Tyler County Drug Safe Smashed Up

When the Tyler County Drug store was opened Monday morning it was discovered the place had been entered by some irresponsible gang who fondly imagined they were about to make a haul. The big safe is never locked, although a few little apartments in the inside look as though they were, and as the robbers had to smash something they smashed the ends of these innocent little cubby hole boxes.

The drawers in front of the prescription cases were thoroughly ransacked, but nothing was taken. Manager Carlton Young declares that if anything was stolen out of the drug store that night he has not been able to discover just what it was.

Cigarette and cigar cases seemingly were not molested, and the prescription cases and shelves in no way showed they had been molested.

Entrance was made via the front door which was forced and the back door was opened to provide for a quick get away.

The same night, Sunday, a safe at Village Mills was sure enough blown and at Silsbee another business place was entered. Somebody reported the tracks of a car's tires matched in all three places, but it seems this is rather slim evidence for the sheriff's department to work upon.

These light fingered fellows, it seems, will soon be giving Woodville the passup, as the last two efforts have proved abortive as far as securing results of a cash nature. They have sure been out of luck.

Rural Sanitation for Country Purposes

C. M. Everts, representative of the State Health Dept., working with B. B. Martin, County Agt., gave a demonstration in rural sanitation work at Colmesneil Wednesday. This work is put on in rural sections where communities do not have advantage of sewage treatment systems. During the last two years over 25,000 rural waste disposal units have been installed over the state as the result of such demonstrations.

The unit consists of a concrete slab and riser that fits snugly over a curved pit five feet in depth, and all waste in the pit is excluded from flies. Such units play an important part in the prevention of many intestinal disorders such as typhoid fever, and some forms of dysentery.

The State Dept. of Health recommends the pit type privy in all rural sections where sewers are not available. Information concerning the construction of the units can be obtained from the county agent.

The Local Red Cross Comes Alive

Tuesday morning, J. W. E. Alrey of St. Louis, Mo., Field Representative of the National Red Cross, arrived in Woodville and immediately got busy getting in touch with the local chairman, Judge J. E. Sturrock. They at once tried to get the news out over the county of a meeting at the court house that night. Its always hard to get a crowd together at such short notice, but a number of Woodville's interested citizens, with G. C. Enloe and J. L. Veal of Chester, Maurice Courtney of Colmesneil, J. Richardson, C. B. Reidinger and W. Fountain of Hicksburg were present.

The crowd was put in the right spirit by the singing of the beloved song, "America," and Rev. L. E. Gower led in prayer. Judge Sturrock laid a few facts before the crowd then introduced Mr. Alrey. Knowing that Red Cross work here as well as in many other places had been laid aside with the ending of the World War, tucked away with other things it seems we have forgotten, he went into the subject in a thorough way from its start in 1863. Reminding us of the great need of it in war, and seemingly, a greater need now in times of so called peace, to care for the needy, food for the hungry and clothes for the destitute.

When the government turned over the great surplus of wheat to help the hungry, it was at a loss just how to go about it after the donation was made. Some one had a happy thought, "Let the Red Cross do it." Every one was happy after that question was settled, that is for the government, but let's see about the Red Cross.

This meant getting the wheat in form to do some good and getting it delivered to those who should have it. We who howl at the freight rate for a few hundred pounds from Dallas to East Texas, try and imagine shipping car loads to the Dakotas, Montana, Arkansas the Pacific Coast and other great distances. Its easy to get up into thousands even millions of dollars. Now how can this be paid? It doesn't rain money down into the treasury of the Red Cross, but it is the accumulation of the individual dollar paid by members of the Red Cross all over the nation. Fifty cents of your membership fee goes to the National Red Cross, fifty cents stays in the local treasury to work right in your own county. Tyler County will need and will ask for more flour and also the cotton goods now available. We're not beggars, but are still able to carry a part of our load, so will endeavor to raise our own quota between Nov. 11th and Nov. 26th. Then we can look the world in the face and say "our poor and needy have a right to some of this much needed flour and cloth, for we are a part of this great 'Mother of America,' and belong to the family and a share is ours."

M. C. Tatum was appointed floor distributor for this county. Mrs. P. H. Powell, chairman of cloth distribution, Attorney Marlin Sandlin, chairman of Home Service, which means so much to our World War Veterans, Miss Eloise Reid, chairman of Junior Red Cross, Maurice Courtney, chairman of Disaster relief and Mrs. J. H. Willard, chairman of membership drive.

Each of these will select helpers in different communities and each expects and hopes for real co-operation in this effort to relieve suffering that faces us these coming months.

One Dollar a member is not much but put together means millions to relieve want and suffering this coming winter. Lets do our bit.

Crowning of 1932 Football Sponsor

A goodly crowd gathered at the Christian church last Friday night to view the crowning of the queen of the affair who declared the event to be a decided success.

Twenty dollars were cleared to add to the athletic fund of over two hundred that was made by votes cast for the several candidates for queen and sponsor of the foot ball team.

The church was lavishly decorated with flowers and ferns, and the white throne on the platform seemed a fitting place for the beautiful queen, Miss Lois Lee Peagin, who walked down the white carpeted aisle, and was met by the king, J. H. Kenneson, Jr. The trumpeters had heralded her arrival, and Miss Wilma Douglas Best at the piano softly played, as she with her small train bearers, and attendants took their places.

The Misses Julia Belle Cruse and Evelyn Kenneson gave readings and Miss Joanna Rock entertained with a piano solo. It is needless to say that all in all it was a huge success.

It is with regret that the reporter can not give due mention to each and every one who appeared in this affair, but upon asking a number who were there (the reporter was ill and not able to be present) no one of them could give all the names. Upon phoning the announcer of that evening he assured us he would get the names of all to the Booster office early Wednesday a. m. and as Wednesday is publication day it was too late to get out and attempt to run down the story, so when he failed us, we are forced to leave out all names rather than miss a few.

—MRS. WILLARD.

CAR WRECK SUNDAY

A bad mix up was experienced late Sunday afternoon when three cars met near a bridge north of the McAllister home. A car had stopped in front of the McAllister house, two cars were about to meet at the bridge so the car driven by George Hicks stopped and Hugh Preston Davis and Charley Eaves in the Davis car coming behind him around the curve smashed into the Hicks car jamming the back badly and tearing off a tender. The Davis car suffered a broken wind shield and other minor injuries. The worst casualty was that of Miss Hicks who with a girl friend was on the running board of her father's car and who was thrown with thrown with such force against the car one of her teeth was broken off, and Charley Eaves had two stitches taken in a cut on his head.

NOT SO BAD

Think we have a hard time of it now? Just consider the past, when farmers went to the fields with guns in their hands; when outlaws traveled the trails and slaughtered right and left; when life often depended upon the expertness of one's trigger finger; when a lone dollar looked as big as a cart-wheel; when women wore Polk bonnets and worked in the fields because they didn't have the price of a new hat; when families came to town in an ox wagon instead of automobiles; and everybody worked hard and nobody had time to play, Shucks, our troubles of today are mild compared to those of our forefathers.

MRS. GLADYS COURTNEY RESIGNS FROM FACULTY

Mrs. Gladys Courtney, nee Enloe, recently tendered her resignation as teacher of history and Spanish and principal of the Colmesneil High School, effective at once. The resignation was accepted by the board of trustees. As yet no one has been selected to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Courtney has for two years filled the position as principal and teacher of history and Spanish in the high school. She has made a record with both students and faculty co-workers of which anyone can be justly proud—a record in her home community which few have made in any place, and in her resignation faculty members, students and patrons feel a deep loss as a friend and worker.

The resignation was made public Thursday morning by Supt. Taylor. The whole school feeling quite surprised quickly arranged a befitting program for the occasion. Each class in the high school participated in the program of appreciation and felicitations of which Mrs. Courtney was the recipient. Everyone is wishing for Mrs. Courtney as successful life in her choice as she has enjoyed as a teacher in the Colmesneil school.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS—The Civic Club staged its first function in the form of a debate on the question, Resolved, that a three-fourths decision by juries should be adopted, rather than the unanimous opinion. R. N. Rawls and Alex Jones Wilcox argued the affirmative while the negative was represented by Jay Crum and Wayne Smith. The affirmative won by a two point decision.

The senior class entertained in chapel Thursday with a short program. Byron Riley, Jay Crum, Imogene Polk and Mary Maggie Barclay rendered a short one-act play written by Imogene Polk. Short readings were given by Alex Wilcox and Lucille Davis. A song in unison marked the close of the program.

Eagles Win First Conference Game

The heading tells the story—there is to it. Silsbee was playing its first conference game of the year. After the Eagles made their first touch down, Coach Telford substituted almost all of his second string team and none of the regulars entered the game until late in the last quarter.

There was a lively young fellow who posed as a referee, and from what the reporter can learn, he was entirely unsatisfactory, all wet and out of place, etc. The Eagles made several other counts, but in each instance the referee or master of ceremonies, call him what you will, refused to let 'em count.

The Booster man does not talk foot ball, dream it nor understand it very well, nor many of the terms, and consequently cannot write the game play by play. We were promised a story of the Silsbee set-up which did not come, and so we are just mentioning the fact the Kirby Hi Eagles won the first conference game 6 to 0.

In this connection we might add anybody who want a real unprejudiced account of the game play by play should call on Judge Eaves. Ask him just what he thinks of the battle. He can tell 'em, too!

WELCOMES TYLER COUNTY MAN

H. Gibbs, which belongs to Mrs. Hamilton. Mr. Boutelle has taken over the Chevrolet Agency, Seakans Chevrolet Co., and announces that he has Clyde Gillespie in the parts department and H. K. These three gentlemen are thoroughly competent to handle the affairs of the agency in a business like and efficient manner and invite the public to visit them: Mr. Boutelle has had experience in the automobile business and comes from his old home in Tyler County, where he has spent practically all his life, well recommended. The Plain Dealer welcomes these people to Corrigan and solicits for them your consideration.

EMERGENCY TREATMENT FOR RATTLESNAKE BITE

Rattlesnake bites are not uncommon on the ranges of the Southwest states, and where treatment is not prompt, death sometimes results. At the request of Mr. J. M. Keith, secretary of the Arizona Cattle Growers' Association, Dr. Charles T. Vorhies, entomologist of the University of Arizona at Tucson, has prepared the following information on the treatment of rattlesnake bites.

"Rattlesnakes are the only really dangerous poisonous snakes which we have to fear in Arizona. The coral snake, with its venom is doubtless more deadly, drop for drop, than that of the rattlesnake is too small to be regarded as very dangerous, and there is no fatality on record for this species as far as I know.

"Let us divide the treatment for rattlesnakes into two phases; first, emergency treatment or first aid; second, medical care. Every case of rattlesnake bites should be brought to the attention of a physician as soon as possible, so you are concerned primarily with the first phase.

"First of all, discard the idea of using potassium permanganate. Experiments have proved that it is worthless in any strength that one would care to use.

"Keep cool. Rattlesnake bites are painful, but only a small percentage are fatal.

"Apply tourniquet at once between wound and heart, tight enough to hinder venous circulation, but not necessarily tight enough to shut off arterial flow. A stout band or strip of rubber is good and can be most quickly applied.

"Open lung puncture by cross cuts one-eighth inch deep, with sharp sterile knife. Safety razor blades are easily carried in sterile package. Suck the wound by mouth if necessary. Mouth must be free from wounds or abrasions. It is best to have a suction bulb, or apply mechanical suction as soon as possible, since long-continued suction has been proved efficacious.

"Loosen tourniquet every 20 to 30 minutes for 2 or three hours.

"If antivenin be at hand, administer at once according to directions.

"Keep patient quiet. Give stimulant if necessary, as in case of weak heart action or fainting. Alcohol is NOT a stimulant. Black coffee, aromatic spirits of ammonia, strychnine are stimulants. Plenty of alcohol will neatly finish what the venom has started.

"As soon as possible get to a physician, who should continue the suction treatment, giving Antivenin if not previously given, and care for the wound to prevent infection.

"Suction removes the venom in bloody serum for hours after bite is inflicted. Antivenin counteracts the poison which has gotten into the blood stream, and will benefit many hours after bite. Be careful not to slash indiscriminately or too deeply in opening for suction and drainage, especially on hand, foot, wrist or ankle, as serious damage to tendons may result.

"Suction should be kept up for 20 minutes out of each hour for 16 hours, or until swelling ceases. Mechanical suction, of course, is necessary for this purpose. We can recommend the 'B D' outfit costing $1.50. Many cases of rattlesnake bite could be saved by proper use of this treatment alone, although we believe in Antivenin as an additional precaution and relief.

"Very few bites are quickly fatal. Most of the bites fatal do not result in death within 12 to 24 hours, so there is ample treatment. "Don't run or get overheated. Don't take any alcoholic drink. Circulation, increased by exercise of alcohol, serves to distribute the poison more rapidly through the body. Don't injure the tissues by injecting potassium permanganate. Do not depend on snake bite 'cure' or home remedies commonly used. They are of no value. Do not cauterize the site of the bite with strong acids or the like.

"Don't forget strong black coffee, and, again, don't take whiskey or other alcoholic drink."
