Why Canadian Banks Do Not Fail

"Fool-proof." That's the essential answer, we are told, for that is how the Canadian banking system is considered at present, writes J. N. Carndall, Toronto correspondent of the United Press.

The system may have its weaknesses, and it certainly does not escape criticism. But, says Mr. Carndall, "the fact that it has weathered the depression without a single failure is proof that this statement is true."

In the midst of our own banking troubles, capping a period of four years, we read, there have been 5,500 bank failures. Americans turn envious eyes to the North where our neighbor has gone through this particular storm with serenity and security.

"Canadian Bankers," says Mr. Carndall, giving us a broad explanation, "always have taken it for granted that depression would follow prosperity, and in good times they have always built up good reserves. These reserves, during the present depression, have been sufficient to look after all losses, and no bank has had to charge against its published reserve account any losses so far sustained."

One great difference between Canada's system and our own appears to be that our neighbor goes in for branch banking while we adhere largely to the unit bank.

Searching further for the answer as to why we have had so many bank failures while Canada has had only one in the last ten years, the United Press explains:

"The chief difference between the two present-day systems lies in the greater Dominion control over all banking practices, the dominating influence of the Canadian Bankers' Association and the strict requirements of the government over the issuance of bank notes.

"Only ten banks are in existence in the Dominion, but these ten operate 4,000 branches. A monthly audit is required."

"The history of recent banking law north of the United States border shows a constant tendency toward centralization of control, stricter requirements for bank directors' qualifications, and monthly statements not only from the bank itself but from all of its subsidiaries."

"Under the law of 1871, note issues by banks were restricted to the amount of paid-up capital. Shareholders were liable for double the amount of capital to which they subscribed. Dividends of more than 8 per cent were forbidden until the bank had a reserve amounting to 20 per cent of paid up capital. This was subsequently increased to 30 per cent."

"The Bankers' Association was made a powerful controlling factor in the business. It was given authority by law to make regulations for all clearing houses, under treasury supervision, and not only supervised the printing and issuance of bank notes, but the appointment of a curator (similar to a receiver) to assume supervision over the affairs of suspended banks."

As for criticism of the Canadian system, Bernard Ostrolenko, writing in the New York Times, tells us that "one criticism often advanced against the branch banking system is that not enough interest is taken in the industries of a small community." Another is that "it creates a money trust and reduces healthy competition." And "the outstanding criticism that can be directed against the system in Canada is that it lacks a central bank and subsequent central bank policy."

PLAN TO DROP 112 BUREAUS IS VOTED DOWN

Austin, March 30. The administrative code bill, representing the work of six legislators and a special committee of "experts on government," and the expenditure of $70,000 over the past 18 months, was thrown overboard Wednesday afternoon by the house committee on state affairs.

The committee voted the bill unfavorably, 12 to 6. Whether it sinks or floats depends upon efforts to have the bill placed before the house on a minority report.

The bill proposes to concentrate all state agencies, now numbering 131 into 19. It left only six selective officers—governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, land commissioner, comptroller and treasurer. The authority of the comptroller and the treasurer would be almost completely eliminated, becoming bureaus within other departments headed by appointive officials.

Representative H. N. Graves agreed at the hearing to accept an amendment to this bill if and when it gets to the floor to eliminate the section abolishing the department of agriculture.

Senator Grady Woodruff pleaded with the committee to give the bill a chance on economy. He was on the committee on economy and organization which drew up the bill.

"You can't economize unless you strike at the things spending money," he said. "We have slipped spending in our colleges and an even worse condition in our public schools."

Sacred Harp Singers In Successful Meet

A large crowd gathered at Hillis Sunday for the all day singing and basket dinner at noon. Folks came from all parts of Tyler, Angeline, Jasper and Hardin counties. Not only were voices lifted in song, but friends of long standing met and clasped hands, and all rejoiced that another year had found so many able to be present and plan for future meetings. Again Uncle Frank Fuller and others of the older generation could be present and the statement was made late in the day by a visitor, "it was an inspiration to see that old gentleman with the white hair and the others on the platform who showed plainly that they were enjoying every minute of the time, the joy on their faces bringing a choke to the throat of those who watched them."

R. J. Behannon, President of Angeline County convention and its auxiliaries of 15 counties, also vice president of the Texas Interstate Sacred Harp Association, and his wife were present. With them a number of young people of his Lufkin class, who with utmost ease stood up before the large crowd and led a number of songs. Another very welcome visitor and leader was G. W. Wooley of Hardin County. During the morning hours the leaders were Messrs. O. B. Crumpler, Jesse Durham, Harwell Jordan, B. L. Richardson, G. W. Wooley, R. J. Behannon, Jim Jordan, George Meyers, Rufus Hatton, R. J. Harrison, Uncle Frank Fuller and the Misses Elberta Meyers, Ruby Robinson and Pauline Carlin. The noon hour had crept up on the crowd, but all were enjoying the music so much that they were astonished when Chaplain O. B. Crumpler announced that it was noon and urged all to stay and enjoy the basket dinner, asking Rev. Ronald Pope to dismiss the crowd, and it proved to be a sumptuous feed, for which Rev. Jeff Rhodes gave thanks.

About 1:15 the singers gathered in the auditorium and the others soon followed. Leaders for the afternoon included B. L. and Jim Richardson, Jesse Durham, L. D. Hatton, R. J. Behannon, Arthur Best, R. J. Harrison, J. W. Wooley and the Misses Pauline Carlin, Elberta Meyers, and Wanda Hargraves and about 3:30 the happy meeting closed, dismissed by Chaplain Crumpler.

Next Sunday there will be a singing at Beach Creek and the next Sunday at Corrigan.

Among the many there from Woodville were Rev. Jeff Rhodes and sons, C. S. Spurlock and family, Uncle Frank Fuller and son, Attorney B. C. Fuller, G. W. Getsinger, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Rawls, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Willard, Messrs. Jack Dailey, Arthur Best, S. B. Owens, Mesdames C. H. Kendall, M. C. Tatum, Clyde Phillips and Pat.

$15.00 Worth of Seed For A Success

Fifteen dollars will plant a big crop for an East Texas farm, according to T. A. Fritts, Field Supervisor, Jasper, Newton, Tyler Counties. Here's how to go about it if you are interested: One acre garden, seed $0.50
Fertilizer, cotton seed meal 1.00
One acre Sudan, 3 ft. rows, seed .25
Fertilizer, cotton seed meal 1.00
One acre oats, 3 ft. rows, seed .30
Fertilizer, cotton seed meal 1.00
(to be followed by Sorghum)
One acre Hegaria, seed .20
Fertilizer, cotton seed meal 1.00
Five acres corn
Fertilizer, 500 lbs. cotton seed meal 5.00
Five acres Velvet Beans
(alternating with corn)
Five acres of cotton
Fertilizer, cotton seed meal 5.00

To these 10 acres may be added 1 acre sweet potatoes, 1 acre sugar cane, 4 acres peanuts, and 5 acres of Velvet Beans, turned under before frost to fertilize the cotton ground for 1934. (This is necessary since 1934 loans are not to be had) making a total of 30 acres.

The Crop Production Loan office at Dallas will not loan less than $25.00, but $5.00 can be used by the East Texas farm operator for miscellaneous purposes and it would be well to hold $5.00 or thereabout for an emergency as that sometimes happens in a crop season.

One should also realize that groceries are less than they were a few seasons ago and even less than a year ago; $2.00 will buy four small sacks of flour, $1 will buy coffee and sugar, and $1 will buy a can of lard. Not a balanced ration? Just add the milk, butter, eggs and garden produce.

Ninety days will just about see the crop made. If crop is planted by April 15, especially cotton, then it can be harvested and sold by September 15, ready to sell for the best price.

But April, May and June—Oh, it is work, work and even strife.

These are stirring times now—the Production Period—families will be rescued—fortunes retrieved—prosperity achieved and depression driven into the sea of forgetfulness in the next ninety days by the farmer who uses his brain or borrows some from the county agent; a little money, and if he does not have that, the Dallas Crop Loan office may help if he does the work efficiently himself, or gets his wife and children to do it. The five acres of cotton, if land is fairly good, should produce three bales of cotton—one to pay the loan—one for the family—and one to pay the doctor, preacher, taxes and landlord.

To lose is unthinkable—He has too many chances to succeed, but listen! Success depends on you—Step ahead.

Typhoid Fever A National Disgrace

Dr. John W. Brown, State Health officer characterized typhoid fever as a National disgrace and an unspeakably evil, while discussing this preventable disease. He said, "Each year about 600 Texans die of this disease and approximately 6,000 are sick with it. The average duration of illness is about eight weeks; this means that the disease is responsible for the loss of 336,000 days in Texas each year."

Typhoid vaccine is a harmless solution. This is injected under the skin in the upper arm, in three doses, usually at weekly intervals. It ordinarily protects against the disease from two to three years or longer, although one who is definitely exposed to infection should be revaccinated more frequently.

Typhoid fever can be controlled by the use of pure water, pasteurized milk or clean milk, clean foods, proper disposal of sewerage, screening against the fly and destroying its breeding places, by search for and care of human carriers, and by the general practice of vaccination.

Certain people, apparently healthy, carry the germs of typhoid in their intestines or urinary tract and cause many cases of typhoid each year through handling foods with unwashed hands. They are called typhoid carriers, and many cases result from personal contact with these carriers.

In selecting a place for a vaccination choose one where you know that the water-milk supply is pure. Be sure that the kitchen and dining room are screened to protect food from flies. When camping it is best to boil water used for drinking, unless you know that it is pure. Clear, sparkling water may be polluted by drainage.

STAKING AND PRUNING TOMATOES IMPORTANT

It will pay to stake and prune tomatoes this year, in the opinion of J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist in the Extension service of Texas A. & M. College. "The freeze damaged tomato plants over the entire State and most of the crop may be expected to come off at about the same time. Staking and pruning tomatoes hastens maturity and increases the size of the fruit. It also decreases the yield. If there is a worm at all in the tomato deal this year, it will be the early bird who will probably get it."

Proper methods of pruning and staking may be learned from any of the hundreds of tomato growing demonstrations in progress throughout the commercial tomato producing areas in cooperation with county farm demonstration agents, says Mr. Rosborough. Where county agents are not available, bulletin help may be had from C-62, "Tomatoes in Texas," published and distributed free on application to the Extension Service at College Station, Texas.

RED CROSS ASKS $5,000 FOR TORNADO VICTIMS

The American Red Cross maintains the machinery for extending relief to disaster-stricken communities and adjoining towns must come to the aid of their suffering neighbors with funds for relief and rehabilitation, declared L. M. Jordan, chairman of the Dallas County Red Cross, in explaining why disaster funds must be raised outside of the annual Red Cross call funds.

Beer Again And What It Means

The brewers' big horses are stamping in their stalls.

The brewers themselves are planning to spend vast sums ($22,500,000 in the East alone) for new plants, additions, alterations, equipment, and advertising.

Hotels are bringing their pre-Prohibition bars out of storage and polishing them up for active duty once more.

Thirsty Americans are looking forward to the day—April 7—when their thirst may be legally quenched.

The Sullen bill, after debate, amendment, read amendment, and conference, has been passed by both houses of Congress and signed by President Roosevelt. It permits the sale, fifteen days after the Presidential signature, of beer and wine containing 3.2 per cent of alcohol by weight, or 4 per cent by volume. Other provisions are summarized thus by the Associated Press:

"Leaves all regulation as to distribution to the States.

"Protects dry States by reaffirming the Webb-Kenyon act preventing interstate shipment into commonwealths that have laws prohibiting sale of beverages of more than one-half of 1 per cent alcohol content."

"Amends dry laws affecting Hawaii, Alaska, and Porto Rico to permit sale of 1.2 per cent beer and wine."

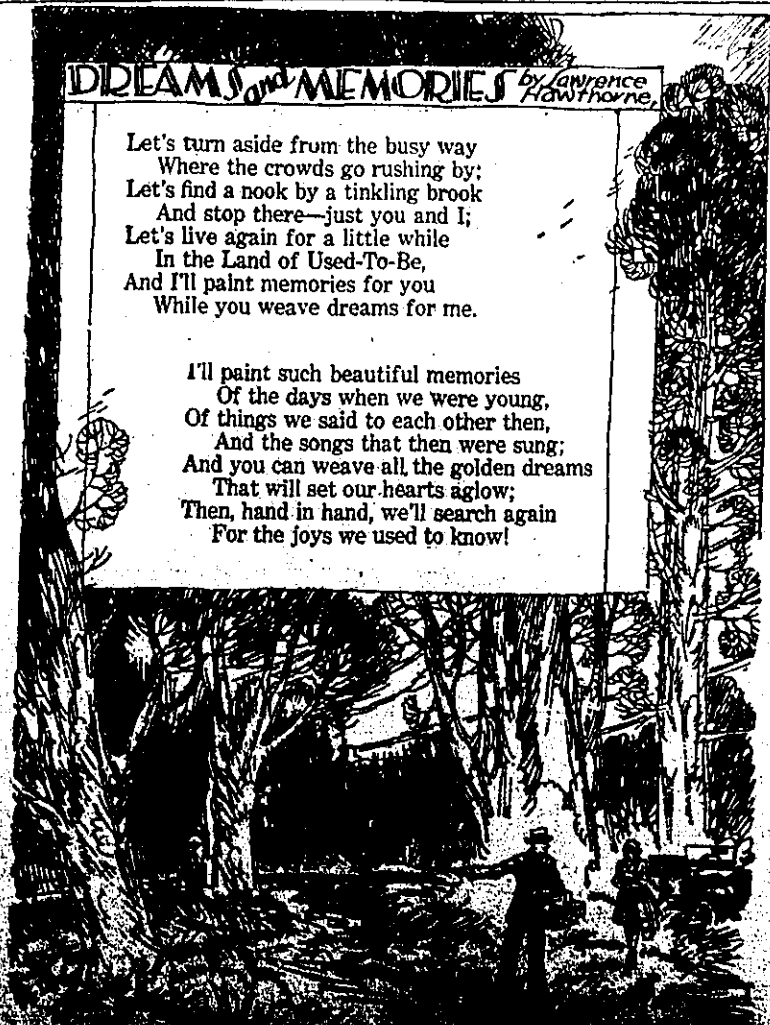

A thousand questions—more or less—are being asked—Where may beer be bought? What will it cost? What revenue will it produce for the Government? Is the racketeer doomed? How many jobs will be created? Perhaps 300,000, according to some estimates. How will farmers, bottle-makers, builders, and other indirectly profit?

The Federal Government hopes for perhaps as much as $250,000,000 a year in new revenue—from a tax of $5 on each thirty-gallon barrel, an annual $1,000 license fee from each brewer, and annual fees from wholesalers and retailers.

The Associated Press, in this surfeit answers the burning question of where the newly approved beverage may be had:

"In at least fourteen States beer can be sold upon Federal legalization, which will be fifteen days after the measure is signed. These States are, Arizona, California, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Washington, and Wisconsin."

"In three states beer can be sold after a specified time: North Dakota, July 1; West Virginia, June 1; Wyoming, May 15."

published four times one month and one time the following month, to be followed by another paper the next month. The law seems to say the paper has been published continuously. There is no incentive for any editor to take pride in regular and continuous publication. American knows was a shame across behind which the real issues were hidden. However, Texas is now basking in the sunlight of democratic victory and with a new president. The smoke screen statement is thoroughly proven. It was sure enough something else that beat Smith and always will beat Smith as a candidate for President of the United States. And now even bets are being laid Texas will NOT ratify the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Writing on this subject, Editor of the Woodville Grove Signal-Citizen says:—

Personally we do not believe that the State of Texas will ever ratify the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, regardless of whether it is voted on this year or next year but we are of the opinion that it should be submitted to the voters of the state. Next year or 1934 will be the state election year for every office from constable to governor and to have the people vote on the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment will give our citizens a chance to vote on a question that will affect the lives of every citizen in the state. It is our opinion that the people of the state should have a chance to vote on this question. It is our opinion that the people of the state should have a chance to vote on this question.

APPROACH OF SPRING
Spring is coming with its roses and its cooing birds. And a glance around discloses. There is need of much repair. Things are looking pretty shabby.

We neglected them so long. Since our rolls had grown so flabby. And the slump was going strong. While our assets are not ample.

Society

The Friday Club met with Mrs. J. E. Wheat last week at three tables. The beautiful spring wild flowers were much in evidence, with the added beauty of carnations. Mrs. Marilyn Sundlin held high score, and Mrs. Cardell Collier won cut gift. The pleasant afternoon association was brought to a close with the serving of a salad course with cake and iced tea.

Sunday's Beaumont Enterprise published three articles of special interest to Woodville folks.

Bride Complimented

Complimenting Mrs. Jeff Mooney, a recent bride, Miss Willie Mae Robichaux and Miss Catherine Taylor were joint hostesses yesterday for a seated tea in the Robichaux home on Washington boulevard. Wisteria and bridal wreath were used in the floral arrangements, decorating the tea tables at which guests were seated in group of four about the reception suite.

Usually men and women of note get most of this honorable mention after death, and one rarely stops to realize that every man or woman who has done something worth while is just a man or woman, living as others in some town, or city or often times on a farm. In Woodville is a man who is known over the United States and Europe, and many men and boys envy him his experiences, and skill with bow and arrow. Dean Tavis made mention Sunday that Floyd Pope of Woodville had in his possession the arrow with which he had killed a buffalo within years past.

Another notice is found in the society items, with a photograph of the bride to be:

Miss Viola Huckaby, daughter of Mrs. Sam Huckaby of Sour Lake, who will be married April 8 to Rev. A. Tremor Starr, pastor of the First Christian church of that city. Miss Huckaby has been the recipient of a number of social courtesies the last week.

Rev. Starr was pastor of the Woodville Christian church prior to the coming of Rev. Emory. His many friends here extend congratulations and best wishes for his future.

Miss Theresa Lovell entertained ten couples Monday night at the J. F. Barclay home. The evening was spent in dancing and bridge. Upon inquiry it was learned that the music was of the best. Miss Kathryn Fuller tickled the ivories, and Miss Alliea Dismukes was in charge of the radio dial, to pull in the music of the best artists the chains were offering on that date, a very enjoyable time was reported by the guests. At a late hour, punch and chicken salad sandwiches were served.
