Continental Eagle Foot-Ball News

This week finds the Eagles leading the district's best, the Silsbee Tigers. The game will be the feature of district contests, although the Silsbee team has crushed all district opponents staged up to date by heavy scores. To be exact they have played two conference games, beating San Augustine 67-0 and Chester 63-0. Their non-conference play has also been very successful in four games.

Lets Beat Silsbee Friday night. We have been told the Eagles are not in the best shape for the Friday night's game, although they have had an extra week's rest. It seems a few old injuries and some new ones received in hard work the past week finds Cobb, Hendrix, Pitts and Young in none too good condition for the Silsbee affair. Each should be able to take a try at the district honors so far have been handed to boys on the other side of the river. Especially to Silsbee and Jasper players go the only credit of all-district material. We have seen this district play for a few years and also have seen some of the games this year and believe that the Eagles have a few boys of enough ability to be mentioned. At any rate the Eagles have turned in a few good games this season and we can't understand why only two teams in the district have material good enough to mention. Perhaps we train our teams on the wrong side of the river or maybe our sports writer lives on the wrong side. Anyway we have a chance to see the district's favorites play the Eagles Friday night and feel the locals will have their hands full, but we don't believe the score will be anywhere near 50-0, as is the habit that Silsbee has had so far this season.

We have been informed that most of Silsbee's population will be on hand Friday night, also some of our sports writer friends and many football teams and fans from all over the district. Come on our Woodville and Tyler county boosters and lets show our visitors that we still live here.

Also we will get another chance to see our hand in action and probably in new uniforms. The Silsbee Tiger band will also be with their team. The Tiger band is several years old and we want you to compare our Eagle band of a few weeks with it. We believe our local band is doing splendid. Come out and see Friday night.

Work of Pastor Ends Here On Sunday

After many years, as pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. J. S. Denney with many other pastors who are up in years will bring to a close his work as resident pastor of the local church in Woodville Sunday night. This is also the last service of the fiscal year and its time for another conference. This year will see the end of the North and South Methodist organizations, and the Methodists, a great people, will show a solid front to the world. Rev. Denney, a splendid christian gentleman, served the church here in 1925-26-27 and returned here four years ago and led the people he loved and had often returned to visit and council with. He and his wife and helpmate these many years have a host of friends and they with him feel a sadness at the closing of church doors, even though all are glad the division line is no more. You are cordially invited to attend the Sunday night services, and we understand the churches of the town will dismiss the night service to be with him in his last service as pastor.

FFA Boys Serve Fine Stew

In a contest recently closed the first year boys lost and so on Friday night they paid the penalty by serving the 2nd and 3rd year winners with a multigrain stew at school grounds. John McCurley, president was master of ceremonies. Judge J. E. Wheat, Supt. Lee Hensley, W. Z. Parsons and E. H. Hopson addressed the boys, while F. B. Sullivan deserves credit for help and advice given the boys in putting it over in a splendid way.

Lawyer Control of Board to End

Fort Worth, Oct. 24.—Lawyer domination of the state board of education, long a bone of contention in Texas educational circles, is to be ended with the appointment of three members in the near future, the Star Telegram will say tomorrow.

The appointments are scheduled to be made by Gov. Allred, the terms of three of the nine members of the board expiring on December 31.

The board is now composed of five lawyers, a doctor, a real estate operator, a banker and one business man. All members whose terms expire this year are lawyers.

At least two of the vacancies are to be filled by the appointment of business men, sources close to Allred revealed today. It also was reported that the governor is considering the re-appointment of R. S. Bowers of Caldwell, now president of the board.

Others whose terms are drawing to a close are G. H. Sandford of Austin and Tom Gertrard of Tahoka.

CHICKEN BARBEQUE

Forty members and guests of the Woman's Study Club enjoyed chicken barbecue last Thursday evening at the Highway park. The tables were decorated in a colorful harvest motif of pumpkins, centerpieces, flanked on either end by field bonnets of fall flowers arranged among nuts and autumn leaves. Jack-o-lanterns provided the light. After supper everyone gathered around a huge bonfire and sang a chicken barbecue last Thursday familiar roun-de-lays.

Gift to PTA Carnival Workers

M. E. (Mika) Glenn, salesman for Magnolia Coffee Co. of Houston deserves appreciation for the securing from his company of a gift of 24 pounds of coffee, to be used at the eating booth, and a lovely utility dish to be given away at the main show. So save your ticket at the door. The company learned that the P.T.A. could use another coffee urn so gave 25 complimentary coupons, and the 24 lbs of coffee will yield 24 more and the ladies can soon save enough for the urn. The Three Meal Coffee also give a Half Pound Coffee with each pound, this is also packed by the Magnolia Co. A dozen blue sherbet cups and 12 blue glass desert plates to be given away in some way during the carnival, were also part of their gift to the P.T.A.

FFA Boys Win At State Fair

Tyler County sweet potatoe growers received more recognition recently when a peck of them entered by the F.F.A. boys, in the junior agriculture division of the Texas State Fair, won first place. The potatoe growers were judged in competition with the entries from the 4-H club members and the F.F.A. boys from all over the state.

M. L. Fortenberry, vocational agricultural student, grew the potatoe and selected them from his crop.

The Future Farmers hope to maintain their record of producing good sweet potatoe next week when they enter the South Texas State Fair at Beaumont where for the past two years they have made a clean sweep of the prizes offered in sweet potatoe.

Call Issued For Truck Growers

The Tyler County Truck Growers Assn. will meet Saturday, afternoon at 2 o'clock in the district court room for their annual business meeting. All members are urged to be present to hear the financial statement and to participate in the election of officers for the coming year. Other important business matters also be discussed. A full attendance is urged by the officers, according to Will Deaton, president.

Enough Worries Without Worrying

One would consider the average human being has sufficient real worries without borrowing imaginary ones. Yet there appears to be a fair proportion of persons who are not satisfied with the ordinary trials and tribulations that life presents but must reach out for the non-existent ones. Among them are the people who enjoy poor health, reports Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

For no reason at all such persons insist on super-heated indoor air in winter time, they pick and peck at fancy foods to some extent and give the plain, reliable and needed provender the go-by. They overload themselves with clothing in temperate and sometimes in warm weather. And to top it all, they are on friendly terms with all sorts of pills and other concoctions on the misguided theory that doses of this sort are far superior to fresh air, good food, exercise and healthy living in general.

Since we only live once, it is a sad commentary on human nature that any person is so foolish as to make a psychological invalid of himself in this fashion. Obviously such unjustified fancies deny them of the real delight of a vigorous, zestful and vital existence to which they are justly entitled, the doctor continued. Misguided persons of this kind do not realize that the enjoyment of poor health is a woeful substitute for that abundant and zestful vitality which can be attained usually through the application of some common-sense and a bit of discipline.

Rest and restraint, of course, are indicated in the presence of actual disease, and when advised by the physician in his treatment of illness. Moreover, convalescence emphatically calls for some physical restraint and care. But that is a far cry from the imaginary illnesses of which more persons in varying degrees are victims than is generally suspected.

HUMBLE FOOT BALL NEWS

In the current issue of the Humble Football News, weekly football news-magazine, published by the Humble Oil & Refining Co., and distributed free by Humble service stations and dealers, recent "Southwest Conference stars" named the best football players they ever played against.

One player representing each school of the "Southwest" conference contributes to the article. Bill Wallace, Rice, picked Sam Baugh as the best player he ever played against. Walter Ross of Texas Christian University picked Bill Wallace of Rice. Tom Murphy of Arkansas University picked Clem or Baylor. Lloyd Russell of Baylor University picked Sam Baugh of Texas Christian University. Joe Rouben of Texas Christian University picked Bill Wallace of Rice. ## The Halloween Carnival Here

The Halloween carnival will be opened with a big street parade Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Plans for the parade indicate that it will be one of the biggest ever staged in Woodville. The parade will be led by Miss Miss Marguerite Davis and James Best who will ride on horses and carry flags. The new school band will follow. Other colorful groups will be the sponsor, the pep squad, and the football boys. They will come the groups who are competing for the prizes. First the grammar school children will come carrying out the Halloween theme; they will be followed by the high school classes whose entries will be judged on attractiveness. The private classes will come next and will be judged on the uniqueness of their entries. Prizes of $3.50 and $2.50 will be offered to the schools and of $1.50 to the private classes.

The commercial entries will then be in the line.

A prize of $2.50 for first and one dollar for second offered to business houses entering the cleverest exhibit. The individuals will win the parade; the best comic entry will receive a pass to the main show and his supper at the eating booth. Prizes will also be offered to the two schools and private classes.

Following the parade the concessions will open up on the high school grounds and the fun will continue until time for the main show. The show will be a riotous comedy directed by Miss Julia Belle Cruse. "Miss Melvina's School Room" will be presented by an able cast of 17.

The closing event of the night will be a dance in the gym under the sponsorship of the Junior class. At 10:30 the main feature of the dance will be given when the senior class crowns Miss Mary Louise Hughes, the recently elected sponsor of the Eagles. Representatives from Warren, Colmesneil and all of the schools in this football district have been invited to participate. The balcony will be open for those who do not wish to dance.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church met at the church Monday afternoon with Mrs. Carlton Young as leader. Subject of the program was Prayer. The meeting opened with a song, a prayer by Mrs. Denney, and a responsive reading. Prayer of an understanding heart by the leader. Can we forgive, Mrs. J. Wood Fain; Prayer and the Faithfulness of God, Mrs. Shivers; These have gone Deeper, Mrs. Kenneson; My Prayer, Mrs. Denney; Let us Pray, Mrs. McClure. The next meeting will be a business and social affair, and will be in the home of Mrs. J. Wood Fain, with Mrs. Carlton Young, hostess.

OFFERS PALESTINE TO UNITED STATES

London, Oct. 24.—The evening News offered today, in an editorial on President Roosevelt's declaration regarding Palestine, to give the country to the United States "tied up in a blue ribbon."

"The United States can ask the League of Nations to transfer the Palestine mandate to them and our government, if not entirely bereft of its senses, will hand it over tied up with blue ribbon and a courteous note of thanks for favors rendered," the newspaper said.

MRS ALLEN PHILLIPS

Friends of Mrs. Allen Phillips will be grieved to learn of her death away yesterday afternoon in Beaumont. As The Herald on the press were called upon particularly for this, but deep sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday at the South Park Baptist church, Beaumont at 2:30 p.m. Friday, and interment at Lexington.

We just give out a few notices in the mail and give 'em a chance to pay or not pay, and that's that, except with a possible named few who are put on the spot. And how well we know this is the absolute truth.

SUPPOSE! Let us imagine the Booster editor was an old-time Woodville resident, owned a great and flourishing business, hired a gang of men, did not pay a city tax, and that when a movement was put over to have a city volunteer fire department which might and probably would aid in reducing the fire insurance rate and, further, that when he heard of it exclaimed: "What a volunteer fire department for Woodville! Nonsense! IT WOULD RAISE MY TAXES." We say what kind of a public spirited man would the Booster editor prove himself to be? And now, Mrs. Broomhandie, will you kindly step up and get your question?

NEW DEAL'S SECURITY TAX DUE THIS MONTH
 Social security tax returns are due this month to be filed in the office of the collector of Internal Revenue at Austin, on or before October 30, 1938. The treasury department is steadily becoming more severe in asserting delinquency penalties, and notice is given to those who have been filing their returns late that they must get their returns in on time. Failure to get their returns in on time will result in the taxpayer being summoned to appear at a zone internal revenue office, where the return will be prepared for him and additional penalties assessed. In the past a deputy collector was sent to call on each delinquent taxpayer to secure the return. This procedure was slow and expensive, is being eliminated. When the delinquent taxpayer receives a summons to bring his payroll records to the Internal Revenue office in order that his return may be prepared and the tax collected, it works an inconvenience on the taxpayer, but failure to comply with the summons subjects him to severe penalties. The department feels that the Social Security laws have been in effect long enough now for the public to understand its operations, and its lenient policy is being substituted for more stern measures. One of the most common errors, or most misunderstood parts of the act occurs where an individual has been filing regular returns and paying his tax, but for the present quarter he employed no one. He knows that he owes no tax so he does not file the return. The law prescribes that a return shall be filed in such cases as this, and the word "none" plainly written on the face of the return and mailed in just the same as if tax was due.

A Word To The Wise ALKA-SELTZERIZE

EVERYONE SEEMS TO BE USING ALKA-SELTZER THESE DAYS

SHOULD I THINK THEY WOULD DO WONDERS FOR ME

Millions of users feel that they get quicker, more potent, more effective relief from ALKA-SELTZER than from old-fashioned unpalatable preparations. That's why ALKA-SELTZER is more in demand than almost any other single item in the average drug store.

We recommend ALKA-SELTZER for the relief of Gas on Stomach, Sour Stomach, Headache, Cold, Morning Sickness, Muscular Pains, and as a Gargle in Minor Throat Irritations.

We really mean it.

Use ALKA-SELTZER for any or all of these discomforts. Your money back if it fails to relieve.

In addition to an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate of Soda), each glass of ALKA-SELTZER contains alkalis which help to correct those everyday ailments due to Hyper-Acidity.

In 30¢ and 60¢ packages at your drug store.

STRAIT GATE

by Ruth Comfort Mitchell

She could not turn her head, but her eyes turned to him. "You tell the truth, always. Am I going to die?"

"No," he said heartily. "I'm not up all the details of your case, of course, but I had a talk with Miss Sarah Lynn; you're going to live."

"Must I?"

He cleared his throat. "I guess you must, girl. I guess that's your choice."

Sarah Lynn said, "They used to give me stuff all the time to make me sleep. I wish they still did. If I have to live, I think they might do that for me."

"Not my back," my head, my heart. Will you ask them to give it to me again?"

"No," the old country doctor said. "I wouldn't want me to. I guess it took plenty of grit to go up in your plane, and more than plenty to come down in a parachute. But I believe you have a lot of grit left."

He stood up, looking down at her, his eyes very bright. "Yes, you've got to live, Sarah Lynn."

Conrad Jordan was Gunnar's only defender. All Dana had condemned him to. The elders considered it a blessing that he had gone—his presence, they understood from her mother, was only a torment to the poor child—but certainly he had not acted most ably.

"What a heel!" Sarah Lynn's young brother said. "Gosh—what a heel!"

Because of his defection, because he was the alien, the intruder in the clan, Dana had convinced himself that Gunnar Thorwald was, indirectly, the reason for Sarah Lynn's tragic accident.

Lynn Dana and Conrad Jordan agreed to cease discussing it. The fiercer stood loyally by the side.

"I don't see what else the boy could do, Lynn. She turned from him—she shrunk from him—in horror. She begged him to go away forever; she told him repeatedly

CHAPTER XIV

Slowly, almost imperceptibly, month by month and then week by week, Sarah Lynn improved, inching her small-like way up the hill of progressive recovery. The eminent bone specialist was delighted, the local doctor enthusiastic. She could turn her head; she could use her hands; she could have the bed tilted; the frame and the cast gave way to a brace. Joy, dewy and triumphant, pulsed through the pretty room, and Aunt Helena wore prophetic robes, swimming the gleaming lawns between the two houses.

Sarah Lynn told herself, "The inside of my mind is just like the inside of this room; it is peaceful and warm and I will keep flowers blooming in it and canaries singing and kittens playing. I won't let lightning come into my room or into my mind because she whines and moans for me to go out and I am never going out any more." She was always faintly smiling and her eyes were never wide open. Her mother felt she needed (neglect) stimulus. "Darling, now you're so marvelously improved, wouldn't it be nice to brush up on your French or review your art history?"

"It would be very nice," Sarah Lynn answered with her strange new docility. She had gained a little flesh and now her dark eyes did not overflow her face so completely.

Duncan read aloud pleasantly in a well-modulated voice which never grew hoarse. At least once a week he put the book down and picked up her hand and kissed it and asked her again to marry him.

"Not a moment—do that to me," Duncan, she always told him gently. "That would be a dreadful way to repay all your kindness."

"There isn't any question of repayment, Sarah Lynn. But if you think I rate a reward—you know what I want!" His sensitive, fine-featured face would flush and his eyes mist for a moment. There was no possible doubt now as to the depth of Duncan's devotion and it gave him dignity; it actually made him seem larger. A sudden and excruciating toothache sent him to the dentist one afternoon when Mrs. Dana was dining and duty at a neighborly. "I'll call Henry to come and sit with you," he said, hurrying away.

CHAPTER XV

She begged him to go away forever.

That she never wanted to see him again.

"But—in her condition—"

"No," she was not under opiates; she was absolutely clear. Upon my word, I don't see how he could have acted otherwise."

Conrad Jordan went back to Tahoe to close his lodge for the winter. The man in the wheelchair wrote to his traveling cousin:

"I cannot help feeling that Gunnar acted ignobly. And yet—what could he accomplish by staying? If Sarah Lynn is to be helpless, what, after all, would they have in common? It was, we must in justice remember, a plant of hasty growth; not deeply rooted. I dare say, flying brought them together. But now—even without her injury, I doubt if he could have fitted himself into our scene; eagles don't make a habit of nesting in fowls."

"They are bringing her home from the hospital in a few days. Her mother has turned over her own sitting-room to Sarah Lynn. Duncan Van Doren is a pattern of devotion; they tell me—constantly—were reading aloud, always on the bed. Well, perhaps it helps a little. The girl comes later, when they think whether she has a chance of a partial recovery."

Supper was silent while he looked at the pipe-rack above his head, doing in painstaking pyrotechnic little inconsistencies, "pop-pop-pop" and below, in rather mother-of-pearl maiden who had sobbed that she would sit beside his chair all the long days of her life, had no been put to the test. If she had not died—she wondered. It was a fragment.

Mrs. Edwin Dana's upstairs sitting-room had always been a place of cozy cheer, but now it fairly radiated and exuded joyous serenity. People came into the room with ringing infections, stepping lightly on the heels of their feet. They sometimes paused outside the door to arrange their ruffled hair.

Miss Pennington sat there with her sewing, and young Bill ricketed in on his return from school, and her father and the older brothers came for brief and breezy chats before or after their dinner.

Her mother and Duncan, one or the other, were always there.

"Did you ever see such devotion?" people asked, almost reverently. "If Cousin Adelaide isn't the very essence of self-sacrificing mother-love and Duncan, well, if ever a husband deserved a reward—"

Mary Dana Webster told her husband, "I loathe having to admit it, because I never could see him with a binocular, but Duncan is certainly a wonder about this. Honestly, he is. I never gave him credit for really caring, tremendously; I thought the whole affair had been motivated by the mothers. But he must care, Neddy."

Her husband turned a lathered face. "Probably does, poor kid."

"Of course, I think he's getting a great kick out of own nobility. No, really—I don't say that credit. It doesn't detract from his attitude. But I do think he dramatizes himself—Gunnar Thorwald, Norwegian ace, heartlessly flying home, deserting his helpless, paralyzed sweetheart; Duncan Van Doren standing by. Well, that's natural enough. And as for Cousin Adelaide, actually, she acts more beautiful by the hour, and I don't believe she was ever happier in her life."

"Oh, come, now," he reached for his shaving lotion. "That's pretty thick, old gal! After all her grief and shock and—"

She stood her ground. "I can understand it. Cousin Adelaide is one of those born-to-commanders, and for the first time Sarah Lynn is being treated as a baby, she's being glided away and was a contrary child, and she wouldn't make a proper debut, and she wouldn't be engaged to Duncan Van Doren. And then she would fly, and she would marry a strange foreign flier. Now her mother's got her, utterly. She's just as much in a cage as those jittery canaries. She broods over her and feeds her like a baby bird in a nest."

To her husband's bewilderment she burst into angry tears.

CHAPTER XIV

What good did it do—to be so grouchy today? Did your sourliness drive any troubles away? Did you cover more ground than you usually do because of the grouch that you carried with you? If not, what's the use of a grouch or a frown, if it won't smooth a path or a grim trouble down? If it doesn't assist you, it isn't worth while. Your work may be hard, but do it . . . and smile.

John F. Lorenzen, National Safety council engineer, was among the speakers at the silver jubilee congress opened in Chicago, Monday, Oct. 10. Lorenzen presented testimony that pedestrian accidents can be cut 30% by making 85% of the people obey traffic lights. Pedestrians now account for more than two-thirds of all traffic fatalities. The safety congress attracted 10,000 men and women from all parts of the world.

W. A. Hodges spent his few days vacation the past week on a trip to the Gulf coast.

United States Surgeon Gen. Thomas Parran is among speakers at the annual convention of the American Public Health association which will open Tuesday, Oct. 25, in Kansas City. More than 3,000 delegates will hear 300 papers on every phase of public health practice. Theme of the convention is "Public Health in the World of Tomorrow."

Mrs. Chloe Barclay with Attorney and Mrs. Clyde E. Smith attended the game in Houston Saturday and stayed over for O. E. S. Grand Chapter.

Chairmen of the Tyler district representing troops in Colmesate, Doucette, Woodville, Chester, Warren and Fred have received notice of this meeting.

Exactly Where America Started

When F. R. A. wrote the Chicago Tribune, "I have been told that somewhere in France there is a house where the word America was first printed, and that the place is open to tourists. What can you tell me about it?"

The Tribune replied as follows: "The sixteenth-century printer's house in the little town of Saint Die, in the Vosges. In 1507, 15 years after Columbus discovered America, a group of scholars edited the writings of Ptolemy, the Egyptian geographer, wrote a foreword describing the exploration of the New World."

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Recently a little came running in and related the following about his playmate:

"Ma, Billy said I was a politician and I said, 'What's a politician?' Billy said I was a politician and my tooth is in my pocket."
