Representative Tinkham's Scathing Attack on Secretary Perkins—Senator Lewis Warns Against Any More Disarmament Treaties

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

GEORGE H. TINKHAM, one of the most vocal critics of the disarmament program, today launched a scathing attack on Secretary Perkins' disarmament program.

Speaking in the House, Tinkham said that the disarmament program was a "policy of appeasement" and that it was "a policy of surrender to the aggressors." He said that the disarmament program was "a policy of surrender to the aggressors" and that it was "a policy of surrender to the aggressors."

Washington—Time after time since President Roosevelt entered the White House, many observers have insisted that he had reached a crossroads.

On this occasion he is not only being urged to choose between the right and the left, but he is being urged to choose between the right and the left.

AZTEC MONARCH PIONEER IN THE ART OF GLIDING

Constantly they are discovering new things about the ancient Aztecs.

Just the other day it was learned by student research that the early inhabitants of Mexico had invented a very modern form of football.

Discovery of this extraordinary fact was made by a Polish archeologist while delving into ancient records of the Aztec monarchs.

The Aztec monarchs were not only great warriors, but they were also great gliders.

They started up the long walk, Morris between Horowitz and Gould. Behind them, below the hill upon which the house stood, was a mill-hooded winking vista—Hollywood. Suddenly Morris halted. He stole a quick sideways glance at Gould, made a throat-clearing noise, and said: "Say, listen, maybe we oughtn't to gang in on him like this without warning. Suppose he's—well, that he doesn't want visitors tonight. You know what I mean?"

Body Needs Supply of Salts

PHOSPHORUS, WORKING WITH CALCIUM, PROVIDES THE MATERIAL REQUIRED.

Phosphorus is one of the three minerals for which we must take most thought when planning meals. Phosphorus works with calcium to supply the material which builds the bones, teeth, and sturdy.

These two minerals are so interrelated that it is not only necessary to have a full quota of each, but to have each in a proportion which balances the other. In the absence of this the skeleton of the body may grow instead of the bone and in strength and the composition of the blood is hampered. In other words, phosphorus is essential to the body's growth and development. It is also essential to the body's energy and vitality. It is the mineral which gives the body its power and endurance. It is the mineral which gives the body its strength and stamina. It is the mineral which gives the body its ability to resist disease and to recover from illness. It is the mineral which gives the body its ability to live and to thrive.
