Wealth worship causes problems

Dear Editor:

"The love of money is the root of all evil." It is not a respecter of people, traditional values or nations. The adage is not given a thought, unless it causes a concern or problem to a specific individual or group.

Property owners can attest to this, since they must contend with the state's claim of ownership to their holdings through taxation, which includes autos. Renting out the property is risky business, since no law protects the owner should the tenant prove to be much less than desirable resulting in damages. Of course, one can sue, if they have enough money and/or power. That, too, is risky business.

For instance, let's say a landlord and store owner is beaten severely. The perpetrator is charged and jailed. Upon his release, he secures a lawyer to sue the owner, because he became ill due to the dirty condition of his cell and the violation of his rights. Such cases cost the taxpayer, but not the perpetrator.

Should the property be served by a community water system and a tenant moves away leaving an unpaid bill - Guess who gets billed? The property owner!!

Students are called the corporations' "MOST LUCRATIVE MARKET", but when the school districts need more funding, the property owners are tagged, again - for the educational purpose of students who have to hold a job so that they may buy a set of wheels, stay with the latest fads, fashions, electronics and cope with drugs, alcohol and sex promotion and to BUY, BUY, BUY!! Even the very young are overwhelmed with a wonderland of the "latest" in toys, cereals and clothing - the role models being child actors who instruct adults as to what and when to buy.

Nothing is sacred when it comes to getting money. Every part of the human anatomy is fair game - gas, water and odor!

The old rule "FAIR MARGIN OF PROFIT" became "ALL THE TRAFFIC WILL BEAR". "DO UNTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD HAVE THEM DO UNTO YOU" is now "DO UNTO THE OTHER FELLOW BEFORE HE CAN DO UNTO YOU". So now corporate heads make millions while the laborers and average citizens struggle and strive for a living.

What will become of this wealth-worshipping country? Well, as it is said: "THEM WHAT'S GOT - GITS. THEM WHAT AINT' GOT GOES AND GITS WHAT THEM WHAT'S GOT GOT AND GITS!"

Sincerely,
M.E. Duncan

Summer Fun

Bubble making adds interest

By Darby Kethan

BUBBLES, BUBBLES, BUBBLES. How many times have we been delighted with the magic of making bubbles? Think how our children love them, and then we think of how expensive the bubbles-by-the bottle can be! Next, we think of the mess made when fluids are spilled and wasted! Then we decide not to invest in bubbles or to bother because of the mess.

This is especially sad because bubbles are not only a source of delight but also can be a wonderful learning experience as well as a way to help children learn to behave! So read on, and see how you can use BUBBLES, BUBBLES, BUBBLES without all the mess, without the expense, and have fun along with your children.

Using liquid detergent to make your own bubble solution is the best way to save money and to have unlimited bubbles. This simple recipe mixes 2/3 cup of liquid dishwashing detergent with one gallon of water. You can make extra strong bubbles if you add one tablespoon of glycerine (which can be bought in a drug store). Storing the mixture for about a week lets it work better but it can be used immediately.

Almost anything can be used to make bubbles! Old thread spools, slotted spoons, small tin cans with both ends cut out (be careful to make the edges smooth), tops from detergent and shampoo bottles, and even blowing through your closed fist! Use coat hangers to make large loops and dip into the solution for larger bubbles. Drinking straws can be threaded onto a string, formed into a square, tied, and dipped into the solution to make large bubbles. The ultimate bubble making activity is to pour bubble solution into a wading pool and use a hula-hoop to dip into the solution and pull it up over yourself as you build a bubble around you!

Containing the messiness of bubble making is not such a problem when done outdoors! However, blowing bubbles inside can be done in the tub with the shower curtain pulled to keep the bubbles away from floors and furniture. Spills can be minimized in any setting by using a tray or cat litter pan to hold the containers and blowers.

Children learn best when they enjoy and are interested in what they are doing. However, we can help them learn things by offering some reward for their efforts. Most of the adults I know work for some reward. Few of us would go to our workplace without the reward of a paycheck and a feeling of doing our job well. Children also need a tangible reward along with the praise, especially when learning new tasks. BUBBLES, BUBBLES, BUBBLES is a way for adults to reward children for their efforts. Instead of saying, "If you don't finish your food you will not go outside," try "WHEN you finish you job we will blow bubbles for ten minutes;" or "When you have finished your lunch we will blow bubbles". Bubbles can be the way to have fun with children as well as to help them learn to finish their tasks.

Remember that just as we tire of a steady diet of one food, so will children want more activities than bubbles. Plan to have special days for bubbles or use them a bit each day. To put out the mixture, leave the child and utensils unattended without being close enough to offer encouragement and praise their efforts can make a mess of the best planned activity. Children need your attention, your words, your interest no matter what they are doing.

also is painting the inside and outside of both the older, wooden educational building and new brick sanctuary.

In addition, the Waco group is constructing a fenced children's playground and an enclosed walkway to connect the education building with the sanctuary.

"We normally bring some money with us to help the church buy materials," Vowell added. "We probably wind up providing between $4,000 and $5,000 in materials to the projects we work on."

The Waco minister noted that when the group arrived at the Dam B church Sunday night, he presented Freeland with a check for $2,000 to purchase construction materials. In addition, one of the Waco church's Sunday school classes raised another $2,000 to purchase the equipment for the playground.

"We'll probably be providing some more odds and ends as the project goes forward," Vowell said.

When we arrived here, I asked for a show of hands among our people as to how many of them had attended a small church at sometime in their lives," Vowell said. "About 95 percent raised their hands, so you can see that they know what kind of struggles and needs a small church faces. This helps to make them willing to be a part of this."

Freeland, who called the group's visit a blessing, praised the Waco Church for their generosity. He added that the local church is required to provide the visiting construction workers with nothing during their stay.

"We try not to be a burden on the church we're trying to help," Vowell explained. "A group the size of ours can be overwhelming to a small church if we expected them to provide things like meals once or twice a day during our stay."

He added that when they arrived Sunday evening, the Waco volunteers outnumbered those attending the regular Hilltop service by seven.

"When we first started talking about coming down here, Bro. Kenn got excited and began discussing plans to provide us with entertainment while we were here," Vowell said with a grin. "I had to tell him, 'Whoa. That's not necessary. We're going to be coming to work so don't worry about entertaining us'."

Vowell noted that the church members pay all of their own travel and lodging expenses and are expected to begin work at 8 a.m. and continue until about 5 or 6 p.m. each evening. "A bunch of our people will, however, arrive at 7 or 7:30 in the morning," he added with a smile.

While in Tyler County, Freeland said he will be taking the group for a visit Thursday evening to Heritage Village in Woodville.

"We're not here as sightseers but we do take one afternoon off to visit the area we're working in," Vowell noted. "We're here to work so that is what we concentrate on."

During the past 10 years, Vowell said the Waco church has been involved in seven projects like this, mostly limiting themselves to renovation work for existing churches.

He noted that unlike groups such as the Texas Baptist Men, which build churches almost year-round, the members of the Waco church group have only one week each year to complete their project. The Texas Baptist Men often will work three weeks on each of their projects.

"We did do one church almost from the ground up in Tennessee last year," Vowell recalled. "They had the slab poured when we got their and we raised the walls."

He added that while they were able to complete the work in the allotted week, he is reluctant to attempt to repeat the process again.

Vowell noted that projects are referred to the Waco church through the state's missions director and that each year the group receives quite a few requests for assistance.

"We evaluate each request on the need for help and on whether we can' handle the project," he said.

The Hilltop project is only the group's second one in Texas. In addition to the Tennessee church construction, the group has completed one project in El Paso, one in Minnesota and three in Colorado.

None of the Waco volunteers are professional builders and those working on the Hilltop project include an automobile dealer, an attorney, a number of business people, several school teachers and administrators, two retired post masters, a retired insurance agent, retired Baylor University professors and retired telephone company employees.

Although the volunteers have gained some experience on other projects, the extension of the education building is being supervised by Hilltop Baptist member Tommy Walker, a professional carpenter.

"One of the people who will be joining us later in the week is Jimmy King, who grew up in Woodville and who now teaches at McClendon Community College," Vowell noted. He explained that King, son of Marie King of Woodville, was unable to come with the group on Sunday due to his summer school duties at the college.

Vowell noted that about half of those involved in the Hilltop project are retired while the rest have taken vacation time from their regular careers to make the trip to Tyler County.

"Another thing that distinguishes us from other groups like the Texas Baptist Men is that we have men, women and children all involved in the project. The youngest helping out here is 10 years old and the oldest is 86," he said.

deputies. When his car was recovered off Seneca Road in Woodville, officers found five bullet holes in the vehicle's windshield. All five holes appeared to have been caused by a gun fired inside the car.

Investigators subsequently identified a Chinese-made SKS-56 semi-automatic rifle as the gun believed to have been used during the incident. The weapon's clip holds 10 rounds and officers believe that between 9-10 shots were fired at Morris' car.

Sheriff's Report

Activities during the week of May 24-31

Tyler County Sheriff Gary Hennigan noted that during the week, which included most of the Memorial Day Holiday weekend, the criminal activity in the county was very light.

"Things were really quiet, exceptionally quiet, and most people behaved fairly well," he said. "It is my hope that this will continue."

During the week, Tyler County Sheriff's Deputies:

•Investigated six burglaries including: a burglary of a habitation at 16th Street in Ivanhoe; a burglary of a building at Donalson Chrysler; a burglary of a habitation at Lake Ivanhoe Estates; a burglary of a habitation at 295 Lakeview Circle; a burglary of a habitation at Galahad Loop in Ivanhoe; and a burglary of a building at Campers Cove.

"Now don't forget the Sears and Roebuck catalog," she quickly added.

"And don't forget the penny postcard and the two cent regular stamp and the three-cent stamp on an envelope, compared to the 29 cent stamp in 1993.

"In the old days there was lots of parcel post. We hardly get any of that today."

Doucette was a peaceful sawmill town and was built on the Texas and New Orleans Railroad three miles north of Woodville at the site designated as Carroll's Switch. The town was named for Fred Doucette who was killed when railroaders tried to put cold water into a dry tramroad steam engine.

Lou Ella Moseley explains in her book "Early History of Tyler County" that "the original sawmill was owned by William McCready, a Mr. Bedov and Doucette. In 1903 the plant was sold to S.F. and J.P. Carter of Houston and started the town on the upward road to prosperity.

"In 1911, the Long Bell Lumber Co. took over and Doucette took on rapid growth.

"She boasted a large commissary, a modern drug store for the day, with a lunch room and soda fountain, a doctor's office, bank, post and post office.

"There was a dance hall, school building and churches.

"Among the prominent families who lived at Doucette were the Popes, Fains, Mercers, Clemmons, Penningtons, Causeys, Sims, Crews, Cobbs and Gillespies.

"R.A. Shivers, father of Gov. Alan Shivers taught school in Doucette; Jope Z. Tower, father of U.S. Senator John Tower, was pastor of the Methodist Church and Dr. John Pope was principal at the school.

"Unlike some of the other saw mills of the county, Doucette did not become a ghost town with the going of the mill. It retained a small amount of lumber and shipping industries, with the addition of other small businesses and interests, so today it is a prosperous and active little village."

William McCready was the first postmaster, according to Ling, serving from 1893 to 1915 when Annie Belle Causey took over, serving from 1915 to 1959 (44 years). Ray Hancock then took over as postmaster from 1959 to 1967 while Minnie McDonald took over as officer-in-charge from 1967 to 1969. Allan Willis was postmaster from 1969 to 1974 when Postmaster Ling took over.

She invites everyone to come by and have a look back. She'll have some early postal memorabilia for patrons to view in order to remind folks, and to properly mark the postal facility accomplishments over it's first 100 years.

* Engineers picked

The City of Woodville is under a state mandate to begin developing plans to abate sewer overages with the current sewer operation, which already is running at 75 percent capacity.

According to Shaw, "The city wrote a letter to the state telling them we would have an engineer selected by June 1, 1993."

The innovative alternative treatment plant at Crowley caught Councilmen Tom Knapp and Dr. W.S. Nichols eye recently during an inspection trip they made to the Crowley facility.

It was Knapp's idea to invite the Crowley specialists to a work session to inform councilmen here of the benefits of the program.

According to Charles T. Mader, an engineer with the firm of Mader-Miers, of Lafayette, La., "Crowley paid $2-$2.7 million for the plant, plus one mile of pipe, plus an upgrade of a pump station.

"The federal government thought so highly of the plant that it contributed another $3 million to the project," Mader said.

The plant operates through a series of marsh ponds, each one of which, through natural biodegradation with the help of giant bulrushes, duckweed and natural sunlight, feeds on the nutrients provided by Woodville city effluent.

Ultraviolet disinfection is the final treatment before the treated water is returned to the natural stream.

When asked if the engineer would actually drink a glass of the released and treated water he said, "I would prefer not to".

The system is not without problems, however. Concerns about what happens when the reeds, which affix themselves to crushed rock, become clogged with sludge have to be answered along with the problem of how to handle the plants when they die.

"What happens on the day of sludge?" asked Councilman Dr. Malcolm Radford.

The system has a series of safety valves in the pond system which allow the inflow and outflow of water to be altered to make repairs," said Fred Trahan, also representing the Mader-Miers.

Algae buildup is a primary concern because it tends to clog the root/rock system. The solution to the algae problem is aeration of the water which city fathers hope can be done fore the most part naturally.

"But, sometimes on real hot still days a motorboat might have to be employed to churn up the water and add oxygen to the mix," Mader said.

Hennigan named to all-district team for fourth time

PORT ARTHUR — Woodville senior first baseman Derrick Hennigan was selected for the fourth time as a first team all-district baseball player last week.

Hennigan was chosen to the 24-3A All-District Baseball Team as selected by district coaches.

Two other Woodville players, pitcher Gary Weaver and second baseman William Muncrief, were named to the second team, while Eagle outfielders John Greenwood and Lynn Hadnot were selected as honorable mention.

Hennigan was a unanimous choice after hitting .429 in district and driving in 14 runs.

His selection marked the fourth consecutive year that he was named to a first team all-district squad. His freshman year he was named the district's top designated hitter. His sophomore and junior years he was named as the top first baseman in the district.

Weaver's selection marked the second time he has been chosen on an all-district team. The Woodville right hander posted a 3-5 won-loss record in district play and had a 6-6 record for the season.

Muncrief hit .302 in district play and posted a .338 batting average for the season. The senior speedster also stole 11 bases in 11 attempts and led the team in runs batted in with 22.

The district's Most Valuable Player award went to Chad Johnson, a junior shortstop from Stephen F. Austin.

S.F.A.'s Ron Stump was named as the district's Coach of the Year.

S.F.A. hurlers Brian Norris and Troy Miquez were named to the district's first team ballot, along with Randy Williams of Buna and Brian Fisher of Orangefield.

S.F.A. also took first team slots at catcher and outfield, while Orangefield players were named at second base, shortstop, third base, and two outfield positions.

The Newcomer of the Year selection went to freshman catcher Brad Hadnot of Kountze.

S.F.A. won the district title with a record of 12-2. Orangefield was second with a record of 10-4. Buna placed third in district with an 8-6 mark, while Woodville and Hardin-Jefferson tied for fourth with 7-7 records. Woodville's season record was 13-12.

Both S.F.A. and Orangefield were eliminated in the area round of the post season playoffs. After S.F.A. defeated Liberty for the bi-district title, 4-1, the Eagles fell to Bellville, 6-3, in the area title game.

Lake Tejas more popular than ever

(First of a series on Tyler County summer fun spots)

COLMESNEIL — From churches, schools, and homes from throughout Southeast Texas and as far away as Europe they come. From newborns to senior citizens they arrive to take part in a summer ritual that dates back over 50 years.

Lake Tejas in Colmesneil will again be the destination for thousands this summer ready to enjoy the great outdoors of the Pineywoods.

This year marks the 53rd year of operation of the only public recreational swimming and camping facility in the state that is owned and operated by a school district.

Over 100 swimmers and campers a day enjoy the 27 acre park which was named as one of the state's top 10 swimming holes by Texas Monthly Magazine in the early 80's.

Adults can swim all day for $2, while children under 12 can swim for $1. Season tickets can be purchased for $20 and $15.

Camping rates are $8 per day, which include full hook-ups. Anglers can every day their luck hooking onto Florida and black bass and catfish for $1 per day.

Lake Tejas also has paddleboats and canoes for rent, along with a concession stand, game machines, and pool tables.

While the daytime is full of water activities by the volunteer set, the evenings are quiet with campfires and camping.

The lake opens for swimming at 10 in the morning and extends until 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 6 p.m. on Sundays.

The history of Lake Tejas is as unique as its ownership.

After its dedication in December of 1939, construction began on the project with labor from the National Youth Administration. It was opened four months later in April of 1940.

Its name came from an Indian artifact dug up during the construction of the project. Digging the lake bed, workers found a large arrowhead approximately ten feet deep. The relic was identified as that of the Tejas tribe, thus the name of the lake.

Lake Tejas was once shaped like the state of Texas, but no more. Aerial views taken in its earlier years confirm its Texas shape, but now the lake is oblong.

Betty Enfoe, a teacher at Colmesneil from 1934 to 1972, says that the Texas shape of the lake was totally accidental. "No one knew it until somebody took an aerial photo," she said.

Mrs. Enfoe also notes that many Colmesneil High School students worked on the Tejas project. "They would often let the boys go out and work", she remembers.

Tejas also used to have ski shows, including a special ski show every July Fourth. Over 1,000 onlookers would make their way to Colmesneil during the celebration to see the performances.

The ski shows stopped in the 60's due to insurance costs to the school.

The lake is fed by underground springs and the water is checked and monitored by the Texas Water Commission.

Certified lifeguards are on duty at all times. The lake will continue to stay open through the Labor Day weekend.

Teambass schedule includes six more events

COLMESNEIL — Completing the first two tournaments in the history of the organization, Seniors' Teambass will be offering four more events on Sam Rayburn and two more on Toledo Bend.

After seeing seniors on television competing in sports such as golf, tennis and bowling, several fishing competition sponsors got together and decided to start a tournament for seniors. These fishing tournaments are unique in that they limit their participants to anglers 45 years of age and older, who compete for cash prizes.

On the Sam Rayburn agenda, the only Saturday start will be June 5. Sunday starts on Aug. 8, Sept. 5 and Nov. 14 will round out the '93 schedule with begins at 6 a.m. Weigh-in at any tournament will be at 3 p.m. on either lake.

Toledo Bend will have a Saturday start on July 10 and then round out the season with the last of the year for two events at Frontier Park on Oct. 10.

There have been many inquiries about ladies' competing in the Seniors' Teambass. Male or female, a team is a team; two people in a boat are allowed as long as they are aged 45 and up. Each team is allowed to bring five fish to the scales and all fish are live released.

Registration is always at the tournament location on the evening prior to the fishing.

Interest is building for additional Seniors' Teambass to be held at other lakes in East Texas and plans are currently being made to add them to the schedule.

For additional information, please call Seniors' Teambass at 409-837-2760 or write to Rt. 1 Box 278, Colmesneil, Texas 75938.

Spurger falls to Carlisle in area contest

HUDSON — In a classic pitcher's duel which saw only one hit in the game, the Carlisle Indians edged the Spurger Pirates, 1-0, in an area championship contest last week.

The Pirates' Brian Adams gave up only one hit in the contest, a one out blooper over second base in the seventh inning, while Carlisle's Jay Smitherman shut down Spurger batters without a hit.

Adams struck out eight and walked five, while Smitherman struck out 19 and walked seven.

Carlisle's lone run came in the first inning on a pair of walks, a ground out and a sacrifice bunt.

Spurger threatened twice in the game. In the third inning the Pirates loaded the bases on walks, but Smitherman, a lefty, struck out three consecutive Spurger hitters to end the inning.

In the seventh inning Lynn Spurlock moved to third after a walk and two steals, but a fly out and a strike out ended the game.

Only two Pirate batters were able to hit the ball in the championship contest. Besides Henry Robinson's fly out to center in the seventh, Jason Spurlock filed out to right field in the third.

Spurger had several outstanding defensive plays including a snag by Pirate third baseman Michael Holland in the sixth inning. With runners on first and second, Holland grabbed a hard smash, stepped on third for one out and threw to first for a double play.

The loss ended the season for the Pirates who finish with a 14-7 record. Spurger had moved in to the area title game with an 8-2 win over Big Sandy in bi-district play.

Carlisle moves on to regional play. The Indians won its bi-district title with a 2-0 shutout win.

TYLER COUNTY APPRAISAL DISTRICT PROPERTY TAX PROTEST AND APPEAL PROCEDURES

The law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow these appeal procedures if you have a concern about:

- the value placed on your property
- any exemptions that may apply to you
- the cancellation of an agricultural appraisal
- the taxable status of your property
- the local governments which should be taxing your property
- any action taken by the appraisal district that adversely affected you.

Informal Review

Contact the Tyler County Appraisal District office located at 806 West Bluff or call (409) 283-3736.

Review by the Appraisal Review Board

If you can't resolve your problem informally with the appraisal district staff, you may have your case heard by the appraisal review board (ARB).

The ARB is an independent board of citizens that reviews problems with appraisals or other concerns listed above. It has the power to order the appraisal district to make the necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a notice of protest) before the deadline, the ARB will set your case for a hearing. You'll receive written notice of the time, date and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make its decision based on the evidence presented. You can get a copy of a protest from the appraisal district office at 806 West Bluff, P.O. Drawer 9, Woodville, Texas 75979.

Note: You shouldn't try to contact ARB members outside of the hearing. The law requires ARB members to sign an affidavit saying that they haven't talked about your case before the ARB hears it.

Review by the District Court

After it decides your case, the ARB must send you a copy of its order by certified mail. If you're not satisfied with the decision, you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court, you must start the process by filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive the ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at $1,000,000 or more, you must file notice of appeal with the chief appraiser within 15 days of the date you receive the ARB's order.

More Information

You can get more information by contacting the Tyler County Appraisal District at 806 West Bluff, P.O. Drawer 9, Woodville, Texas 75979, (409) 283-3736. You can also get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district or from the State Comptroller's Property Tax Division at 4301 Westbank Drive, Building B, Suite 100, Austin, Texas 78746-6565.

DEADLINE FOR FILING PROTEST WITH THE ARB*

Deadline

On or before June 28, 1993.

Late protests are allowed if you miss the usual deadline for good cause. Good cause is some reason beyond your control, like a medical emergency. The ARB decides whether you have a good cause.

Late protests are due the day before the appraisal review board approves records for the year. Contact your appraisal district for more details.

Special Deadlines

For change of use (the appraisal district informed you that you are losing agricultural appraisal because you changed the use of your land), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

For ARB changes (the ARB has informed you of a change that increases you tax liability and the change didn't result from a protest you filed), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

If you believe the appraisal district or ARB should have sent you a notice and did not, you may file a protest until the day before

The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the City of Woodville may use the Texas Community Development Program funds, and the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and 24 CFR Part 58.

TFA voices criticism of federal court ruling

-Environmental groups awarded $360,000 for shutting down logging-

LUFKIN — The Texas Forestry Association said a federal court's decision to award two environmental groups nearly $360,000 in tax funds for shutting down logging operations in the Texas National Forests "is unconscionable."

In an order entered April 21, U.S. District Judge Robert Parker of Beaumont awarded attorney Edward C. Fritz of Dallas and the Texas Committee on Natural Resources $149,647.50 and the Sierra Club Legal Defense Fund $210,246.25 for legal fees after winning a case in which logging activity and forest management practice were curtailed on the national forests because of the presence of the Red-cockaded woodpecker, an endangered species.

"The case allowed the environmental groups to curtail logging operations throughout the national forests, which resulted in a loss of revenue for schools and counties in East Texas. The environmental groups have been allowed to line their pockets with tax money which could be better spent on our schoolchildren and county roads," said Ron Hufford, executive director of the Forestry Association.

"It is unconscionable that the tax money of East Texans should be allowed to destroy the forest-based economy that resulted in the tax money in the first place," said Hufford.

Even though Fritz was awarded $149,647.50 for his legal work on the case, Judge Parker criticized Fritz' billing as reflecting "a disturbing lack of discrimination ... between legal work and clerical work."

Parker said "one specific, paradigmatic example of Fritz' billing extravagance is his full-scale, senior-lawyer rate billing for his personal inspections of several selection management forests, assertedly so that he could be aware of and confident about how they grow and look (and this, despite his averment about his long-standing intensive observations and studies of the national forests and nearby private timber operations in East Texas)."

Parker, chief judge of the U.S. District Court, Eastern Division, also criticized the Sierra Club's documentation for its billing as "redundant, factually unreasonable and vague."

"It is most obvious to the Court that the Sierra Club clearly overworked this relatively uncomplicated ESA (endangered species act) case," said Parker.

Hufford said that practice of environmental groups to seek big taxpayer payoffs after their court cases "is disturbing to fair-minded people everywhere."

"It is obvious that the environmental groups are using these hefty court fees to fatten their own bank accounts at the cost of people who are losing their jobs because elitist, big-city environmental groups don't like to see trees cut," he said.

Hufford said the practice of the U.S. government paying environmental groups for their legal work is also unfair because it pits the resources of the federal government against individuals and businesses with limited funds.

Children escape injury in car chase, shooting

HILLISTER — A 38-year-old Woodville man was free this week under bonds totaling $26,500 after being charged with attempted murder in connection with a car chase and shooting incident reported last week near Hillister.

John E. Lacy was charged with attempted murder on May 24 before Justice of the Peace Wanda Brasher, who set bond at $25,000. He also was subsequently placed under an additional $1,500 bond on a probation revocation motion.

Last week's incident reportedly involved gunshots fired at a car driven by Ola Mae Morris, 30, of Hillister which also contained her four children riding in the back seat and an adult, Richard Wise, who was a front seat passenger.

Wise, who suffered a minor wound from a bullet graze, was the only person reported injured during the chase and shooting spree.

Although Lacy currently is charged with only one count of attempted murder, officers said the matter would be referred to a Tyler County grand jury which could return indictments alleging additional felony complaints.

According to Tyler County Sheriff's Lt. Tracy Ferguson, the incident reportedly began about 7:15 a.m. on Monday, May 24, when the Ford Mustang driven by Morris turned onto the Beaumont Hill Road off FM 1013 east of Hillister.

A second car, identified as a 1983 Buick, reportedly followed Morris' vehicle onto the road, pulled up behind her and began flashing its lights. When Morris refused to stop, the car drove up beside her and the driver began yelling something which Morris told investigators she was unable to understand.

At this point, Morris said she heard a clicking noise and realized that the other driver was shooting at her. The Buick then pulled back behind Morris' car and fired additional shots which penetrated the Mustang's large rear window.

Morris told investigators the Buick then rammed the back of her car, forcing her off the road into a ditch. She said she was able to quickly regain control of the car and proceeded down the road until she was able to obtain help.

Lacy, who was identified as the assailant by both Morris and Wise, was arrested later that same day by sheriff's

Annual powwow set at Indian reservation

INDIAN VILLAGE — Indians from tribes throughout the United States will be converging on the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation on Friday and Saturday, June 4-5, for the 25th annual Indian Powwow.

Located midway between Woodville and Livingston Highway 190, the reservation will host most of the two-day event at the Indian Village Ballpark located on the north side of the highway, just west of the Indian Village entrance road.

Powwow admission is $5 for adults and $3 for children at the gate.

Activities Friday get underway at 10 a.m. with an arts and crafts show and sale located in the tourist complex area of Indian Village. The show will remain open until 5 p.m.

Gourd dances will begin at the ballpark at 6 p.m. and a grand entry will be held at 7:45 p.m. The grand entry signals the start of an evening of social dances and dance contests in five categories.

In addition, food, arts and crafts, T-shirts, frybread and drinks will be sold at the ballpark during the powwow.

On Saturday, the day-long list of activities begins with the Fourth Annual "Fun Run/Walk" sponsored by the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Health Service. The event starts promptly at 8 a.m. in front of the Indian Reservation Gym.

The running course is a five-mile trek through the scenic Big Thicket area. Those who want to participate by walking will enjoy a 3.7 mile route.

Early registration for this event is underway and the entry fee is $8. Late entries will be charged $10 after noon Friday and T-shirts will be given to the first 100 registered participants.

For serious runners or walkers, last year's running times to beat include 33.12 minutes set by Sue Tortello of Woodville and 27.22 minutes set by Brian Small of Chicago, Ill. Walking times to beat are 44.40 minutes set by Kelly Hatton of Livingston and 43.24 minutes set by Marvin Taylor of Livingston.

Winners in the "Fun Run/Walk" will be selected in male and female categories for runners and walkers and trophies will be awarded for the best time in both events. For more information,

DOUCETTE POST OFFICE MARKs 100TH YEAR—Sharp eyed Doucette Postmaster Estelle Ling will help the Doucette Community mark the 100th birthday of the small postal station with coffee and cake at the Post Office on Friday, June 4. The office was established on May 31, 1993 and the postmaster discovered the date when she was asked to cancel a stamp on June 1st with the cards's sender noting the post office's 100th anniversary. Ling took up the cause quickly and prompted the event. Ling is pictured above holding some of the post office's older documents with pictures of previous postmasters displayed on the right. Doucette Post Office marks centennial

By John Morrison

DOUCETTE — If it hadn't been for the sharp eye of 19-year Doucette Postmaster Estelle Ling, Tyler County wouldn't know that the Doucette Post Office had slipped past its 100th birthday without even one candle being lit.

The Birthday party is this Friday, June 4, and everyone is welcome, said Ling.

Postmaster Ling says she received a letter from Colorado asking that she cancel a stamp on June 1st, 1993, and noticed that printed on the letter was a short "Texas Postal History" excerpt noting that the facility was established on May 31, 1893.

It's hard to tell about the development of the Doucette postal history, though, without delving into the history of the town itself.

Estimates of the size of the Doucette in 1893 numbered at 3,500 at it's largest to 2,000 at it's smallest, but either population estimate required an official post office station, even today. But with the absence of the sawmill, today's population has shrunk to about 250, or one-tenth of it's size on century ago.

Ling says she "has a suspicion that the actual volume of mail in 1893 must be close to what the volume is today because there was only one stream of mail. No third or fourth class."

Work on new sewer plant proceeds

By John Morrison

WOODVILLE — Woodville's city council Friday authorized it's city secretary to negotiate to hire the Dallas engineering firm of Kyle Engineering, Inc., to design plans for a new sewer plant for Woodville.

"Cost for the plant could fall around $3 million," said City Secretary Don Shaw.

And, in a workshop held on Tuesday, May 18, the council heard a presentation from two Louisiana engineers involved in the successful construction and implementation of an innovative rock/reed filtration sewage plant built in the last year in nearby Crowley, La.

The council seems to be developing a keen interest a plant similar to the one in Crowley for Woodville.

The Kyle Engineers were involved in the development of a similar plant in Whitney, Texas.

One interesting twist in the sewer treatment project is that it may need a motor boat to help aerate water on days that produce a higher than normal algae buildup.

Baptist group provides hands-on service

By Greg Peak
Editor

DAM B — While most churches throughout the nation are involved in raising money for mission work, many members of a Waco congregation also seek to have hands-on experience in serving God.

All this week, 60-plus members of the Columbus Avenue Baptist Church in Waco will be hard at work remodeling and expanding the facilities at the Hilltop Baptist Church located just west of Dam B in Tyler County.

The small church, pastored by the Rev. Kenn Freeland, is the beneficiary of the annual Texas Missions project sponsored by the 3,000-member Waco church.

"Our members are deeply committed to mission work and we consider this project a part of that work," said Larry Vowell, minister of education/administration for the Columbus Avenue Baptist Church.

"We do a remodeling project like this each year, partly to try and put our mission work into action. The people who are here this week want not only to give money to this work but to be given an opportunity to get out and do some of the work themselves."

Because the Waco church members are unable to take time off to join a foreign mission service, Vowell said the Texas Mission project provides them with an chance to take one week each year to travel and serve a smaller church in need.

This year, the group selected the Hilltop Baptist Church to help under the program. Included in the work is the construction of a 30' x 30' extension on the church's education building which will house three additional classrooms and a kitchen. The group

CHURCH EXPANSION UNDERWAY — More than 60 men, women and children from the Columbus Avenue Baptist Church in Waco are working in the Dam B area this week helping the Hilltop Baptist Church remodel and expand its facilities. The group of volunteers, some of whom are shown here working on a 30' x 30' addition to the educational building, spend one week each year helping other churches remodel and repair their buildings. Runoff vote is Saturday

TYLER COUNTY — Polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, June 5, throughout Tyler County for the statewide senatorial runoff election and in Colmesneil for a city council tie-breaker.

Voters throughout the county are being asked to join those statewide in selecting a new U.S. Senator after none of the 24 candidates in the May 1 special election failed to gain a majority.

The two candidates who drew the most votes in the May vote, State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchinson, and Senator Bob Krueger, will be the only two to appear on the June 5 runoff ballot.

Hutchinson, who is running as a Republican, narrowly edged out Krueger for first place among the May 1 candidates and is currently leading in a number of statewide polls. Krueger, a former railroad commissioner, was appointed to the senate seat earlier this year by Gov. Ann Richards after longtime Senator Lloyd Bentsen resigned to accept the appointment as President Bill Clinton's Secretary of the Treasury.

In addition to the statewide runoff election, voters in the Colmesneil are being asked to return to the polls to fill a city council post after two candidates tied during the May 1 voting.

Incumbent Tommy Svatek and challenger Kenneth Davis will be facing each other in the runoff for the two-year at-large council post. Both men received 80 votes in the first election.

E&L Lumber gives boost to Little League's lights

WOODVILLE — Those traveling at night past the Tyler County Little League ball park located just west of Woodville may have noticed that the fields seem to be brighter.

Additional lights installed recently at the Hennigan Park complex not only gives travelers an impression of additional brightness but gives the youngsters who play night games a better opportunity to perform.

After some 18 years the Tyler County Little League lighting system got a big boost as E&L Lumber Co. and its president, Buddy Lowery, came to the aid of the local organization and donated $2,100 to add lighting units at the park's three main fields.

Gary Hennigan, president of the county baseball league, noted that E&L "is not a fly-by-night sponsor" of the organization.

"They have been supporting Little League here since the day they came to Tyler County," Hennigan said. "It seems like every year if we have a special project or need additional help, the Lowery brothers have always been supportive.

"Every community needs supporters like E&L to help make a non-profit organization successful. I know I'm not speaking out of turn when I say the Little League of Tyler County says thanks to the Lowery brothers and E&L Lumber," Hennigan added.

At the Village

Doucette history on exhibit

There's more to Doucette than meets the eye. Much much more, if you take the time to slow down and ask questions.

That's why Heritage Village is so excited about the history of this once thriving sawmill town that is being pulled together in pictures and artifacts for a month long exhibit in the Village Exhibit Hall.

When you've never seen Doucette from any other perspective than the highway, which only lets you know that you have arrived and departed, it's rather mind boggling to hear one of the early residents talk about "downtown."

Downtown, of course, was several blocks east of today's Highway 69 facing the TNO Railroad tracks, which started Doucette on its way to fame and fortune as the business hub of Tyler County.

There isn't anything left of downtown now, but once you get the lay of the land from those who remember and see the few remaining structures, such as the old Union Church that will celebrate its 27th annual homecoming this coming Sunday, June 6, the superintendent's house that has been home to the Wright family for the past 16 years and the culvert under the tracks through which Frank Fain used to lead his little sister Minnie Pearl on their way to see the movies at the Hoo Hoo Theater, you get a feeling of being there. You understand why Doucette was once the largest town between Lufkin and Beaumont, offering employment, shopping and entertainment to many a Woodville resident.

Mayme Brown, chairman of the Village's Exhibit Committee, and Jack Whitmeyer have been uprooting the memories of several long time Doucetters, such as Janie Herndon, Minnie Pearl Townsend and Estelle Ling, postmaster of the Doucette Post Office, which will celebrate its one hundredth anniversary with an open house next Friday afternoon. All these and more have been most generous in lending a hand to the Village's efforts.

From the Beginning

Doucette really got its start as Carroll's Switch back in 1890, when a man named Alva Carroll built a small sawmill there after the railroad was extended from Woodville to Rockland. A year later he sold his interests to William McCready, Fred Doucette and a Mr. Bodey.

The town was named after Doucette, and two years later, when the settlement was awarded its own post office, McCready became its first postmaster.

In 1898 Fred Doucette and six other men were killed in an explosion and his brother Pete became involved in the operation. Five years later, in 1903, the sawmill was purchased by Samuel Fain Carter and J. P. Carter of Houston, who had as their commissary manager a young man named J. H. Fain, father of Minnie Pearl and her brothers. Frank and Wood fain. In 1906, when the Carters sold their interests to the Thompson Brothers, also of Houston, they transferred Fain to the commissary at their mill at Emporia (near present day Diboll). It was here that Fain's oldest son, J. Wood Fain, was born. Soon after, he moved his family back to Doucette to open his own general merchandise store.

The Thompsons ran the mill and the town until 1911, when the Long Bell Lumber Company, attracted by the efficient well organized sawmill "city" that had already been established, bought out their interests and continued the growth pattern.

In addition to the commissary, "where you could buy anything from a bassinet to a casket," Doucette boasted a drug store with lunch room and soda fountain, a bank, hotel, barber shop and pressing shop and eventually three independent general merchandise stores.

Long Bell continued to operate the mill until 1945, when they sold their interests to International Paper Company which later sold to Louisiana Pacific, which still operates a pole mill on the site.

A number of years ago Bower Johnston wrote in the "Cracker-Barrel" about his very first trip to Doucette in 1921 or 1922. At that time the road from Woodville to Rockland, known as the Bells Ferry Road, ran a bit west of Hwy. 69. It was right at dusk when he entered the town, he wrote, and looking east into the valley he could see the residential areas, the company stores, offices and hotel. "All the street lights were on, and to me it was a beautiful sight." Being the size it was, Doucette was the first city in Tyler County to have electricity.

"Most of the houses in town were owned by Long Bell," he said. "For the monthly rental you were furnished electricity and distilled water. Fuel, in the form of short pieces of lumber, was furnished by the company at the rate of $1 per wagon load."

As he wrote about Doucette and Tyler County, Johnston wanted to remind his readers that although he was not a native son, having been born in Kirbyville, his mother Mary Bower Johnston was from Spurger and his father from Colmesneil.

Which is probably just as good a place as any to say, we'll talk more about Doucette AND its illustrious history in next week's column.

Back at the Village

Meanwhile, back at the Village, Memorial Day brought a number of family groups, who stopped off to eat the tour the Village on their way home from the long weekend.

Erlene Clark reported that a group of six came in on Sunday on their way back to Alabama. One of them, an Elaine Hughes, was looking for the school her grandmother, Annie Crawford, attended back in 1906. They were all quite excited to find that the school was now part of our own Pickett House. Elaine said she wasn't sure if her grandfather Hubert Crawford attended the Midway School or not, but they'd be coming back soon, because they wanted to find out more about another of their ancestors, named Ike Turner. Later, in "Sketches of Tyler County", we found a Captain Ike N. M. Turner, who died while in service with Hoods Brigade in 1863.

And speaking of Erlene, who can usually be found in the Museum Store on weekends, she and her family recently donated a collection of old hymn and other religious books her father Percy Treat had kept from Singing Conventions he attended years ago. The donation was made in memory of the late Woody Woodrome, who played such an important role in the development of our musical programs.

Memorials such as these are so important to the growth of the Village and its role in preserving Tyler County and East Texas history. Think about it.

And, if you haven't done so already, mark the dates of June 18-19, 25-26 as the dates of the Village's fifth annual staging of "Whispers In The Wind."

Little League is team sport

Dear Editor:

This letter is in response to the letter signed Betsy Howard (Tyler County Booster, Readers Write column of May 26).

There is a comment made that "Unfortunately there are coaches whose only goal is to win! No matter the cost." Apparently, Mrs. "H" has no idea what it takes to win. I wonder if she has ever been a member of a losing team. Or if she has ever had a coach who never tried to win. That would be the easy way out for the coach. Because winning takes a lot of dedication and hard work. Not only on the part of the players, but on the part of the coach as well.

I wonder if Mrs. "H" realizes that a coach puts in every practice hour, game hour that the players do. That runs out eight to 10 hours a week. Not to mention the time a coach spends working on the line-up, cleaning the equipment, running kids to and from practice and games, and raising money for the league. I wonder if Mrs. "H" would be willing to set aside that much time to work with kids.

Mrs. "H" makes reference to the self-esteem of the kids. I think that you will find that the worst thing a parent can do is put a kid in a position that they themselves would never put themselves in. The pressure that a parent can place on a child over a game is incredible. Why don't you just let the kid play the game?

The first time I met our high school baseball coach (Coach Belchnee), he gave all the coaches some excellent advice. He said, "Whatever you do be positive with the kids. If a batter swings at a pitch over his head, don't scream at him. Tell him to keep the pitches below his hands. Tell him good cut. Don't destroy his confidence and put him on the spot." This is the way I coach. There are no superstars on our team. Just a group of boys who have to play together if they want to win.

There was a question raised concerning the local rules of having to play each player six defensive outs and one time at bat each week. The purpose for such a rule is to make each kid put forth an effort to earn his position. This makes the league more competitive and improves the quality of play. Let's look at what is fair for the kids. It takes nine kids to play the game. Suppose that one out of the nine is in his position with his back turned to the game, glove underneath his arm, and pulling grass and tossing it in the wind. The ball is hit to this player. What do you think the other eight are feeling? It's a team sport!

The coaches didn't make this rule. This rule was established by the Tyler County Little League board. Feel free to examine my books. You'll find it strictly adhered to.

There is an old saying that goes something like this - the man who tries to please everyone only ends up a failure himself. Well, as good as this season is going, I can't please everybody. But, the kids know who supports them. They know who to count on to be there for practice, refreshments, and guidance - their COACH.

I just wish Mrs. "H" would have just come to me to discuss her dislikes, instead of the route taken. I would have been happy to have taken it to the president of the league and if needed, have the kid placed on another team.

Mrs. "H" said, "There are coaches in Woodville who do try to treat each child equally. We appreciate you."

Thank you for your appreciation

Russ Pilgrim

Senior citizens picnic succeeds

Dear Editor:

The Woodville Area Chapter #792 of the American Association of Retired Persons would like to take this means to thank you for your contribution to the success of our Tyler County picnic for senior citizens of Tyler County May 22, 1993 at the Tyler County Rodeo Arena.

This activity is targeted particularly toward nursing home residents, shut-ins and other disabled or handicapped persons. All three of our local nursing homes were represented this year and as in the past, all received a gift to take home along with memories of good food and a good time.

Many elderly citizens took this opportunity to greet friends that they had not seen since the last picnic. For some this is one of the few outings they now enjoy.

Woodville and all of Tyler County have always supported this activity in such a wonderful way. This year was no different. Again, we say, "THANK YOU!". We appreciate you so very much.

We earnestly solicit your suggestions for a bigger and better Eleventh Annual Pioneer Picnic.

Sincerely,
Phil Phillips, President

Wealth worship causes problems

Dear Editor:

"The love of money is the root of all evil." It is not a respecter of people, traditional values or nations. The adage is not given a thought, unless it causes a concern or problem to a specific individual or group.

Property owners can attest to this, since they must contend with the state's claim of ownership to their holdings through taxation, which includes autos. Renting out the property is risky business, since no law protects the owner should the tenant prove to be much less than desirable resulting in damages. Of course, one can sue, if they have enough money and/or power. That, too, is risky business.

For instance, let's say a landlord and store owner is beaten severely. The perpetrator is charged and jailed. Upon his release, he secures a lawyer to sue the owner, because he became ill due to the dirty condition of his cell and the violation of his rights. Such cases cost the taxpayer, but not the perpetrator.

Should the property be served by a community water system and a tenant moves away leaving an unpaid bill - Guess who gets billed? The property owner!!

Students are called the corporations' "MOST LUCRATIVE MARKET", but when the school districts need more funding, the property owners are tagged, again - for the educational purpose of students who have to hold a job so that they may buy a set of wheels, stay with the latest fads, fashions, electronics and cope with drugs, alcohol and sex promotion and to BUY, BUY, BUY!! Even the very young are overwhelmed with a wonderland of the "latest" in toys, cereals and clothing - the role models being child actors who instruct adults as to what and when to buy.

Nothing is sacred when it comes to getting money. Every part of the human anatomy is fair game - gas, water and odor!

The old rule "FAIR MARGIN OF PROFIT" became "ALL THE TRAFFIC WILL BEAR". "DO UNTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD HAVE THEM DO UNTO YOU" is now "DO UNTO THE OTHER FELLOW BEFORE HE CAN DO UNTO YOU". So now corporate heads make millions while the laborers and average citizens struggle and strive for a living.

What will become of this wealth-worshipping country? Well, as it is said: "THEM WHAT'S GOT - GITS. THEM WHAT AIN'T GOT GOES AND GITS WHAT THEM WHAT'S GOT GOT AND GITS!"

Sincerely,
M.E. Duncan

Summer Fun

Bubble making adds interest

By Darby Kethan

BUBBLES, BUBBLES, BUBBLES. How many times have we been delighted with the magic of making bubbles? Think how our children love them, and then we think of how expensive the bubbles-by-the-bottle can be! Next, we think of the mess made when fluids are spilled and wasted! Then we decide not to invest in bubbles or to bother because of the mess.

This is especially sad because bubbles are not only a source of delight but also can be a wonderful learning experience as well as a way to help children learn to behave! So read on, and see how you can use BUBBLES, BUBBLES, BUBBLES without all the mess, without the expense, and have fun along with your children.

Using liquid detergent to make your own bubble solution is the best way to save money and to have unlimited bubbles. This simple recipe mixes 2/3 cup of liquid dishwashing detergent with one gallon of water. You can make extra strong bubbles if you add one tablespoon of glycerine (which can be bought in a drug store). Storing the mixture for about a week lets it work better but it can be used immediately.

Almost anything can be used to make bubbles! Old thread spools, slotted spoons, small tin cans with both ends cut out (be careful to make the edges smooth), tops from detergent and shampoo bottles, and even blowing through your closed fist! Use coat hangers to make large loops and dip into the solution for larger bubbles. Drinking straws can be threaded onto a string, formed into a square, tied, and dipped into the solution to make large bubbles. The ultimate bubble making activity is to pour bubble solution into a wading pool and use a hula-hoop to dip into the solution and pull it up over yourself as you build a bubble around you!

Containing the messiness of bubble making is not such a problem when done outdoors! However, blowing bubbles inside can be done in the tub with the shower curtain pulled to keep the bubbles away from floors and furniture. Spills can be minimized in any setting by using a tray or cat litter pan to hold the containers and blowers.

Children learn best when they enjoy and are interested in what they are doing. However, we can help them learn things by offering some reward for their efforts. Most of the adults know work for some reward. Few of us would go to our workplace without the reward of a paycheck and a feeling of doing our job well. Children also need a tangible reward along with the praise, especially when learning new tasks. BUBBLES, BUBBLES, BUBBLES is a way for adults to reward children for their efforts. Instead of saying, "If you don't finish your job you will not go outside," try "WHEN you finish you job we will blow bubbles for ten minutes," or "When you have finished your lunch we will blow bubbles". Bubbles can be the way to have fun with children as well as to help them learn to finish their tasks.

Remember that just as we tire of a steady diet of one food, so will children want more activities than bubbles. Plan to have special days for bubbles or use them a bit each day. To put out the mixture, leave the child and utensils unattended without being close enough to offer encouragement and praise their efforts can make a mess of the best planned activity. Children need your attention, your words, your interest no matter what they are doing.

also is painting the inside and outside of both the older, wooden educational building and new brick sanctuary.

In addition, the Waco group is constructing a fenced children's playground and an enclosed walkway to connect the education building with the sanctuary.

"We normally bring some money with us to help the church buy materials," Vowell added. "We probably wind up providing between $4,000 and $5,000 in materials to the projects we work on."

The Waco minister noted that when the group arrived at the Dam B church Sunday night, he presented Freeland with a check for $2,000 to purchase construction materials. In addition, one of the Waco church's Sunday school classes raised another $2,000 to purchase the equipment for the playground.

"We'll probably be providing some more odds and ends as the project goes forward," Vowell said.

"When we arrived here, I asked for a show of hands among our people as to how many of them had attended a small church at sometime in their lives," Vowell said. "About 95 percent raised their hands, so you can see that they know what kind of struggles and needs a small church faces. This helps to make them willing to be a part of this."

Freeland, who called the group's visit a blessing, praised the Waco church for their generosity. He added that the local church is required to provide the visiting construction workers with nothing during their stay.

"We try not to be a burden on the church we're trying to help," Vowell explained. "A group the size of ours can be overwhelming to a small church if we expected them to provide things like meals once or twice a day during our stay."

He added that when they arrived Sunday evening, the Waco volunteers outnumbered those attending the regular Hilltop service by seven.

"When we first started talking about coming down here, Bro. Kenn got excited and began discussing plans to provide us with entertainment while we were here," Vowell said with a grin. "I had to tell him, 'Whoa. That's not necessary. We're going to be coming to work so don't worry about entertaining us'."

Vowell noted that the church members pay all of their own travel and lodging expenses and are expected to begin work at 8 a.m. and continue until about 5 or 6 p.m. each evening. "A bunch of our people will, however, arrive at 7 or 7:30 in the morning," he added with a smile.

While in Tyler County, Freeland said he will be taking the group for a visit Thursday evening to Heritage Village in Woodville.

"We're not here as sightseers but we do take one afternoon off to visit the area we're working in," Vowell noted. "We're here to work so that is what we concentrate on."

During the past 10 years, Vowell said the Waco church has been involved in seven projects like this, mostly limiting themselves to renovation work for existing churches.

He noted that unlike groups such as the Texas Baptist Men, which build churches almost year-round, the members of the Waco church group have only one week each year to complete their project. The Texas Baptist Men often will work three weeks on each of their projects.

"We did do one church almost from the ground up in Tennessee last year," Vowell recalled. "They had the slab poured when we got their and we raised the walls."

He added that while they were able to complete the work in the allotted week, he is reluctant to attempt to repeat the process again.

Vowell noted that projects are referred to the Waco church through the state's missions directors and that each year the group receives quite a few requests for assistance.

"We evaluate each request on the need for help and on whether we can handle the project," he said.

The Hilltop project is only the group's second one in Texas. In addition to the Tennessee church construction, the group has completed one project in El Paso, one in Minnesota and three in Colorado.

None of the Waco volunteers are professional builders and those working on the Hilltop project include an automobile dealer, an attorney, a number of business people, several school teachers and administrators, two retired post masters, a retired insurance agent, retired Baylor University professors and retired telephone company employees.

Although the volunteers have gained some experience on other projects, the extension of the education building is being supervised by Hilltop Baptist member Tommy Walker, a professional carpenter.

"One of the people who will be joining us later in the week is Jimmy King, who grew up in Woodville and who now teaches at McClendon Community College," Vowell noted. He explained that King, son of Marie King of Woodville, was unable to come with the group on Sunday due to his summer school duties at the college.

Vowell noted that about half of those involved in the Hilltop project are retired while the rest have taken vacation time from their regular careers to make the trip to Tyler County.

"Another thing that distinguishes us from other groups like the Texas Baptist Men is that we have men, women and children all involved in the project. The youngest helping out here is 10 years old and the oldest is 86," he said.

Investigators subsequently identified a Chinese-made SKS-56 semi-automatic rifle as the gun believed to have been used during the incident. The weapon's clip holds 10 rounds and officers believe that between 9-10 shots were fired at Morris' car.

"Now don't forget the Sears and Roebuck catalog," she quickly added.

"And don't forget the penny postcard and the two cent regular stamp and the three-cent stamp on an envelope, compared to the 29 cent stamp in 1993.

"In the old days there was lots of parcel post. We hardly get any of that today."

Doucette was a peaceful sawmill town and was built on the Texas and New Orleans Railroad three miles north of Woodville at the site designated as Carroll's Switch. The town was named for Fred Doucette who was killed when railroaders tried to put cold water into a dry tramroad steam engine.

Lou Ella Moseley explains in her book "Early History of Tyler County" that "the original sawmill was owned by William McCready, a Mr. Bedo and Doucette. In 1903 the plant was sold to S.F. and J.P. Carter of Houston and started the town on the upward road to prosperity.

"In 1911, the Long Bell Lumber Co. took over and Doucette took on rapid growth.

"She boasted a large commissary, a modern drug store for the day, with a lunch room and soda fountain, a doctor's office, bank, depot, and post office.

"There was a dance hall, school building and churches.

"Among the prominent families who lived at Doucette were the Popes, Fains, Mercers, Clemmons, Penningtons, Causeys, Sims, Crews, Cobbs and Gillespies.

"R.A. Shivers, father of Gov. Alan Shivers taught school in Doucette; Jope Z. Tower, father of U.S. Senator John Tower, was pastor of the Methodist Church and Dr. John Pope was principal at the school.

"Unlike some of the other saw mills of the county, Doucette did not become a ghost town with the going of the mill. It retained a small amount of lumber and shipping industries, with the addition of other small businesses and interests, so today it is a prosperous and active little village."

William McCready was the first postmaster, according to Ling, serving from 1893 to 1915 when Annie Belle Causey took over, serving from 1915 to 1959 (44 years). Ray Hancock then took over as postmaster from 1959 to 1967 while Minnie McDonald took over as officer-in-charge from 1967 to 1969. Allan Willis was postmaster from 1969 to 1974 when Postmaster Ling took over.

She invites everyone to come by and have a look back. She'll have some early postal memorabilia for patrons to view in order to remind folks and to properly mark the postal facility accomplishments over it's first 100 years.

* Engineers picked

The City of Woodville is under a state mandate to begin developing plans to abate sewer overages with the current sewer operation, which already is running at 75 percent capacity.

According to Shaw, "The city wrote a letter to the state telling them we would have an engineer selected by June 1, 1993."

The innovative alternative treatment plant at Crowley caught Councilmen Tom Knapp and Dr. W.S. Nichols eye recently during an inspection trip they made to the Crowley facility.

It was Knapp's idea to invite the Crowley specialists to a work session to inform councilmen here of the benefits of the program.

According to Charles T. Mader, an engineer with the firm of Mader-Miers, of Lafayette, La., "Crowley paid $2-$2.7 million for the plant, plus one mile of pipe, plus an upgrade of a pump station.

"The federal government thought so highly of the plant that it contributed another $3 million to the project," Mader said.

The plant operates through a series of marsh ponds, each one of which, through natural biodegradation with the help of giant bulrushes, duckweed and natural sunlight, feeds on the nutrients provided by Woodville city effluent.

When asked if the engineer would actually drink a glass of the released and treated water he said, "I would prefer not to".

The system is not without problems, however. Concerns about what happens when the reeds, which affix themselves to crushed rock, become clogged with sludge have to be answered along with the problem of how to handle the plants when they die.

"What happens on the day of sludge?" asked Councilman Dr. Malcolm Radford.

"The system has a series of safety valves in the pond system which allow the inflow and outflow of water to be altered to make repairs," said Fred Trahan, also representing the Mader-Miers.

Algae buildup is a primary concern because it tends to clog the root/rock system. The solution to the algae problem is aeration of the water which city fathers hope can be done fore the most part naturally.

"But, sometimes on real hot still days a motorboat might have to be employed to churn up the water and add oxygen to the mix," Mader said.

Hennigan named to all-district team for fourth time

PORT ARTHUR — Woodville senior first baseman Derrick Hennigan was selected for the fourth time as a first team all-district baseball player last week.

Hennigan was chosen to the 24-3A All-District Baseball Team as selected by district coaches.

Two other Woodville players, pitcher Gary Weaver and second baseman William Muncrief, were named to the second team, while Eagle outfielders John Greenwood and Lynn Hadnot were selected as honorable mention.

Hennigan was a unanimous choice after hitting .429 in district and driving in 14 runs.

His selection marked the fourth consecutive year that he was named to a first team all-district squad. His freshman year he was named the district's top designated hitter. His sophomore and junior years he was named as the top first baseman in the district.

Weaver's selection marked the second time he has been chosen on an all-district team. The Woodville right hander posted a 3-5 won-loss record in district play and had a 6-6 record for the season.

Muncrief hit .302 in district play and posted a .338 batting average for the season. The senior speedster also stole 11 bases in 11 attempts and led the team in runs batted in with 22.

The district's Most Valuable Player award went to Chad Johnson, a junior shortstop from Stephen F. Austin.

S.F.A.'s Ron Stump was named as the district's Coach of the Year.

S.F.A. hurlers Brian Norris and Troy Miguez were named to the district's first team ballot, along with Randy Williams of Buna and Brian Fisher of Orangefield.

S.F.A. also took first team slots at catcher and outfield, while Orangefield players were named at second base, shortstop, third base, and two outfield positions.

The Newcomer of the Year selection went to freshman catcher Brad Hadnot of Kountze.

S.F.A. won the district title with a record of 12-2. Orangefield was second with a record of 10-4. Buna placed third in district with an 8-6 mark, while Woodville and Hardin-Jefferson tied for fourth with 7-7 records. Woodville's season record was 13-12.

Both S.F.A. and Orangefield were eliminated in the area round of the post season playoffs. After S.F.A. defeated Liberty for the bi-district title, 4-1, the Eagles fell to Bellville, 6-3, in the area title game.

Orangefield knocked off Hampshire-Fannett in bi-district play, but lost to Hallsville in an area title game.

Lake Tejas more popular than ever

(First of a series on Tyler County summer fun spots)

COLMESNEIL — From churches, schools, and homes from throughout Southeast Texas and as far away as Europe they come. From newborns to senior citizens they arrive to take part in a summer ritual that dates back over 50 years.

Lake Tejas in Colmesneil will again be the destination for thousands this summer ready to enjoy the great outdoors of the Pineywoods.

This year marks the 53rd year of operation of the only public recreational swimming and camping facility in the state that is owned and operated by a school district.

Over 100 swimmers and campers a day enjoy the 27 acre park which was named as one of the state's top 10 swimming holes by Texas Monthly Magazine in the early 80's.

The park features an old fashioned, three story diving platform, plus a separate pool for younger children.

Adults can swim all day for $2, while children under 12 can swim for $1. Season tickets can be purchased for $20 and $15.

Camping rates are $8 per day, which include full hook-ups. Anglers can even try their luck hooking onto Florida and black bass and catfish for $1 per day.

Lake Tejas also has paddleboats and tubes for rent, along with a concession stand, game machines, and pool tables.

While the daytime is full of water activities by the younger set, the evenings are quiet with campfires and camping.

The lake opens for swimming at 10 in the morning and extends until 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday; 6 p.m. on Sundays.

The history of Lake Tejas is as unique as its ownership.

After its dedication in December of 1939, construction began on the project with labor from the National Youth Administration. It was opened four months later in April of 1940.

Its name came from an Indian artifact dug up during the construction of the project. Digging the lake bed, workers found a large arrowhead approximately ten feet deep. The relic was identified as that of the Tejas tribe, thus the name of the lake.

Lake Tejas was once shaped like the state of Texas, but no more. Aerial views taken in its earlier years confirm its Texas shape, but now the lake is oblong.

Betty Enloe, a teacher at Colmesneil from 1934 to 1972, says that the Texas shape of the lake was totally accidental. "No one knew it until somebody took an aerial photo," she said.

Mrs. Enloe also notes that many Colmesneil High School students worked on the Tejas project. "They would often let the boys go out and work", she remembers.

Tejas also used to have ski shows, including a special ski show every July Fourth. Over 1,000 onlookers would make their way to Colmesneil during the celebration to see the performances.

The ski shows stopped in the 60's due to insurance costs to the school.

The lake is fed by underground springs and the water is checked and monitored by the Texas Water Commission.

Certified lifeguards are on duty at all times. The lake will continue to stay open through the Labor Day weekend.

Teambass schedule includes six more events

COLMESNEIL — Completing the first two tournaments in the history of the organization, Seniors' Teambass will be offering four more events on Sam Rayburn and two more on Toledo Bend.

After seeing seniors on television competing in sports such as golf, tennis and bowling, several fishing competition sponsors get together and decided to start a tournament for seniors. These fishing tournaments are unique in that they limit their participants to anglers 45 years of age and older, who compete for cash prizes.

On the Sam Rayburn agenda, the only Saturday start will be June 5. Sunday starts on Aug. 8, Sept. 5 and Nov. 14 will round out the '93 schedule with begins at 6 a.m. Weigh-in at any tournament will be at 3 p.m. on either lake.

Toledo Bend will have a Saturday start on July 10 and then round out the season with the last of the year for two events at Frontier Park on Oct. 10.

There have been many inquiries about ladies' competing in the Seniors' Teambass. Male or female, a team is a team; two people in a boat are allowed as long as they are aged 45 and up. Each team is allowed to bring five fish to the scales and all fish are live released.

Registration is always at the tournament location on the evening prior to the fishing.

Interest is building for additional Seniors' Teambass to be held at other lakes in East Texas and plans are currently being made to add them to the schedule.

For additional information, please call Seniors' Teambass at 409-837-2760 or write to Rt. 1 Box 278, Colmesneil, Texas 75938.

Spurger falls to Carlisle in area contest

HUDSON — In a classic pitcher's duel which saw only one hit in the game, the Carlisle Indians edged the Spurger Pirates, 1-0, in an area championship contest last week.

The Pirates' Brian Adams gave up only one hit in the contest, a one out blooper over second base in the seventh inning, while Carlisle's Jay Smitherman shut down Spurger batters without a hit.

Adams struck out eight and walked five, while Smitherman struck out 19 and walked seven.

Carlisle's lone run came in the first inning on a pair of walks, a ground out and a sacrifice bunt.

Spurger threatened twice in the game. In the third inning the Pirates loaded the bases on walks, but Smitherman, a lefty, struck out three consecutive Spurger hitters to end the inning.

In the seventh inning Lynn Spurlock moved to third after a walk and two steals, but a fly out and a strike out ended the game.

Only two Pirate batters were able to hit the ball in the championship contest. Besides Henry Robinson's fly out to center in the seventh, Jason Spurlock flied out to right field in the third.

Spurger had several outstanding defensive plays including a snag by Pirate third baseman Michael Holland in the sixth inning. With runners on first and second, Holland grabbed a hard smash, stepped on third for one out and threw to first for a double play.

The loss ended the season for the Pirates who finish with a 14-7 record. Spurger had moved in to the area title game with an 8-2 win over Big Sandy in bi-district play.

Carlisle moves on to regional play. The Indians won its bi-district title with a 2-0 shutout win.

TYLER COUNTY APPRAISAL DISTRICT PROPERTY TAX PROTEST AND APPEAL PROCEDURES

The law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow these appeal procedures if you have a concern about:

- the value placed on your property
- any exemptions that may apply to you
- the cancellation of an agricultural appraisal
- the taxable status of your property
- the local governments which should be taxing your property
- any action taken by the appraisal district that adversely affected you.

Informal Review

Contact the Tyler County Appraisal District office located at 806 West Bluff or call (409) 283-3736.

Review by the Appraisal Review Board

If you can't resolve your problem informally with the appraisal district staff, you may have your case heard by the appraisal review board (ARB).

The ARB is an independent board of citizens that reviews problems with appraisals or other concerns listed above. It has the power to order the appraisal district to make the necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a notice of protest) before the deadline, the ARB will set your case for a hearing. You'll receive written notice of the time, date and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make its decision based on the evidence presented. You can get a copy of a protest from the appraisal district office at 806 West Bluff, P.O. Drawer 9, Woodville, Texas 75979.

Note: You shouldn't try to contact ARB members outside of the hearing. The law requires ARB members to sign an affidavit saying that they haven't talked about your case before the ARB hears it.

Review by the District Court

After it decides your case, the ARB must send you a copy of its order by certified mail. If you're not satisfied with the decision, you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court, you must start the process by filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive the ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at $1,000,000 or more, you must file notice of appeal with the chief appraiser within 15 days of the date you receive the ARB's order.

More Information

You can get more information by contacting the Tyler County Appraisal District at 806 West Bluff, P.O. Drawer 9, Woodville, Texas 75979, (409) 283-3736. You can also get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district or from the State Comptroller's Property Tax Division at 4301 Westbank Drive, Building B, Suite 100, Austin, Texas 78746-6565.

DEADLINE FOR FILING PROTEST WITH THE ARB*

Deadline

On or before June 28, 1993.

Late protests are allowed if you miss the usual deadline for good cause. Good cause is some reason beyond your control, like a medical emergency. The ARB decides whether you have a good cause.

Late protests are due the day before the appraisal review board approves records for the year. Contact your appraisal district for more information.

Special Deadlines

For change of use (the appraisal district informed you that you are losing agricultural appraisal because you changed the use of your land), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

For ARB changes (the ARB has informed you of a change that increases you tax liability and the change didn't result from a protest you filed), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

If you believe the appraisal district or ARB should have sent you a notice and did not, you may file a protest until the day before

TFA voices criticism of federal court ruling

-Environmental groups awarded $360,000 for shutting down logging-

LUFKIN — The Texas Forestry Association said a federal court's decision to award two environmental groups nearly $360,000 in tax funds for shutting down logging operations in the Texas National Forests "is unconscionable."

In an order entered April 21, U.S. District Judge Robert Parker of Beaumont awarded attorney Edward C. Fritz of Dallas and the Texas Committee on Natural Resources $149,647.50 and the Sierra Club Legal Defense Fund $210,246.25 for legal fees after winning a case in which logging activity and forest management practice were curtailed on the national forests because of the presence of the Red-cockaded woodpecker, an endangered species.

"The case allowed the environmental groups to curtail logging operations throughout the national forests, which resulted in a loss of revenue for schools and counties in East Texas. The environmental groups have been allowed to line their pockets with tax money which could be better spent on our schoolchildren and county roads," said Ron Hufford, executive director of the Forestry Association.

"It is unconscionable that the tax money of East Texans should be allowed to destroy the forest-based economy that resulted in the tax money in the first place," said Hufford.

Even though Fritz was awarded $149,647.50 for his legal work on the case, Judge Parker criticized Fritz' billing as reflecting "a disturbing lack of discrimination ... between legal work and clerical work."

Parker said "one specific, paradigmatic example of Fritz' billing extravagance is his full-scale, senior-lawyer rate billing for his personal inspections of several selection management forests, assertedly so that he could be aware of and confident about how they grow and look (and this, despite his averment about his long-standing intensive observations and studies of the national forests and nearby private timber operations in East Texas)."

Parker, chief judge of the U.S. District Court, Eastern Division, also criticized the Sierra Club's documentation for its billing as "redundant, factually unreasonable and vague."

"It is most obvious to the Court that the Sierra Club clearly overworked this relatively uncomplicated ESA (endangered species act) case," said Parker.

Hufford said that practice of environmental groups to seek big taxpayer payoffs after their court cases "is disturbing to fair-minded people everywhere:"

"It is obvious that the environmental groups are using these hefty court fees to fatten their own bank accounts at the cost of people who are losing their jobs because elitist, big-city environmental groups don't like to see trees cut," he said.

Hufford said the practice of the U.S. government paying environmental groups for their legal work is also unfair because it pits the resources of the federal government against individuals and businesses with limited funds.

"Hello, Operator."

That's how thousands of Texans greet us every day.

We're the Southwestern Bell Telephone Operators ... and we're ready to help you with your local and long-distance calling needs. Every day. Around-the-clock.

Like Directory Assistance that provides you with phone numbers, addresses and ZIP codes. And our Call Completion Service that connects you with your requested number so you don't have to hang up and dial it yourself.

Southwestern Bell Operators also think it's important to teach children about telephone safety. As a reminder, please take time to review with your child how to reach help in an emergency.

Then, practice these emergency calling procedures until your child can dial "0" for Operator -- or call a specific emergency number if used in your area. Children should also memorize their home phone number, including the area code, as well as your neighbor's number and your work number.

We hope you never have to call with an emergency. If you do, however, we're here when you need us to handle the call.

Southwestern Bell Operators help make Southwestern Bell the one to call on in Texas.

Southwestern Bell Telephone of Texas
"The One to Call On".

Call your Southwestern Bell Telephone Operator today and request a SelectCard for your child. We can provide this Calling Card with a restricted Personal Identification Number (PIN) to make local calls to home so your family members can always keep in touch.
