San Benito, June 18.—The Carnegie life saving medal and a cash award of $1000 have been given to Jesus C. Hernandez, 19, for saving the life of Charlene Welch of Brownsville.

The little girl was sitting in the rear seat of the family motor car when it ran off the bridge of the reservoir and came to rest upside down in 10 feet of water. She was pinned in the car by the top.

Young Hernandez swam down, broke the window with his fist, came up for air and then went back and brought the little girl out, saving her by artificial respiration.

Alabama Indians In Reorganization

Long cherished hopes of Indian government and later, land that will grow something other than scrub oaks and peanuts are about to become a reality for the Alabama-Coushatta Indians in Folsom county where there has been conducted what their agent terms "the first official election."

With only one dissenting ballot the tribesmen have voted to accept the new constitution offered by congress to Indian tribes of continental United States and have also elected a tribal council of seven members to act for them in matters of business and government.

On Texas Farms
 Under the non-interpretative title of program planning subject men and women in the rural communities of Texas have been meeting during the last six months and analyzing land use conditions on Texas farms and also conditions which are being met.

The object of this work, which was inaugurated by the Extension Service, is to start a flow of live information from the farm to the department of agriculture, and the method was for the small groups of neighbors to meet and using prepared schedules, map their own and the whole community's land use.

Two hundred and four counties have been engaged in this work. 70 of these counties make out a schedule, seven of which had to do with gardens, orchards, and sweet potatoes, all for home use.

Figures compiled for the State from these 70 counties are very revealing. 31,642 acres more of orchards are needed in these 70 counties to supply fruit for the home tables; 20,716 more acres of garden are needed in these 70 counties to supply vegetables for home use; and 6,128 acres more of sweet potatoes are needed by the families in these 70 counties.

In releasing these figures which he has assembled from the county reports, George E. Adams, assistant state agent who has had charge of this project comments: "these are not the findings of county agricultural and home demonstration agents, but of women who themselves live on Texas farms and families having come to the conclusion that they need this additional acreage in food for home consumption. It is logical to expect that 1936 will see a considerable increase in home gardens and orchards."
