Missing Claude H. Caskey

There is one thing, anyway, which only heard his talk once, about Claude Caskey's platform as a candidate for representative, and that is, it has a plan that will save the state of Texas at least $10,000,000 dollars of expense a year.

Caskey would do away with 111 collectors covering some 111 counties and districts—mentioning for instance just two of the 111, which could be fixed immediately, the fellow who collects the gasoline tax and the other fellow who collects the cigarette tax. The state would immediately be about their salary and expenses. Claude Caskey would have such taxes collected by the county tax collector in the 254 counties. It would not take any longer to tell that than for the county tax collector to make his collection. Talk about a sales tax in Texas! Ah, there's where a whole raft-load of new collectors would have to be hired by the state.

The following story taken from one of the Sunday dailies tells a story of duplications, of state owned autos, of gas purchasers; of men and women on the Texas pay rolls and of garage services and of traveling expenses including eats and sleeps; of the men and women who are just lucky in working for the state, living on the State and traveling on the State's gas bill.

Undoubtedly when the new administration gets into office one of two things will happen. Ah, either this bunch of state travelers will be fired or a couple of thousands added, according to how the candidates' promises of economy are put into practice.

Spineless legislators and political connivance have had at least a little to do with this army of feeders at the public pie corner. It is expected that there will be a change, and for the better is the wish of right thinking Texans.

The following is the story as lifted from the Galveston News:

At the present time we have about 26,000 men and women employed by the state, and every year for the last ten years this number has been constantly increasing. There are 15,000 state-owned automobiles and trucks used by about 15,000 men and women.

In addition to this the state also has 15,000 gas and tires and 15,000 of these 15,000 automobiles.

In addition to this the state also pays the board bill and the rent of these employes who are away from home on state affairs, and last year that alone cost the state $1,500,000.

With a condition like this existing there is no wonder that we can't pay but half of our old people assistance and only one-third of what they are entitled to. There are at least 1,000,000 people with the state that if economy were adhered to that could easily be abolished. Ten thousand men at $200 a month figures at $20,000,000 a year. The operation, upkeep and purchase of automobiles and the board bill included which is inevitable in this lavish haphazard practice figures another $12,000,000. These two items alone, abolished, would save $32,000,000 a year. Three million dollars each from state coffers monthly and that amount slashed by federal government would enable every old man and woman to receive $30 each a month. Under our present plan of paying our old people who are spending about $14,000,000 per year, which is not only inadequate to their needs but there are some 100,000 old people that are eligible that are not receiving compensation.

It seems right now that this piece-meal, starvation system is not only deplorable, but an insult to the intelligence of every Texan. Our neighboring state of

McGraw to Reduce State Expenditures

The qualifications and references on which William McGraw is asking the people of Texas to make him their governor were outlined by him in a recent speech at Farmersville.

"While a constructive program is vitally important the most brilliant and promising platform means nothing unless the candidate is able to carry it out. The only reliable guide of a candidate's ability is the record of his past accomplishments.

"So many candidates have promised economy and reduction of state expenditures and failed to deliver. The state's financial affairs are such that it is high time you remembered the past and considered their abilities to fulfill their pledge. I offer my record of achievement as the people's lawyer as the strongest assurance of performance offered by any candidate for governor.

McGraw told of his nearly unbroken string of victories in the courts which has brought in and will bring in nearly $10,000,000 to the treasury, including his chain store tax victory; his defense of the pipeline tax; his victory in the anti-trust law case; his sponsorship of the hot oil floodation law which stopped the flow of illegal, tax-dodging oil in East Texas; and many other signal successes.

"These," McGraw declared, "show what I can do."

Rome, June 15.—Unconfirmed reports today said that new German bombing planes, the Heinkel 80 type, have been equipped with special apparatus capable of transmitting so-called "death rays."

The report said that the transmitting apparatus was based on ultra short waves which are capable of bringing to a standstill any motor within a certain distance.

WHOSE BOOSTER DO YOU BORROW?

Colorado pays over $22.50 from the state's funds and that matched by government funds allows each applicant a total sum of $45. Last year there was a surplus left over from that amount due to deaths and other causes, and that was also equally distributed and each old person drew a Christmas check of $97.00.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN

Rockland Dam Plant Revised

Austin, June 18.—The Texas state committee Saturday made several revisions in design of the proposed $12,500,000 Rockland dam in Tyler county calculated to improve the chances for obtaining Federal funds for construction.

Changes in design were made to permit long-range planning and desirable ultimate development of navigation, flood control, power and low-water control as well as the irrigation and municipal supply features of the original project.

Changes agreed on were placing a postlock in the dam to take care of the possibility of developing power at some future time, and redesigning the dam and spillway to provide for raising the dam and additional storage capacity of 700,000 acre feet of water, enabling the dam to take its place as flood control structure, in addition to supplying water for rice irrigation and municipal and industrial purposes.

SUCCESSFUL 19TH CELEBRATION

The campus and Scott Athletic field was the scene of a very happy faces comprising both colored and white who came in large numbers to enjoy the barbecue and basket dinner and witness the holiday baseball game between the Woodville Tigers and the Orange Giants. This June-tenth celebration was sponsored by the local colored Mens Business League for the citizens of Woodville and Tyler county. The League members who did such a splendid job in barbecuing the six goats and more than 400 lbs. of beef were Henry Bean of Hillister, E. T. Move and Ellis Franklin of Woodville.

Just before dinner Dr. H. Y. Smith of Beaumont delivered the Emancipation address which was logical, humorous and entertaining. Mr. Holmes spoke in behalf of the whites in appreciation of the hearty welcome extended by Prof. Thomas. Real Americanism and a greater need for the right type of religious education for all races as a sure foundation for success were high points mentioned by Mr. Holmes. After enjoying a hearty dinner everyone enjoyed the thrilling baseball game which ended 8 to 6 for the Orange Giants. The special committee on arrangements were: I. Woodworth, R. Moody and Will Gregory.

Hopper Plague Blamed on Hunters

Austin, June 18.—Greed of hunters for game was traced by the state department today as one of the causes of a grasshopper plague in the Texas panhandle. The state department today issued a warning to hunters to stop killing the grasshoppers.

John L. Lewis National Clown

At last John L. Lewis, the shaggy loiterer and wapping willow eyebrows, has played the role of a clown. He tried to tight pressure a group of representatives into passing a labor bill and he went to the capital personally to sponsor. He even used Speaker Bankhead's office as a "throne room" in the unprecedented act of an outsider in summoning representatives to his presence. But the representatives showed they were not to be told what to do and promptly administered the CIO chieftain a crushing blow by bottling up the bill, eliminating any chance that the measure would be considered before adjournment. In doing this they proved that a hilly can be bulldozed, the result being that today in the eyes of the nation the powerful Lewis seems a great deal more vulnerable than before. To turn the trick a coalition of administration democrats and Republicans was necessary. Ag Rep. Lamneck, Ohio democrat, expressed it: "Lewis' appearance at the capitol and his subsequent defeat, first gave pause and then laughter. The American sense of humor, which is widespread, has saved this nation from many crashes. And so I feel that it is going to prevent a Lewis cataclysm." There is much wisdom to what Rep. Lamneck says. Maybe America has been taking Lewis and his thunderings too seriously. At least the indications after this week's humorous episode are all in that direction. Lewis and his group have put fear in the souls of many in the past, but a few more indictments like this one-day kingdom in the speaker's office and Lewis will be reduced to the status of a national clown.—Dallas News.

ALIEN PHYSICIANS DENIED RIGHT TO PRACTICE

San Antonio, June 20.—Twenty-one alien physicians, most of them from Germany, were denied the privilege of practicing medicine in Texas by the state board of medical examiners in session in San Antonio Monday.

Included in the group were three from Mexico, one Japanese and 17 Germans who have sought refuge in this country, it was said. More than 200 graduates of American medical schools qualified, although one American failed.

Dr. T. R. Crowe of Dallas is secretary of the board.

Dr. O. B. Kiel of Wichita Falls, president of the board, explained that Europe was in such a chaotic state it had been impossible to ascertain whether schools from which the alien candidates graduated met the standards set by the Texas board. An attempt will be made to check the foreign universities and if they meet requirements, the aliens will be permitted to take the examinations in November, Doctor Crowe said.

Wilson Harrison, who graduated from John Sealy in Galveston a short time ago, attended this session and is now Dr. Harrison. He leaves early next week to enter a Cleveland, Ohio, hospital for his interne work.

DAVIS-CRUSE

On Saturday afternoon, June 18, Miss Woods Cruse and Arvid Davis were united in marriage at the home of the bride. Only a few friends and members of the immediate families were present to hear the ceremony read by the Rev. Ernest Martin of Woodville. Both the young people are from Cherokee-Dies, though for some time the groom has resided in Fort Neches where he is employed by the Texas Oil Company. Mrs. Davis left soon after the ceremony for Fort Neches where they will make their home. The splendid couple will be missed in the activities of this community, but it is with every wish for complete happiness that we bid them Godspeed to their new home.

Black Leg In East Texas

A. B. Ford, Nacogdoches, county agent, said that the disease is spreading rapidly and that it is necessary to have more cattle vaccinated.

Austin Women Not Safe Walking Alone

Austin, June 18.—Texas girls and women were warned by the state pardon board today not to walk alone at night on residential section streets, even though they are well lighted.

The warning was contained in the board's report against clemency for Mark Henry Colhaus, 18, negro, sentenced to death for raping a Dallas girl whom he seized while she was en route home from a picture show only a few blocks away.

"The horrible experience of this young girl," the board said "reported should be a warning to all girls and women of the danger they may encounter while walking alone at night on residential streets, although they may be well lighted."

EXERCISE YOUR SMILER

"Dora is the dumbest girl I've ever seen. She wanted to know how many quarters in a baseball game. That's nothing, my girl wanted to know if a football coach had wheels. A fellow was to be a contentorlist to get on these days. First he has to keep his back to the wall and his ear to the ground. Then he must put his shoulder to the wheel, his nose to the grindstone, keep a level head and have both feet on the ground. This cheese is so strong, it could walk over to the coffee and say Hello! Oh, yeah! But the coffee is so weak it could not answer back. A stranger said to the farmer's boy across the fence young man, your corn looks kind of yellow—Yes, that's the kind we planted—Don't look at though you'd get more than half a crop—Don't expect to. The landlord gets the other half.—A pause, there isn't much between you and a fool.—No, replied the boy, only a fence.—Wall Street Journal.

Gerald Mann Here East Thursday

Fledgling state law enforcement of rabbits in Texas, former secretary of state, Gerald C. Mann of Dallas, brought his candidacy for attorney general to Woodville last Thursday speaking on the court house lawn.

"When I am elected attorney general the laws of Texas are going to be obeyed by the largest corporation and the smallest and most humble citizen. On the other hand, I shall not prosecute any man or set of men for the purpose of gaining public favor nor shall I fail to prosecute for fear of losing it. I would rather be a real attorney general for only two years than be a vacillating, shifting politician. I had rather be a one-termer than a two-termer."

Mann warned of rackets preying the state and declared the most insidious, the most damaging to the state is the political racket. "The political racketeer is the influence-peddling lawyer, the fixer, the self-styled influential politician. Those schemers will no longer sit enthroned when I become attorney general. And the people have been two-termed on many an occasion by those seeking office who have with one hand conditioned a man or interest and with the other accepted their campaign contributions, becoming puppets of those who helped elect them. No one solicited me when elected I shall wear no man's collar. I will be obligated only to that great mass of people who believe in fair play and justice for all."

Mann recounted his past record telling of his work in Washington as representative of the Texas Planning Board in co-ordinating federal and state relief and WPA projects. He stressed his administration as secretary of state during which he wrote and secured passage of the present Texas securities act which has driven from the state the fraudulent stock broker and racketeer.

"I whipped the racketeer until I'll whip them again," Mann declared. "I invite your investigation of my record. I did the work at Washington and I can do it again at Austin."

THE PIE SUPPER AND THE CANDIDATES 'SPOKE

A big crowd listened to the candidates at Colmesneil last Friday night and the church seats will be a reality in the near future.

Our guess would be that 70 or more pies were sold and they brought no mean price.

The Woodville gathering of last night was too late to report in today's Booster and tonight there is a box supper and candidates gathering at Cheser. This may remind you to be there.

Texas Driver's Law Up For Trial

Austin, June 8.—A legal test of the Texas driver's license law became more of a possibility today when Special District Judge James P. Hart denied an injunction sought to restrain the public safety department from taking up the permit of Henry Gonzales of Austin.

He refused to surrender his license and brought suit after the department ordered the permit suspended for 60 days following a hearing. The department claimed he was an habitually reckless driver. Horace Shelton, Gonzales' attorney, said he would appeal the suspension order to the county court within 30 days and department officials declared they would welcome a test case of the law.

Pa and Ma's Parole Plan Due to Repeat?

The recent talk about Pa and Ma checking in as candidates for governor for the present race, together with W. W. Wald's remarks about men and women being kept too long in duranceville brought to mind how Pa and Ma avoided all such newspaper mention. They just naturally put the kibosh on smart reformers of prison practice, i. e., that of having those convicted of heinous crimes paroled whenever anybody of political influence and otherwise wanted somebody out. Pa and Ma just grasped the bull by the horns and turned out over 3,000 convicts.

Of course, there was plenty of newspaper notoriety about all this, and as a consequence even more parols were granted. Pa and Ma thrived on newspaper publicity. And that reader if undoubted what is in the air now. During the present warden's regime there has been no criticism, and so now Warden W. W. Wald (what a bunch of W-s) is going to attempt to take up the trail left (what a bunch of W-s) is going to on the practice.

We read long and painful stories—all about prisoners being incarcerated too long. Added to these are stories of county unit parole boards. What a bunch of these units there'll be if the 254 counties all send to Huntsville from one to five prominent citizens to make a plea and recommendations for the liberation of their own pets—undoubtedly imprisoned by cold-blooded juries; prosecuting attorneys making a record of convictions and county attorneys skilled in working up and assembling evidence, and near evidence, much of which the trial judge failed to rule to the discard.

Paroles secured politically, or from mushy lukewarm members of society do far more harm than good, and have a tendency to make of courts and justice a huge joke. But the great trouble with parole is the fact imprisonment does not reform. Paroling a convict full of hate, awaiting an opportunity to get even with society in general is a mistake. Paroling a prisoner to whom punishment has worked reform and desire for a better life, is fine.

Appointing county board units of paroles is one of the most dangerous procedures of the present age, and will not clean up the general proposition that too many criminals are being confined too long, for, for a fact what does the average man not versed in criminal procedure as regards reform know about who should or should not be paroled? The answer echoes, indeed, what?

'SPAGHETTI' GROWN ON WOODVILLE FARM

"Vegetable spaghetti" was being exhibited in Houston Friday by Ray Causey of 1812 Feste, according to the Houston newspaper of Sunday. Mr. Causey said he got the vegetable in Woodville on the farm of J. E. Brandin. It is yellow resembling squash, about 10 inches long and four inches in diameter and grows on vines, like melons. The inside of the rind, after the whole vegetable has been boiled and opened, is filled with a mass of strands of the vegetable greatly resembling a large portion of spaghetti and colored red, as if the "spaghetti" has been covered with tomato sauce.

"It tastes like rhubarb," Mr. Causey reported.

CAPT. DEAN TRAVIS ON TRIP UP TRINITY RIVER

The scout expedition headed by Dean Travis left Anahuac Tuesday and planned to return to Onalaska today and attend the Big Indian Pow-Wow at Livingston which is now in full swing. The shallows of upper reaches of the Trinity are difficult to negotiate so 500 cubic feet of water a second was turned on last Thursday at Eagle Lake spillway above Fort Worth by government engineers. They are expecting some interesting scenery and experiences while passing through the Big Thicket section.

"We are looking forward to the scenes which will be published, taken by the Eastern Texas track photographer, Dean Travis. They expect to reach Fort Worth about June 30.
