Baptist Church News

The church building promotion committee is called to meet Thursday, Mr. E. W. Tubb is chairman of the committee. A member has voluntarily offered to be one of a group who in addition to all regular contributions now being given would give $100 a year for a period of years on a new church building. The congregation Sunday morning authorized the payment of $50 out of the current funds on the small debt the church is now carrying incidental to the parsonage improvement. Last month $100 was also paid on the debt out of the current funds. It is being demonstrated that the church can successfully meet current expenses and also provide funds for improvements. In the distance of more than one hundred miles between Beaumont and Lufkin and that of more than sixty miles between Jasper and Livingston there is but one Baptist church, Woodville, where there is a resident pastor and where there is regular preaching services conducted each Sunday in the month. It is also significant to note that in all this area there is not a single substantial Baptist church building with facilities for doing modern Sunday school work. In all this area there is not a Baptist Sunday school with a regular attendance of scarcely more than one hundred. This unusual condition is not because this is a sparsely settled section of the state, or because this is a poverty stricken people. The Baptist church of Woodville is offered the opportunity if not confronted with the responsibility, of launching a great forward movement that will point the way for the many other churches of this section.

Lawmaking a La Radio

By W. Leon Martin

W. Lee O'Daniel, Fort Worth radio entertainer, has formally announced his candidacy for Governor of Texas. News Item. Fan mail does queer things to people and Mr. O'Daniel is no exception. Like Governor Alfred M. O'Daniel is also one of my favorite radio characters—but so is Jack Benny, and Jack would never make a good president of the United States. Competition would be too keen for him with all the comedians in the senate. Likewise Amos and Andy would make good Supreme Court Justices. Neither would Fred Allen make a good speaker of the House of Representatives in spite of his gift of gab. Donald Duck might make a good Vice President, but even that is doubtful. Here is what I think would happen if by some miracle Mr. O'Daniel should be elected Governor of Texas.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 2ND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Upon the adjournment of congress, I felt that I wanted to remain in Washington until everything had been done within my power to secure immediate approval of the various public works projects which mean so much to the district. I am glad to report that since adjournment I have been successful in securing approval of eight of these projects, totaling nearly $4,000,000, and that funds have been earmarked for their immediate construction. This takes care of all of the Public Works projects pending when congress adjourned, with the exception of the Rockland dam and the loan for the Port Arthur causeway. Of course, applications for new projects will soon be coming in from the district. Not only did I consider it necessary to remain at my post of duty as long as my services were required to get these important projects under way, but also it was necessary for me to organize the investigation of un-American activities. During the closing days of the session, congress by an overwhelming vote adopted my resolution authorizing the appointment of a special committee to investigate, "the extent, character, and objects of un-American propaganda activities in the United States and the diffusion thereof in the United States of subversive and un-American propaganda that is instigated from foreign countries or a domestic origin and attacks the principle of the form of government as guaranteed by our constitution." The speaker of the House of Representatives appointed me chairman of this committee and we were required to report to congress on January 3rd, 1939.

CCC Educational Program Presented

(Note: This is the first of a series of articles which will appear in the columns of the Tyler County Booster concerning the local educational program in the local CCC camp. It is the desire of the camp officials that the public know more about the camp and to extend to all persons an invitation to visit the camp that they may know more about what the men are actually doing who are members of the organization.) One of the five major objectives of the Civilian Conservation Corps work reads: "To build up the morale and physical well-being of the young men enrolled in the camps, to prepare them for citizenship, and to prepare them, through educational work, training on the job, and other means to find and maintain a place in the industrial world." President Roosevelt in his message to Congress urging the legislation creating the CCC, stated this objective in the following words: "More important, however, than the material gains will be the moral and spiritual value of the work. We can take a vast army of these unemployed out into healthy surroundings. We can eliminate to some extent at least the threat that enforced idleness brings to—spiritual and moral stability." The objectives of Civilian Conservation Corps education are:

1. To eliminate illiteracy.
2. To raise the level of enrollees deficient in school subjects.
3. To provide instruction on camp work jobs and projects.
4. To provide vocational training.
5. To provide training in constructive and worth while use of leisure time.
6. To provide cultural and general education.
7. To provide training in health, first aid, and safety.
8. To provide character and citizenship training.
9. To assist enrollees in finding employment.

Phone Rates to Change on August 1

Frank Fain brought the conference of phone rates in Tyler County and Woodville and Chester and Corrigan and meeting some time ago was appointed to the local matter. Although the rates some two or three months ago the phone rate to Corrigan, 10c and to Woodville, 20c, suit, if Chester wanted any information as to shows, material or needed a wrecker, call was made to Corrigan and 10c saved. Mr. Fain wrote Manager West and the company could see the justice of the case, so Mr. West was in Woodville the past week and Mr. Fain that an August 1st the rate would be raised to 15c from Chester to Corrigan and lowered to 15c from Chester to Woodville.

Big Crows on the Best Opening Day

Even though the skies were clouded and showers frequently fell, a big crowd attended the opening of the new State Fair at J. B. Best. Tommy Busselle and his Night Hawks, of Warren, played through the afternoon. Tommy Barnett made announcements over the loud speaker and gave a number of impersonations in which he is very accomplished and is always welcome in the crowd. Eight salesmen, who furnish Mr. Best with merchandise were on hand to tell about their special brand of goods. It was a big day for the fair and a big day for the fair. Mrs. Best tells elsewhere in the Booster of their appreciation.

Premium List for State Fair Here

Listing more than $100,000 in premiums for livestock, agriculture, poultry, culinary, textile, hobbies, and many other classifications, the premium list for the Golden Jubilee Celebration of the State Fair of Texas is now being distributed. It has been announced by Otto Herold, president of the state fair. Premiums in livestock and poultry have been increased and competition has been taken out of the county agricultural exhibits. Instead of having counties compete, each county exhibiting will be on an $125.00. This will enable Texas counties to present the most complete picture of agricultural possibilities of the state ever seen. The premium list contains premiums which will be awarded individual farm exhibits, as well as 4-H club boys and girls' exhibits and Future Farmer exhibits. Many new classifications are included in the premium list, such as the hobby show, the dog show, the colt and milk show, and others.

He is a second year vocational agricultural boy and will be in Woodville high school next year. Mrs. F. R. Sullivan, president of the FFA, will accompany him to Houston for this purpose.

FUTURE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ON THE POLITICAL SPOT

Along with all the talk about the Rockland dam, the daily papers this week appear another article. It says that the dam will be built by a Royal Democrat who will come. Wednesday's editorial carried a story that the dam is entirely originating from the Texas State Board of Public Safety, and that it will be built by everybody including the state, the federal government, and the private industry. (Next week's article will deal with the academic education offered in Camp Leonard Wood.)

THE BANK statements of the Tyler county banks are due for publication, according to law, this week. Look them over, they make interesting reading.

TWENTY BE long now. July 23 is primary election day. And you ask, is there a single Tyler County voter who has not been solicited? Well, you tell 'em.

WE HAVE not been hearing much these days about the new foot ball teams. It is under the name of Hemphill has signified its intention of entering such a league.

WHAT A fine thing style regulates our mode of dress and adornment, etc. Suppose all men should provide themselves with cookie cutters—if you know what we mean.

IT DOES one a lot of good to just look around Woodville and see the improvement in the town.

WHEN ONE reads in the daily papers "only 53 convicted out of 250 charged with being drunk and driving," the thought presents itself—how many of these drunk drivers are car or killed a member of a judge's family, who had split hairs and refused to convict? What is more dangerous than a drunken driver in a car? Back yonder the country was alive with riot during prohibition. Too many judges did not believe in transporting a citizen's personal liberties. Just what should judges who uphold defense lawyers in drunken driv-

THE BOOSTER is considering the proposal of allowing the several foot ball teams and basket ball teams to solicit advertising for a week's edition giving them a discount for what they obtain. Of course, with the Booster's regular grocery list there would be no discount offered, and also, if they managed to get extra advertising from any or all of these firms it would be o. k. and the athletic teams and their backers could go as far as they liked.

WE HAVE been wondering how we could pep up a few of our delinquent subscribers who are slacking in the red. Last week we read the following in the Publisher's Auxiliary. Here it is: "If you have frequent headaches, dizziness, fainting spells, lame back, accompanied by chills or cramps, bunions, jaundice, chilblains or epileptic fits, it's a sign you are not well and are liable to die any minute. Hasten to this office and pay your subscription a year in advance, and thus make yourself solid for a good obituary notice."

WORK ON the new school building has commenced. For the sake of the youngsters who will be obliged to enter this new building from day to day, rain or shine, we hope the formula of one-quarter-inch slope in step construction will be religiously followed, so that the youngsters will not have to wade water in entering the building. The new courthouse steps, the ones facing Tammany Hall, have the slope backwards instead of forward, and those entering in wet weather must wade in water. We know. We made this little trip twice not long since, after a rain storm.

WELL, WELL, well, they do say—for the benefit of readers: "If the sea scouts can SAIL from Beaumont to Fort Worth through Dallas, larger ships cargo laden can certainly navigate the channel when dredging is completed." And that is the sad part of it. These scouts did NOT SAIL. One motor died and a new one was procured. Shallow water in many places made the motors useless, made poling and pushing necessary. Too bad Uncle Sam's keying project engineers were not along to have helped Capt. Tevis. And the Fort Worth-Dallas people, still want a waterway. Well, well, well, as we said before. If the Rockland dam get over, why not the canalization of the Trinity River?

PURCHASING SOME need-

REMEMBER BACK yonder when the New York stock exchange reared up on its hind legs and did a cake walk? Also you all noted at that time it was Wall street that brought on the depression. Last week the word was given out the I. C. C. had granted eastern railroads an increase in passenger rates. Railway bonds for several years practically were dead, as far as trading was concerned, immediately leaped skyward. The ticker was 40 minutes behind the sales and some bonds sold in lots of greater quantity than for years. And that day's doings made the nation stop and shudder. Was Wall street to be allowed to run hog wild, inflate values all out of reason and finally bring on another depression? We wonder if the so-called governor will change his mind what was doing out on the floor? We wonder if the balance of the nation is to be governed by a bunch of crazy money-mad bulls and to continue until the big fellows cut off credit and the whole outfit lands on their faces on the floor, broke and no place to go. President Wilson closed the Wall street exchange as a war-time measure. The present administration has but batted its eyelid in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and articles. FOR A county as far in the red as Tyler county it is surprising the actual cash being spent for county needs. To be sure there has been a slight reduction in the county's total indebtedness. The money, however, that was paid in this reduction did not come from the regular and usual take-in, but from several utilities that had been attempting to side-step the Tyler county assessment set-up. When these various utilities applied the money was used to reduce the great indebtedness. And before and since, however, the county's purchases totaled thousands of dollars. We are preparing a story covering some of these purchases which will make interesting reading, and the facts come from the county records.

NOT LONG ago The Booster ran a call for bids on this highway 45. And now we wonder what it is all about. This part of 45 starts at Woodville and ends out in the woods two miles from the river—on the way to Jasper. A number of years ago, not so very far from Palestine, Texas, we had to do a detour, and out in the woods on an unimproved road, came to a new and modern bridge. Earth approaches on either side of this structure had never been started. Large trees stood on what should have been the highway. The clearance under this bridge was at least 40 feet. When it was built we have never been able to find out, or whether the road was built to the bridge. All this brings to mind how long will 45 end two miles from the river, and too, when will the bridge be constructed?

WITH ALL these candidates expecting Bill, George and Kate to vote for them July 23, primary election day, we are wondering if the November election will not tabulate a greater vote than the

STRAIT GATE

by Ruth Comfort Mitchell

"Bill! Lynn Dana greeted him surprised. 'This is Sarah Lynn's mother, Sally Ann.' 'Who's your da, Bill? Will you have some tea?' 'Good, no,' he said, shocked. 'No, thanks, Uncle Lynn, I can't sit down. I got to bust it before Sara Lynn gets here, and don't you forget that I came, will you?' He turned to the woman with a vivid fusion of embarrassment and urgency. 'Say, listen, would you take my sister with you when you go traveling again?' 'Sally Ann smiled at him. 'Afraid I couldn't do that, Bill.' 'Yes, she's simply got to bust it here, on the job,' stuck around here much longer. 'But—why?' He looked nervously out of the window. 'Well, I can't make you understand, I guess, because I got to make it snappy, but she's different from most of the dumb eggs around here and my mother can't see it, and she makes her do all the things they do, and there's a dumb egg here from Detroit that my mother's always pulling for and Sarah Lynn can't see him with a spy-glass, but I'm scared stiff she'll just bust her boot off—do you know what I mean, and do something dumb?' He came to a breathless stop, his round blue eyes on her face.

"Sally Ann looked him singularly appealing. 'Oh, I'm sure she won't, with you to look after her. Bill! Great luck for a girl to have a brother on the job.' 'You know—' 'Yeah, but look—I'm in high school all day and in bed all night, account I'm in training, and she has to do all these dumb things, and she's absolutely cuckoo about my mother and she wants to please her and when my mother's sore at something, why Sarah Lynn just busts her, so it's got me down, kind of worrying, and—' he looked out again. 'Gee! I gotta take it on the lam! Here she comes! Well, look—you kind of think it over, will you? Uncle Lynn, you tell her!' He plucked out of the room and they heard him leaping down the stairs. 'Rather a dear, that lad!' Sally Ann said. She set her cup down and walked to the window to see a girl and a greyhound coming up the road at a smooth and lively speed. 'She's wearing exactly the right dress for her type, isn't she?' 'Quite! It's a thing to watch—Sarah Lynn and Lightning skimming over the fields,' said the man who had sat in a chair for more than 20 years. Sally Ann walked to the fireplace and looked at a pipe-rack done in painstaking pyrography with some unconvincing red poppies painted in. Below, in unsteady letters, was the verse:

"Oh, that's so absolutely true!" charging and obeying." She was clearly more comfortable now, falling into rhythm with the older woman's long strides. "I know. They strive to please. There is something rather servile about it, crawling back to lick the foot that kicks them, dying on their master's grave. Lightning, now, would hardly die on your grave unless it fitted in conveniently with her regular plans for her demise!" Sarah Lynn gave a sudden laugh, deep and brief. "Oh, that's so absolutely true!" "Well, here we are at Aunt Helena's. Nice to have seen you, Sarah Lynn. I'd like a walk with you and Lightning soon." Her hostess was waiting in the hall, dressed for dinner, and there was the pleasantly muted sound of other Danas foregathered in the living room. "I'll be done and down in 20 minutes, Aunt Helena," the guest encouraged her. The limp brown lace had been painstakingly pressed and her bath was drawn, but a short and stocky figure rose up before her. "Miss Dana! If I might bother you a moment?" "Penny! How do you do, Miss Pennington?" "The bad penny turning up, eh?" the old governess said, rather out of breath. "As the saying is, but really just—still here." "Where you belong as an integral part of Danavale," Sally Ann said cordially. "So nice of you to run in, but I'm afraid I must plunge into my tub—I'm frightfully late." "I won't keep you, Miss Dana. It's just this: If you could possibly see your way to taking my child back with you? Sarah Lynn, I mean. She's not happy here, and she's not understood, and she might be so—so splendid!" Her close-clipped words came in a rush. "The traveler was pulling her dress over her head: 'We'll talk of this again, Penny, dear. I'm afraid it isn't possible, but we'll discuss it fully. But now I must really—' "Yes, of course," the English woman said meekly, "and do please forgive my intrusion, but it's so terrible—"

"Bill! Lynn Dana greeted him surprised. 'This is Sarah Lynn's mother, Sally Ann.' 'Who's your da, Bill? Will you have some tea?' 'Good, no,' he said, shocked. 'No, thanks, Uncle Lynn, I can't sit down. I got to bust it before Sara Lynn gets here, and don't you forget that I came, will you?' He turned to the woman with a vivid fusion of embarrassment and urgency. 'Say, listen, would you take my sister with you when you go traveling again?' 'Sally Ann smiled at him. 'Afraid I couldn't do that, Bill.' 'Yes, she's simply got to bust it here, on the job,' stuck around here much longer. 'But—why?' He looked nervously out of the window. 'Well, I can't make you understand, I guess, because I got to make it snappy, but she's different from most of the dumb eggs around here and my mother can't see it, and she makes her do all the things they do, and there's a dumb egg here from Detroit that my mother's always pulling for and Sarah Lynn can't see him with a spy-glass, but I'm scared stiff she'll just bust her boot off—do you know what I mean, and do something dumb?' He came to a breathless stop, his round blue eyes on her face.

WANTED REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPERS TO READ
This is too good to be lost. Who who comes into the newspaper office and asks for explanations of the new explanations of the old news. What makes the old news so interesting and the new news so boring? It's a mystery. Who will be the first to read the new news? It's a mystery. Who will be the first to read the old news? It's a mystery. Who will be the first to read the new news? It's a mystery. Who will be the first to read the old news? It's a mystery.

The creature went bounding ahead of them. She made the traveler think of the figures in white metal, futuristic and exciting, which had been a recent rage in Paris. "I don't believe I've ever met a greyhound socially before. Are they satisfactory?" "I think so. She doesn't mind very well, but I—" "—don't mind very much?" Sally Ann finished for her. "No, I think it gives her more character. All the other dogs are so busy heeling and retrieving and—"

CHICKEN SEASON TO CLOSE TWO YEARS?
The present generation is no different than when America was discovered by Columbus. From the time youngsters were strong enough to tote a gun, they have been priding themselves on their marksmanship. Every wild flying or creeping life has been their legitimate (?) foe. And so today one can travel a solid week and see not a single game bird. We know, because last year on our entire trip to Seattle and back we did not see more than four game birds—some geese and ducks in the extreme west. And so now we are reading in the daily papers, the number of prairie chickens remaining in Texas are estimated to be 7,600 and in Oklahoma, 700,000. This year we have, in Tyler County, seen three youngsters and two men out on the roads at different times pecking a gun, looking for something to shoot. We are not posing as kill-jays, but if the seasons for several years are not closed for doves, prairie chickens and quail, these birds will soon be extinct. Probably this is what agriculturalists want, owing to the great damage these birds are responsible for to all growing crops—ah, including the pasture grazing grass. If the next session of the Texas legislature does not pass a couple of laws creating closed seasons for a couple of years all over Texas, we'll be obliged to call the whole parcel of 'em just plain buck passers.

SCHOOL BAND IN TEELE COUNTY
For some time past Chester could boast of a school band and each year that Prof. J. H. Slack has been in the school the band activities have been prominent until now it is quite well known over the county and often is featured on public programs and gatherings. A few weeks ago Warren school secured the services of Mrs. Vernon Fitzgerald who made such a success in the Livingston school, who will direct the school band in Warren. Supt. Chas. H. Wilbanks feels that the band and musical activities under her able supervision will be a decided success. Woodville now joins the ranks and will have an organized school band. Edwin B. McNeel, a graduate of SFA in 1936, is here and will spend the weeks before school begins to instruct members of the band and to give private lessons. He has an assortment of instruments to select from and it is understood that the school will purchase some of the larger instruments. Mr. Martin plans to be at the school every afternoon through these weeks and if you are interested, go see him.

You can measure in mills the cost of many tasks cheap electricity performs in the home

The penny as Uncle Sam's smallest coin but it takes an even smaller unit of value to figure the cost of many tasks cheap electricity performs in the home. For instance:

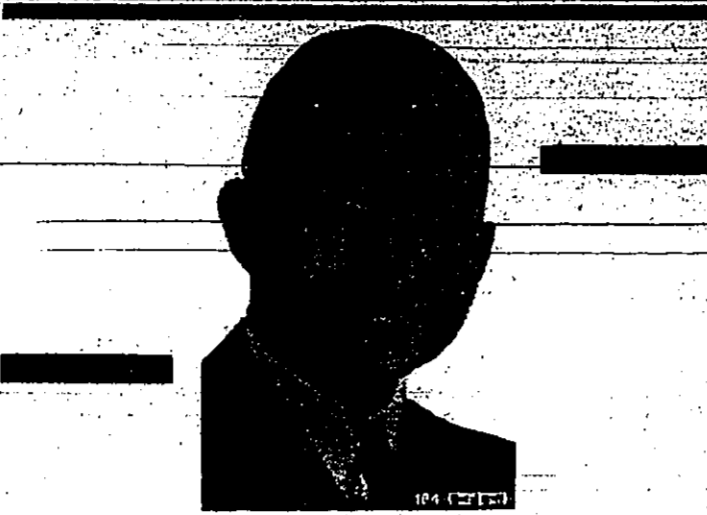

- 4 mills will make the breakfast toast
- 5 1/2 mills will percolate six cups of coffee
- 3 1/2 mills will operate an electric fan one hour
- 8 mills will join an hour of radio entertainment.
- 4 1/2 mills will clean three large rugs
- 3 mills will do a week's washing
- 3 mills will provide an hour of relaxation
- 3 mills will operate an electric clock 24 hours
- 1 1/2 mills will mix the batter for a large cake
- 3 1/2 mills will light a 50-watt lamp for one hour

All of the above figures are based upon the present average unit cost of electricity used in homes served by this company. Unlike the price of food, rent, clothing and other items in the cost of living, the unit cost of electricity has not come up but has come down. It is now 33 1/3 per cent less than in 1920.
