WOODVILLE, TYLER COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1939

THINK 'MOBBOBIES'

Take warning, you deer hunters. J. W. Mayo was fined $113 for killing a doe deer. The young man had two other charges filed against him, but they were cancelled. One deer, $113, is about all they are worth.

Territory tributary to Houston, one day ending November 17, accumulated 82 traffic accidents. We do not, here in Woodville, expect to make such a record for several years, and perhaps, say five years from now, it will be against the law to participate in a motor vehicle accident.

Now that an effort is to be made to collect taxes in Woodville, it is expected a drive of attorney-at-law will make their headquarters in this county seat city, ready and willing to take all cases and fight them in the local courts for all who object in having their personal rights outraged.

A complete shut-down of the Hollywood industry was threatened Saturday and was slated to start on the demand of some 30,000 members of 27 American Federation of Labor union in Hollywood. And to think that was started just after Wood Fain got his new picture house going.

How'd you like to be a resident of Monahans, Texas? This year by several different kinds of proclamations, there are to be three turkey days, more commonly known as Thanksgiving days. To make things interesting, the turkeys will have to be prepared three different ways, roast, barbecued and fried.

We wonder if Daniel Webster had a vision of the late World War and of the present preannouncing war clouds when he penned the following: "Nothing can ruin our country if the people themselves will undertake its safety—and nothing can save it if they leave that safety in any hands other than their own."

We work and labor to do things and go places, and feel sorry because we cannot do more and go more. Then, all of a sudden we catch up with folks, who, by very force of circumstances, can not do things, neither can they go places. If we are then living and thinking right we cease to fret because we can neither go and do more.

It seems habit is something like a cable. It is weaved, thread by thread, day by day and year upon year, and at last it seems we cannot break it. And so it is with tax dodgers. But we'll tell the world there's apt to be acres of ground all about here all strewn with busted, fractured and sprained cables. You all watch and see.

We've been saying for a long time, we would love to get the Texas highway commission in a couple of cars and give them a ride—Woodville to Livingston in a hurry. Sunday's papers told the world Pres. Roosevelt got bogged down on his home estate, which is so large that he has not yet seen the particular corner he was interested in. We predict there'll be some kind of a new road built to that

Eagles Clean Up On Buna 19-6

In spite of the Beaumont Enterprise's football commentator, Mr. Ed Reichelt, the Woodville Eagles cleaned up on Buna to the top-heavy score of 19-6, on a "heavy field" as the Enterprise advertised the upset of predictions made by its sports writer.

A young man by the name of Deaton took charge of the scoring department and crossed the Buna line three times, which was that many times more than was necessary, to break into the winning column. It appears it takes a little more than mere prediction of so and so to make the Eagles lose. The win made for the Eagles a sure second place, but should the Jasper Bulldogs fall short on the count and the Eagles triumph Woodville would be the district champs.

Of course, now that the Eagles only held Chester to a tie, and Jasper cleaned up 31-6 this same Reichelt came out flattered and said: "I can see no reason how Woodville can stay within 20 points of the Jasper team in their Thanksgiving tilt."

Understand, we are making no predictions about this coming game. Circumstances have made it impossible to see a football game this season, but if Jasper should bob up with the short end of the count with the Eagles it ought to fade Reichelt out of the picture as football commentator, reporter and puffer forever.

It is easy to imagine where this show's sympathies are leaning—why, no one can venture a guess.

ROTARIANS ENTERTAIN VISITORS THURSDAY

Dr. H. H. Hartz, of Conroe, governor of district 130 of Rotary International, Walter Journey of Birmingham, Ala., on the staff of Rotary International, Captain R. M. Baehner, and Superintendent Lee A. Taylor of Colmesneil were the out-of-town guests at the regular meeting of the Woodville Rotary at the Rainey hotel last Thursday night.

Singer was led by Mr. Journey with Mrs. J. Wood Fain at the piano. John B. Reed, president, presided. Lee Feagin was the speaker at the evening.

particular place in a hurry. And, ditto, if we could have given the highway members a little ride on highway 45, we'd soon have the best advertising for bids.

Let's see, Ed Reichelt, Beaumont football commentator, depicted Buna would take Woodville, and most sport readers know what Woodville did to the Buna pig skin booters Friday of last week. Reichelt also intimated Woodville would be a setup for Jasper. Everybody who watches the sporting columns of the daily press will be wondering how certain things happened to about 90,000 young men all over America, including the Jasper-Woodville "set-up" ah, just before the dinner bell rings for the turkey feed.

A Chance To Vote As You Pray

Six hundred and eighty-five signatures have gone on to petitions, asking for another opportunity to put booze out of Tyler county. A number of communities have not been heard from up to Monday afternoon. However, the court has called an election for Thursday, Dec. 16.

If every church member of Tyler county will go to the polls that day and vote as he or she thinks and knows Christ would vote, it will be the end of the story. Then these same church members back up the law and let the officers understand they are standing with them to enforce the law, in spite of relationship, mother, lover, father, love, sister, love, brother, love and the little sneaking thirst for cocktails making an impression on the public and inspiring faith in our christianity.

FIGHTING FRONT'S

Once upon a time there were three turtles. Two of them were friends and were very angry at the third turtle who, they thought, was responsible for disturbing their pond, making it uncomfortable for the turtles and all the little fishes. So the two friends declared war on the other turtle. The third turtle said: "All right, if that's the way you feel about it, I'll fight you and it will be the most terrible war ever seen." Whereupon all three turtles piled in their necks and waited. All the little fishes, who wanted no part in this terrible battle, waited, too. After seven weeks, the third turtle popped his head out long enough to say: "I mean it, too." The other two turtles said: "So do we." Then they all pulled their necks in again.

Last week, the eighth week of the Second World War, Germany, France and Great Britain, like the labled turtles, still held back action. Casualties were at a minimum, fighting was desultory and the major offensives were mainly in the diplomatic field.—Pathfinder.

Local Inspection Of Dairies

A resolution favoring the voluntary inspection and grading of dairies in Tyler county was adopted Monday of last week by the commissioner's court. D. T. Bartlett, sanitary engineer with the health unit of Hardin and Tyler counties, will make the inspections and the county health officer, Dr. J. F. Shivers, will approve the grading. Through this new setup it will be possible for local dairies to sell grade A milk without going through the state department.

America's Biggest Business; the Schools

Devoting its entire October issue to a study of education in all America, Survey Associates, Inc., has set forth this striking statistical picture in Survey Graphic magazine to demonstrate why schooling is the nation's biggest business.

Enrollment, 30,214,100 young Americans are enrolled on a full-time basis in schools and colleges. This is equivalent to one out of every four of the population.

Of this total, 26,367,098 are in public elementary and secondary schools; 2,638,775 in private and parochial schools; and 2,100,227 in the nation's 1,628 colleges and universities.

More than 90% of the total attend public institutions. Roman Catholic parochial schools cover 2,287,748 of the 2,638,775 not publicly educated.

Of the 870,763 who teach in public elementary and high schools, one-fifth are men, four-fifths are women. Added to this sum are 54,831 administrative officers, 191,492 teachers in private and parochial schools, and 110,000 members of college faculties. Grand total: 1,126,987.

The annual average salary of public-school teachers is $1,283, varying from $504 in Arkansas to $2,414 in New York. The total annual pay to teachers and administrative officers in America's public elementary and secondary schools is $1,146,460,400, far greater than that of any two great business corporations combined.

In addition to these figures, Survey Associates, Inc., shows in Survey Graphic that the total value of America's public educational plant covering only capital investment in buildings and equipment is more than $1.5 billion dollars. Moreover, besides this, the value of property and endowments of private schools, colleges, universities and of professional school totals more than 12 billion dollars.

SOAK THE RICH

Once in a while the people are told that they could escape taxation if they would insist that the burden be transferred to the shoulders of the rich. This may sound plausible, but it won't work.

If every cent of all incomes over $100,000 in the United States was taken by the tax collectors, the sum raised would be enough to run Federal, State and local governments for just ten days.

If every cent of all incomes of $5,000 and over was taken by the tax collectors, the money provided would be sufficient to run all divisions of government for less than four months.

You see? This soak-the-rich theory doesn't work. The people—you and I and the man down the street—can't escape taxes. We have to do the paying. And when government spends more, we have to pay more.

Let's get that fixed firmly in our minds: We pay the taxes.

Supt. A. A. Miller of Spurger was a county seat visitor yesterday.

Motor Trails Vivid in East and North

Mrs. Gray of Temple and Mrs. J. M. Rogers of Batson with Mrs. T. C. Rock, returned Tuesday from a two weeks trip to Atlanta, Ga., to visit Mrs. O. T. Craver. The oaks, hard maple and other hard wood trees are a vivid blaze of glory and they enjoyed many trips in and out of the city, each a delight to the beauty loving Texans.

This reporter enjoyed a trip in some of the same territory the past two weeks and never enjoyed a more brilliant and vivid trip, not even excepting the Hudson River drive, a noted trip to all motorists. The journey from Jasper to Alexandria, La., was very colorful and lovely. On down to Opelousas and east to Hammond, and north to the Mississippi state line was pleasant, but lots of fog, but as I drove into the state the scene changed abruptly, and the level country dropped behind and the new concrete road was up long sweeps of hills, through cultivated valleys and the hills covered with pines and oaks. The towns of McComb, Brookhaven and Hazelhurst were beautiful and I promised myself I would spend a night in one of them enroute home. The trees were vivid yellow, red, brown and maroon, with every yard a mass of fall flowers. Ate lunch at noon in Jackson and turned east to Denopolis, Ala. By that time I knew I would reach my destination before night. Just before entering the "lumpy" hills of Meridian, Miss., I slowed up to read a large sign some 15x30 feet, and it stated "Free Sites for Factories and tax exemptions for all industries," and I said out loud, "these people really want to build up their town."

Monday of this week I received a letter from Meridian and as I looked at the post mark I wondered whether my Humble card had not been good at this Standard station, and I was receiving a bill but, here is the letter:

"Meridian, Miss., Nov. 18. Mrs. J. E. Willard, Woodville, Texas. Dear Mrs. Willard: On the 11th of November we had the privilege of selling you seven gallons of our good Crown gasoline, for which we want to extend to you our sincere thanks. It was a pleasure to serve you, and we certainly hope that when you are in Meridian you will stop with us at our station which is located at 4613-8th street, Meridian.

"We shall be looking forward to seeing you again. Yours very truly, Luther's Service Station, by N. E. Downey."

This was just a little thing but should I again pass that way I will make a special effort to buy gas at this place with a feeling that I am seeing old friends. Arrived at the Charlie Richards home about 4:30 and we visited until after 11 o'clock. Mr. Richards was up and out at 1 a. m. and back for 7:30 breakfast, but had Monday off so the children carried their lunch to school and we three drove to Sylacauga, 170 miles, to spend a few hours with Mr. Richards, Sr., and Miss Etta Barrett. About 3:30 we drove on to Birmingham and this mountain drive was a scenic panorama of yellow and red. As we entered the city a heavy pall of smoke hung over it and I dreaded entering, but when we got into the city proper we were under the black cloud and so didn't notice. Mrs. Richard's sisters and niece waited for us down town and all then drove to another sister's and enjoyed dinner and an hour's visit. We arrived back at Demopolis just before 11 o'clock. Two more days of rest and visiting and I left for home Thursday a. m., stopping in Monroe, La., to spend the night. Leaving there about 9:00 a. m. Friday arrived home about 4:30 p. m. It started to rain soon after leaving Monroe and the country from there on looked wet and sloppy. Mr. Richard's Jr., best known as Charley, asked after many but still seems to hold J. H. Fain of Doucette, and C. E. and Tom Goodrich of Warren, and dear friends and his details are "good men of Tyler county."

No County Relief For Car Owners

Dallas.—Dallas county case workers recently have investigated each family on the city-county relief rolls, according to County Judge Ben H. Fly, and no persons or families able to maintain an automobile will be kept on the local indigent list.

Residents of the counties are still leading surplus commodity provisions in automobiles, however, and driving away from the warehouse where those provisions are distributed.

"There is nothing the city and county can do about it if surplus commodities are given to persons who drive up in their automobiles," Judge Fly explained, "because surplus commodity distribution is a Federal function."

But car owners will get no local funds in Dallas County.

WOULD YOU enjoy your turkey day feed, the exquisite flavor and seasoning? Yes? Well get busy and work and acquire a real, healthy appetite!

THE TAX payers' Digest wants to know what we think about mounting taxes. There are so many of them we dare not venture a thought of them in particular. However, as a general proposition we believe that if all business concerns, every land owner and house owner here taxed alike in proportion to what the properties and homes and businesses were actually worth, there would be a great change. We admit taxes are high and still mounting, but when certain interests refuse to pay, when law suits appear to be the only way to collect, it is then time to institute the cases at law. There is no reason why one man in a given community should pay his taxes each year and his neighbor refuse to ever pay. To us it looks un-American.

ASKING FOR TRADE
 The other day a merchant in a nearby town saw a farmer receiving goods at the station from a mail order house. The goods was in his line, and the same he had carried in his store for years. He approached the farmer and said, "I could have sold you every article you have there for less money than you paid that Chicago house, and saved you the freight besides."
 "Then why on earth didn't you say so?" answered the farmer. "I have taken the local paper for years and have never seen a line about your selling these goods. The Chicago house sent advertising matter to me, asking for my trade and they got it. I gave them my press."

Would Return U. S. To English Crown
 (The plan was printed in the Congressional Record and it took six pages to make the record.) Washington, Oct. 13.—The authenticity of a letter involving an alleged plan to return the United States to the British crown was challenged on the house floor by Rep. Thomason of Texas, the acting democratic leader.
 The letter, which was placed in the congressional record over the name "Col. E. M. House," was addressed to "the Right Honorable David Lloyd George" and was captioned "British Consulate, New York City, June 10, 1919." "Lloyd George was prime minister of Britain in 1919."
 Rep. Thorkelson (R., Mont.) had it published in the record's appendix so that it might be read by senators, congressmen and all others to whom the daily chronicle of congress is available.
 Thomason, asserting that it was unusual for a man to combine his signature with a title like "colonel," insisted that Thorkelson say whether he had evidence that House, a confidential adviser to President Wilson, had signed the letter.
 "I don't know that positively," replied Thorkelson. "It came into my hands simply as a source of information."
 He declined to say who had supplied him with the document but declared that he understood it was from "the sacred files of the British consulate in New York."
 "It is the rankest kind of injustice. It is not a bona fide letter and of that I have serious doubts," Thomason asserted.
 He declared that House, now dead, was "a great Texan" and a "great statesman."
 Some excerpts from the letter: "As the campaign had been under way for a considerable time before you were called to direct the destinies of England, I shall review it from its commencement and emboldened by your success, I shall make freely what suggestions seem to me good."
 "At the moment of my arrival in England, I was struck by the evidence to me of a great American ally."
 "I have been in England for a year and I have seen the result of the only with the consent of the dominant group of the controlling class.

 "I analyzed the American mentality on which hostility to England depended, and found it composed chiefly of covetous pride, fear and traditional ignorance. I then suggested the formation there under Sir Gilbert Parker of propaganda bureaus to modify the prevailing ignorance, and requested power to apply adequate social and financial pressure in order to satisfy American ambition and to cater to the weaknesses which can feed it."
 The letter went on to outline in great detail—printed in fine type, it filled nearly six pages of the big Congressional Record—a program in which educators, ministers, lawyers, patriotic organizations, the press, industry, labor and government were to be used to accomplish the end.
 "Wouldn't a copy of the Congressional Record containing this plan make interesting reading to about 100% of American citizens?"
WHAT THE READER BUYS
 Why does a family spend about 4 cents a week to get a subscription to the weekly paper?
 Four cents a week means just a little more than half a cent a day. It's a small amount. The average child wastes more than that every day.
 A special sale, advertising a 30-cent item for 23 cents, will save seven cents, paying the cost of the newspaper and giving a profit of three cents.
 You pay more than three cents a day to rent a book. The home newspaper costs half a cent a day, and did you ever see anybody reading a book who didn't lay it aside promptly when the newspaper came?
 Every member of the family, from nine years of age up—children, parents, grandparents—find something of great interest in the home newspaper. That can't be truthfully said about any book or any other periodical.
 It costs more per week for any of the following than it does for your home newspaper.
 The home newspaper is the only one that is read by every member of the family.

OFFER EXPIRES DEC. 31, 1939

the death rate from this disease...
 Director reports it is estimated that each year 25,000 Texans suffer an attack of pneumonia. As a means of prevention, one should guard against the common cold, neglect of which often leads to pneumonia as a complication. Persons who develop pneumonia will have the best chance to recover by knowing the symptoms of the disease and placing themselves under treatment promptly after onset of illness. Typical beginning symptoms include a severe chill and fever, stabbing pain in the chest, cough with rust-colored or blood tinged sputum, nausea and vomiting, loss of appetite.

Sudden onset of symptoms as described should cause the patient and members of the family to suspect the possibility of pneumonia. Rusty sputum, usually a sign of inflammation in the lungs, naturally gives rise to the question as to the cause of sickness. Examination of the sputum is a hospital or public health laboratory which serves as a pneumonia typing center, frequently shows the presence and type of the pneumonia germ, and makes clear the exact nature of illness. Science has found effective means of combating pneumonia, through the use of proper serum and medicine. To be most effective, these treatments must be given early and after the exact cause of the inflammation has been determined. During 1938, pneumonia deaths in Texas were recorded in Texas and it is necessary for all people to arm themselves with knowledge and to co-operate in measures to decrease the pneumonia death toll.

WHY NEWSPAPERS ARE LIKE WOMEN
 Because they are thinner than they used to be.
 Because they are well worth looking over.
 Because they are bold-faced types.
 Because they are easy to read.
 Because you can't believe anything they say.
 Because they must be made up.
 Because they have a great deal of influence.
 Because they are not afraid to speak their minds.
 Because if they want anything they usually get it.
 Because if they know anything they usually tell it.
 Because they always have the last word.
 Because every man should have one of his own and not run after his neighbor's.

PLEASE PASS THE BISCUIT
 Since the last gubernatorial campaign the plea, "pass the biscuit" has become a famous utterance, and if it is placed in practice in affairs of government, local, state and national, it is due to become as popular as, "Be sure you are right and go ahead," expressed more than a century ago by that son of the Alamo, David Crockett. There is far more to the phrase or request than mere humor. Just look about at public affairs generally and you will observe from year to year, the same old pie-eaters at the political pie-counter. Elected once or employed today, the rule seems to be that the lucky ones appear to get into their blood and bones the idea that no one else has a right to aspire to their place and

CHERMURGIC HALL IN BEAUMONT
 Taps blew on Armistice day for Review by more than a mill- ever assembled. Exhibits were moving from Beaumont to various places in Texas and to various states of the nation. Housed in Halls of Chemurgic at Dallas State Fair and Beaumont South Texas State Fair, the 42 exhibits seemed to show reluctance to part from one another. The parting even saddened Elmore R. Torn of East C. of C. and director of the shows for the two exhibitions under supervision of the regional chamber's general manager, Hubert M. Harrison.
 Reviewed by more than a million persons, practically all of whom commended it highly, it set a record for interest in a special exposition display and helped set general attendance records.
 Featured were the Chemurgic uses of sweet potatoes, castor plant, yellow pine, cottonseed and lint, flax, tung, oil, etc.
 The show had drawn exhibits from all parts of the state and represented the Chemurgic interest being shown throughout Texas and United States.
 And as the end came for this year's Chemurgic show, plans were already planning for expansion next year.

Wednesday, Nov. 29 at 7:30 p. m. the Argonne Post, No. 299, the American Legion of Woodville will meet in regular session.

Some point in the Second Congressional district of Texas as healthful and temperate climate, natural scenic beauty of the piney woods area, railway and improved-high facilities and nearness to the homes of a large number of eligible veterans, it seems that this is a logical and advantageous location for a United States Veterans' hospital.

The following resolution is expected to be put into the records of the local post as follows:

Therefore, be it resolved: That Argonne Post No. 299, The American Legion, Woodville, Texas, respectfully requests the United States Veterans' Administration to survey the situation for a definite location and establish a Veterans' hospital of such capacity that it would be deemed adequate within the Congressional District.

DEBT AT THE RATE

Of $190 A Minute

If nine years ago the people of Texas had been asked to vote authoritatively to issue bonds in their name, until further notice, at the rate of one hundred million dollars a year, would they have done so? Or, if they had, would they have permitted such a constant increase of their public debt to continue in the meantime without stopping it?

One hundred million dollars a year is more than eight million dollars a month. It is more than $270,000 a day, more than $11,000 an hour, more than $190 a minute.

Would the people of Texas have permitted their public debt to go on increasing at the rate of $190 a minute, 24 hours a day for nine years?

We are sure that if they had voted on such a proposal they would have rejected it emphatically.

Nevertheless the people of Texas have been going further into debt at the rate of more than one hundred million dollars a year for the past nine years.

For, according to an extremely conservative estimate, the Texas share of the Federal debt has increased at that rate during that period.

We feel sure the average citizen of Texas has had no idea anything of this kind was happening.

It has been happening just the same, and what it more it is still happening. Every minute of every day the Federal Government is putting the people of Texas $190 further in debt.

Every four days it increases their debt by more than a million dollars. This has been going on now for more than nine years. It is still going on. Isn't it time for the people of Texas to wake up to the situation?—Taxpayers' Digest.
