Houston men jailed on marijuana charges

WOODYILLE — Two Houston area men were arrested on felony marijuana possession charges last week after three pounds of the illegal drug were discovered in the trunk of their car.

Raul Martinez Jr., 22, and Randolph Butler, 31, were charged with possession with intent to deliver marijuana by Tyler County Deputy Sheriff John Fuller.

According to Chief Deputy Sheriff Sam Bible, Fuller was on patrol about 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 24, when he spotted what appeared to be a disabled car on Highway 287 near Chester.

"He stopped to assist and noticed that the two men were acting suspiciously," Bible said.

After obtaining permission from the driven to search the vehicle, Bible said the deputy discovered the marijuana hidden in the car's trunk.

Both men were placed into custody and taken to the Tyler County Justice Center where they were formally charged.

Tour of village, homes usher in holiday season

WOODVILLE—The Christmas season in Tyler County will continue to pick up steam this Saturday as the Tyler County Heritage Society and the local Texas Federated Women's Club kick off their holiday activities.

The annual Christmas Twilight Tour of Heritage Village as well as the TFWC's Tour of Homes will help kick off the holiday season in the county.

Coming on the heels of the Light Up The Square ceremony held this past weekend, the Twilight Tour and Tour of Homes have become traditional Christmas activities enjoyed by Tyler County residents and visitors alike.

The sights, sounds and glitter of Christmas will be featured at Heritage Village during day and night activities.

From 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., the Village will offer a Bluegrass Shopping Experience with Smokey Butler and Friends on stage while a unique Christmas Crafts Extravaganza is presented by some of the area's most talented craftspeople.

Then at 5:30 p.m., the Village will reopen as the magic of Christmas past takes over for the annual Twilight Tour.

Included on this year's tour will be the sights of old fashioned Christmas trees decorated with homemade ornaments and trimmed with garlands of popcorn and cranberries strung by the residents of Woodville's three convalescent homes.

Lit only by lantern light, the Village also will present a living nativity scene created oy the Woodville Christian Center in a cantilever log barn that dates back to 1845. Members of the Village Players also will be strolling the streets and manning the buildings as Village residents and the sounds of the Christmas bells will once again echo in the Village Exhibit Hall.

Area choirs and musicians also will be performing on the Village's outdoor stage and the Christmas story will be told and retold in the Cherokee Church.

In addition to the traditional sights and sounds of the holiday season, sweet pungent Christmas smells also will be featured. Rich pine mixed with candle wax, carrying the aroma of steaming hot wassail as its served with slices of hot gingerbread or homemade Christmas cookies will surround visitors.

The annual event is the Heritage Society's gift to the community and the Twilight Tour is open to all at no

LIGHTS OF THE SEASON — A large crowd of Tyler County residents gathered Saturday night to witness the third annual Light Up The Square ceremony which officially marks the opening of the Christmas season. Sponsored by the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce and Tyler County officials, this year's event featured a number of new displays, including a permanent U.S. flag made of wrought iron and colored lights on the courthouse clock tower. Overall, almost 100,000 miniature white lights adorn the courthouse and the surrounding grounds. (Photo by Greg Peak)

New voter cards issued

WOODVILLE—New voter registration cards are being mailed this week to Tyler County residents, according to Tax Assessor-Collector Sandra Harrison.

The new yellow cards will replace the current blue cards which are set to expire on Dec. 31. Harrison noted that the new cards will be valid for two years, beginning Jan. 1, and will be the cards needed to vote in the March primary elections.

"If you are a registered voter and you don't get your new card by Dec. 10, we need to know about it as soon as possible," Harrison said.

She noted that voters who have changed their address since the blue card was obtained will need to update the information on filed with the tax office so that she can issue an accurate voter registration card which locates the voter in the proper precinct.

Harrison also is encouraging those who are not registered to vote to stop by her office and fill out the forms to enable them to participate in the upcoming elections.

NORTHERN VISITOR — As part of Saturday's Light Up The Square ceremony, Santa Claus made a pre-Christmas visit to Woodville to personally receive the holiday "wish lists" from area youngsters. Santa arrived at the Tyler County Courthouse square aboard a horse-drawn buggy and then met with children in the Domino Hall located on the courthouse grounds. Above, Woodville second grader Kristi Ogden was among the many children who braved the chilly weather to talk to Santa. (Photo by Greg Peak)

Spurger blood drive set Saturday

SPURGER — A community blood drive sponsored by the Blood Center of Southeast Texas will be held from 12:30-4:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 4, at the First Baptist Church in Spurger.

The Spurger event is designed to help the Beaumont-based blood bank obtain need blood supplies for the holiday season.

"The holidays are traditionally a time when regular donors are busy with holiday activities and they don't take the time to donate blood as regularly as they do throughout the rest of the year," said Sherry Combs, community relation coordinator for the blood center.

"This is an opportunity to make a difference. The 30 minutes it takes from the time you walk through the door until the time you leave could mean life or death to an area patient," she added.

Combs noted that a number of Spurger area organizations participate in the blood center's Group Benefit Plans (GBP) and their members are encouraged to turn out for the blood drive to support their organizations. GBP members include First Baptist Church, First United Methodist Church, Beech Creek Baptist Church, Spurger United Pentecostal Church, Pleasant Hill Baptist Church and TOPS

Chamber picks Wal-Mart as 'Business of the Year'

WOODVILLE — Tyler County Chamber of Commerce's directors have voted to present the 1993 'Business of the Year Award' to Wal-Mart "because of their community involvement and the matching funds money they've contributed to local charities," Chamber President Steve Porcari announced Monday.

The annual award will be formally presented to the department store during the chamber's annual membership banquet to be held in January.

Beaumont TV news personality Sally Reiger has been chosen as the featured speaker for the annual banquet.

Porcari also announced that the chamber directors have chosen Bob Belt, senior vice president of Citizens State Bank, to be the next chamber president. Emily Sumner, owner of the Homestead Restaurant in Hillister, was selected as the vice president-elect.

Both also will take office at the January banquet.

Belt is the senior vice president of Citizen's State Bank. He has been associated with various financial institutions in East Texas since 1957. The chamber's president-elect is a graduate of Chester High School, Sam Houston State University and Southwestern Graduate School of Banking

Santa's mailbox opened at Tyler County Booster

WOODVILLE—Christmas wish lists from area children are once again being sought for publication in a special "Letters to Santa" section of The Tyler County Booster.

Youngsters who wish to submit their letter to Santa Claus are invited to either drop them off at the newspaper office located at 205 W. Bluff in Woodville or mail them to Santa in care of The Tyler County Booster, P.O. Box 248, Woodville, Texas 75979.

The deadline for submitting letters is Dec. 16. They will be published in the Wednesday, Dec. 22, edition of the newspaper.

Decoration contest underway

WOODVILLE — A "Light Up Tyler County" holiday decoration contest is being sponsored this season by the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce to help promote the Christmas spirit.

Awards will be given for the best decorated yard, business and neighborhood blood with judging to take place between 6:30-9:30 p.m. the week of Dec. 13.

"If you would like to participate in the contest, please pick up an entry form from the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday through Friday," contest chairman Dee Perlitz said.

Deadline for entries is 1 p.m. on Dec. 10.

Prizes will be $50 for the best decorated individual yard, $50 for the best decorated business and a party for the neighborhood with the best decorated block.

Bluegrass Shopping and Twilight Tour to keep Village in seasonal mood

It's going to be a Bluegrass Shopping Extravaganza, all day Saturday, December 4, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

And what a day it's going to be with champion fiddler Smokey Butler and friends playing your favorite bluegrass. Music to listen to, dance or tap your toes to, shop to as the Village comes alive with a fabulous assortment of Christmas crafts brought to you by some of the area's finest craftspeople.

And admission is free.

At 4 p.m., the Village will close for a short time to get set for its evening Twilight Tour beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Again, no admission charge for an evening guaranteed to take you back in time, to the Christmases of long ago.

You'll stroll the Village streets aglow in the soft light of dozens of lanterns, as Christmas reaches out from every store window, every shop, every branch of every tree.

Informal caroling will be heard throughout the Village, Trinity Christian Center will bring their Living Nativity to the old cantilever barn from Peach Tree, and spicy hot cider and Christmas cookies will be served in the Livery Stable, where Santa will be waiting for the whispered Christmas wishes of children.

The indoor program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Cherokee Church, beautifully decorated by Elmer Ray and Dorothy Oates, their daughters and son-in-law, who got a head start on the Trim-The-Village festivities by coming out last week to get their beautiful long leaf pine in place.

On the festive program will be Dale Gazzaway and Olivia Urban, mother and daughter in a flute duet, Charles Whitmer and the East Texas String Ensemble, congregational caroling led by Patsy Webber on the guitar, and the award winning Woodville High School choir.

A gift to the community by the Tyler County Heritage Society and Heritage Village Museum, the Twilight Tour is a definite must for all families, for children of all ages.

Do join us then, on December 4 throughout the day, and again in the evening from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m., for a generous helping of old fashion Christmas spirit you won't soon forget.

Village ablaze

As we've said, Elmer Ray came early - several days early - to get things in place for Saturday's Trim-the-Village party. This go around, board member Oates sat back and let daughters Robbie Evans and Jill Davis, and son-in-law Steve Evans do the honors, deferring to recent surgery that still limits his activities but didn't keep him from "sitting" with Jill's two children, Ashlyn and Brandon, in whose eyes he saw the church come ablaze for the holiday season.

It also gave him time to work on his list of old - e Cherokee Church members, whose names are being written on the white paper angels that share tree space with pine cones and red velvet ribbons. It is a sight to behold.

Starting off the day was Sandy Boetcher, who arrived at nine and was already busily tying bright red bows when the others arrived.

H. A. Harper was there all day, splitting the cedar tree he brought in to skirt the loading dock of the Hillister Depot before doing a bang up job at decorating the inside.

Darwood and Estelle Ling brought in loads of Yaupon berries to help them decorate the Post Office. Village staffer Charles Mayshaw and family put a holiday spin on the Sheriff's Office, where Charles does his official thing for special events such as this. Mary Hale decked out the Tolar Cabin on old fashion muslin angels and calico bows, and Charles and Virginia Haynes did their usual great job on decorating the barber shop, an appropriate place for Barber Charles to be.

East Texas Blacksmith Association members Charles and Sharon Heathcock, who loaned us the old conestoga wagon in the Livery Stable, came in from their home in Dobbin to wrap the Blacksmith Shop in Christmas greenery.

Bill Stewart brought his grandchildren with him from Lufkin, believing that a school house should have the touch of children in its decorating, and they did it proud.

Cindy Alexander came out, helping wherever needed and in her role as Village Players president, recruiting for Village people to stroll the street during the Twilight Tour. Steve and Jo Porvari, who can always be counted on to put that holiday glisten on the main street, did it again, making it a long day as they switched gears into Steve's role as Chamber of Commerce proxy and the lighting of the square.

Brenda and Cindy Goode of Colmesneil were everywhere. Brenda working on a video she is producing as a college assignment at Sam Houston University, Cindy taking genealogy with Bill Stewart. Wanda Brasher was putting her Christmas touch on the Justice of the Peace office, and Aloha Freeland filled the window of the Turkey Creek Inn with a gaily decorated tree.

And in the midst of it all the big gates opened and here came John Robicheaux with a truck load of holiday greens, the very kind we had asked for. He drove right down the main street and distributed it to the delighted workers. Seems John, who like Elmer is having some back problems, knew he couldn't climb or stay on his feet for long. But he could gather yaupon, and he did, at the crack of dawn, so the Village workers would have plenty of pretties with which to work.

To all these we give our thanks for a beautiful Village, but we do have to pass on some special thanks to two ladies from Livingston. Opal Devenport and Arlyne Gibson arrived at the Village Saturday morning, said they liked what we were doing and wanted to be part of it. First thing they did was join the Heritage Society, then went to work, helping decorate the Village that they knew was part of their heritage as members. What a wonderful way to welcome themselves in.

And if you think all these folks didn't work up an appetite, Charlie Schultz, who manned the cookpot, can attest to the fact that they did indeed, consuming 10 pounds of chili and enjoying every bite of it.

Hear the bells

"Listen carefully and you can hear the bells," Sondra Walgren tells visiting school groups who come to the Cherokee Church on the days she is serving as a volunteer Villager.

Usually, after telling the sad, sad story that inspired its author, H. G. Stafford, Sondra simply plays the melody. But last week's children had a special treat, when Sondra was joined by Ofeira Gazzaway. Together they sang the sad words that brought tears to Ofeira's eyes. Sondra and Ofeira are both members of the Woodville United Methodist Church choir.

But back to the story. It seems that the author, after losing everything in the Great Chicago Fire of 1871, sent his wife and four daughters home to England. On their way across the Atlantic, their vessel was shipwrecked, and all four little ones were lost. Only the mother was saved.

The distraught father heard about the wreck but didn't know the fate of his family until he received a telegram from his wife, saying "I have arrived. STOP. I am alone. STOP."

On his way across the ocean to join his wife, Stafford asked to see the spot where the earlier ship had gone down. At that point, he asked the captain to ring the ship's bells in their memory. He did, and so the bells that can be heard in the hymn he wrote that very night.

Genealogists respond

It has finally happened.

Just when we were beginning to feel that perhaps we nag too much, someone listens. Someone says, hey, I can do that. I want to do that. That's right down my alley.

And that's what happened when Bill Stewart, already an avid genealogist, realized we were talking to him, when we continued to cry out for someone to take over the Genealogy Library at the Village.

Once he realized our message was for him, Bill responded quickly with a dedicated trip to the Village and a prolonged visit to our library to see where we stood.

Meanwhile, Bill wasn't the only one who stopped and took notice. Max Sniffen, who with his Helen recently returned from their annual summer hiatus in Maryland, also realized that this was an area in which he could be of service to the Heritage Society and its need to expand and share its historical information with those in search of their family roots.

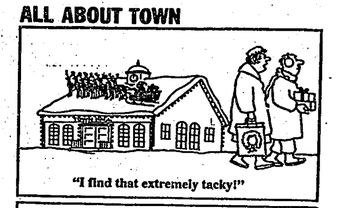
Two good men who can be of great benefit to our society and to the library, that brings so many visitors to our Village. If you had wanted to help but didn't want to be the first to step forward, now's the time to do so. We've got a couple of good leaders who can use your help.

An oops and a reminder

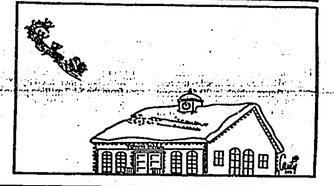
In a recent report of the 300 plus children who came to us on Kids Day, Martha Hamel was listed as spinning and weaving on the Tolar Cabin front porch. Actually, it was Park Ranger Irene Hamel.

But it is Martha Hamel, Irene's mother, who will teach the Pine Needle Basket Weaving class at the Village on December 20. So mark you calendar.

ALL ABOUT TOWN



"I find that extremely tacky!"



Welcome to My World
Oak Shade, Texas

My father and grandmother live in the southeastern corner of Polk County, between Segno and Kountze. The tiny little place where they live is listed about once every 10 years by the Texas Almanac as the community of Oak Shade, Texas, population 27.

There aren't any signs on the highway, the nearest gas is 14 miles away, and there aren't any churches, but the small collection of farm houses and old oil workers' shacks still house a handful of people who refuse to leave the place they know only as "the Gulf Camp."

Absolutely no one I have ever met in Oak Shade even knows that the community was ever called Oak Shade. My grandmother called it East Segno, after the oil fields. Most other people are satisfied to be clumped in with the rest of the Segno community, which is really six miles up the road.

Of course, it still tickles me to see, while researching something in the library, a reference to Oak Shade, Texas. Sometimes it'll be a listing in the older almanacs, other times a name on a county map. Once, I saw the name on a state geographic map. Every once in a while, someone in the map-making departments of the state will find an old reference to the community and, for a little while, put it back on the map for people to glance over.

Some people may find it incredible that such a place is even mentioned anywhere. When I looked in an old book of Polk County history, the entry for Oak Shade only mentioned that in about 1903, a post office was begun there. There is no record of when the post office was closed, nor as to the founding of the community. Those who I talk to say Oak Shade was born with the oil boom, but the small amount of ready oil in the Segno fields petered out fast.

People from Harmony, or New Hope, or old Hardin, or Ariola, or a dozen other places around the Thicket can understand why I wrote about this splotch on old maps. Even the inhabitants don't know they live in Oak Shade, but they and communities like them make up a surprising number of our area's citizens. These towns are small, insignificant, and indeed about to vanish, but they are a part of our Thicket heritage, and something we as Texans ought to cherish.

(Dedicated to the Jordans, the Browns, the Crosbys, the Merrimans, the Murphys, the Hendrixes, the Youngbloods, and especially the Overstreets who live or lived in the Gulf Camp, or Oak Shade, Texas.)

State Capital Highlights
Richards', Bullock's records sought

By Lyndell Williams and Ed Sterling
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — As defense preparation begins, U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison's attorneys want to take a look at telephone, campaign and other records of Gov. Ann Richards and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock.

Ralph Warren, an investigator for Dick DeGuerin of Houston, who heads Hutchison's defense team, made the open records requests last week in letters to Richards and Bullock.

Warren asked for billing records of telephone lines in their offices used for non-state business, copies of their daily schedules and copies of campaign solicitation letters and thank-you notes to contributors.

DeGuerin declined to say why the defense team wants the records because it would be "improper to discuss defense strategies."

But David Beckwith, the senator's spokesman, said lawyers hope the records will show that things Hutchison is accused of are common practices among public officials in Austin.

"We want to see what the standard of conduct is around the executive offices of Texas state government," Beckwith said.

Legal Defense Fund Approved

Meanwhile, Sen. Hutchison's staff announced the establishment of a federal account to help pay the legal expenses incurred by a grand jury investigator into allegations that she misused her previous office as state treasurer.

Beckwith said the Senate Ethics Committee had approved her legal defense fund.

He said Hutchison's legal expenses could total more than a half million dollars if she is re-indicted on official misconduct charges.

Previous grand jury indictments were thrown out after it was discovered that one of the jurors was unqualified to serve. A second grand jury is considering the case.

Mauro to Seek Fourth Term

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro announced his candidacy last week for a fourth term in the office he has held since 1982.

Mauro, a Democrat, said he hopes to continue promoting the use of natural gas-powered vehicles, oil spill legislation and recycling, and to fully implement an economic and environmental plan for the Gulf Coast area.

The land commissioner's office oversees 20.5 million acres of state-owned land. The General Land Office, under Mauro's oversight, has deposited $2.5 billion in the Permanent School Fund for education.

School Fun
Treasures in time found in great-grandmother's home

By Darby Kethan

Cradling a treasure he had found in the bedroom where he was staying, my son said, "Mom! Can you imagine how much this would cost in an antique shop? Staying here is like living in a time capsule!" His voice, full of awe, let me know that he was finding his Great Grandmother's home as exciting and as much fun as I always had.

In another time, while my Grandmother was alive, I worshipped my beloved aunt because she shared with me just such little treasures and trinkets. "Mother, I want love my Aunt Dot; she gives me all her old stuff she doesn't want any more!"

Grandmother and Mother have gone on, Aunt Dot and I are both much older and the children are another generation, but little has changed about the house where my Mother lived, married and visited almost every year for as long as I can remember.

It is hard to imagine living nearly 60 years in the same place! That sense of timelessness contributes much to the peaceful and serene feeling of the home in Oklahoma where four girls grew under the loving and militant eye of my Grandmother Hurt. She, who had been born in Indian Territory, instilled in her girls the values and nurturing abilities passed on to her from her Mother, Granny Bird.

From the tales told of this long ago pioneer woman, I doubt even famed Oklahoma weather or Indians ever daunted her! Most of the pictures, lovingly pasted into books, of my Grandmother and her siblings were taken by this amazing woman who photographed her husband walking their crying baby to try out her newfangled black powder flash! Because of her, these relatives from long ago live on in the steady gaze of the earnest merchant, the dapper young man sporting a cane who I later knew as the staid but twinkle-eyed Grandfather I adored, and the sad, sweet-smiling infant portrait of the daughter who didn't survive to adulthood. Sixty years seem but a snap of the fingers in such a place.

We played cards in front of the fireplace in the room where my Mother was married 50 plus years ago and heard tales from the aunts about the tricks they played on her as she sat courting my father! My son slept in the bed where his Great Grandfather was born, one hundred and eight years ago and read books left on the shelves as if just yesterday given to his Grandmother, "with love, to Betty, from Mother, 1920". We heard with what anticipation they awaited the first grandchild's arrival and how carefully they examined her to be sure that she (MIE) was "all there"! On every table, in every drawer, atop each mantle, or hanging on walls, everywhere are found pictures, mementos, trinkets, exquisite glassware, photographs, books, furniture, linens and clothing. These objects are not artistically arranged antiques to simulate another era, but treasures used and enjoyed every day by those who call this home. In the truest sense, this is history, living and real, a continuing story of family and place.

Homemaker Hints
Holiday entertaining? Keep food safety in mind

By Sherry Jennes
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

Delicious food is often a special part of Thanksgiving, Christmas and other holiday events. Entertaining for family or friends on a small or large scale is fun, but often demanding, and definitely needs to be done with food safety in mind.

When planning a large scale event, keep in mind that preparing and handling large amounts of food will take planning ahead of time for safe preparation, storage and serving. If large quantities of food will be prepared ahead of time, quickly cool and refrigerate them. Divide into portions and store in shallow containers. Deep containers increase the time the center of a pot of food stays warm, encouraging bacterial growth. Consider the amount of refrigerator space available.

If perishable foods are picked up from a deli or purchased from a caterer, transport them quickly to your refrigerator where they should remain until serving time. If you're purchasing a large quantity of food items such as meat trays or any perishable foods, ask that they be packaged in small portions, or do this when you get home. By doing this, you can replace trays often at the party event and not leave one large tray out for too long.

If holiday meals are served buffet style, this may mean that the food remains on the table as guests come and go. This is not the safest situation as foods left at warm room temperatures are susceptible to bacterial growth that causes foodborne illness. Plan serving times so that perishable foods do not remain at room temperature for more than two hours. Use smaller portions on the serving table, and replace them often from the heat source in the kitchen or from the refrigerator.

On the serving table, or in the kitchen, keep hot foods hot. Chafing dishes may or may not keep foods at the necessary temperature at 140 degrees F. or above. Keep cold foods cold on the table by nestling serving containers in beds of ice.

When replenishing foods on the buffet, it's best to replace containers, rather than putting fresh food in a container that contains food that has been sitting out, especially if the food has been at room temperature.

Make your holiday events special and food safe by following safe food handling practices. If it is an event to remember, make it a pleasant one. Protect you and your guests from foodborne illness.

Sales tax income up by 13.8%

WOODVILLE — For the second consecutive month, Tyler County's sales tax income continued to increase over 1992 levels, rising in November by 13.8 percent, according to a report issued by Texas Comptroller John Sharp.

The latest payment to the county was $26,775.50, which is $3,247.53 more than the $23,527.97 received in November 1992.

The November increase followed a 9.6 percent rise in October and a 9.8 percent decline recorded in September. The September decrease came after two consecutive months of a 40-plus percent increase in county sales tax revenue. July's $19,883.36 check was 47.7 percent ($6,422.58) more than was received the previous year while August's $32,545.42 was up by 44.1 percent ($9,956.56) over the August 1992 payment.

The latest check is the 11th received under the current county budget and brings the 1993 total to $237,007.80. The current total represents a 10.4 percent ($22,340.33) increase from the $214,667.47 received during the same 11 month period of 1992.

The current 1993 total represents over 118 percent of the $200,000 the county projected it would collect in its current budget.

Last year, the county's .5 percent sales tax generated a total of $236,978.89.

In addition to the increase in county income, Sharp's report also listed higher payments to the cities of Woodville and Colmesneil although Chester's check reflected a decrease.

The City of Woodville's November payment of $53,642.27 was 3.1 percent (or $1,616.03) more than the $52,026.24 check received in November 1992.

Since Jan. 1, Woodville has collected $451,430.79 from the tax, a figure which is about 3.6 percent ($15,491.92) more than the $435,938.87 received during the same 11 month period last year.

Although the latest check is the 11th the city has received this calendar year, it is the second the city has received since its budget year began on Oct. 1. Thus far this fiscal year, Woodville had collected $89,208.38 from the tax, a figure which is 8.3 percent (or $6,828.44) more than the $82,379.94 collected during the first two months of the 92-93 fiscal year.

Colmesneil, which has a 1 percent sales tax rate, received an November payment of $3,220.06, a figure which is 26.7 percent more than the $2,541.32 received one year earlier. Thus far this year, Colmesneil has collected $21,590.62 in sales tax revenue, a figure which is 20.5 percent ($3,675.28) more than the $17,915.36 received during the same period of 1992.

Chester, which also assesses a 1 percent sales tax, received an November payment of $900.58, which represents an 20.2 percent ($227.39) decrease from the $1,127.97 received one year earlier. Since Jan. 1, the city has received $6,187.79 from the tax, a figure which represents about a 1 percent ($64.71) decrease from the $6,252.50 received during the same period last year.

The city and county sales tax payments are collected by local merchants along with the state sales tax and turned over to Sharp's office on a monthly, quarterly or annual basis. Sharp then rebates the local share of the tax to cities and counties each month.

The November sales tax payments include taxes collected on September sales and reported to the comptroller in October by businesses filing monthly returns. The payment also includes quarterly payment filed on taxes collected in July, August and September.

Sharp noted that the local payments were sent as part of $1188.4 million in November sales tax rebates to 1,072 Texas cities and 109 counties, a 16.2 percent increase over payments made in November 1992.

Texas cities received $171.6 million in payments, up 16 percent from the $147.8 million they received one year earlier. Counties received $16.7 million in rebates, a 17.4 percent increase from the November 1992 total of $14.3 million.

"Our state's total employment has rising an impressive 2.2 percent in the past year," Sharp said in the report, "with the Austin and San Antonio metro areas leading the pack in employment growth."

The city of Houston received $25.6 million, the largest sales tax rebate for November, which was up 9.9 percent over the city's $23.2 million received one year earlier.

"While the Houston metro area continued to experience an employment slump, increased consumer confidence was reflected by increased spending," Sharp said.

The $16.2 million November payment to Dallas was the second largest payment for the month, up 10.2 percent from the $14.7 million for the same period last year.

"The Dallas metropolitan area continues to show healthy growth," Sharp said. "Slight employment setbacks due to the closing of the Superconducting Super Collider are expected, however, due to the area's diverse economy, the setbacks should be minor."

San Antonio continued in its role as a leader in economic growth, reflected by a $9 million sales tax rebate, a 15.5 percent increase over the November 1992 payment of $7.8 million.

"The Alamo city ranked second behind Dallas in the total number of new jobs, with employment gains concentrated in services as well as the wholesale and retail trade sector," the comptroller said.

The city of Austin's payment of $6.8 million this month ranked as the fourth highest rebate, a 13 percent increase over its November 1992 payment of $6 million.

"Fortune magazine recently ranked Austin fifth on its list of the nation's 'intellectual capitals'," Sharp said, "and, according to an international economic consulting firm, Austin's economic growth from 1990 to 1993 was higher than any other large U.S. metro area."

The city of Fort Worth with a $5.6 million rebate, increased by 18.1 percent from its $4.7 million payment of one year ago. Fort Worth's monthly sales tax allocation showed the largest percentage increase for the month of any of the state's major metropolitan areas.

Other East Texas cities which received November sales tax rebates included:

•Lufkin, which received $728,050.64. This represents about a 19.4 percent increase from November 1992 and brings the city's year-to-date total to over $5.7 million.

•Zavalla, which received $4,757. This represents a 14.5 percent decrease from the $5,562.94 received one year earlier and brings the year-to-date total to $29,880.71.

•Jasper, which received $141,519.13. This represents a 77.3 percent increase over the $79,797.33 received one year ago and brings the calendar year total to almost $1.2 million.

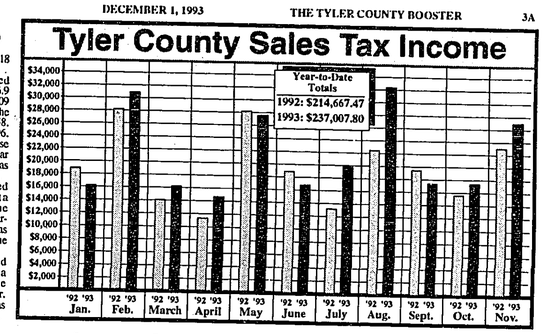
•Kirbyville, which received $17,233.65. This represents about a 2 percent increase over the $16,895.31 received one year earlier. Thus far this year, the city has collected $141,233.18 from the tax.

•Kountze, which received $14,629.30. This represents a 16.9 percent decrease from the $17,603.09 received one year earlier and gives the city a year-to-date total of $103,330.58.

•Silsbee, which received $77,599.96. This represents a 19.9 percent increase over the $64,697.76 received one year earlier. Thus far this year, the city has received $657,079.76 from the tax.

•Livingston, which received $145,680.33. This represents almost a 26.9 percent increase over the $114,793.35 received one year earlier. Thus far this year, Livingston has collected almost $1.4 million from the sales tax.

•Corrigan, which received $21,356.38. This represents about a 3.4 percent increase from the $20,648.49 received one year earlier. Thus far this calendar year the city has collected $127,338.51 from the tax.



Drug possession charges filed

WOODVILLE — Two Woodville residents were arrested on drug charges last week following joint investigations involving the Southeast Texas Narcotics and Intelligence Task Ford, the Woodville Police Department and the Tyler County Sheriff's Department.

Kennard Mitchell was taken into custody on Nov. 24 on a warrant charging him with delivery of cocaine following an undercover investigation.

The second suspect, Felicia Spears, was charged with possession of a small quantity of marijuana after officers executed a search warrant at her residence on Black Gum Street in Woodville.

In unrelated police activity last week, Reginald Taylor, 29, of Woodville was arrested on a warrant charging him with evading detention, according to Woodville Police Chief Scott Yosko.

Yosko said the warrant was issued in connection with an incident on Nov. 16 in which a police officer attempted to question two men on South Magnolia Street. When the officer attempted to talk to the two, they began to run. One of the men, Tyronc Dewitt White, was seized by the officer while the second managed to flea the area on foot.

White was subsequently charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver after a bottle containing crack cocaine was found in his pocket.

Also arrested last week was Kenneth Willard Lewis, 51, of Woodville who was charged with assault following an incident involving his wife. Yosko said officers filed the assault charge after they were called to the Lewis residence in connection with a family disturbance complaint about 10:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 26.

Wedding slated Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Wayne Murray of Huntington have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Shannon Brooke Murray, to Billy Todd Hickman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Mac Hickman of Chester. The couple will be married Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Lakeview Baptist Church in Diboll. The bride-elect is the administrator of the Dogwood Trails Manor nursing home in Woodville and the groom-elect is a warehouse supervisor for Sam Houston Electric Co-op in Woodville.

New equipment in place at Keller Aluminum

WOODVILLE — From Keller's home office engineering drawing board to a precision piece of equipment in Woodville, takes the skill of a person with years of training and experience.

Recently completed, the new jamb fabrication die for picture windows is being installed to add still another assembly line product to Keller's long list of storm doors, tub/shower enclosures, windows and French/veranda doors.

Joseph "J.D." Duhon, metal die/tool fabricator, was hired at Keller in June of 1966. During those years, his knowledge and expertise has grown as Keller's size has grown from its beginning in 1960 with less than 100 employees to now employing in it's peak season as many as 520 employees.

Duhon starts with an engineering schematic and works with either oil or air hardened tool steel. The steel is heated to a temperature of approximately 1450 - 1500 degrees, then quenched in oil and reheated at a cooler temperature to temper it. He watches the color of the metal as well as times the cooling stage to determine when the metal is ready for use. He then shapes, fits and totally builds the necessary machinery. This sometimes takes as long as sixty hours to get the proper parts cut.

Duhon says he enjoys the challenge and the creative aspect of his job. He also adds that he takes a lot of pride when he goes out into the factory and installs a new piece of equipment and instructs others on how to use it.

He is well liked at Keller and especially at the Keller Thanksgiving dinner when he brings his own spicy, Cajun rice dressing.

NEW EQUIPMENT — Joseph "J.D." Duhon, who has been employed at Keller Aluminum in Woodville since 1966, is shown manufacturing parts for the new jamb fabricator die for picture windows that was recently installed at the local plant.

Hirsch to intern at Disney Park

BOULDER, Co. — Holly Hirsch, granddaughter of Mrs. James Shields of Woodville, has been accepted to participate in the Disney College Program for the spring semester in 1994. The program is a semester-long paid internship at Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fl.

Disney recruits students from universities throughout the United States and the world for the program. Those students chosen for the College Program share the Vista Way Apartments on the Walt Disney World Resort. Each week, Disney representatives present seminars on aspects of the company ranging from animation to public relations. At the end of the semester, students graduate with a "Mouseiers Degree" or a "Ducktorate".

The students are "cast" in a "role" in one of the four Disney theme parks - Magic Kingdom, Epcot Center, MGM Studios, or Typhoon Lagoon Water Park. Hirsch has been cast as an Attractions Hostess for the semester.

A sophomore communications major at the University of Colorado at Boulder, Hirsch is an active member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, Student Organization for Alumni Relations, Student Campus Tour Guide, Student Ambassadors and the CU Ski Club.

She is a 1992 graduate of Trinity High School and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bubba Hirsch of Trinity.

Kenesson named 'Favorite Son'

WOODVILLE — Huntley Kenesson of Woodville was presented with the "Favorite Son" Award for 1993 during ceremonies Saturday, Nov. 27, at the Opera House in Woodville.

Kennesson, co-owner of J.B. Best and Co., was honored for his undiring and continuing efforts to revitalize downtown Woodville.

The award winner presided as chairman of the committee responsible for establishing the "Good Old Days" festival in 1986. The first Fall Festival was held on the square in 1987 and inspired other activities and festivals in downtown Woodville, including the annual Christmas lighting of the Tyler County courthouse.

Making the presentation were Tyler County Judge Jerome Owens and Precinct 1 Commissioner Maxie Riley. Owens resigned as "Favorite Son" in 1992 while Rile held the title of Good Old Days festival king in 1991.

The award was presented during a blue grass program held at the Opera House following the Light Up The Square ceremony Saturday.

COURSE COMPLETED — Ten students successfully completed an 80-hour state approved nurse-aide training course held recently at the Holiday Pines Manor nursing home in Woodville. After the students pass a state skills test, they will receive their certification and be placed on the Texas Nurse Aide Registry. Another class is being planned for January 1994 at Holiday Pines Manor. Pictured are (Back, L-R) Patsy Fountain, Tarsha Renee Rigsby, Tammy Miller, Nicole Martin, Kalinda Day, L.V.N. Instructor Bobbie Parker, (Middle, L-R) Sherry Williams, Kirk Thibodeaux, Cheri Odom, (Front, L-R) Jennifer Joyce Shackleford and Mary Elnorma Toler.

Warren students prepare for holiday

By Carlos Gonzalez, Editor-In-Chief and Amber Siau, Elementary Editor

The kindergartners had a great time going to see the 101 Dalmations in November. They are now looking forward to the field trip to see The Nutcracker on December 10. If any parents would care to join the teachers and students to eat lunch in the field trip, they will be touring Parkdale Mall and looking at Christmas decorations.

The First grade will be taking part in the P.T.O. Christmas Program. The program will be held December 6 in the middle-school auditorium. The first graders are also looking forward to attending The Nutcracker at the Julie Rogers theater in Beaumont on December 10.

After a rocky start, Mrs. Addison's class has once again met it's November Book-II goal. This makes them two for two in effort to have 100 percent. The students are working hard to be awarded a pizza party!

Mrs. Reese's fourth grade class has meet new friends by exchanging letters with another fourth grade class in Archbold, Ohio! Mrs. Reese would also like to recognize the H.A.R.E. readers for the second six weeks. These students are: Marty Nash, Krystle Cox, and Laura Ramirez. Krystle Cox was also recognized for making a score of 100 on 19 straight tests!

During Thanksgiving week at Fred Elementary, students learned what Thanksgiving was all about.

The kindergarten classes had a popcorn "pow-wow" which was held on Nov. 23. The first and second graders started out by having a Thanksgiving feast which was held on November 23.

During the month of November, the Fred Elementary students learned all about what peer pressure can do. They watched a play called Pardner Pressure which was sponsored by the P.T.O. According to the teachers and staff, the students really enjoyed it.

There are a total of 24 Warren junior high and high school band students that qualified for the ATSSB All-Region Band on November 20. In junior high, there are eight from Warren: Jill Reese on flute, Kelly Neff and Rachel Elliff on B-flat clarinet, Shaun Sharp and Will Wiggins on alto saxophone, Coby Williams, Kyle Milner, and Tom Riley on trumpet, Kenneth Coons on trombone, and Jonathon Flocke on tuba. In high school, there are sixteen All-Region band members from Warren: Amanda Zeller, Angela Williams and Kasey Stunz on flute, Christine Helman, Jennifer Atkinson, Emily Loupe, Lori McKee, Sommer Norwood, and Joyce Moore on B-flat clarinet, Nathan Frizzel and Tim Riley on alto saxophone, Jason Major on tenor saxophone, Jason Mauer on trumpet, Jay Linn on french horn, Trent Stockton on bass trombone, Carlos Gonzalez on baritone, Treyson Stockton on tuba, and Joseph Lowrey on snare drum. Fourteen of the high school region qualifiers are advancing to area competition. They are: Amanda Zeller, Angela Williams, Christine Helman, Jennifer Atkinson, Emily Loupe, Lori McKee, Nathan Frizzell, Tim Riley, Jason Major, Jason Mauer, Jay Linn, Trent Stockton, Treyson Stockton and Joseph Lowrey. Congratulations to all of you!

The 1992-93 Warrior yearbooks will be available Thursday, Dec. 2 and can be picked up on that date. There are extra yearbooks available for $30. Any person that has a balance due needs to pay before receiving his or her yearbook.

Host families needed for foreign teens

LA JOLLA, Calif. — Foreign high school students will be arriving soon into the Woodville area for homestays, and the sponsoring organization urgently needs a few more local host families for their upcoming second semester programs.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.) Executive Director, John Doty, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18 years, have their own spending money, are fully insured and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families. P.I.E. currently has programs to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

P.I.E. representatives match students with host families by finding common interests and life-styles through an in-formal in-home meeting. Prospective host families are able to review student applications and select the "perfect match".

Families who host for P.I.E. are also eligible to claim a $50 per month charitable contribution deduction on their itemized tax returns for each month they host a sponsored student.

Woodville area families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting may call P.I.E., toll-free, at 1-800-631-1818.

Eagles prepare for Nederland tourney

WOODVILLE — The Woodville Eagles will get a good taste of just how well they stack up against some of the larger schools in the area when tip off in the Nederland Basketball Tournament Thursday.

The Eagles open tournament play with host Nederland beginning at 2:30. From there they could play Westbrook, Thomas Jefferson, or district rival Stephen F. Austin, depending on who wins or loses in the 10 team bracket.

The tournament will continue through Saturday.

Woodville enters the tournament with a 2-0 record after defeating Lufkin Central last week, 81-56.

Ardis Beaty scored 27 points, including a three pointer and 11 field goals, in taking high point honors.

Ryan Ferguson added 10 points in the victory and had five steals along with eight assists.

Josh Lamberth and Delondon Speights had eight points each, while Travis Weaver had eight steals and D. J. Thrower had five assists.

Woodville jumped to an easy 22-12 first quarter lead and never looked back.

By halftime the Eagles held a 44-30 lead, and extended it to 60-43 by the end of the third period.

Leading scorers: Woodville - Ardis Beaty - 27, Ryan Ferguson - 10.

Colmesneil girls win pair of games

COLMESNEIL — The Colmesneil Lady Bulldogs enter the Warren Basketball Tournament this weekend sporting a 2-0 record.

The Lady Bulldogs swept past Apple Springs and Warren prior to the Thanksgiving holidays to stay unbeaten in non-district play.

Rachael Bean led Colmesneil past Apple Springs, 45-36, while Nikki Davis hit on eight, three pointers to lead the Lady Bulldogs past Warren, 48-41.

Colmesneil jumped to an early 13-9 lead against Apple Springs, but the Lady Eagles came back to tie the game at the half, 19-19. Using the rebounding of Bean and Rachel McKinney, Colmesneil took control of the second half, scoring 26 points while holding Apple Springs to 17.

Both McKinney and Bean finished with 12 rebounds each. McKinney also hit for 12 points as did Davis.

Against Warren, Davis led Colmesneil with 24 points. Bean added 14 and had 15 rebounds, while McKinney had 12 rebounds.

Leigh Ann Neal topped Warren scorers with 22 points.

Colmesneil led Warren 12-7 in the first quarter and held a 21-19 halftime lead. In the third period the Lady Bulldogs put the game on ice with a 17-7 scoring surge.

Colmesneil will next catch the Warren junior varsity in the first round of the Warren Basketball Tournament beginning Thursday.

Woodville girls favorite in Warren tourney

WARREN — The Woodville Lady Eagles are again tabbed as the odds on favorite in the girls division of the annual Warren Basketball Tournament which opens Thursday and continues through Saturday.

Woodville is the defending champion and has won the tournament crown for the past two years.

The Lady Eagles open tournament play against Lumberton beginning at 3 p.m. Thursday.

While Woodville is favored in the girls division, three time champion Hemphill is again favored in the boys bracket.

Hemphill also drew a bye in the first round and will meet Shepherd in second round play Friday at 7:30.

While Woodville and Hemphill get the favorites nod, host Warren, along with Colmesneil and Spurger, hope to take a trophy in the tournament.

The Warren boys open play against Beaumont Christian Academy at 7:30 Thursday evening, while the Spurger boys meet Jasper at 4:30.

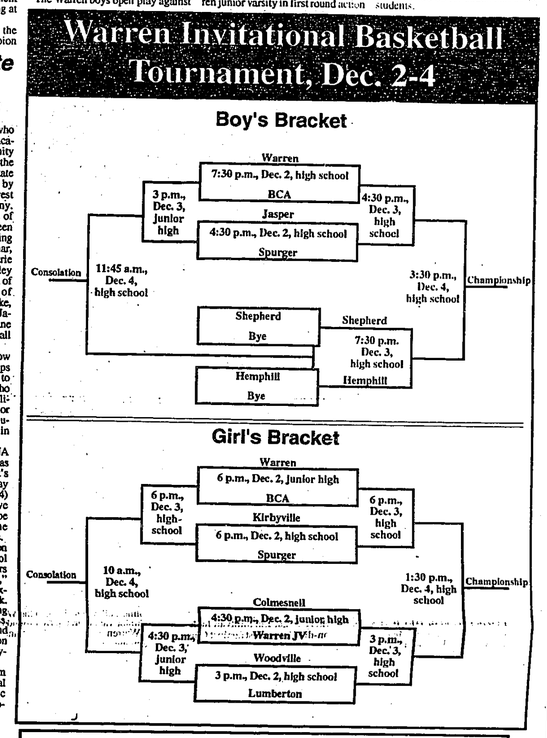
In the girls division, Warren also meets Beaumont Christian at 6:30 Thursday in the junior high gym, while Spurger tangles with Kirbyville at 6:00 Thursday at the high school gym.

The Colmesneil girls meet the Warren junior varsity in first round action Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in the junior high gym.

Games continue Friday beginning at 3 p.m. again Saturday morning at 10 a.m.

The girls championship will be held Saturday at 1:30, with the boys title game to follow at 3:30.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.



Scholar-athlete nominations now accepted

DALLAS — High school seniors who are varsity athletes and excel in academics, leadership, and community service are invited to apply for the FINA/Dallas Morning News All-State Scholar-Athlete Team, sponsored by KDFW-TV, 96.3 KSCS, Southwest Airlines, and The Staubach Company.

Over the last nine years, dozens of Southeast Texas seniors have been named to the FINA Team, including Kwell Thompson of Houston Lamar, Bryan Hanna of Baytown Lee, Hahrie Han of Houston St. Agnes, Shelley Davenport of Crosby, Trey Ingram of Diboll, Mercedes Caravello of Pearland, Bonnie Benge of Eagle Lake, Nefertiti DuPont of Houston Lee, Jason Baxter of The Woodlands, Shane Tindall of Fairfield and Michael Krall of Spring.

Nominations from the public are now being accepted. College scholarships of $4,000 are awarded each year to twelve Texas high school seniors who make the Team. To be eligible, applicants must have a 90 grade average or better, be in the top 10% of their graduating class, and have a varsity letter in a UIL sport.

Nominations should be sent to FINA Public Affairs, P.O. Box 2159, Dallas 75221, and must include the student's name and address. Nominations may also be submitted by calling (214) 750-4111. Each nominee will receive an application form, which must be completed and returned by the Wednesday, December 15 deadline.

"Our purpose is to focus attention on the many outstanding high school scholar-athletes who are contributors to their schools and communities," says FINA President and Chief Executive Officer Ron W. Haddock. "That goal is best served by involving the public in the nomination process. Clearly, encouraging, recognizing and rewarding excellence and dedication in our youth is a worthy task for everyone."

Applications are also available from principals, senior counselors, National Honor Society advisors, and athletic directors at all accredited Texas public and private high schools.

Trotline seminar scheduled

DAM B — A seminar to instruct fishermen how to build a catfish trotline "that will last almost a lifetime" Will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 18, at the Martin Dies Jr. State Park, Walnut Ridge Unit day use area.

Sponsored by the Martin Dies Jr. State Park and Texas Conservation Passports, everyone who wishes to attend the "Trot and Drop" seminar will be required to have a Texas Conservation Passport, which may be purchased at the park headquarters prior to the event.

In addition, participants will pay a $1 fee if they register before Dec. 15. Those who register late will be required to pay a $2 fee.

In the event of rain, the seminar will be held in the dining hall located at Walnut Ridge.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY — Officials with Citizens State Bank, the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce as well as the Tyler County government were on hand Monday afternoon to help celebrate the 10th anniversary of the opening of the Citizens State Bank motor bank facility at the corner of West Bluff and Reid Street. Bob Belt, senior vice president of the bank, noted that Citizens State Bank first opened its doors in Woodville in 1920. County Judge Jerome Owens and Tyler County Chamber of Commerce President Stephen Porcari also were on hand to formally recognize the bank. (Photo by Greg Peak)

Individuals also may donate blood and cover themselves and their families in case there is a need for blood usage during the year.

The blood center official noted that during the last two community blood drives in Spurger, 70 donations were received. The center currently needs about 520 donors per week to meet the demand for blood.

Each person donating blood during the drive will receive a T-shirt and a family benefit plan valued at up to $500 coverage per person per year for blood services.

Donors must be in good health, between the ages of 17 and 75 and weight a minimum of 110 pounds. Donors also must have never had hepatitis or cancer and they cannot have coronary artery disease.

Chairmen for the Spurger blood drive are Ellis Jones, who may be contacted at 429-3252, and Mary Sheffield, who may be reached at 429-3613. In addition, more information may be obtained by calling The Blood Center of Southeast Texas at 838-5289.

at Southern Methodist University.

He is a past president of both the Woodville and Livingston Rotary clubs, the Polk County Chamber of Commerce and the Colmesneil Service Club. He has served on the boards of the Woodville Independent School District, the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Sam Houston State Alumni Association, the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Savings and Loan League.

He also served on the Tyler County Dogwood Festival's board of directors and was the organizer and first director of the festival's Western Weekend. He has been active in the Boy Scouts of America for over 40 years and was scoutmaster to the National Jamboree in 1981 and the World Jamboree in 1983.

In other business, the chamber elected five new three-year-term directors including: Eugene Koci of Gulf States Utilities; Tom Knapp of Knapp Ford Sales; Sumner,; Sherry Jeanes, Tyler County Extension Agent-Home Economics; and Jeanie Buck of the Tyler County Women's and Children's Shelter. Their terms will end in 1996.

Missy Ogden was recognized as the new chamber secretary.

Chamber officials are calling for more submissions to help that organization select a 'Citizen of the Year' and an 'Honorary Citizen of the Year'. Persons may make their written recommendations to the chamber office located inside the Woodville Inn.

These honors also will be presented at the annual banquet.

Woodville Post Office slates extended hours

WOODVILLE — Woodville Postmaster Jim Barnhart announced this week that the Woodville Post Office will offer extended open hours to abate the holiday rush.

Barnhart said the extended hours would occur on two Saturdays, including Dec. 11 and Dec. 18, from 8 a.m. to noon. Normally the post office is closed on Saturdays.

Weekday hours from Dec. 13 through Dec 22 will be from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Flashing beacons approved

WOODVILLE — The installation of flashing highway beacons in both Warren and Spurger is now scheduled to be completed by the Texas Department of Transportation during the summer of 1994, according to Tyler County Precinct 4 Commissioner Henry Earl Sawyer.

Sawyer and Precinct 1 Commissioner Maxie Riley have been working for a number of year to have the flashing highway beacons installed at what have become dangerous road intersections in their respective precincts.

The Warren beacon in Riley's Precinct 1 will be located at the intersection of Highway 69 and FM 1943 East while the Spurger light in Sawyer's Precinct 4 will be at the intersection of FM 92 and FM 1013.

Sawyer said that when installed, the flashing red stop signals will face FM 1943 in Warren and FM 1013 in Spurger while drivers on both Highway 69 and FM 92 will see yellow caution signals.

admission fee.

The TFWC's holiday Tour of Homes will feature three area residences which will be open from 1-4 p.m. Saturday.

The Woman's Reading Club will sponsor the tour of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe DeLoney on Seneca Road while the Study Club members will serve as hostesses for the Lynette Grimes Taylor residence on Old Livingston Road. The Heritage Civic Club will showcase the Hamm House located at Heritage Village.

Tickets to visit all three homes are $5 and may be obtained from club members or at the door of the homes.

The DeLoney residence is located 1.7 miles down Seneca Road and overlooks a 14-acre lake with mirrors the dense woods surrounding it.

Originally part of a 600 acre plot acquired by a Mr. Read from a Mexican land grant, the site was inherited by his son, Sam Read, who built the original house in the early 40s.

Aubrey Raiford bought the home and enlarged it to 6,000 square feet as a "love token" for his wife, who had been ill. Raiford added a large swimming pool between the house and lake.

The DeLoneys have owned the home since 1991 and have added many decorative innovations. Each of the five bedrooms is artistically, tastefully and creatively decorated.

The Taylor home on Old Livingston Road was designed by Lynette Grimes Taylor and uses as a focal point two stained glass windows retrieved from the old Woodville Christian Church.

Much of the finishing work was performed by Taylor and her daughter, especially the cabinets and stair well. The dining room suite was her Grandmother Pope's and dates back to 1915. Also, the trunk in the upstairs foyer went through the Civil War and come from the Grimes family.

The Hamm house was built around 1876 and was given to the Tyler County Heritage Society by Molly Hamm and Charles R. Hamm Jr. in memory of Charles R. Hamm Sr.

A tour of this century-old restored home is designed to transport visitors to the "warm glow of Christmas past" with turn-of-the-century treasures of lace and nostalgic collectibles.

Church News

Christmas programs planned

FRED — A series of Christmas programs, including a living nativity scene and two plays, will be hosted by the Oak Grove Assembly of God Church located two miles north of Fred on FM 92.

The nativity scene program, entitled "Come to the Stable," will be held from 6-8:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 10-11, at the church. Free hot coffee and cocoa will be served.

In addition, the church's youth department will present a play, also entitled "Come to the Stable," at 6 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 12.

On Wednesday, Dec. 15, the children's department will present their play at 7 p.m. This production is entitled "Welcome! King Jesus."

The Rev. Wayne Watts, pastor, has invited the public to attend all three programs.

'Glory Road' concert scheduled

WOODVILLE — East Texas's own "Glory Road" will perform in concert at 6 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Woodville Convalescent Center, 102 N. Beech.

The concert is presented by the All American Gospel Music Association. Refreshments will be served during the intermission.

For additional information, call 283-2554.

Martin Family to perform Sunday

SILSBEE—The Martin Family Singers of Orange will perform a "Christmas Singing Sunday" during services at 9:45 a.m. and 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 12, at the Caney Head Assembly of God Church located on FM 2937 (Old Spurger Road) in Silsbee.

The five-member gospel family group received two first place trophies in the group division at the Louisiana Gospel Hayride in Leesville, La., in 1987-88. During the concerts, they will present trio, duet and quartet performances.

The public is invited to attend. For more information, call Pastor D.A. Calvin at 385-3807

Warren church honors pastor

WARREN — The Warren Fellowship Primitive Baptist Church will host a celebration honoring Bro. Woodrow Wilson from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 4.

Wilson has served as the church's pastor for the past 50 years and friends are invited through the press to attend the golden anniversary celebration. A lunch will be provided.

'Gospel Revival' performs Dec. 8

COLMESNEIL — The gospel singing group "Gospel Revival" from Lufkin will perform in concert beginning at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 8, at the Katy Baptist Church in Colmesneil.

Pastor Durl Patrick has invited the public to attend.

Singing program slated Dec. 9

COLMESNEIL — "Gospel Revival" of Lufkin and East Texas' own "Glory Road" will be the featured groups performing during a singing slated for 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 9, at the Agape Church in Colmesneil.

For more information, call 837-4434.

Some beneficiaries to pay higher income taxes

LUFKIN—Under the recently passed budget bill, some Social Security beneficiaries will pay higher taxes on their benefits. Other beneficiaries will pay the same rate they did last year, but most will still not have to pay taxes on their Social Security benefits.

The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993 increases the percentage of Social Security benefits that may be taxed from 50 percent to 85 percent for individuals with income over $34,000 and for couples filing jointly with income over $44,000. Individuals whose income is between $25,000 and $34,000 and couples with income between $32,000 and $44,000 will continue to pay taxes on up to 50 percent of their benefits.

The Social Security benefits of individuals whose income is below $25,000 and couples with income below $32,000 will remain un-taxed. Officials estimate that about 78 percent of all beneficiaries will not owe taxes on their benefits

Social Security changes set

LUFKIN— The cost of living (COL) increase for 1994 will be 2.6 percent for both Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI). This compares to a 3.0 percent in 1993. COL's are based on increases in the consumer price index (CPI). COL's during the past eight years have ranged from a high of 5.4 percent to a low of 1.3 percent.

For workers, the annual earnings base - the maximum amount of earnings on which Social Security tax is paid - increases from $57,600 to $60,600 in 1994. For most workers, this base increase will not mean more taxes because most workers do not have earnings this high. The increase in the wage base depends on the national change in average earnings levels from one year to the next. The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993 made all covered earnings subject to the Medicare portion of the Social Security tax.

The Social Security tax rate remains at 7.65% for workers and employers. The 7.65% represents 6.2% for Social Security and 1.45% for Medicare insurance. The 7.65% is paid on the employees gross earnings. The tax rate for the self-employed remains the same, also, at 15.3 percent and is paid on net earnings. Tax rates are legislated by Congress and do not are affected by changes in the economy, as is the base amount. Another change for 1994 involves the amount of earnings needed for a quarter of coverage (QC) - the measure of Social Security work credit. The amount of earnings for a QC will go from $590 to $620. This amount, like the base, is determined by the national average increase in earnings. A maximum of 4 QC's can be earned per year.

For those who work after retirement, more earnings are allowed in 1994 without loss of Social Security benefits. Those over age 65 may earn as much as $11,160 per year and receive all benefits. If under age 65, the limit is $8,040. At age 70, there are no restrictions on earnings. In 1994, as in 1993, for those over age 65 who exceed the earnings limitation, the loss in benefits will be $1 for every $3 over. The loss of $1 in benefit for every $2 over the limit remains in effect for those under 65.

For workers who retire in January, 1994, the maximum Social Security benefit increases from $1,128 to $1,147 a month. For all retired workers the average benefit will rise from $657 to $674. The average benefit for aged couples increases from $1,111 to $1,140 and a widowed mother with children from $1,282 to $1,316. The Aged widow(er)s benefit average rises from $615 to $631.

For more information about 1994 changes, or about any Social Security matter, take advantage of Social Security's toll free number 1-800-772-1213.

Haley testifies before Public Utility Commission

AUSTIN — State Senator Bill Haley (D-Center) recently testified before the Public Utility Commission relating to recently-passed legislation aimed at expanding the long distance calling area for many rural portions of the state.

The legislation, Senate Bill 632, was designed to address the calling needs of residents of cities in nearby or neighboring telephone exchanges.

"Historically, people in some rural areas of the state have not had toll free local telephone calling that is consistent with the services provided to some metropolitan area customers," said Senator Haley. "For instance, some elderly residents in a rural area have to call long distance to a metropolitan area 20 miles away to reach their doctor. Children in some rural schools have to place long distance calls to reach their parents at home when the child is ill. Some people who work fewer than 20 miles from their homes have to pay long distance rates to reach their workplace. These were just some of the inequities addressed by Senate Bill 632."

The legislation mandated toll-free local calling areas in Texas to be at least 22 miles between exchanges. A calling scope was to be set up to 50 miles if there is a community of interest - a relationship because of schools, hospitals or local business centers - and if the residents would labor under a hardship if those entities were unavailable.

Senator Haley said the legislation provides that toll-free boundaries may only be expanded after the filing of a petition signed by the lesser of five percent of the subscribers or 100 subscribers within an exchange. After such a petition is received, the local exchange company must provide for an election involving its subscribers within that area. If 70 percent of those responding vote for the proposal, the PUC must consider the request.

The local exchange company may recover its costs for expanding its service by charging a monthly fee of not more than $3.50 per line for residential customers and not more than $7 for business customers and/or a monthly fee for toll-free calling service for all of the local exchange company's local exchange service customers in the state in addition to the company's local exchange rates. The fee would be dropped following the next rate hearing.

However, since passage of the bill during the 73rd Legislature, implementation of the legislation has been stalled because of controversy over the Public Utility Commission's proposed rules relating to the legislation. The PUC was charged with the job of approving rules to provide for hearings to allow the expansion of the toll-free calling areas.

The Commission has held hearings in recent weeks to address questions that have arisen regarding the rules proposals. "The problem we have is getting the PUC to keep the whole process simple," Senator Haley said.

"I had many letters and petitions during the last legislative session from Constituents asking for help in expanding the local calling area," said Senator Haley. "An elderly resident of Kirbyville should not have to call long distance to his or her doctor in Jasper when Jasper is only 20 miles away.

I supported Senate Bill 632 during the session and will continue to do what is necessary on behalf of those constituents to see that the legislation is implemented. All we are asking is that the Public Utility Commission be fair in setting the rules relating to this legislation."

Once the PUC approves the rules relating to SB 632, the legislation may be implemented within 30 days.

Houston men jailed on marijuana charges

WOODVILLE — Two Houston area men were arrested on felony marijuana possession charged last week after three pounds of the illegal drug were discovered in the trunk of their car.

Raul Martinez Jr., 22, and Randolph Butler, 31, were charged with possession with intent to deliver marijuana by Tyler County Deputy Sheriff John Fuller.

According to Chief Deputy Sheriff Sam Bible, Fuller was on patrol about 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 24, when he spotted what appeared to be a disabled car on Highway 287 near Chester.

"He stopped to assist and noticed that the two men were acting suspiciously," Bible said.

After obtaining permission from the driven to search the vehicle, Bible said the deputy discovered the marijuana hidden in the car's trunk.

Both men were placed into custody and taken to the Tyler County Justice Center where they were formally charged.

Tour of village, homes usher in holiday season

WOODVILLE—The Christmas season in Tyler County will continue to pick up steam this Saturday as the Tyler County Heritage Society and the local Texas Federated Women's Club kick off their holiday activities.

The annual Christmas Twilight Tour of Heritage Village as well as the TFWC's Tour of Homes will help kick off the holiday season in the county.

Coming on the heels of the Light Up The Square ceremony held this past weekend, the Twilight Tour and Tour of Homes have become traditional Christmas activities enjoyed by Tyler County residents and visitors alike.

The sights, sounds and glitter of Christmas will be featured at Heritage Village during day and night activities.

From 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., the Village will offer a Bluegrass Shopping Experience with Smokey Butler and Friends on stage while a unique Christmas Crafts Extravaganza is presented by some of the area's most talented craftspeople.

Then at 5:30 p.m., the Village will reopen as the magic of Christmas past takes over for the annual Twilight Tour.

Included on this year's tour will be the sights of old fashioned Christmas trees decorated with homemade ornaments and trimmed with garlands of popcorn and cranberries strung by the residents of Woodville's three convalescent homes.

Lit only by lantern light, the Village also will present a living nativity scene created by the Woodville Christian Center in a cantilever log barn that dates back to 1845. Members of the Village Players also will be strolling the streets and manning the buildings as Village residents and the sounds of the Christmas bells will once again echo in the Village Exhibit Hall.

Area choirs and musicians also will be performing on the Village's outdoor stage and the Christmas story will be told and retold in the Cherokee Church.

In addition to the traditional sights and sounds of the holiday season, sweet pungent Christmas smells also will be featured. Rich pine mixed with candle wax, carrying the aroma of steaming hot wassail as its served with slices of hot gingerbread or homemade Christmas cookies will surround visitors.

The annual event is the Heritage Society's gift to the community and the Twilight Tour is open to all at no

New voter cards issued

WOODVILLE—New voter registration cards are being mailed this week to Tyler County residents, according to Tax Assessor-Collector Sandra Harrison.

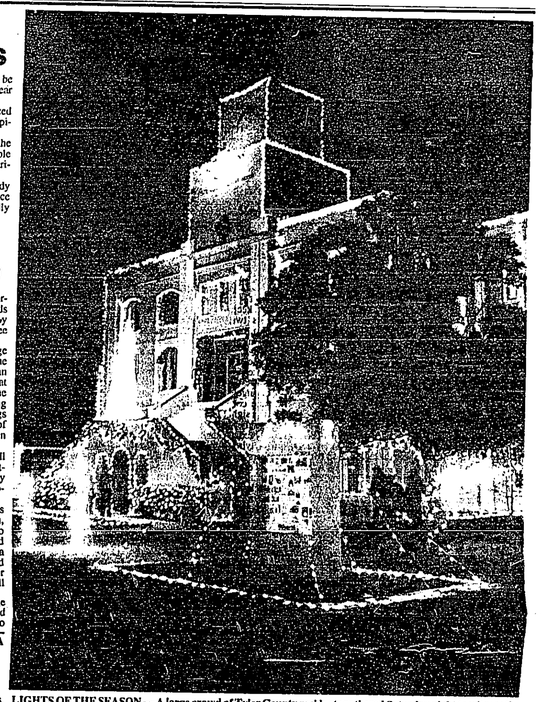
The new yellow cards will replace the current blue cards which are set to expire on Dec. 31. Harrison noted that the new cards will be valid for two years, beginning Jan. 1, and will be the cards needed to vote in the March primary elections.

"If you are a registered voter and you don't get your new card by Dec. 10, we need to know about it as soon as possible," Harrison said.

She noted that voters who have changed their address since the blue card was obtained will need to update the information on filed with the tax office so that she can issue an accurate voter registration card which locates the voter in the proper precinct.

Harrison also is encouraging those who are not registered to vote to stop by her office and fill out the forms to enable them to participate in the upcoming elections.

NORTHERN VISITOR — As part of Saturday's Light Up The Square ceremony, Santa Claus made a pre-Christmas visit to Woodville to personally receive the holiday "wish lists" from area youngsters. Santa arrived at the Tyler County Courthouse square aboard a horse-drawn buggy and then met with children in the Domino Hall located on the courthouse grounds. Above, Woodville second grader Kristi Ogden was among the many children who braved the chilly weather to talk to Santa. (Photo by Greg Peak)



LIGHTS OF THE SEASON — A large crowd of Tyler County residents gathered Saturday night to witness the third annual Light Up The Square ceremony which officially marks the opening of the Christmas season. Sponsored by the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce and Tyler County officials, this year's event featured a number of new displays, including a permanent U.S. flag made of wrought iron and colored lights on the courthouse clock tower. Overall, almost 100,000 miniature white lights adorn the courthouse and the surrounding grounds. (Photo by Greg Peak)

Spurger blood drive set Saturday

SPURGER — A community blood drive sponsored by the Blood Center of Southeast Texas will be held from 12:30-4:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 4, at the First Baptist Church in Spurger.

The Spurger event is designed to help the Beaumont-based blood bank obtain need blood supplies for the holiday season.

"The holidays are traditionally a time when regular donors are busy with holiday activities and they don't take the time to donate blood as regularly as they do throughout the rest of the year," said Sherry Combs, community relation coordinator for the blood center.

"This is an opportunity to make a difference. The 30 minutes it takes from the time you walk through the door until the time you leave could mean life or death to an area patient," she added.

Combs noted that a number of Spurger area organizations participate in the blood center's Group Benefit Plans (GBP) and their members are encouraged to turn out for the blood drive to support their organizations. GBP members include First Baptist Church, First United Methodist Church, Beech Creek Baptist Church, Spurger United Pentecostal Church, Pleasant Hill Baptist Church and TOPS

WOODVILLE — Tyler County Chamber of Commerce's directors have voted to present the 1993 'Business of the Year Award' to Wal-Mart "because of their community involvement and the matching funds money they've contributed to local charities," Chamber President Steve Porcari announced Monday.

The annual award will be formally presented to the department store during the chamber's annual membership banquet to be held in January.

Beaumont TV news personality Sally Reiger has been chosen as the featured speaker for the annual banquet.

Porcari also announced that the chamber directors have chosen Bob Belt, senior vice president of Citizens State Bank, to be the next chamber president. Emily Simmer, owner of the Homestead Restaurant in Hillister, was selected as the vice president-elect.

Both also will take office at the January banquet.

Belt is the senior vice president of Citizen's State Bank. He has been associated with various financial institutions in East Texas since 1957. The chamber's president-elect is a graduate of Chester High School, Sam Houston State University and Southwestern Graduate School of Banking

WOODVILLE—Christmas wish lists from area children are once again being sought for publication in a special "Letters to Santa" section of The Tyler County Booster.

Youngsters who wish to submit their letter to Santa Claus are invited to either drop them off at the newspaper office located at 205 W. Bluff in Woodville or mail them to Santa in care of The Tyler County Booster, P.O. Box 248, Woodville, Texas 75979.

The deadline for submitting letters is Dec. 16. They will be published in the Wednesday, Dec. 22, edition of the newspaper.

Decoration contest underway

WOODVILLE — A "Light Up Tyler County" holiday decoration contest is being sponsored this season by the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce to help promote the Christmas spirit.

Awards will be given for the best decorated yard, business and neighborhood blood with judging to take place between 6:30-9:30 p.m. the week of Dec. 13.

"If you would like to participate in the contest, please pick up an entry form from the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday through Friday," contest chairman Dee Perlitz said.

Deadline for entries is 1 p.m. on Dec. 10.

Prizes will be $50 for the best decorated individual yard, $50 for the best decorated business and a party for the neighborhood with the best decorated block.

For more information, contact the chamber at 283-2632.

Bluegrass Shopping and Twilight Tour to keep Village in seasonal mood

It's going to be a Bluegrass Shopping Extravaganza, all day Saturday, December 4, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

And what a day it's going to be with champion fiddler Smokey Butler and friends playing your favorite bluegrass. Music to listen to, dance or tap your toes to, shop to as the Village comes alive with a fabulous assortment of Christmas crafts brought to you by some of the area's finest craftspeople.

And admission is free.

At 4 p.m., the Village will close for a short time to get set for its evening Twilight Tour beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Again, no admission charge for an evening guaranteed to take you back in time, to the Christmases of long ago.

You'll stroll the Village streets aglow in the soft light of dozens of lanterns, as Christmas reaches out from every store window, every shop, every branch of every tree.

Informal carolling will be heard throughout the Village. Trinity Christian Center will bring their Living Nativity to the old cantilever barn from Pench ´tree, and spicy hot cider and Christmas cookies will be served in the Livery Stable, where Santa will be waiting for the whispered Christmas wishes of children.

The indoor program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Cherokee Church, beautifully decorated by Elmer Ray and Dorothy Oates, their daughters and son-in-law, who got a head start on the Trim-The-Village festivities by coming out last week to get their beautiful long leaf pine in place.

On the festive program will be Dale Gazzaway and Olivia Strban, mother and daughter in a flute duet, Charles Whitmer and the East Texas String Ensemble, congregational carolling led by Patsy Webber on the guitar, and the award winning Woodville High School choir.

A gift to the community by the Tyler County Heritage Society and Heritage Village Museum, the Twilight Tour is a definite must for all families, for children of all ages.

Do join us then, on December 4 throughout the day, and again in the evening from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. for a generous helping of old fashion Christmas spirit you won't soon forget.

Village ablaze

As we've said, Elmer Ray came early - several days early - to get things in place for Saturday's Trim-the-Village party. This go around, board member Oates sat back and let daughters Robbie Evans and Jill Davis, and son-in-law Steve Evans do the honors, deferring to recent surgery that still limits his activities but didn't keep him from "sitting" with Jill's two children, Ashlyn and Brandon, in whose eyes he saw the church come ablaze for the holiday season.

It also gave him time to work on his list of old time Cherokee Church members, whose names are being written on the white paper angels that share tree space with pine cones and red velvet ribbons. It is a sight to behold.

Starting off the day was Sandy Boettcher, who arrived at nine and was already busily tying bright red bows when the others arrived.

H. A. Harper was there all day, splitting the cedar tree he brought in to skirt the loading dock of the Hillister Depot before doing a bang up job at decorating the inside.

Durwood and Estelle Ling brought in loads of Yaupon berries to help them decorate the Post Office. Village staffer Charles Mayshaw and family put a holiday spin on the Sheriff's Office, where Charles does his official thing for special events such as this. Mary Hale decked out the Tolar Cabin on old fashion muslin angels and calico bowl, and Charles and Virginia Haynes did their usual great job on decorating the barber shop, an appropriate place for Barber Charles to be.

East Texas Blacksmith Association members Charles and Sharon Heathcock, who loaned us the old conestoga wagon in the Livery Stable, came in from their home in Dobbin to wrap the Blacksmith Shop in Christmas greenery.

Bill Stewart brought his grandchildren with him from Lufkin, believing that a school house should have the touch of children in its decorating, and they did it proud.

Cindy Alexander came out, helping wherever needed and in her role as Village Players president, recruiting for Village people to stroll the street during the Twilight Tour. Steve and Jo Porcari, who can always be counted on to put that holiday glisten on the main street, did it again, making it a long day as they switched gears into Steve's role as Chamber of Commerce proxy and the lighting of the square.

Brenda and Cindy Goode of Colmesneil were everywhere, Brenda working on a video she is producing as a college assignment as Sam Houston University, Cindy talking genealogy with Bill Stewart. Wanda Brasher was putting her Christmas touch on the Justice of the Peace office, and Aloha Freeland filled the window of the Turkey Creek Inn with a gaily decorated tree.

And in the midst of it all the big gates opened and here came John Robicheaux with a truck load of holiday greens, the very kind we had asked for. He drove right down the main street and distributed it to the delighted workers. Seems John, who like Elmer is having some back problems, knew he couldn't climb or stay on his feet for long. But he could gather yaupon, and he did, at the crack of dawn, so the Village workers would have plenty of pretties with which to work.

To all these we give our thanks for a beautiful Village, but we do have to pass on some special thanks to two ladies from Livingston. Opal Devenport and Arlyne Gibson arrived at the Village Saturday morning, said they liked what we were doing and wanted to be part of it. First thing they did was join the Heritage Society, then went to work, helping decorate the Village that they knew was part of their heritage as members. What a wonderful way to welcome themselves in.

And if you think all these folks didn't work up an appetite, Charlie Schultz, who manned the cookpot, can attest to the fact that they did indeed, consuming 10 pounds of chili and enjoying every bite of it.

Hear the bells

"Listen carefully and you can hear the bells," Sondra Walgren tells visiting school groups who come to the Cherokee Church on the days she is serving as a volunteer Villager.

Usually, after telling the sad, sad story that inspired its author, H. G. Stafford, Sondra simply plays the melody. But last week's children had a special treat, when Sondra was joined by Ofeira Gazzaway. Together they sang the sad words that brought tears to Ofeira's eyes. Sondra and Ofeira are both members of the Woodville United Methodist Church choir.

But back to the story. It seems that the author, after losing everything in the Great Chicago Fire of 1871, sent his wife and four daughters home to England. On their way across the Atlantic, their vessel was shipwrecked, and all four little ones were lost. Only the mother was saved.

The distraught father heard about the wreck but didn't know the fate of his family until he received a telegram from his wife, saying "I have arrived. STOP. I am alone. STOP."

On his way across the ocean to join his wife, Stafford asked to see the spot where the earlier ship had gone down. At that point, he asked the captain to ring the ship's bells in their memory. He did, and so the bells that can be heard in the hymn he wrote that very night.

Genealogists respond

It has finally happened.

Just when we were beginning to feel that perhaps we nag too much, someone listens. Someone says, hey, I can do that. I want to do that. That's right down my alley.

And that's what happened when Bill Stewart, already an avid genealogist, realized we were talking to him, when we continued to cry out for someone to take over the Genealogy Library at the Village.

Once he realized our message was for him, Bill responded quickly with a dedicated trip to the Village and a prolonged visit to our library to see where we stood.

Meanwhile, Bill wasn't the only one who stopped and took notice. Max Sniffen, who with his Helen recently returned from their annual summer hiatus in Maryland, also realized that this was an area in which he could be of service to the Heritage Society and its need to expand and share its historical information with those in search of their family roots.

Two good men who can be of great benefit to our society and to the library that brings so many visitors to our Village. If you had wanted to help but didn't want to be the first to step forward, now's the time to do so. We've got a couple of good leaders who can use your help.

An oops and a reminder

In a recent report of the 300 plus children who came to us on Kids Day, Martha Hamel was listed as spinning and weaving on the Tolar Cabin front porch. Actually, it was Park Ranger Irene Hamel.

But it is Martha Hamel, Irene's mother, who will teach the Pine Needle Basket Weaving class at the Village on December 20. So mark you calendar.

Richards', Bullock's records sought

By Lyndell Williams and Ed Sterling
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — As defense preparation begins, U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison's attorneys want to take a look at telephone, campaign and other records of Gov. Ann Richards and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock.

Ralph Warren, an investigator for Dick DeGuerin of Houston, who heads Hutchison's defense team, made the open records requests last week in letters to Richards and Bullock.

Warren asked for billing records of telephone lines in their offices used for non-state business, copies of their daily schedules and copies of campaign solicitation letters and thank-you notes to contributors.

DeGuerin declined to say why the defense team wants the records because it would be "improper to discuss defense strategies."

But David Beckwith, the senator's spokesman, said lawyers hope the records will show that things Hutchison is accused of are common practices among public officials in Austin.

"We want to see what the standard of conduct is around the executive offices of Texas state government," Beckwith said.

Legal Defense Fund Approved

Meanwhile, Sen. Hutchison's staff announced the establishment of a defense fund to help pay for legal expenses incurred by a grand jury investigator into allegations that she misused her previous office as state treasurer.

Beckwith said the Senate Ethics Committee had approved her legal defense fund.

He said Hutchison's legal expenses could total more than a half million dollars if she is re-indicted on official misconduct charges.

Previous grand jury indictments were thrown out after it was discovered that one of the jurors was unqualified to serve. A second grand jury is considering the case.

Mauro to Seek Fourth Term

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro announced his candidacy last week for a fourth term in the office he has held since 1982.

Mauro, a Democrat, said he hopes to continue promoting the use of natural gas-powered vehicles, oil spill legislation and recycling, and to fully implement an economic and environmental plan for the Gulf Coast area.

The land commissioner's office oversees 20.5 million acres of state-owned land. The General Land Office, under Mauro's oversight, has deposited $2.5 billion in the Permanent School Fund for education.

Treasures in time found in great-grandmother's home

By Darby Kethan

Cradling a treasure he had found in the bedroom where he was staying, my son said, "Mom! Can you imagine how much this would cost in an antique shop? Staying here is like living in a time capsule!" His voice, full of awe, let me know that he was finding his Great Grandmother's home as exciting and as much fun as I always had.

In another time, while my Grandmother was alive, I worshipped my beloved aunt because she shared with me just such little treasures and trinkets. "Mother, I just love my Aunt Dot; she gives me all her old stuff she doesn't want any more!"

Grandmother and Mother have gone on, Aunt Dot and I are both much older and the children are another generation, but little has changed about the house where my Mother lived, married and visited almost every year for as long as I can remember.

It is hard to imagine living nearly 60 years in the same place! That sense of timelessness contributes much to the peaceful and serene feeling of the home in Oklahoma where four girls grew under the loving and militant eye of my Grandmother Hurt. She, who had been born in Indian Territory, instilled in her girls the values and nurturing abilities passed on to her from her Mother, Granny Bird.

From the tales told of this long ago pioneer woman, I doubt even famed Oklahoma weather or Indians ever daunted her! Most of the pictures, lovingly pasted into books, of my Grandmother and her siblings were taken by this amazing woman who photographed her husband walking their crying baby to try out her newfangled black powder flash! Because of her, these relatives from long ago live on in the steady gaze of the earnest merchant, the dapper young man sporting a cane who I later knew as the staid but twinkle-eyed Grandfather I adored, and the sad, sweet-smiling infant portrait of the daughter who didn't survive to adulthood. Sixty years seem but a snap of the fingers in such a place.

We played cards in front of the fireplace in the room where my Mother was married 50 plus years ago and heard tales from the aunts about the tricks they played on her as she sat courting my father! My son slept in the bed where his Great Grandfather was born, one hundred and eight years ago and read books left on the shelves as if just yesterday given to his Grandmother, "with love, to Betty, from Mother, 1920". We heard with what anticipation they awaited the first grandchild's arrival and how carefully they examined her to be sure that she (MIS) was "all there"! On every table, in every drawer, atop each mantle, or hanging on walls, everywhere are found pictures, mementos, trinkets, exquisite glassware, photographs, books, furniture, linens and clothing. These objects are not artistically arranged antiques to simulate another era, but treasures used and enjoyed every day by those who call this home. In the truest sense, this is history, living and real, a continuing story of family and place.

Why is this "going back", this "returning to roots" so important? Because what we saw happen with our son has happened before, in another generation, and can only happen again through him! We heard the confidence in our son's voice as he began to identify his Grandmother-as-a-child in the books of family photographs, the wonder he expressed over the lifestyles and occupations of his "ancestors", and the enthusiasm he showed, not "polite-but-please-be-over-soon" but genuine interest in these long-ago folks who became real through the eyes of the aunts. Through this young man's interest the next generation of young adults will come to know how important they were to those who came before them. As this boy becomes a "twinkle-eyed" and beloved Granddaddy to a whole new group of kids, he will instill in them a sense of history, a sense of place, a feeling of belonging. And it is just this, that all important sense of belonging, of feeling important, of being cared for and about, that is the most important reason for each of us having our own "time capsule".

Holiday entertaining? Keep food safety in mind

By Sherry Jeanes
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

Delicious food is often a special part of Thanksgiving, Christmas and other holiday events. Entertaining for family or friends on a small or large scale is fun, but often demanding, and definitely needs to be done with food safety in mind.

When planning a large scale event, keep in mind that preparing and handling large amounts of food will take planning ahead of time for safe preparation, storage and serving. If large quantities of food will be prepared ahead of time, quickly cool and refrigerate them. Divide into portions and store in shallow containers. Deep containers increase the time the center of a pot of food stays warm, encouraging bacterial growth. Consider the amount of refrigerator space available.

If perishable foods are picked up from a deli or purchased from a caterer, transport them quickly to your refrigerator where they should remain until serving time. If you're purchasing a large quantity of food items such as meat trays or any perishable foods, ask that they be packaged in small portions, or do this when you get home. By doing this, you can replace trays often at the party event and not leave one large tray out for too long.

If holiday meals are served buffet style, this may mean that the food remains on the table as guests come and go. This is not the safest situation as foods left at warm room temperatures are susceptible to bacterial growth that causes foodborne illness. Plan serving times so that perishable foods do not remain at room temperature for more than two hours. Use smaller portions on the serving table, and replace them often from the heat source in the kitchen or from the refrigerator.

On the serving table, or in the kitchen, keep hot foods hot. Chafing dishes may or may not keep foods at the necessary temperature at 140 degrees F. or above. Keep cold foods cold on the table by nestling serving containers in beds of ice.

When replenishing foods on the buffet, it's best to replace containers, rather than putting fresh food in a container that contains food that has been sitting out, especially if the food has been at room temperature.

Make your holiday events special and food safe by following safe food handling practices. If it is an event to remember, make it a pleasant one. Protect you and your guests from foodborne illness.

The deadline for submitting news items to the Tyler County Booster is 5 p.m. on Mondays.

Welcome to My World

Oak Shade, Texas

My father and grandmother live in the southeastern corner of Polk County, between Segno and Kountze. The tiny little place where they live is listed about once every 10 years by the Texas Almanac as the community of Oak Shade, Texas, population 27.

There aren't any signs on the highway, the nearest gas is 14 miles away, and there aren't any churches, but the small collection of farm houses and old oil workers' shacks still house a handful of people who refuse to leave the place they know only as "the Gulf Camp."

Absolutely no one I have ever met in Oak Shade even knows that the community was ever called Oak Shade. My grandmother called it East Segno, after the oil fields. Most other people are satisfied to be clumped in with the rest of the Segno community, which is really six miles up the road.

Of course, it still tickles me to see, while researching something in the library, a reference to Oak Shade, Texas. Sometimes it'll be a listing in the older almanacs, other times a name on a county map. Once, I saw the name on a state geographic map. Every once in a while, someone in the map-making departments of the state will find an old reference to the community and, for a little while, put it back on the map for people to glance over.

Some people may find it incredible that such a place is even mentioned anywhere. When I looked in an old book of Polk County history, the entry for Oak Shade only mentioned that in about 1903, a post office was begun there. There is no record of when the post office was closed, nor as to the founding of the community. Those who I talk to say Oak Shade was born with the oil boom, but the small amount of ready oil in the Segno fields petered out fast.

People from Harmony, or New Hope, or old Hardin, or Ariola, or a dozen other places around the Thicket can understand why I wrote about this splotch on old maps. Even the inhabitants don't know they live in Oak Shade, but they and communities like them make up a surprisingly number of our area's citizens. These towns are small, insignificant, and indeed about to vanish, but they are a part of our Thicket heritage, and something we as Texans ought to cherish.

(Dedicated to the Jordans, the Browns, the Crosbys, the Merrimans, the Murphys, the Hendrixes, the Youngbloods, and especially the Overstreets who live or lived in the Gulf Camp, or Oak Shade, Texas.)

Sales tax income up by 13.8%

WOODVILLE — For the second consecutive month, Tyler County's sales tax income continued to increase over 1992 levels, rising in November by 13.8 percent, according to a report issued by Texas Comptroller John Sharp.

The latest payment to the county was $26,775.50, which is $3,247.53 more than the $23,527.97 received in November 1992.

The November increase followed a 9.6 percent rise in October and a 9.8 percent decline recorded in September. The September decrease came after two consecutive months of a 40-plus percent increase in county sales tax revenue. July's $19,883.36 check was 47.7 percent ($6,422.58) more than was received the previous year while August's $32,545.42 was up by 44.1 percent ($9,956.56) over the August 1992 payment.

The latest check is the 11th received under the current county budget and brings the 1993 total to $237,007.80. The current total represents a 10.4 percent ($22,340.33) increase from the $214,667.47 received during the same 11 month period of 1992.

The current 1993 total represents over 118 percent of the $200,000 the county projected it would collect in its current budget.

Last year, the county's .5 percent sales tax generated a total of $236,978.89.

In addition to the increase in county income, Sharp's report also listed higher payments to the cities of Woodville and Colmesneil although Chester's check reflected a decrease.

The City of Woodville's November payment of $53,642.27 was 3.1 percent (or $1,616.03) more than the $52,026.24 check received in November 1992.

Since Jan. 1, Woodville has collected $451,430.79 from the tax, a figure which is about 3.6 percent ($15,491.92) more than the $435,938.87 received during the same 11 month period last year.

Although the latest check is the 11th the city has received this calendar year, it is the second the city has received since its budget year began on Oct. 1. Thus far this fiscal year, Woodville had collected $89,208.38 from the tax, a figure which is 8.3 percent (or $6,828.44) more than the $82,379.94 collected during the first two months of the 92-93 fiscal year.

Colmesneil, which has a 1 percent sales tax rate, received an November payment of $3,220.06, a figure which is 26.7 percent more than the $2,541.32 received one year earlier. Thus far this year, Colmesneil has collected $21,590.62 in sales tax revenue, a figure which is 20.5 percent ($3,675.26) more than the $17,915.36 received during the same period of 1992.

Chester, which also assesses a 1 percent sales tax, received an November payment of $900.58, which represents an 20.2 percent ($227.39) decrease from the $1,127.97 received one year earlier. Since Jan. 1, the city has received $6,187.79 from the tax, a figure which represents about a 1 percent ($64.71) decrease from the $6,252.50 received during the same period last year.

The city and county sales tax payments are collected by local merchants along with the state sales tax and turned over to Sharp's office on a monthly, quarterly or annual basis. Sharp then rebates the local share of the tax to cities and counties each month.

The November sales tax payments include taxes collected on September sales and reported to the comptroller in October by businesses filing monthly returns. The payment also includes quarterly payment filed on taxes collected in July, August and September.

Sharp noted that the local payments were sent as part of $1188.4 million in November sales tax rebates to 1,072 Texas cities and 109 counties, a 16.2 percent increase over payments made in November 1992.

Texas cities received $171.6 million in payments, up 16 percent from the $147.8 million they received one year earlier. Counties received $16.7 million in rebates, a 17.4 percent increase from the November 1992 total of $14.3 million.

"Our state's total employment has rising an impressive 2.2 percent in the past year," Sharp said in the report, "with the Austin and San Antonio metro areas leading the pack in employment growth."

The city of Houston received $25.6 million, the largest sales tax rebate for November, which was up 9.9 percent over the city's $23.2 million received one year earlier.

"While the Houston metro area continued to experience an employment slump, increased consumer confidence was reflected by increased spending," Sharp said.

The $16.2 million November payment to Dallas was the second largest payment for the month, up 10.2 percent from the $14.7 million for the same period last year.

"The Dallas metropolitan area continues to show healthy growth," Sharp said. "Slight employment setbacks due to the closing of the Superconducting Super Collider are expected, however, due to the area's diverse economy, the setbacks should be minor."

San Antonio continued in its role as a leader in economic growth, reflected by a $9 million sales tax rebate, a 15.5 percent increase over the November 1992 payment of $7.8 million.

"The Alamo city ranked second behind Dallas in the total number of new jobs, with employment gains concentrated in services as well as the wholesale and retail trade sector," the comptroller said.

The city of Austin's payment of $6.8 million this month ranked as the fourth highest rebate, a 13 percent increase over its November 1992 payment of $6 million.

Fortune magazine recently ranked Austin fifth on its list of the nation's 'intellectual capitals'," Sharp said, "and, according to an international economic consulting firm, Austin's economic growth from 1990 to 1993 was higher than any other large U.S. metro area."

The city of Fort Worth with a $5.6 million rebate, increased by 18.1 percent from the $4.7 million payment of one year ago. Fort Worth's monthly sales tax allocation showed the largest percentage increase for the month of any of the state's major metropolitan areas.

Other East Texas cities which received November sales tax rebates included:

•Lufkin, which received $728,050.64. This represents about a 19.4 percent increase from November 1992 and brings the city's year-to-date total to over $5.7 million.

•Zavalla, which received $4,757. This represents a 14.5 percent decrease from the $5,562.94 received one year earlier and brings the year-to-date total to $29,880.71.

•Jasper, which received $141,519.13. This represents a 77.3 percent increase over the $79,797.33 received one year ago and brings the calendar year total to almost $1.2 million.

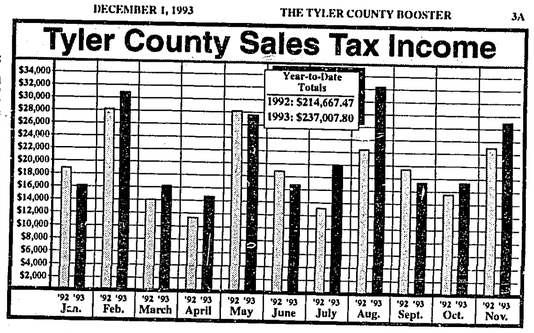
•Kirbyville, which received $17,233.65. This represents about a 2 percent increase over the $16,895.31 received one year earlier. Thus far this year, the city has collected $141,233.18 from the tax.

•Kountze, which received $14,629.30. This represents a 16.9 percent decrease from the $17,603.09 received one year earlier and gives the city a year-to-date total of $103,330.58.

•Silsbee, which received $77,599.96. This represents a 19.9 percent increase over the $64,697.76 received one year earlier. Thus far this year, the city has received $657,079.76 from the tax.

•Livingston, which received $145,680.33. This represents almost a 26.9 percent increase over the $114,793.35 received one year earlier. Thus far this year, Livingston has collected almost $1.4 million from the sales tax.

•Corrigan, which received $21,356.38. This represents about a 3.4 percent increase from the $20,648.49 received one year earlier. Thus far this calendar year the city has collected $127,338.51 from the tax.



Drug possession charges filed

WOODVILLE — Two Woodville residents were arrested on drug charges last week following joint investigations involving the Southeast Texas Narcotics and Intelligence Task Ford, the Woodville Police Department and the Tyler County Sheriff's Department.

Kennard Mitchell was taken into custody on Nov. 24 on a warrant charging him with delivery of cocaine following an undercover investigation.

The second suspect, Felicia Spears, was charged with possession of a small quantity of marijuana after officers executed a search warrant at her residence on Black Gum Street in Woodville.

In unrelated police activity last week, Reginald Taylor, 29, of Woodville was arrested on a warrant charging him with evading detention, according to Woodville Police Chief Scott Yosko.

Yosko said the warrant was issued in connection with an incident on Nov. 16 in which a police officer attempted to question two men on South Magnolia Street. When the officer attempted to talk to the two, they began to run. One of the men, Tyrone Devrit White, was seized by the officer while the second managed to flea the area on foot.

White was subsequently charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver after a bottle containing crack cocaine was found in his pocket.

Also arrested last week was Kenneth Willard Lewis, 51, of Woodville who was charged with assault following an incident involving his wife. Yosko said officers filed the assault charge after they were called to the Lewis residence in connection with a family disturbance complaint about 10:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 26.

Wedding slated Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Wayne Murray of Huntington have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Shannon Brooke Murray, to Billy Todd Hickman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Mac Hickman of Chester. The couple will be married Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Lakeview Baptist Church in Diboll. The bride-elect is the administrator of the Dogwood Trails Manor nursing home in Woodville and the groom-elect is a warehouse supervisor for Sam Houston Electric Co-op in Woodville.

New equipment in place at Keller Aluminum

WOODVILLE — From Keller's home office engineering drawing board to a precision piece of equipment in Woodville, takes the skill of a person with years of training and experience.

Recently completed, the new Jamb fabrication die for picture windows is being installed to add still another assembly line product to Keller's long list of storm doors, tub/shower enclosures, windows and French/veranda doors.

Joseph "J.D." Duhon, metal die/tool fabricator, was hired at Keller in June of 1966. During those years, his knowledge and expertise has grown as Keller's size has grown from its beginning in 1960 with less than 100 employees to now employing in it's peak season as many as 520 employees.

Duhon starts with an engineering schematic and works with either oil or air hardened tool steel. The steel is heated to a temperature of approximately 1450 - 1500 degrees, then quenched in oil and reheated at a cooler temperature to temper it. He watches the color of the metal as well as times the cooling stage to determine when the metal is ready for use. He then shapes, fits and totally builds the necessary machinery. This sometimes takes as long as sixty hours to get the proper parts cut.

Duhon says he enjoys the challenge and the creative aspect of his job. He also adds that he takes a lot of pride when he goes out into the factory and installs a new piece of equipment and instructs others on how to use it.

He is well liked at Keller and especially at the Keller Thanksgiving dinner when he brings his own spicy, Cajun rice dressing.

NEW EQUIPMENT — Joseph "J.D." Duhon, who has been employed at Keller Aluminum in Woodville since 1966, is shown manufacturing parts for the new Jamb fabricator die for picture windows that was recently installed at the local plant.

Hirsch to intern at Disney Park

BOULDER, Co. — Holly Hirsch, granddaughter of Mrs. James Shields of Woodville, has been accepted to participate in the Disney College Program for the spring semester in 1994. The program is a semester-long paid internship at Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fl.

Disney recruits students from universities throughout the United States and the world for the program. Those students chosen for the College Program share the Vista Way Apartments on the Walt Disney World Resort. Each week, Disney representatives present seminars on aspects of the company ranging from animation to public relations. At the end of the semester, students graduate with a "Mouseters Degree" or a "Ducktorate".

The students are "cast" in a "role" in one of the four Disney theme parks - Magic Kingdom, Epcot Center, MGM Studios, or Typhoon Lagoon Water Park. Hirsch has been cast as an Attractions Hostess for the semester.

A sophomore communications major at the University of Colorado at Boulder, Hirsch is an active member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, Student Organization for Alumni Relations, Student Campus Tour Guide, Student Ambassadors and the CU Ski Club.

She is a 1992 graduate of Trinity High School and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bubba Hirsch of Trinity.

Kenesson named 'Favorite Son'

WOODVILLE — Huntley Kenesson of Woodville was presented with the "Favorite Son" Award for 1993 during ceremonies Saturday, Nov. 27, at the Opera House in Woodville.

Kennesson, co-owner of J.B. Best and Co., was honored for his untiring and continuing efforts to revitalize downtown Woodville.

The award winner presided as chairman of the committee responsible for establishing the "Good Old Days" festival in 1986. The first Fall Festival was held on the square in 1987 and inspired other activities and festivals in downtown Woodville, including the annual Christmas lighting of the Tyler County courthouse.

Making the presentation were Tyler County Judge Jerome Owens and Precinct 1 Commissioner Maxie Riley. Owens reigned as "Favorite Son" in 1992 while Rile held the title of Good Old Days festival king in 1991.

The award was presented during a blue grass program held at the Opera House following the Light Up The Square ceremony Saturday.

Christmas gala slated Dec. 11

WOODVILLE — Music, door prizes, finger foods and more will be featured during the Senior Citizens Christmas Gala slated from 6:30-10:30 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 11, at the Tyler County Nutrition Center in Woodville.

Admission will be $2 and those attending are being asked to dress in formal or semi-formal attire.

Birthday celebration set Sunday

COLMESNEIL — A celebration honoring Falbia Durham on her 81st birthday will be held from 1-3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 5, at the Colmesneil Community Center.

The event is being hosted by Mrs. Durham's children.

Family and friends are invited to attend.

Daughter arrives Nov. 24

WOODVILLE — Rene Pate Philpott has announced the birth of a daughter, Miranda Danielle, who arrived on Nov. 24.

The child weighed five pounds, 15 ounces at birth and was 18.5 inches long. She was welcomed home by her big brother, Mark Dwayne.

Grandparents include Margaret and Jimmy Pate.

Warren students prepare for holiday

By Carlos Gonzalez, Editor-In-Chief and Amber Slau, Elementary Editor

The kindergartners had a great time going to see the 101 Dalmatians in November. They are now looking forward to the field trip to see The Nutcracker on December 10. If any parents would care to join the teachers and students to eat lunch in the field trip, they will be touring Parkdale Mall and looking at Christmas decorations.

The first grade will be taking part in the P.T.O. Christmas Program. The program will be held December 6 in the middle-school auditorium. The first graders are also looking forward to attending The Nutcracker at the Julie Rogers theater in Beaumont on December 10.

After a rocky start, Mrs. Addison's class has once again met it's November Book-It goal. This makes them two for two in effort to have 100 percent. The students are working hard to be awarded a pizza party!

Mrs. Reese's fourth grade class has meet new friends by exchanging letters with another fourth grade class in Archbold, Ohio! Mrs. Reese would also like to recognize the H.A.R.E. readers for the second six weeks. These students are: Marty Nash, Krystle Cox, and Laura Ramirez. Krystle Cox was also recognized for making a score of 100 on 19 straight tests!

During Thanksgiving week at Fred Elementary, students learned what Thanksgiving was all about.

The kindergartner classes had a popcorn "pow-wow" which was held on Nov. 23. The first and second graders started out by having a Thanksgiving feast which was held on November 23.

During the month of November, the Fred Elementary students learned all about what peer pressure can do. They watched a play called Pardner Pressure which was sponsored by the P.T.O. According to the teachers and staff, the students really enjoyed it.

There are a total of 24 Warren junior high and high school band students that qualified for the ATSSB All-Region Band on November 20. In junior high, there are eight from Warren: Jill Reese on flute, Kelly Neff and Rachel Elliff on B-flat clarinet, Shaun Sharp and Will Wiggins on alto saxophone, Coby Williams, Kyle Milner, and Tom Riley on trumpet, Kenneth Coons on trombone, and Jonathon Flocke on tuba. In high school, there are sixteen All-Region band members from Warren: Amanda Zeller, Angela Williams and Kasey Stunz on flute, Christine Heiman, Jennifer Atkinson, Emily Loupe, Lori McKee, Sommer Norwood, and Joyce Moore on B-flat clarinet, Nathan Frizzel and Tim Riley on alto saxophone, Jason Major on tenor saxophone, Jason Mauer on trumpet, Jay Linn on french horn, Trent Stockton on bass trombone, Carlos Gonzalez on baritone, Treyson Stockton on tuba, and Joseph Lowrey on snare drum. Fourteen of the high school region qualifiers are advancing to area competition. They are: Amanda Zeller, Angela Williams, Christine Heiman, Jennifer Atkinson, Emily Loupe, Lori McKee, Nathan Frizzell, Tim Riley, Jason Major, Jason Mauer, Jay Linn, Trent Stockton, Treyson Stockton and Joseph Lowrey. Congratulations to all of you!

The 1992-93 Warrior yearbooks will be available Thursday, Dec. 2 and can be picked up on that date. There are extra yearbooks available for $30. Any person that has a balance due needs to pay before receiving his or her yearbook.

Host families needed for foreign teens

LA JOLLA, Calif. — Foreign high school students will be arriving soon into the Woodville area for homestays, and the sponsoring organization urgently needs a few more local host families for their upcoming second semester programs.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.) Executive Director, John Doty, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18 years, have their own spending money, are fully insured and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families. P.I.E. currently has programs to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

P.I.E. representatives match students with host families by finding common interests and life-styles through an informal in-home meeting. Prospective host families are able to review student applications and select the "perfect match".

Families who host for P.I.E. are also eligible to claim a $50 per month charitable contribution deduction on their itemized tax returns for each month they host a sponsored student.

Woodville area families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting may call P.I.E., toll-free, at 1-800-631-1818.

Woodville girls favorite in Warren tourney

WARREN — The Woodville Lady Eagles are again tabbed as the odds on favorite in the girls division of the annual Warren Basketball Tournament which opens Thursday and continues through Saturday.

Woodville is the defending champion and has won the tournament crown for the past two years.

The Lady Eagles open tournament play against Lumberton beginning at 3 p.m. Thursday.

While Woodville is favored in the girls division, three time champion Hemphill is again favored in the boys bracket.

Hemphill also drew a bye in the first round and will meet Shepherd in second round play Friday at 7:30.

While Woodville and Hemphill get the favorites nod, host Warren, along with Colmesneil and Spurger, hope to take a trophy in the tournament.

The Warren boys open play against Beaumont Christian Academy at 7:30 Thursday evening, while the Spurger boys meet Jasper at 4:30.

In the girls division, Warren also meets Beaumont Christian at 6:30 Thursday in the junior high gym, while Spurger tangles with Kirbyville at 6:00 Thursday at the high school gym.

The Colmesneil girls meet the Warren junior varsity in first round action Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in the junior high gym.

Games continue Friday beginning at 3 p.m. again Saturday morning at 10 a.m.

The girls championship will be held Saturday at 1:30, with the boys title game to follow at 3:30.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Scholar-athlete nominations now accepted

DALLAS — High school seniors who are varsity athletes and excel in academics, leadership, and community service are invited to apply for the FINA/Dallas Morning News All-State Scholar-Athlete Team, sponsored by KDFW-TV, 96.3 KSCS, Southwest Airlines, and The Staubach Company.

Over the last nine years, dozens of Southeast Texas seniors have been named to the FINA Team, including Kweli Thompson of Houston Lamar, Bryan Hanna of Baytown Lee, Hahrie Han of Houston St. Agnes, Shelley Davenport of Crosby, Trey Ingram of Diboll, Mercedes Caravello of Pearland, Bonnie Benge of Eagle Lake, Nefertiti DuPont of Houston Lee, Jason Baxter of The Woodlands, Shane Tindall of Fairfield and Michael Krall of Spring.

Nominations from the public are now being accepted. College scholarships of $4,000 are awarded each year to twelve Texas high school seniors who make the Team. To be eligible, applicants must have a 90 grade average or better, be in the top 10% of their graduating class, and have a varsity letter in a UIL sport.

Nominations should be sent to FINA Public Affairs, P.O. Box 2159, Dallas 75221, and must include the student's name and address. Nominations may also be submitted by calling (214) 750-4111. Each nominee will receive an application form, which must be completed and returned by the Wednesday, December 15 deadline.

"Our purpose is to focus attention on the many outstanding high school scholar-athletes who are contributors to their schools and communities," says FINA President and Chief Executive Officer Ron W. Haddock. "That goal is best served by involving the public in the nomination process. Clearly, encouraging, recognizing and rewarding excellence and dedication in our youth is a worthy task for everyone."

Applications are also available from principals, senior counselors, National Honor Society advisors, and athletic directors at all accredited Texas public and private high schools.

Trotline seminar scheduled

DAM B — A seminar to instruct fishermen how to build a catfish trotline "that will last almost a lifetime" Will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 18, at the Martin Dies Jr. State Park, Walnut Ridge Unit day use area.

Sponsored by the Martin Dies Jr. State Park and Texas Conservation Passports, everyone who wishes to attend the "Trot and Drop" seminar will be required to have a Texas Conservation Passport, which may be purchased at the park headquarters prior to the event.

In addition, participants will pay a $1 fee if they register before Dec. 15. Those who register late will be required to pay a $2 fee.

In the event of rain, the seminar will be held in the dining hall located at Walnut Ridge.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY — Officials with Citizens State Bank, the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce as well as the Tyler County government were on hand Monday afternoon to help celebrate the 10th anniversary of the opening of the Citizens State Bank motor bank facility at the corner of West Bluff and Reid Street. Bob Belt, senior vice president of the bank, noted that Citizens State Bank first opened its doors in Woodville in 1920. County Judge Jerome Owens and Tyler County Chamber of Commerce President Stephen Porcari also were on hand to formally recognize the bank. (Photo by Greg Peak)

Individuals also may donate blood and cover themselves and their families in case there is a need for blood usage during the year.

The blood center official noted that during the last two community blood drives in Spurger, 70 donations were received. The center currently needs about 520 donors per week to meet the demand for blood.

Each person donating blood during the drive will receive a T-shirt and a family benefit plan valued at up to $500 coverage per person per year for blood services.

Donors must be in good health, between the ages of 17 and 75 and weight a minimum of 110 pounds. Donors also must have never had hepatitis or cancer and they cannot have coronary artery disease.

Chairmen for the Spurger blood drive are Ellis Jones, who may be contacted at 429-3252, and Mary Sheffield, who may be reached at 429-3613. In addition, more information may be obtained by calling The Blood Center of Southeast Texas at 838-5289.

at Southern Methodist University.

He is a past president of both the Woodville and Livingston Rotary clubs, the Polk County Chamber of Commerce and the Colmesneil Service Club. He has served on the boards of the Woodville Independent School District, the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Sam Houston State Alumni Association, the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Savings and Loan League.

He also served on the Tyler County Dogwood Festival's board of directors and was the organizer and first director of the festival's Western Weekend. He has been active in the Boy Scouts of America for over 40 years and was scoutmaster to the National Jamboree in 1981 and the World Jamboree in 1983.

In other business, the chamber elected five new three-year-term directors including: Eugene Koci of Gulf States Utilities; Tom Knapp of Knapp Ford Sales; Sumner; Sherry Jeanes, Tyler County Extension Agent-Home Economics; and Jeanie Buck of the Tyler County Women's and Children's Shelter. Their terms will end in 1996.

Missy Ogden was recognized as the new chamber secretary.

Chamber officials are calling for more submissions to help that organization select a 'Citizen of the Year' and an 'Honorary Citizen of the Year'. Persons may make their written recommendations to the chamber office located inside the Woodville Inn.

These honors also will be presented at the annual banquet.

Woodville Post Office slates extended hours

WOODVILLE — Woodville Postmaster Jim Barnhart announced this week that the Woodville Post Office will offer extended open hours to abate the holiday rush.

Barnhart said the extended hours would occur on two Saturdays, including Dec. 11 and Dec. 18, from 8 a.m. to noon. Normally the post office is closed on Saturdays.

Weekday hours from Dec. 13 through Dec 22 will be from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Flashing beacons approved

WOODVILLE — The installation of flashing highway beacons in both Warren and Spurger is now scheduled to be completed by the Texas Department of Transportation during the summer of 1994, according to Tyler County Precinct 4 Commissioner Henry Earl Sawyer.

Sawyer and Precinct 1 Commissioner Maxie Riley have been working for a number of year to have the flashing highway beacons installed at what have become dangerous road intersections in their respective precincts.

The Warren beacon in Riley's Precinct 1 will be located at the intersection of Highway 69 and FM 1943 East while the Spurger light in Sawyer's Precinct 4 will be at the intersection of FM 92 and FM 1013.

Sawyer said that when installed, the flashing red stop signals will face FM 1943 in Warren and FM 1013 in Spurger while drivers on both Highway 69 and FM 92 will see yellow caution signals.

* Holiday tours planned

admission fee.

The TFWC's holiday Tour of Homes will feature three area residences which will be open from 1-4 p.m. Saturday.

The Woman's Reading Club will sponsor the tour of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe DeLoney on Seneca Road while the Study Club members will serve as hostesses for the Lynette Grimes Taylor residence on Old Livingston Road. The Heritage Civic Club will showcase the Hamm House located at Heritage Village.

Tickets to visit all three homes are $5 and may be obtained from club members or at the door of the homes.

The DeLoney residence is located 1.7 miles down Seneca Road and overlooks a 14-acre lake with mirrors the dense woods surrounding it.

Originally part of a 600 acre plot acquired by a Mr. Read from a Mexican land grant, the site was inherited by his son, Sam Read, who built the original house in the early 40s.

Aubrey Raiford bought the home and enlarged it to 6,000 square feet as a "love token" for his wife, who had been ill. Raiford added a large swimming pool between the house and lake.

The DeLoneys have owned the home since 1991 and have added many decorative innovations. Each of the five bedrooms is artistically, tastefully and creatively decorated.

The Taylor home on Old Livingston Road was designed by Lynette Grimes Taylor and uses as a focal point two stained glass windows retrieved from the old Woodville Christian Church.

Much of the finishing work was performed by Taylor and her daughter, especially the cabinets and stair well. The dining room suite was her Grandmother Pope's and dates back to 1915. Also, the trunk in the upstairs foyer went through the Civil War and come from the Grimes family.

The Hamm house was built around 1876 and was given to the Tyler County Heritage Society by Molly Hamm and Charles R. Hamm Jr. in memory of Charles R. Hamm Sr.

A tour of this century-old restored home is designed to transport visitors to the "warm glow of Christmas past" with turn-of-the-century treasures of lace and nostalgic collectibles.

19th Annual Tyler County Booster

Best Rack Contest

11 POINTER-- Tracy Baumgarten, of Houston, dropped this good lookin' 11-pointer at the E.G. Sheffield Ranch near Wolf Creek on Nov. 24. The hunter has been hunting this location for some 14 years and finally brought home a winner. He used a Browning 7mm mag. and sighted in the deer at 6:45 a.m. The outside horn width measured 20.25 inches.

Grand Prize

New Winchester 22 Mag. lever-action
compliments of: Bob's Pawn Shop

2nd Prize - $50 Gift Certificate
compliments of: AB Gun Shop

3rd Prize - Texas Table Topper
compliments of: Pizza Hut

BRING YOUR ENTRY TO:
THE TYLER COUNTY BOOSTER OFFICE
205 W. Bluff, Woodville, Texas

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES:

1. All entries from Tyler County are eligible.
2. Frozen heads will not be accepted.
3. Deer must be tagged.

HOW WE MEASURE YOUR CONTEST ENTRY:

A. Number of points times 2.
B. Length of both beams from outside base to tip.
C. Beam spread at widest point.

*Each inch equals one point. Person with highest total score wins. (Antler point must be 1/2 inch to qualify.)

Church News

Christmas programs planned

FRED — A series of Christmas programs, including a living nativity scene and two plays, will be hosted by the Oak Grove Assembly of God Church located two miles north of Fred on FM 92.

The nativity scene program, entitled "Come to the Stable," will be held from 6-8:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 10-11, at the church. Free hot coffee and cocoa will be served.

In addition, the church's youth department will present a play, also entitled "Come to the Stable," at 6 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 12.

On Wednesday, Dec. 15, the children's department will present their play at 7 p.m. This production is entitled "Welcome! King Jesus."

The Rev. Wayne Watts, pastor, has invited the public to attend all three programs.

'Glory Road' concert scheduled

WOODVILLE — East Texas's own "Glory Road" will perform in concert at 6 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Woodville Convalescent Center, 102 N. Beech.

The concert is presented by the All American Gospel Music Association. Refreshments will be served during the intermission.

For additional information, call 283-2554.

Martin Family to perform Sunday

SILSBEE — The Martin Family Singers of Orange will perform a "Christmas Singing Sunday" during services at 9:45 a.m. and 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 12, at the Caney Head Assembly of God Church located on FM 2937 (Old Spurger Road) in Silsbee.

The five-member gospel family group received two first place trophies in the group division at the Louisiana Gospel Hayride in Leesville, La., in 1987-88. During the concerts, they will present trio, duet and quartet performances.

The public is invited to attend. For more information, call Pastor D.A. Calvin at 385-3807

Warren church honors pastor

WARREN — The Warren Fellowship Primitive Baptist Church will host a celebration honoring Bro. Woodrow Wilson from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 4.

Wilson has served as the church's pastor for the past 50 years and friends are invited through the press to attend the golden anniversary celebration. A lunch will be provided.

'Gospel Revival' performs Dec. 8

COLMESNEIL — The gospel singing group "Gospel Revival" from Lufkin will perform in concert beginning at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 8, at the Katy Baptist Church in Colmesneil.

Pastor Durl Patrick has invited the public to attend.

Singing program slated Dec. 9

COLMESNEIL — "Gospel Revival" of Lufkin and East Texas' own "Glory Road" will be the featured groups performing during a singing slated for 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 9, at the Agape Church in Colmesneil.

For more information, call 837-4434.

Some beneficiaries to pay higher income taxes

LUFKIN — Under the recently passed budget bill, some Social Security beneficiaries will pay higher taxes on their benefits. Other beneficiaries will pay the same rate they did last year, but most will still not have to pay taxes on their Social Security benefits.

The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993 increases the percentage of Social Security benefits that may be taxed from 50 percent to 85 percent for individuals with income over $34,000 and for couples filing jointly with income over $44,000. Individuals whose income is between $25,000 and $34,000 and couples with income between $32,000 and $44,000 will continue to pay taxes on up to 50 percent of their benefits.

The Social Security benefits of individuals whose income is below $25,000 and couples with income below $32,000 will remain un-taxed. Officials estimate that about 78 percent of all beneficiaries will not owe taxes on their benefits

Social Security changes set

LUFKIN — The cost of living (COL) increase for 1994 will be 2.6 percent for both Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI). This compares to a 3.0 percent in 1993. COL's are based on increases in the consumer price index (CPI). COL's during the past eight years have ranged from a high of 5.4 percent to a low of 1.3 percent.

For workers, the annual earnings base - the maximum amount of earnings on which Social Security tax is paid - increases from $57,600 to $60,600 in 1994. For most workers, this base increase will not mean more taxes because most workers do not have earnings this high. The increase in the wage base depends on the national change in average earnings levels from one year to the next. The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993 made all covered earnings subject to the Medicare portion of the Social Security tax.

The Social Security tax rate remains at 7.65% for workers and employers. The 7.65% represents 6.2% for Social Security and 1.45% for Medicare insurance. The 7.65% is paid on the employees gross earnings. The tax rate for the self-employed remains the same, also, at 15.3 percent and is paid on net earnings. Tax rates are legislated by Congress and thus not affected by changes in the economy, as is the base amount. Another change for 1994 involves the amount of earnings needed for a quarter of coverage (QC) - the measure of Social Security work credit. The amount of earnings for a QC will go from $590 to $620. This amount, like the base, is determined by the national average increase in earnings. A maximum of 4 QC's can be earned per year.

For those who work after retirement, more earnings are allowed in 1994 without loss of Social Security benefits. Those over age 65 may earn as much as $11,160 per year and receive all benefits. If under age 65, the limit is $8,040. At age 70, there are no restrictions on earnings. In 1994, as in 1993, for those over age 65 who exceed the earnings limitation, the loss in benefits will be $1 for every $3 over. The loss of $1 in benefit for every $2 over the limit remains in effect for those under 65.

For workers who retire in January, 1994, the maximum Social Security benefit increases from $1,128 to $1,147 a month. For all retired workers the average benefit will rise from $657 to $674. The average benefit for aged couples increases from $1,111 to $1,140 and a widowed mother with children from $1,282 to $1,316. The Aged widow(er)s benefit average rises from $615 to $631.

For more information about 1994 changes, or about any Social Security matter, take advantage of Social Security's toll free number 1-800-772-1213.

Haley testifies before Public Utility Commission

AUSTIN — State Senator Bill Haley (D-Center) recently testified before the Public Utility Commission relating to recently-passed legislation aimed at expanding the long distance calling area for many rural portions of the state.

The legislation, Senate Bill 632, was designed to address the calling needs of residents of cities in nearby or neighboring telephone exchanges.

"Historically, people in some rural areas of the state have not had toll free local telephone calling that is consistent with the services provided to some metropolitan area customers," said Senator Haley. "For instance, some elderly residents in a rural area have to call long distance to a metropolitan area 20 miles away so reach their doctor. Children in some rural schools have to place long distance calls to reach their parents at home when the child is ill. Some people who work fewer than 20 miles from their homes have to pay long distance rates to reach their workplace. These were just some of the inequities addressed by Senate Bill 632."

The legislation mandated toll-free local calling areas in Texas to be at least 22 miles between exchanges. A calling scope was to be set up to 50 miles if there is a community of interest - a relationship because of schools, hospitals or local business centers - and if the residents would labor under a hardship if those entities were unavailable.

Senator Haley said the legislation provides that toll-free boundaries may only be expanded after the filing of a petition signed by the lesser of five percent of the subscribers or 100 subscribers within an exchange. After such a petition is received, the local exchange company must provide for an election involving its subscribers within that area. If 70 percent of those responding vote for the proposal, the PUC must consider the request.

The local exchange company may recover its costs for expanding its service by charging a monthly fee of not more than $3.50 per line for residential customers and not more than $7 for business customers and/or a monthly fee for toll-free calling service for all of the local exchange company's local exchange service customers in the state in addition to the company's local exchange rates. The fee would be dropped following the next rate hearing.

However, since passage of the bill during the 73rd Legislature, implementation of the legislation has been stalled because of controversy over the Public Utility Commission's proposed rules relating to the legislation. The PUC was charged with the job of approving rules to provide for hearings to allow the expansion of the toll-free calling areas.

The Commission has held hearings in recent weeks to address questions that have arisen regarding the rules proposals. "The problem we have is getting the PUC to keep the whole process simple," Senator Haley said.

"I had many letters and petitions during the last legislative session from Constituents asking for help in expanding the local calling area," said Senator Haley. "An elderly resident of Kirbyville should not have to call long distance to his or her doctor in Jasper when Jasper is only 20 miles away.

I supported Senate Bill 632 during the session and will continue to do what is necessary on behalf of those constituents to see that the legislation is implemented. All we are asking is that the Public Utility Commission be fair in setting the rules relating to this legislation."

Once the PUC approves the rules relating to SB 632, the legislation may be implemented within 30 days.
