Candidate Glass On the Spot

The various charges that W. C. Glass, of Cherokee county, has filed against the present incumbent, Senator John S. Reddit, in this district, are something of a tight place, and the people of the district are turning their attention to how the tentative candidate is going to wiggle out of his predicament.

In an effort to throw the district out of support of the district, Mr. Glass, in his vote-hunting tour, has lost a number of votes against the incumbent, Senator John S. Reddit, and the Cherokee county man probably thought it best to "dig in" at the time.

But these charges have become a distraction to the present incumbent, Mr. Glass, for a time, and he has been unable to get on a limb in a most assured position.

After listening to his opponent's lambasting through several weeks of the primary, Senator Reddit, made him a definite and simple proposition. He has requested Mr. Glass to select a committee of five reputable citizens or officials from this senatorial district, turn the charges over to them, and let them go to Austin or anywhere else to investigate the charges.

"If they find a single one of them to be true," said Mr. Reddit, "I will withdraw from the race. If they find all of them to be untrue, you withdraw from the race."

There it was, in a nutshell. With the issue squarely up to him, with the challenge repeatedly put before him, Representative Glass is faced with a most uncomfortable problem which has drawn the expectation of the voters. They are waiting for his answer, waiting to see what he is going to do about it. Up to now he has done nothing. The people of the district are wondering what kind of a candidate this is who asks for an impartial office like the senate on a basis of a number of charges he apparently can not back up. It may be that Representative Glass has talked himself into the snafu of having himself out of the race, but he has not said so.

TREE POISON FORMULA

The following formula will give very good results in all kinds of cases. Do not poison trees where there is stock on the place.

To The People of Tyler County

In my campaign for State Representative, I have endeavored to the best of my ability, to bring my candidacy to the attention of every man and woman in this district. Being a laborer, I have been handicapped in this effort. I have waged a hard fight. I hope that I have fought fairly and respected the rules of the game. I have enjoyed, beyond measure, the many pleasant contacts that I have made with the citizenship of Tyler and Angelina counties. To personally know the many fine men and women of this district is a liberal reward to any man for the effort and time required to bring about that acquaintance.

By the help of my loyal friends in every part of this district, I led the ticket in the first primary with three splendid honorable men opposing me. Your continued loyalty and support means my election and I trust my candidacy will merit your help. I have steadfastly refrained from becoming entangled in other races throughout this campaign and I hope that my position with reference to other candidates for office has been thoroughly understood. I have found it quite sufficient to attend to the business of my own candidacy. I appreciate the courteous and dignified campaign my opponent has made against me and deeply hope that when the election is held, the voters, realizing the friendship that existed between us before the election, will continue afterward.

With a deep feeling of gratitude for your loyalty in the past and earnestly soliciting a continuation of your support, I submit my candidacy. Full of hope and confidence in the verdict of the people of this district to be rendered at the polls on August 23, 1936.

MRS. GEORGE BOYD

It was with deep grief and sorrow that this reporter with others heard of the death of Mrs. George Boyd, who died away from home on Tuesday night after a few days illness not thought to be serious. Mrs. Boyd was born in Tyler county, April 11, 1858, and passed away late Tuesday night, August 17, 1936, at her home in north Woodville. She united in marriage with George Boyd, April 28, 1878, and five children came into the world, three in infancy and three, Wynne Ellen, Robert and small Billy are left. Mrs. Boyd was a member of the Methodist church since childhood. Mrs. Boyd was one of the splendidest and most noble women of this beautiful world. Her home, husband and children were her life and every thought and action was for the benefit of those she loved. For many years she has been afflicted with deafness and perhaps missed some of the friendly associations of her neighbors and friends, but she never failed to cheer those she met with a smile and a kind word and many kindly friends were remembered by her friends, and this reporter counted herself one of those blessed by her friend. Mrs. Boyd's funeral will be held this afternoon (Thursday) at 3 o'clock at Magnolia cemetery with her pastor, Rev. L. C. Pope in charge. She is also mourned over by her mother, Mrs. Pope of Trinity, four sisters and a brother, Mrs. W. Stewart, Trinity; Mrs. Pearl Williams of Livingston; Mrs. M. L. Broussard of Coahoma; and Dr. L. C. Pope of Alpine, who are all here for the funeral.

Mrs. Boyd has spent most of her life in this county and her father, a practicing physician here for years. He passed on 14 years ago. Just a few years after the funeral she moved to Trinity. The boys made Trinity and Conroe their home just a short while. Others here for the funeral are his family, Misses Jennie, Sallie and Susie Boyd and brother Fletcher of Warren, Mrs. Landon Boyd and daughter Joan of Tulsa, Okla., Tom and Albert Boyd and families of Post, Neches, Morris, Latta, Duff and others. Mrs. Boyd was buried in Trinity after her mother, Mrs. Ellen Pope yesterday, as she had been in the past week and upon the message of the death of Mrs. Boyd as not able to come with the others.

According to information given by the State Highway Department's office, the Highway Department has spent and obligated 10% of the funds for the construction and maintenance in Tyler county, highway funds as follows:

Highway No. 40	$208,446.74
Active construction projects on July 1, 1936, contracts have been let and the amounts obligated:
Highway No. 30	$450,323.71

Highway No. 45	21,114.41
Highway No. 100	21,026.84
Total	$89,651.94

Highway No. 48	1,469.18
Highway No. 100	23,793.77

It is largely through the efforts of Senator John S. Reddit and his influence with the Highway Department that Tyler county has received this amount of money.

Cemetery Association In Reorganization Plan

The splendid and successful efforts of Mesdames Dove Spitzer and Williams and Miss Anna Belle Causey in getting out this very unpleasant weather and raising the money to pipe water over to the cemetery and have a thorough job of cleaning up of same is appreciated by most of the 1,500,000 school children of the State to see the great fair.

Miss Nell Parmlay, co-director of rural education, arrived from Austin at Dallas. She conferred during the afternoon with exposition corporation and State Centennial officials.

Between 10,000 and 20,000 school children a day will be brought directly from the classroom to the fair, under plan endorsed here. This large scale movement will begin Sept. 15, the opening of the new school year. The visiting youngsters will make an average stay of about three days.

Supervised visits of two or three days to the Centennial and principles would be with weeks of regular classroom instruction, Mr. Woods was quoted as saying. "Every community in Texas should cooperate to make it possible for their children to see it before the close in November."

1,500,000 Pupils May Be Sent to Fair

Enthusiasm of Gov. James V. Allred, State Superintendent of Schools, L. A. Woods and thousands of other authorities over the educational value of the Centennial Exposition, culminated last Thursday to make it possible for most of the 1,500,000 school children of the State to see the great fair.

Woman Contracts Cattle Disease

Beaumont—Suffering from an illness commonly known as charbon, a disease which takes its toll among cattle each year, Mrs. Thos. Coe of Kountze, was brought to the hospital here for treatment Thursday afternoon.

At first believed not seriously ill, Coe was sent to the hospital from the doctor's office where she went at that for treatment. The attending physician expressed the belief that she had gotten the infection from a germ of the grass where cattle had been grazing. She was on a camping trip in the Big Thicket in Hardin County when stricken.

Social Security Hearings Slated

Appointment of a committee composed of state officials to study the feasibility of unemployment insurance was announced Wednesday by Gov. James V. Allred.

The committee would gather information and data and report proposed bills to a special session of regular session of the Texas Legislature.

The governor suggested that the committee start hearings to get the views of the public in industry and labor not later than Sept. 1.

R. B. Anderson, state tax commissioner, will serve as active chairman of the committee, the governor being ex-officio chairman. Members are: Martin Sandlin, assistant secretary of state; State Labor Commissioner Fred Nichols; State Banking Commissioner; Zeta Commission; Fred Nichols; G. S. Gossett; Asst. Atty. Gen. Grady Chandler; Tom King, first assistant state auditor; State Sen. Alvin Shivers; Gov. Port Arthur; Rep. George Davisson of Eastland.

Shivers was co-author of the old age pension bill and Davisson drafted an unemployment insurance bill at the last regular session of the legislature.

The governor said the committee would obtain the views of every branch of the citizenry in a proposed cooperation with the federal government in this type of legislation.

Whether the subject is submitted to a referendum, special session of the legislature would be left in the governor's discretion.

A Great Peace Message

Seldom has a more powerful peace message been delivered than by President Roosevelt at Chautauque. Seldom has the plea against war been better made than in the following words:

I have seen war. I have seen war on land and sea. I have seen blood running from the wounded. I have seen men coughing out their gassed lungs. I have seen the dead in the mud. I have seen cities destroyed. I have seen 200 limping exhausted men come out of line—the survivors of a regiment of 1000 that went forward 48 hours before. I have seen children starving. I have seen the agony of mothers and wives. I hate war. I have passed unnumbered hours thinking and planning how war may be kept from this nation.

The president says America's best course in the present dark world situation is to set an example to demonstrate fair dealing and neighborly care for the welfare of others. To prove friendship to abide by treaties, and, inferentially to call on all other nations to do the same.

He recalls that this policy has produced favorable results in the Western Hemisphere. He recalls the best list of efforts made by the United States to cooperate with the Nations of Europe and Asia to reduce armaments; to ease the economic strains which become important factors in producing war.

In the end, he calls for a strict and stern neutrality of the most effective of a sacrifice of temporary profits and benefits even if an elimination of our unemployment, which might be as a result of trade in war goods, which trade inevitably would draw us into war.

He sees however, that no laws and no policies laid down in advance can guarantee to prevent the conditions made from day to day in the office of the president and of the secretary of state of the United States will be finally decisive in determining our eventual course.

He reminds us of the devotion to peace which everyone knows is a part of the mind and heart of Secretary Hull, and, by his own heartfelt words on this occasion, "if we needed any further evidence, he reminds us of his own consuming empathy for war and his consecration to the cause of humanity and of peace."

Surely it is men of this kind whom we want making our decisions in international affairs when war in the world threatens the peace and safety of America.—Houston Post.

GOVERNOR NO TENDERFOOT

Gov. Henry Homer of Illinois proved he was no tenderfoot when he recently visited the Texas Centennial. He served with the National Guard on the Mexican border prior to the World War and talked the language of the Southwest. He declared the "Calvalade of Texas" at the Centennial the greatest show he had ever seen.

Schools to Open

All schools in Tyler county will open Monday, September 7th. Just 17 more days of vacation. Teachers are beginning to drift in getting settled for the coming months. Just a few children in the Woodville faculty.

Prof. Norman Paschall will be missed, but Prof. B. V. Ferguson will step into the principalship of the grammar school and will carry on.

Tomorrow night at the board meeting, three teachers will be hired to take the places of Mrs. Alsop, Mrs. Miss Mook, and Mrs. Giron Anderson and Prof. J. A. Thompson, who resigned to keep the place he now has in an Austin bank.

Prof. and Mrs. Thompson will be missed as they made many friends while here. Prof. C. V. Compton has had busy days since his return from his summer vacation, but feels optimistic over the future year's work.

SHOE SHOP OPENS

Many of Tyler county citizens will remember that W. Head with his six small children left Woodville some 12 or 14 years ago. He has been in business in a shoe shop in Dallas, but has longed to come back to Woodville where folks are prominent and hot coming and going so much. His children are grown, some married and so he returned and has installed a shoe shop in the south of the Young Pharmacy. It is interesting to look over the up-to-date shoe shop. No such place to be seen in this county. Resoled shoes should you want shoes the color of your dress, they can be dyed. He will be glad to have you drop in and have new heels or soles put on while you wait. Mail orders will be attended to the day received and returned to you. The Drouth of Fifty Years Ago Caused Much Distress

Dallas and most of Texas was smoldering under 103 and 104-degree temperatures for a 72-day period 50 years ago this month and many counties of the State were hit by the worst drouth drouth of that day had ever seen.

Hundreds of families bundled their household equipment into wagons and started east, and Gov. John Ireland issued a proclamation asking relief for the drouth sufferers.

The highest temperature in Dallas, according to the files of The News, was 106 on Aug. 17, 1886, with Longview checking up 103 and Tyler 110 degrees. A high of 108 degrees was reported in several business offices in this then small city of Dallas.

As recounted in the Fifty Years Ago column of Wednesday last week, Gov. Ireland recognized the acuteness of the drouth situation. He called upon sections not hit by the drouth to contribute to the relief of their distressed fellow citizens by forwarding without delay funds to the county judge and relief committees of several counties asking for aid.

These counties were listed as Brown, Coleman, Callahan, Eastland, Palo Pinto and Stephens. On the following day Dallas responded to the request with Gov. W. L. Cabell being given much of the credit for soliciting provisions and getting together the shipments to be sent to Eastland. The Merchants Exchange of St. Louis voted to aid the drouth district in Texas by sending 1000 bushels of wheat to the drouth district.

Stars Broadcast from Gulf Radio Studios

Callahan County citizens, gathered in Clyde, according to The News account, appealed to the Gulf Radio studios for funds, which were reduced to a state of almost absolute want. We have ground, implements, strong arms and brave hearts, and what we need is seed to sow and provisions for those who are not able to buy. We are asking this, not as a gift but as a loan.

W. M. Faust, a farmer who made a trip from Hays County to Haskell described the situation for the Austin Statesman, a reprint of which appeared on Aug. 17 in The News. "I have met hundreds of people moving away from Callahan County, and sections through which I passed," he said. "All were trying to get work or something to eat. If they have to wait for the Legislature to appropriate something for their relief half of them will starve. Many of them haven't made a seed of anything they planted. I never saw such a failure before. I saw one party trying to sell 100 head of calves, which he offered for $500. There have been some late rains, but they came too late to do any good."

Women Play Safe

One hears an alarm at the door. You open the door and find a man who can't identify himself as a representative of one of the established stores in your home town—one that you have learned to know and trust.

Knowing this would you admit the stranger and allow him to lay out his goods and finally place an order with him?

Buying where you know the goods are not as expected them to be always turns out to be your loss. Women know that their value is much a matter of REPUTATION.

Monday morning the last of the California grape crop was being gathered off the vines at the R. A. Cruse store. It seems such a short while ago that Mr. Cruse planted that vine for a little shade east of his store. 100 pounds of grapes has been gathered this season besides what the passer-by has helped himself to.

Judge M. C. Tatum was in Tyler and Mt. Vernon Saturday.
