State Highway Planning Survey

According to J. E. Wright, district supervisor of the Highway Planning Survey, who recently was in Woodville, local high school students have been granted permission by Supt. Hensley, to assist in a special study soon to be made of the use of state highways, county roads, and city streets by ear owners living in Tyler county. This is a part of a statewide and nationwide program to collect information needed in planning the construction and maintenance of highways, roads and streets.

The information which is being collected through local high school is an important part of the highway planning board. Wright said that both local and state officials have cooperated fully in this work, and it is anticipated that local students will furnish a great deal of much needed and valuable information concerning Tyler county.

Wright said the Highway Planning Survey, which is a new branch of the Highway Department, is doing several different types of work. A detailed road map is being prepared of each county. Traffic counts have been made on all state highways and are now being made on county roads; traffic flow maps will be prepared from this information. The trucks which travel on state highways have been weighed in order to find out how great a strain they impose on the road surface. The average size and weight of each type of vehicle on road surfaces are being noted. Amounts of money spent by cities on streets by counties as secondary roads, and the state on highways are being noted. Special tabulations are being made of the resources and public debt. The use of the highway road system is being noted. And special safety studies will be started soon.
