Thank You's of All Brands Except Of the Master Hillbilly Flour Man

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT No. 2 I have intended seeing each one of you before the next election, but due to the condition of my father I may not get to do so. He has been sick nearly eight months and it looks like every day will be the last. I thank you for your vote in the last election, and trust that you will give me your support in the next election, if possible I will see you all. J. A. MANN. Adv.

TO THE VOTERS OF TYLER COUNTY I take this method of thanking you for the support that you gave me in the last primary. I hope you will support me in the second primary. Many of my friends were put in position to help me in the first primary, who expressed a desire to do so if I made the first primary. Those who did support me, and those who did not, I earnestly solicit your support in the coming primary. If my qualifications are at least equal to my opponent, and so, with the aid of my friends, I hope you will bear in mind that I cannot see each of you personally, for time will not permit it. I happen through your community and do not visit you, please do not feel slighted. Respectfully, W. A. SWEARINGEN. Adv.

TO THE PEOPLE OF TYLER COUNTY I take this means of thanking the voters of Tyler county for their support of my candidacy for treasurer of Tyler county in the July primary. Although I was defeated, I hold no ill feeling against anyone who did not vote for me. I will always have a warm place in my heart for the people of Tyler county for their hospitality they showed me throughout my campaign. It is true, I spent some money trying to be elected, but the mixing and mingling with the people and the courtesy they showed me is worth all I spent campaigning. Both of my opponents are gentlemen. They ran me a clean race, and I want them to know that I hold no ill will against them, and that I wish them both the most of success. Sincerely Yours, Adv. GROVER C. HOWELL.

TO THE PEOPLE OF PRECINCT NO. 1 Friends, I am taking this means of informing you of my plans on moving Woodville, if I am elected commissioner, I want all of you to know that I want Woodville to stay right where it is. It would be a shame to move Woodville now, after its being there so long and I would be glad if you politicians would stop talking it. Of course, the people that know me know that I would not think of moving the Old Town out of the beautiful spot it is in, but there are a number of people in the Precinct that do not know me and you might mistreat them. Now I'm not planning on moving anything out of Woodville but a few politicians. I would like very much to move some of them, but I don't know if I will have any luck or not. I guess so. As for me not working the streets of Woodville, you should have kept that to yourselves. If you keep on talking that way the voters will lose confidence in you, and that would be too bad. You know what happened to the men that ran for governor. People lost confidence in them and that is what is going to happen to you if you go around telling them that I will move Woodville. If I am elected commissioner, I want you to know that there won't be any road machinery moved from Woodville by me, if elected. I think that is the place for it and if elected that will be headquarters for all machines that belong in Precinct No. 1. Just forget about that. Friends, I hear that I have had a good deal to say about the Nelius, well, I will admit that I have had a lot of nice things about him, and Joe Nelius, I don't know if I could think of anything nice to say for myself. Now friends, I want to thank those of you again that supported me in the first primary and to those who didn't vote for me, I earnestly solicit your votes and influence as it is going to be impossible for me to get around to see all of you. Thank you for past favors. LEM BULLOCK. Adv.

MRS. JOHN BLANCHARD It is with real sorrow that The Booster makes this report of the death of Mrs. John Blanchard. Mr. Blanchard and his brother has been in business in Woodville for some time past and the Blanchard Bros. Bakery has won many friends. Mrs. Blanchard leaves five small children motherless. She has not been well since the last baby arrived and Monday morning was operated on at the local hospital and passed away early Tuesday morning. The funeral was held yesterday morning in Beaumont. Mr. Blanchard has asked the Booster to extend his sincere appreciation to Woodville people for kindness shown him in his terrible bereavement, also for the beautiful flowers brought and sent.

FOR THE AVERAGE MAN AND AVERAGE WOMAN

Carrying the banner of the average man and the average woman, G. A. Jerry Sadler, 30-year old Longview attorney, this week was continuing his whirlwind speaking state-wide speaking and handshaking campaign for Railroad commissioner.

Fresh from the ranks of the plain folks, Sadler is looking to the people of Texas want to inject new blood into the Railroad commission to give it life to fight avarice and greed which have long dominated the army of the chronic office-holders.

Sadler is campaigning as a plain business man, qualified all through experience and study for Railroad commissioner. He has called on the average man and the average woman to join hands with him to defeat the efforts of more than 1,000 commission employees who are paid one million dollars from the taxpayers' money annually and who are driving state-owned cars to champion the cause of a man who is approaching his 80th birthday and has held public office for more than 50 years.

Sadler is staunchly opposed to laws and orders which threaten the small and independent business man. He believes in strict conservation of God-given natural resources of Texas, and he favors immediate payment of the $30 pension to Texas aged.

For Autumn Fashion Parade

The marriage of Miss Virginia Powell, only daughter of Mrs. P. H. Powell and Lieutenant W. A. Bowie, son of Mrs. W. Z. Bowie of Baton Rouge, La., at high noon, Saturday, at the Christian church was an outstanding event of the year.

The large platform presented a tropical setting with palms and stately banyans, and the bride and groom were the center of attention.

The bride appeared on the arm of her father, meeting her future husband at the snowy altar just held at the head by the coronet of C. Magers, with the single ring ceremony, united them in marriage.

The bride was lovely in white satin, the long bridal veil was held at the head by the coronet of C. Magers, with the single ring ceremony, united them in marriage.

America Under A Dictatorship? Impossible, You Say! Read All Installments of 'America Marching to War'

The IMP, backbone of our totalitarian War-State, is already in the process of being organized in a preliminary manner. The War and Navy Departments are now, undertaking studies of American factories with a view to charting their wartime values. The nation has been divided into geographical procurement districts and each one of the branches of the War Department has not only located headquarters in these districts but has also delegated to each certain responsibilities. The output of more than 20,000 factories has been analyzed; and these plants, 12,000 have been assigned to one or more of the Army supply branches.

Each has signed a document known as the "Accepted Schedule of Production," which means that the plant in question has accepted the responsibility of wartime manufacturing duties as directed by the Super-Government.

Industry has no choice in the matter of accepting this regimentation. In wartime it will either conform or vanish. The Defense Act already the law of the land provides:

In the case of any individual, partnership, or corporation who shall refuse to give the United States preference in the production of goods, or to furnish arms, ammunition, or other supplies as required by the War Relocation Authority, the War Relocation Authority may, in its discretion, suspend the license of such individual, partnership, or corporation.

Completes First Week of Runoff

Walter Woodcock completed the first week of his runoff speaking tour Thursday, having brought his candidacy for attorney general to the people of a large Central Texas area. In a score of speeches in his victory drive, seeking to augment the 340,453 votes with which he led the field July 23 to a majority in the August 27 runoff, the lieutenant governor declared the main issue is the candidates' qualifications.

He reviewed his own struggles for legal education, working as stenographer, farm laborer, dishwasher, school teacher and country newspaper editor. He told of his successful law practice since returning from the World War.

SYNOPSIS, LIE AGAIN, TRY AGAIN, TRY AGAIN—CORRIGAN.

DO NOT Forget, Saturday, August 27th, is run-off election day.

SOON STATE fair at Dallas will be advertising the 1938 dates which are Oct. 8; close Oct. 23.

THE STATE Board of Education in a meeting last week Tuesday, re-adopted a $22 appropriation for the fiscal year, beginning September 1.

IT APPEARS the run-off is campaign is on and is proving to be nearly as interesting as the first primary. About the only difference is the lack of cemetery cleaning, pie suppers and box supper auctions.

ELSEWHERE MAY be found a new story from the Dallas News—something about Jack Garner becoming the nominee in the 1940 Democratic convention in the capacity of standard bearer for the presidential leadership. Well, why not? And the echo answers why not?

ADVERTISING RATES to people not in the know, often seem outrageous. Most advertisers in East Texas know of the rates in Beaumont. Let's step into magazine world—just one of which this writer happens to know about. Time, a weekly news magazine, is, per inch, $98.54.

UP TO NOMINEES The Booster goes to press we have not discovered a Tyler County candidate out with a Hillbilly band a choir singing vaudeville. One or two, however, according to the coupon of late.

EVIDENTLY THE Boosters call for vaudeville in a run-off election, etc., has already borne fruit, for, be it known, Jerry Sadler would have all Texas know his eyes are not full of Hillbilly flour. Sadler has a bunch of stringers, cowboys, etc., assisting him in his attempt to get nominated at the second primary as railroad commissioner.

AND BEFORE you know it the opening time of the public schools will be upon us. The Woodville school system will be handicapped for some time as the new building will not be ready for occupancy, and probably until near the end of the first semester. With good luck, it is expected the new building will be ready not later than for the opening of school after the holiday season.

UP LUFKIN way the authorities are doing things. The city attorney Curtis Fenley, is causing sheriff sales to be inserted in the Lufkin Daily News. These sales are because of delinquent city taxes. There are 20 of these notices being published at this time, and the city attorney says there are more to follow. In building a city and keeping it up to date, or in attempting to live up to a slogan, for instance, "Woodville, 5,000 in five years," tax paying slackers do not do a thing but impede and embarrass. "Fity tis, tis true."

CONGRESSMAN DIES is interested in getting some wide-awake smart(?) newspaper man in Texas to start a straw vote on the justness, or for that matter, the iniquitousness, of the appointment of Gov. Alfred, as a federal judge in a new district at Woodville. We never did believe straw votes, in fact the straw vote what is credited with putting the Literary Digest out of business. Chain letters are also the same class as the straw vote. It seems, however, from what can glean from the daily news that Die is not in sympathy with President Roosevelt's appointment of Gov. Alfred.

EVERYBODY can tell this country should go to the world's fair.

STARRING FIGURES

No one who owns an automobile is unaware of its dependence on the petroleum industry. But the industry's importance to Texas does not stop with automobiles; a study of the records reveals some startling figures: Texas has approximately 53% of the nation's oil reserves in the United States, and 40% of the country's total production. Texas reserves at the end of 1937 were estimated to be 8,248,000,000 barrels. About a fourth of the total mineral wealth of the country is in oil; this gives Texas approximately one eighth of the national mineral wealth in oil alone! The value of petroleum products refined in Texas was $438,000,000 according to latest figures. First place in production first in reserves. Texas ranks only seventh in consumption, so that oil becomes a source of new dollars, pouring into the pockets of nearly every average Texan. The value of this job, the state's development is indicated by the fact that oil royalties paid to farmers a little exceeds the total of taxes and interest on mortgages paid by oil Texas farmers. In addition, the oil industry has distributed huge sums among Texans in the shape of other royalties, wages, the purchase of supplies. The Humble Company sets a high value upon its privilege of participating in the discovery and orderly development of this great Texas natural resource.

STRAIT GATE

by Ruth Comfort Mitchell

"Keep away from me, drunken fool!" he said savagely. "There was a stifled wail behind him but he did not look around. He bulled himself with directions. Whistles whined that he must forego the pleasure of pitching her out in mid-air—was the first place he could land her? Anywhere he could get his ship down with a semblance of safety!

Unless he carried her all the way to Los Angeles—or Glendale, which was his destination—and that was unthinkable—he must apparently detour to a place called Fresno.

A stealthy look, presently, showed him that she had settled herself in a seat, a blanket wrapped around her. Her face was pressed against the window, but she turned and saw him and started to rise again.

"I must tell you—," she began urgently, her voice shrill above the motor. "You must listen and I mean—, I wasn't—," they gave me something—," she started to stand up. To come forward again.

He made an imperative gesture. "Keep back. Do not come here. Stay where you are."

She dropped beside the window, huddling into the blanket, peering out into the quiet sky.

CHAPTER VI

Miss Pennington always marvelled that her charges never wept, even in childhood, but Sarah Lynn was crying now, bitterly and uncontrollably, salt tears running into her mouth, shivering under her woolly covering.

In spite of the cold, the stinging, biting air, she was seared and shriveled by the flame of Gunnar Thorwald's scorn and contempt.

"Keep away from me, drunken fool!"

The hideous irony of it—Sarah Lynn, flat-tire in the mad tempo of fourth generation Danavale because she would never take a drink! She looked at his rigid shoulders, at the relentless angle of the head in the sternly elastic helmet and absolved him utterly. Why shouldn't he have believed the worst of her, seeing her there in that loathsome place, heavy-eyed and staggering and babbling?

"I'm not afraid!" she exulted. "I'm not the least particle afraid. I adore it. This won't be the last time—I won't let it be. I'm going to fly all my life. It's fun! It's heavenly! It's the kingdom and the power and the glory!"

"There was a bump which threw her forward, she indicated that they were thumping along over a field, terrestrial again, all glory gone. They turned and drew up presently in front of brightly lighted buildings with a big group of people before them. An attendant came running to meet them.

Gunnar Thorwald did not leave his seat. He spoke through the window. "Don't get out of the car, Thorwald. What? I don't know where Duncan is. Oh, Dad, please—I'll explain everything when I see you. How can I get home? I haven't any money." She was silent, listening.

"Yes, at the Fresno airport. Shall I wait here? What? All right. Yes; the Californian hotel and ask for Mr. Pond. How soon can you get here? Tell Mother not to worry, please! I'm perfectly all right. Yes—I understand—Mr. Pond, Californian hotel." Her voice, thin, strained, hoarse, warmed suddenly.

"Oh, Dad, it was glorious—glorious—yes. Good-by."

The young man came close to her, speaking with controlled excitement. "You're Miss Dana? From Danavale? I used to work on the newspapers in San Jose. You flew down with Gunnar Thorwald? Well, of course you did," he grinned. "but what I mean is, weren't you going all the way to Glendale with him?"

"No," Sarah Lynn said briefly, aware now of the avid curiosity in his gimlet gaze.

"Here! It is a fact he vowed he'd never take a woman up in his ship?"

"Yes."

And then he kidnaps you in a blanket and—"

"He did not," she defended him hotly. "It wasn't his fault—I mean, he didn't intend—" she stopped, confused.

"Why did he dump you out like that? Didn't you ask him to set you down at Fresno? But you didn't know it was Fresno, did you? I guess maybe it was a pretty wild party, wasn't it? Do you mind telling me just how—"

The bride put a protective arm about the forlorn, thin figure. "Lay off the interview, Bessie! Isn't it a girl's privilege to get out and

"Can you venture that?" one of the workmen said in a low tone. "Just came down to dump her, huh?"

"Yeah; threw her out like she was a sack of mail!"

"And look at her! What's the big idea?"

A large and noisy element was added to the crowd, pouring out the right of the room, a man in evening dress, a girl in bridal costume, half a dozen men and girls with flowers and old shoes and rice and confetti, all staring at Sarah Lynn.

A man in the company's uniform came up to her, touching his cap. "Beg pardon! Is there anything we can do for you? Would you like a taxi? I mean, where are you going?"

"To San Jose; to Danavale," she turned round then, coming out of her abstraction, painfully aware, suddenly, of the curious throng. Her face flamed. She gathered up the blanket and shook it and tried to wrap it around her.

"We haven't another plane tonight."

"I must telephone my father," Sarah Lynn said. "Where—"

The bride ran after her and caught hold of her arm. "Say, listen—sister—," she said in a high, sweet voice, "are you in a jam?"

"I'm quite all right," Sarah Lynn said stiffly.

"Well, is that nice? Throwing you out like a sack of mail! Is that a good old Norse custom?"

"I want to telephone—"

"Here—I'll show you!" She picked up her listening train. "Is this Fresno?"

"Well, for Pete's sake! Didn't you know where you were landing? Yes, this is Fresno and here's your booth. I'll wait for you."

"Thank you," Sarah Lynn said coldly. "It's not necessary." She looked fully at her for the first time and took in the details of white satin and flimsy veil and orange blossoms. "I mustn't keep you from—"

"Oh, that's all right," she said easily. "It's just one of my wedding duties! Married in Hollywood and flying to Fresno and set the ship down to fly heels to a bunch of nit-wits. Go ahead and telephone your folks." The young man had followed them and he said something to her in a low tone. She nodded. "Don't shut the door, Thorwald—you'll another in that box. I'll stand right here."

The youth lit a cigarette and stroled away, but kept within hearing distance. "I want Danavale 3704. Yes, it's a suburb of San Jose. I want to speak to Mr. Dana—Mr. Edwin Lynn Dana."

"They was at once panic and reassurance in the sound of her father's voice, thick, drowsy, amazed.

"It's Sarah Lynn. I'm at Fresno, Fresno. For-see-oh! Why, I flew down with Gunnar Thorwald. What? I don't know where Duncan is. Oh, Dad, please—I'll explain everything when I see you. How can I get home? I haven't any money." She was silent, listening.

"Yes, at the Fresno airport. Shall I wait here? What? All right. Yes; the Californian hotel and ask for Mr. Pond. How soon can you get here? Tell Mother not to worry, please! I'm perfectly all right. Yes—I understand—Mr. Pond, Californian hotel." Her voice, thin, strained, hoarse, warmed suddenly.

soldiers and the first thing you know I'll be Christmas morning!"

The young man spoke to her in a low voice. "Hold everything for a sec, will you. Kit? I want to get the two of you together, with your train and her blanket. Boy, is this a wow or is this a wow!" He beckoned to a man with a camera who came swiftly forward. "All right, Mike; make it snappy."

The bride arranged her veil and settled the little lace cap, and thrust her arm through Sarah Lynn's. "Come along, babe! Well, will you look who's here!"

Sarah Lynn glanced up. There was a soft explosion, a dazzling flash.

"Slick!" the reporter said gleefully. "It's a knockout!"

"Oh!" Sarah Lynn cried out in panic. "Did he take our picture? He mustn't! My mother would be—"

"Don't you worry! I know how his stuff turns out—we might as well be a couple Native Belles of Mzomzee village. Here we are, hon!" She shepherded Sarah Lynn to a car garlanded with white streamers. "Californian hotel, Tommy, my lad, and let 'er step!"

The instant they were out of hearing the youth flung himself upon the telephone and shouted a number.

"Hello! Nick? Say, feller, just pin the ol' ears back and listen! What a story! Ready? Gunnar Thorwald, Norwegian ace, who has just flown the Atlantic, and who had taken a vow never to fly a woman in his ship, set the Hermod down at Fresno at 2:45 a. m. and unceremoniously landed Miss Sarah Dana, of the famous Danavale colony, exclusive suburb—he drew a revivifying breath and went on—"of San Jose, and I got a picture that's a honey—the gal in a formal and a blanket—blanket, yeah. Bl-a-n-k-e-t, standing beside Kitty Medley, Wild Woman of the Air, Hollywood's stun-flyingest' fool and her nut bridegroom!"

THE BAND—A CHARACTER BUILDER

Experience has shown that the band is a builder of character; a discipline in the mental faculties, a training in good citizenship. A promoter of health and a preparation for earning a livelihood. What other activity or study furnishes such a fundamental and useful training for the developing boy or girl as band training?

Besides the personal gratification to be taken in helping boys and girls develop all their latent powers, there is a definite and economic gain to the individuals and community that promotes the interests of the school band. When better trained young men and women take their places in the community, the general well-being of the community is improved. Money spent in preparing the young comes back to the community quickly and increased many fold.

The band is a splendid builder of democratic group spirit. Here is a common interest which brings all classes together on an equal basis. All the members are bound together in a common interest, working and pulling together for the immediate organization as well as the community as a whole.

There is no better advertising for a community than a well established, permanent band. The school band is a live spot in many a community which advertises the community as a good spot in which to live or do business.

This is a good community. With your cooperation we can have a good band. Are you a band booster?

John Collier, veteran United States commissioner of Indian affairs will be criticized by his charges Friday, August 19, when the fifth national assembly of the American Indian Federation opens at Tulsa, Okla. Joe Brunner, rank tribal leader and head of the federation, said he would seek Collier's removal from office. Other aims of the group are (1) Indian approval on national Indian legislation and (2) closer relations between Indians.

ELECTRIC COOKERY is Fast

Today's Electric Ranges Cook as Fast as Food Can Cook

Hot biscuits in 10 to 15 minutes starting with a cold oven—right on example of the speed you get from modern electric range.

If you have thought of electric cookery as slow, the speed of today's electric range will completely revolutionize your ideas. The turn of a switch brings instant glowing heat—all the heat you'll ever want or need. Surface units cook vegetables with little or no water, which speeds up cooking because there is so much less water to heat. Ovens bake perfectly without preheating—a real time saver. Better, still, speed up quick searing heat for fast broiling.

Yes—electric cookery is fast. It's the cool, clean, safe, economical and time releasing. See the new Hotpoint and Westinghouse electric ranges on display at our office. Let us explain the many advantages of electric cookery.

Baptist Church News

J. C. Boyd, Pastor

We are engaged in a revival meeting at Harmony. The attendance is good and a genuine interest is in evidence.

The local Baptist congregation, with the congregations of the other churches of the town, Sunday evening. This was decided by vote of the church in the Sunday morning service.

It is gratifying to note the splendid attendance upon all of our church services in spite of the extremely hot weather we are having. The preaching service Sunday morning was well attended.

The offerings into the church treasury, Sunday, was $55.80. This is a very healthy condition.

Those who are all ready to contribute to the building fund, please bring home without any delay. The church building idea has a fixed place in the hearts of many of the congregation. We sincerely hope that the work will continue to grow until it becomes an irresistible force.

CHEVROLET

"The Six Supreme"

LEADS THE FIELD IN SALES BECAUSE IT LEADS IN VALUE

CHEVROLET

In a year of greater motor car values . . . a year when people are demanding the most for their money in everything they buy . . . people are giving Chevrolet clear-cut leadership over all other low-priced cars and trucks, and, in fact, over the entire automobile industry.

Value is always the victor, and, again in 1938, value is enabling Chevrolet—The Six Supreme—to win nationwide supremacy in automobile sales!

The latest official new car registration figures, compiled by R. L. Polk & Company, show that Chevrolet is leading all other makes of cars, regardless of type, size or price, by tens of thousands of deliveries.

For this we have to thank our millions of Chevrolet friends who have been quick to recognize the outstanding quality and outstanding dollar-value of this smarter, newer, more modern low-priced car.

These men and women have checked all makes of cars and all phases of car value—including style, performance, comfort, safety—and they are declaring in favor of the new 1938 Chevrolet by a decisive majority.

May we take this opportunity to thank Chevrolet owners and prospective owners most sincerely for their friendship, and may we make the following suggestion to you:

Buy where the majority of people are buying. Visit your nearest Chevrolet dealer and invest in this most popular of all motor cars. Choose a new 1938 Chevrolet—The Six Supreme!
