Tyler Co. Truck Growers in Saturday Assn'l Meeting

Last Saturday was a red letter day for the membership of the Tyler County Truck Growers Association, as about fifty-five farmers and several business men were present, and some very interesting talks were made in regard to planting, cultivation and marketing the different vegetable crops. We have now about 80 acres apiece up for the radish crop, about 25 acres for tomatoes and it looks as though Tyler County farmers have decided to raise something besides cotton.

The fertilizer is here and the radish seed will be in today. There will be another meeting Saturday, February 6th at the courthouse, and it is hoped a representative crowd will be present.

J. W. GETSINGER, Sec.

THINK IT OVER

At this time of the year about 80 percent of the mail handled at the postoffice is catalogues from mail order houses located from the breezy Gulf to Cape Cod, all seeking more business.

A Wood county merchant remarked a few days ago "that they are entitled to part of the business." We asked this merchant to explain his remark. And here is what he said.

"Every year the mail order houses sent out catalogues. They are constantly seeking new business and are working hard to retain their old customers. And what are we doing? Very often we kick about spending a small amount for advertising, when we should be going after the business every week, planning and laying out advertising in a manner to attract the buyer. We should constantly keep in touch with our customers the same as the mail order houses, until we do this, we cannot expect to get more than the scrub pig's portion."

There is much common sense in this merchant's remark, and we know there are many people who will not agree with him, saying that they see their customers in person. This may be so, but the wise and aggressive merchant knows that today you have to go out and seek. The above remarks are worth thinking over.—Wood County Democrat.

Bayou University will receive an A. B. Degree at Baylor University and an M. D. Degree at Memphis, Tennessee.

Dr. Beddoe married Miss Addie Buckner, daughter of the late Dr. R. E. Buckner, in 1881. A son, Dr. Robert E. Beddoe, of Dallas, survives.

The elder Mr. Beddoe was for a number of years, connected with the Buckner Orphan Home, assisting the founder in the formative period of that institution. He was very active in Baptist church work. His chosen life work was that of the practice of medicine and deeds of benevolence. In connection with a number of other physicians perhaps one of the most important actions of his life was the founding of the Baylor Medical College.

That school formerly was known as the University of Dallas, medical department, but later was taken over by Baylor University. It is now a unit of Baylor University. At the school Dr. Beddoe founded the chair of diseases of children and was professor for many years. He also built up the free clinic of the college in connection with Baylor Hospital, being its chief of clinic for years.

Dr. Beddoe was an active member of Masonic organizations. He was a past patron of the Order of Eastern Star, past high priest of a Royal Arch Chapter and a past noble grand of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Mrs. Beddoe died about a year and three months ago. A brother, Theophilus Beddoe lives in Mexico City and a sister, Mrs. J. E. Todd of Dallas, also survives.

POSILUTELY, AMOS

A little while ago we printed some lines showing the queer words one comes across while "fossilizing round in the dictionary." Apropos, a lady in Florida sends us the following brief exercise in unusual English. Some of our readers may enjoy translating it into the vernacular:

"He abstrerged his glasses with an insouciant air amid the apoplectic of his fellows, and was enough of a scollist, now that he was manumitted, to enjoy it as he would the sapidity of a ripe peach."—Boston Transcript.

Life of Joe Bailey To Appear in April

A biographical work which should be of special importance to Texas readers is announced by the Macmillan Company for publication in April. It is a biography of Senator Bailey by Sam H. Acheson, a Dallas newspaper man.

For 20 years a democratic leader and a conspicuous figure in Texas politics as well as in national politics, Senator Bailey is worthy of a biography. "Acheson's book," says the announcement in the Macmillan catalogue, "is thoroughly documented by newspapers, official and private, and important manuscripts. The style vigorously reproduces the political atmosphere and ready methods of Bailey. Not only in this a political leader but a distinct American history, it is a valuable leader."

Senators Acheson, A. B. DeLoach, and John W. Sullivan are the authors of "The Life of Senator Bailey." The book is published by Macmillan.

Texas Cotton Co-Operative Head Predicts Doom of Cotton Exchange

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 29.—The doom of cotton and grain exchanges, with attendant short selling, was predicted Thursday by R. J. Murray, general manager of the Texas Cotton Co-Operative association, at the annual meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau federation.

"Let the members of the American Cotton Shippers association, who have been 'gunning' the co-operatives, open their books to a congressional investigation committee and compare their present salaries, costs and services to those of the co-operatives," he challenged.

"Why should they object to opening their books just as they wish the co-operatives to do? Let us have a general investigation, put all the cards on the table. Let us once and for all get a clear picture of the cotton situation."

He questioned whether the cotton shippers have ever done anything to help raise the standard of American cotton, or increase its consumption, or increase prices paid the producer, or to induce producers to use better seed, or to obtain lower freight or insurance rates.

E. F. Creekmore of New Orleans, vice president of the American Cotton Co-Operative association, also urged a congressional investigation of the entire cotton industry. He strongly defended the accomplishments of the federal farm board. He criticized enemies of the farm board, saying their attacks were unjustified.

Turning to the crop situation, he estimated that the 1932 production would amount to about 11,000,000 bales, which he said would be carried over intact to the next season, because there would be a carryover of about 13,000,000 bales from the 1931-32 season.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The support of President Hoover for a uniform plan of acreage reduction in cotton in the south was asserted Thursday by Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, after a conference at the White House.

Smith said proposals now were contemplated to secure contracts with individual growers for acreage reduction in states which have not passed laws to that effect.

Efforts are being made by senators from North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, Smith said, to have those states join in the acreage reduction agreement already enacted by the five other principal cotton producing states.

chambers membership campaign April 1-15 were also considered at the meeting of the committee.

RATS PERIL AFRICAN COTTON
Dar-es-Salaam, Jan. 30.—Millions of rats have invaded cotton fields in Central Tanganyika and farmers' associations, backed by chambers of commerce, are asking the government to launch a anti-rat campaign.

OUR COURTS

I have been attending the sessions of our district court this week. The criminal docket was taken up Monday, and all sorts of colors of people are there, from all parts of the county. As I observed and listened some thoughts came to me which I am going to set down here.

First, our laws and court procedure are framed too much to favor the criminal and not enough to protect the law-abiding people. Some just strong law is passed, is violated, the violator is brought before the court, but through certain methods of court procedure and technicalities the state as represented by the prosecuting attorney is prevented from bringing out all the facts, and the offender escapes punishment. The outlooker is impressed that the trial is a contest of wits between the opposing counsel, a legal sparring match, rather than a morally defensible attempt to punish the guilty. Men are sometimes fined long as they are worthy of respect.

But a thinking man who has sat in a U. S. court and heard a federal judge sit as a real judge and exercise his prerogative to ask questions from the bench in order to bring out the facts in the case, cannot feel a contempt for the method of procedure in our state district courts. Justice miscarries too often.

Another impression is that our jury system is not the boon we were taught in the school books to believe it is. The less a man knows, the less he reads, the better qualified he is to be a juror. If that he has formed no opinion about some widely advertised case, if he knows about the case and the facts of the case, one day being wound and unwound, drawing their $3 per day of the tax money, when many of them need to be at day, and all sorts of colors of people are there, from all parts of the county. As I observed and listened some thoughts came to me which I am going to set down here.

The people of this county may congratulate themselves that they have a good district judge and an efficient district attorney. They are not acquainted with the methods of the attorneys at law, but they are

Wallace Beery to be Here for First Time in "Champ"

Comes to Crescent Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Playing a father on the screen in a story of paternal love is a new experience for Wallace Beery, who usually draws such roles as Butch in "The Big House." But after he did it in "The Champ," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new attraction coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to the Crescent Theatre, he decided he liked it.

"In fact," says Beery, "I have half a mind to adopt a lot of youngsters. I could give them bats and baseballs and give 'em a buck every time they broke one of the neighbors' windows." Which argues that fashionable Beverly Hills ought to hope he'll change his mind about that.

"I've worked with children before in short scenes here and there, but when they told me I was to play with Jackie Cooper in a picture where we work together almost the entire time, I had misgivings," relates Beery. "You see, it's so unusual in my type of work. But I got the biggest surprise of my life. Jackie is as seasoned a trooper as an actor with years of experience. I had seen him in 'Skippy' of course, but had no idea of what he could really do until I saw him work in the emotional scene in the cell, and in the death scene, in this picture. His dramatic sense almost passes belief."

"When I used to direct, I found out that the child is always a natural actor and that if you can explain the meaning of an emotion to him, he can portray it. But here is a youngster who in his brief life could never have experienced the emotions that he had to portray. The way he did it was a constant source of amazement to all of us on the set."

"The Champ" tells a vivid human interest story of a former prize fighter and his small son, living in a border town where the ex-fighter is trying to make a "comeback." The old fighter's sacrifice to get a "break" for the boy, the great love of the two and the vivid climax are surrounded by thrills and racing and fighting. The cast includes Irene Rich, Rosee Ates, Edward Brophy, Hale Hamilton, Jessie Scott and Marcia Mae Jones.

Plans in Shape for Link of Beaumont-Dallas Highway 40

Austin, Texas, Jan. 27.—County Judge J. E. Sturrock of Tyler county announced here tonight that plans are in shape for a probable order at the February meeting of the highway commission for the immediate building a 10-mile stretch of the Beaumont-Dallas short-line highway from the new Nichols river bridge to Colmesneil so as to put the newly-completed bridge into use.

Judge Sturrock took part in the conference of county judges with the highway commission, banking department and attorney general in which a plan was worked out to carry on highway work and permit county warrants to be held temporarily uncashable so as to avoid forcing bonds on an adverse market.

MRS. TROTTI DIES AT JASPER

Jasper, Texas, Jan. 29.—Funeral services for Mrs. Cleora Trotti, 61, mother of Mrs. Lamar Hart of Beaumont, will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the family residence. Mrs. Trotti was born in Jasper county December 3, 1870, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ferguson. She was married to Dr. Trotti in 1889 and moved to Jasper from Nona, Texas. She was active in the work of the Baptist church and women's civic organizations.

Surviving besides the daughter are three sons: R. S. Trotti of Perry, Oklahoma; W. A. Trotti of Fort Worth; L. C. Trotti of Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia; and three daughters: Wilma Ferguson of Woodville, Texas; Mrs. W. E. Ferguson of Hamlin, Texas; and K. J. Ferguson of Barstow, Miss. The children were here when she died.

COACH "TILLY" HORS DE COMBAT

If you want to see a broad smile just ask "Tilly" Telford why he is navigating about on a pair of perfectly good crutches—they're minus about three inches. Anyway it seems the coach was tackled by blacked or something they do in football practice by one of the night-heavyweights whom he is coaching and setting ready for the 1932 Eagle team. The injury is to his ankle but nothing serious. Just one of the things that do happen to a fellow who tries to keep in condition by showing the youngsters how.

CHARLES JUSTICE DEAD AT SHELBY, TEXAS

Surviving are his wife, little daughter, Helen, of Shelby and father, John Justice of Warren and three sisters.

Funeral services were conducted by a Warren minister.

Burial was in the Gates cemetery near Warren with the Masons in charge of the services at the grave.—Shelby Bee.

Attys. Sturrock and Sandlin in First Supreme Court Case

Attorneys Sturrock and Sandlin are in Austin to appear before the Supreme Court in an appeal case. The suit originated near Palestine in Anderson county, and was tried in the County Court at Palestine. "Oce Sam" Riley and others were tried on a cotton stealing case, and Riley was convicted and sentenced to a two-year stretch in the state penitentiary.

He Didn't See His Shadow Tuesday

Tuesday was ground hog day and it would have taken anybody's athletic, gymnastic, acrobatic, stalwart, muscular and even pantheistic imagination, after he had corralled the ground hog, to see, perceive, desery, observe or note a colossal, enormous, gigantic, prodigious or Titanic, or on the other hand, locate a small, minute, weazened, dwarfed or antrophied shadow.

What we mean is this—the day was cloudy, the sun was not shining, and Candlemas day—the day the ground hog cocks his eye for a glimpse of the world, likewise his forehead, and under-eye dark, and if tradition proves up, we're to have an early spring and be relieved from the so-called winter weather, a winter, which so far, has not produced an honest-to-goodness killing frost.

OVER 100 MORE POLL TAXES PAID THAN IN 1930

As the Booster goes to press Tax Collector Spurlock, not yet having recovered from the last minute rush, is unable to tell the exact number of poll tax receipts issued. "This year," said Mr. Sturrock, "there are in the neighborhood of 1,600 who have 1932 poll tax receipts. It is understood that this will give a total vote at the July primary of approximately 1,800, counting the over and under-age voters in the county. One of the reasons of the extra number of poll taxes this year over 1930 is because this is general election year.

Candidates for County offices can very easily figure the number of voters they will have to solicit before the July primary—and they are getting ready to move out into the byways and highways to "do their stuff."

EDITOR OF METHODIST PUBLICATIONS DIES

Nashville, Feb. 2.—Dr. Charles De Haven Ellis, 70, associate editor of publications issued by the board of Christian education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died here Friday.

Dr. Ellis was born in Nashville, Tennessee, and was educated in the same city. He was a member of the Nashville Board of Christian Education and was active in the work of the church.

Since the close of the world war there has been up and going to prepare themselves against another invasion. The balance of the world has not looked with favor upon these acts of preparedness and defense, but when washed in another light, one can blame France after what Germany did to a peace conclusion, but France is now on top of the world. It is very apt to start anything in their direction. China will be under the same kind of attack as the Japanese and if the integrity of the Chinese nation is to be upheld that country will have to added.

Fifth Sunday Services

A very splendid service was enjoyed Sunday night at the M. E. church. Mayor Wheat, Jay Kelley, B. B. Martin and Mrs. Alice Pope were the speakers of the evening and other remarks were made by local pastors. Prof. Monroe Tolter and Mrs. J. E. Anderson brought out many thoughts of interest on the age old subject of "The Golden Rule." While before Christ the law was "An Eye for an Eye, and a Tooth for a Tooth," the Saviour spent his short life earnestly, lovingly and insistently to prove that His way was to love one another, to feel kindly toward one another, to judge not, to be generous, and it is all summed up in the words of the so-called Golden Rule, "To do unto others as you would that they should do unto you." Anyone on earth knows one is not going to deliberately hurt himself or herself, yet each day we bring sorrow to those about us, in our homes, churches, school and town by unkind words, a look (which speaks louder than words) repeating a bit of gossip or just listening, which often puts our official okay on it, and its no wonder we are almighty doubtful that the Golden Rule will ever be carried out in our lives. However, no matter how many isms, clisms and oisms we subscribe to, unless we are kind, unless we do forgive, if we stir up strife, and do not curb our tongues, the own words of the Master, Jesus Christ, insists that we are "none of His," and methinks that if we really want to follow the Christ, want the younger generation to see a vision of a better life we need to take this Golden Rule, get our Bibles and study up what Jesus taught, and apply it literally to our lives and not break His heart with empty professions and prayers for the other fellow, who, we feel so sure needs to change his life and be more like we are, forgetting to get the
