FINISH RELIEF Still Urgent

With the end of the Finnish-Soviet conflict, Finland's relief needs have not been curtailed, according to a report from National Red Cross.

According to communications from the league of Red Cross societies 600,000 Finns have been evacuated from the danger zones. They must now return to their homes and resume their normal lives. Thousands will have to find new homes and re-adjust their lives to meet new conditions. Expenditures up to March 2 in war operations by the Red Cross, have totaled $1,174,639. This figure does not take into account either the cost of materials or the estimated finished value of garments and surgical dressings produced by the chapters.

DOGWOOD FESTIVAL POSTPONED ONE WEEK

The dogwood festival announced for March 30-31 has been postponed one week because of weather conditions which has slowed up the bloom. Each town of the county is busy selecting the girls to enter the queens race, the voting to close on April 2, when the winner will be announced. The Misses Lois Richardson and Lucy Jane Nellius are candidates for Woodville, both girls graduates of the 1939-40 class. Each ticket sold for the pageant and coronation equals one vote so the girls and their friends are busy. The other girls in the contest will for mibe Royal court, Livingston, Lufkin, Jasper, Kirbyville, Silsbee, Kountze, Nacogdoches and Corrigan have been invited to enter the contest with towns of Tyler county. A number of neighboring towns has already accepted the invitation and Beaumont, Livingston were prompt in their acceptance. A splendid program is planned after the coronation. A number of out of town entertainers will be presented with those from over the county.

A hundred miles of roads have been mapped for the drives to take place on Sunday, April 7th, and if the dogwood is as of other years a beautiful scene of lay network of white will be seen among the green of the pines at that time in the woods.

THE STORY

CHAPTER I—Lovely, independent Autumn Dean, returning home to British Columbia, stops at the home of her brother, Bruce, in Woodville. He tells her that things have changed since she left, but she is glad to be home. She is greeted lovingly by her mother, Mrs. Dean, who gives her a letter from her father, Mr. Dean. He tells her that he is well and that she should not have any more of those "melancholy moods" that she has had for so long. Autumn cannot understand her father's attitude, though she knows that he is a good man. She is glad to be home, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to see her mother, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to see her mother, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to see her mother, but she feels that there is something wrong.

CHAPTER II—Autumn calls again on her brother, Bruce, in Woodville. She is glad to see him, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to see him, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to see him, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to see him, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to see him, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to see him, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to see him, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to see him, but she feels that there is something wrong.

CHAPTER III—Autumn tells her mother that she is going to marry Bruce. She is glad to tell her, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to tell her, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to tell her, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to tell her, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to tell her, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to tell her, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to tell her, but she feels that there is something wrong. She is glad to tell her, but she feels that there is something wrong.

CHAPTER IV—Autumn and Bruce go to the country. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong.

CHAPTER V—Autumn and Bruce go to the city. They are glad to see their friends, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to see their friends, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to see their friends, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to see their friends, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to see their friends, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to see their friends, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to see their friends, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to see their friends, but they feel that there is something wrong.

CHAPTER VI—Autumn and Bruce go to the country. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong. They are glad to be there, but they feel that there is something wrong.

Gain in Quality Means Gain in Performance!

TODAY'S automobile engines must have a gasoline of high quality to give you the performance you expect. So again, Humble presents the motorists of Texas with a gain in quality: improvements in Humble give you new heights of performance; and Esso Extra is the motor fuel without an equal.

Improvement of these gasolines results from our policy of CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT: Humble technical men are constantly experimenting, in the laboratory and on the road, with improved products for your car. This constant research results in continuous improvement of the gasolines, motor oils and other products you get under the Humble sign. The process of improvement is so continuous that specific improvements frequently are made without public announcement. It is only when marked improvements are made, like the improvement in quality of these fine gasolines, that your special attention is called to them.

It all adds up to this: we promise you that you will find Humble products second to none, that you can depend on continuous improvement to keep the quality of Humble products up with, or a little ahead of, the performance built into your car.

To Buyers in the Lower-Price Field

Humble offers you another product of its policy of continuous improvement in Thriftane, a leaded gasoline of specified quality at thirty price.
