THINK 'MBOBBIES

Dear bosses:
This is the type lout speaking. That new man you left here hasn't written anything for this column yet so we will just give you our ideas on things in general.

I'm sorry I didn't get to go to Florida with you all so that I too could parade my bony shanks before them bathin beauties all the papers have pictures of. Suppose they are wearin threads down there this year as there's scarcely on cloth and no rubber to speak of.

The weather has been ideal back here in Tex. for ducks. We heard that new fellow you left say that some of the boys caught lots of fish in Louisiana Sunday but we bet they could ketch em right out their back door.

I see by th paper that most congressmen want to be retired, do they? Well, we know how to retire em when it comes time to vote again.

Comin to work now is pretty much like duck huntin th new man says—in th dark he feels like he's slippin up on th shop.

Haven't got no sleep this week as the new man has kept both presses runnin pretty steady. Heard him say the folks at Warren and in Woodville had some rush jobs that he very much appreciated cause it takes job wks as well as news to make th wheels go round.

Set you Floridians bait as patriotic as weuns here. Why he heard tell one farmer killin all the frogs on his crick because the croaks reminded him of them huns and their Mr. Haw Haw.

And still another farmer has taken all th stray cats home in order to save all th milk.

But they ain't more savin than some of these town folks who are so saving on electricity that they want let their wives turn on th lights to cook breakfast by. And others are practicin shaving in the dark for ths sure dark here when gettin up time comes aroun now.

We almost had a new house in our street—and we do mean street. Workmen moving the building tried to make our corner too fast and they brackin skids and did off the skids and there she sat all night. Next morning it continued its voyage to Ezra Eaves alley—new servant quarters.

Recordin for history. Another vanishing race—the Japs.

Yaps are like luffs. Th one make in the last one gets the heartiest. We'll get th last yap on th last Yap. Well, be seey yah.

THE TYPE LOUT.
(A type lout is a print shop animal inherited from the old days when printers used printers. This species was a constant companion of old printers who had galleys of the type, soaked with water to keep the type from falling over and who were everlastin tryin to show a type louse to any stranger to th "game". It is the type lout who roams the shop of nights, smelacin things, droppin combs in the wrong places, and smelacin things, etc. through the entrance blunders to be found in each issue of the paper.)

NEW HAMPSHIRE Red Hatching Eggs, extra fine, lay at 4 1/2 months. Leave orders at Kelley's.—Mrs. L. R. Gray.

TENANT WANTED—White family to farm and care for 25 acre place on shares in Emilee community. See Mrs. Chas. Parker, Raney Hotel, 1044.

Tyler Oil Field Asks Proration

According to a state published bulletin regulation to govern the Hamers Island oil field in Tyler County were requested by the American Petroleum Company.

Recommendations proposed would permit 40-acre units with spacing on a 1,320-467 pattern. Proration would be fixed on an acreage basis, and each reservoir in the field would be prorated separately.

This field, consisting of an estimated 750 acres, is producing from the Cuckfield and Yegua formations, is a fault-type structure. Closest Cuckfield production to this field is found in the Spurges gas field, two and one-half miles distant. Both fields have a different water level.

Average porosity, the company's J. P. Black testified, is 34.3 per cent, permeability averages 2, 092 Milli oDareys. This production is found at approximately 5, 500 feet.

The Houston Oil Company of Texas joined in the request for the suggested proration rules.

BUS CATCHES FIRE WHEN LEAVING WOODVILLE

The timely action of the driver of a bus making a scheduled stop in Woodville last Saturday, saved the bus from being enveloped in flames. When a short in the wiring system on the bus ignited the wires, the driver pulled the wires from their moorings and smothered the flames.

The bus was just leaving Woodville for Beaumont when the driver noticed flames coming from beneath the hood. The engine went dead and the bus door was power operated but the driver forced the door open and let the passengers out, took their baggage out and then turned again to the matter of extinguishing the flames.

Some of the passenger, in a hurry to reach their destination, were taken the remainder of the trip in passenger cars. Others avoided another bus at three o'clock that made the rest of the trip. The damaged bus was repaired at a local garage and is again in use.

Tyler County Taking Active Part in Helping Uncle Sam Avenge Pearl Harbor Treachery

TEACHERS OF COUNTY TO DISTRIBUTE SUGAR CARDS

It was announced this week that teachers of our public schools will have charge of the issuance of sugar rationing books when they are distributed soon.

City Superintendent Lee Hensley and County Superintendent Oscar Riley have discussed the matter but have not as yet made any definite plans for Tyler county. However, they are willing to shoulder the work since it will help in national defense.

The teachers will be directed to report and crack down on hoarders and to not issue cards to those who have sugar in their home or who have recently purchased sugar.

Books containing stamps will be distributed by the teachers, entitling each individual to 12 ounces a week. Those who have sugar in their home or who have recently made sugar purchases of any quantity will have stamps torn from their book at the time of issuance to prevent purchase of more until all is used.

Only one person in each family will have to apply for the stamp book. He will be required to sign an affidavit as to the amount of sugar in his household. After investigation if false amounts are given it is punishable under the federal criminal code with penalties up to $1,000 fine or 10 years imprisonment.

Each book contains 28 numbered stamps, each good for the purchase of 12 ounces of sugar during a designated week. As sugar is purchased the storekeeper will tear out the proper stamp and paste it on a master card, which he must turn in, when filled, to replenish his supply for the next week.

It is well for rural residents as well as those in the incorporated towns to be familiar with the new closing hours of business. Woodville stores are now closing one hour earlier. Be patriotic; do your part that Uncle Sam requests, don't ask merchants to re-open just to accommodate you. Up an hour earlier, to bed an hour earlier. It may sound foolish to you but Uncle Sam says it is your patriotic duty to fall in line.

CO-OPERATIVE COUNTY-WIDE GARDEN AT WARREN

According to Mrs. Harris, Tyler county hot lunch supervisor, a county-wide cooperative school garden will be planted at Warren, Mr. Goolsby has offered 12 acres of land for the garden and this will be titled and planted by students of all schools of the county.

This sum was raised entirely by the girls of Woodville, under the leadership of Mrs. Carlton Young.

Auto Wrecks Near Here this Tuesday A. M.

Two car wrecks, both of which nearly demolished the cars but in which the drivers escaped with slight injuries occurred on highways near here Tuesday.

The Shepherd laundry linen truck overturned on the Town Bluff highway Tuesday and although the truck was a near wreck the driver escaped with bruises it is said.

It will be recalled that the laundry truck of the same firm that makes Woodville was recently featured in a Beaumont wreck.

New Time Being Observed Here

After considerable confusion Monday, Woodville has finally completely adopted the new time as requested by President Roosevelt and is now operating on this new time wholeheartedly.

The only firms noticeably observing the new time Monday were the bank, postoffice and bus and train depots. The all hit it off right in stride and gave a good example for the rest to follow.

The schools, trying to keep a program satisfactory to all, set opening time as 9:30, noon at 1:00 and dismissal at 4:30. County School Superintendent Oscar Riley pointed out that some school buses travel as much as 25 miles and started at daylight on the old time. The new time right now, would make many students meet the bus before daylight he said.

Tuesday he went to Austin to confer with other school authorities on the subject and to get their country's need of defense work by every citizen, discussions were entered into during the day as to just what this community could do.

It was agreed to sponsor a first aid course in which Mrs. Martin, now living in that community, would give assistance. Red Cross needs as to sewing and knitting will be given time by this group and all are going to plant large vegetable gardens.

Mrs. Tuntage has offered her assistance and this community, as farmers, feel they can accomplish a great deal during the time of greater need ahead.

FOOD CONSERVATION URGENT!
Pledge Against Waste Asked by Consumers Div.

Your Electric Refrigerator

A Powerful Weapon in the WAR AGAINST WASTE

A campaign against waste of all kinds—particularly of food—is being launched by the Consumers Division, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. "Buy food wisely, cook it carefully, stop and think before you throw away even a single tablespoonful of leftover potatoes," is the plea of this organization, which is asking consumers all over the nation to pledge themselves to a program of rigid conservation.

Saving food is not only a patriotic duty; good household management demands it in these days of rising prices. Your electric refrigerator can be a big help to you in your personal program of food conservation. It prevents spoilage... permits you to utilize every scrap of leftovers... enables you to buy in quantities at bargain prices... and does all these things at the cost of a few pennies per day.

There was a time when a certain amount of food spoilage in the home was unavoidable, but today, thanks to cheap electricity and your dependable electric refrigerator, you can prevent this waste... make your food and food dollars go further... and contribute to the war effort by helping to conserve an essential national resource.

They find sum fellers 't pitch in an help an' that's why so many thing air put over in big towns an' even little towns. It's got 't where folks just set by an' let th' bankers rain-roed th' job an' carry th' load.

Sum o' th' fellers what really do th' hard wurk don't git their pictures in th' paper or inny publicity. They ain't nothin' but even a chairman—an' what paper wants 't run pictures of flat plain workers don't do th' wurk 't see pictures all th' time of th' generals, majors an' colonels of th' defense guard. It's th' s'alm majors, sergeants an' corporals do th' wurk. Sum day a newspaper is g'oin' 't print a picture of sum privates, sergeants an' corporals do th' wurk. 'An' I'm g'oin' 't fall outta my rockin' chair.

It's bin done in sports 'long with everything else. But, th' big golf exhibushun in Dallas fer th' Red Cross with Bing Crosby, Bob Hope an' four top-flight pro golfers was put on an' pulled off with big success without a chairman or even a committee. Now, that's a big step toward a reform what has bin needed for a half century.

Yes, air, Mrs. Dan Chandler, Jack Minger an' sum others list got 't gether an' organized th' big golf exhibushun thing without inny big shole or chairman. They didn't even need a banker 't help put it over an'. I guess, that's what 'sprimed me most.

Whin most movements is started th' rule has bin 't git a banker or "angel" first 't put up sum money. This automatically maid th' banker or "angel" th' chairman. With a little money in th' till, th' next move was 't git a "publicity chairman" whose next move was 't knock out a story an' git th' chairman's picture in th' paper whether th' chairman wanted it or not.

I figger th' bankers, utility company heads an' others has stood fer 't cause they figger it was helpin' matters along 't git th' job done. They has stood fer it so much I often wonder who they has found time 't do inny bankin' or utilityin'. But, with their brains an' money

Which reminds me. When I was editor on th' old Dallas Journal I hired a correspondent in Beaumont. Every day he wired th' stories 'bout himself an' family—what they was doin' an' how they was gettin' on. Finally I rote him 't stop. He rite items 'bout sum other folks in th' town 'sides himself an' I got this wire in reply, "I've quitte. Nobody does innythin' in this town but me an' if you don't want a print that git somebody else's 't be th' correspondent." So, you see, "chairmen" what's goin' on is mought give us th' same old story.

At inny this country, without a chairman or committee showed up th' thing can be done. It's th' sum shure or lists 't make th' thing done. It's like a pretty good idea. It's like a pretty good idea. It's like a pretty good idea.

BRITAIN'S BULLDOG REMAINS

It is the most deeply rooted of all Nazi delusions: not merely that the German people is immeasurably superior to every other, but also that all other peoples are degenerate. The Nazis look down upon all non-German peoples as creatures of an inferior order.

The Jew at the very bottom of the scale, is hated as barely human; but above the Jew come all the other peoples of the earth, ranged in grades of demerit according to the distance at which they stand from the Germans.

Moreover, when a people is found like enough to the German in race or culture to have some apparent claim to be regarded as the German people's equal, some other basis has to be found for imposing upon it the decisive brand of inferiority.

It is then accused of being corrupted by democracy or Jewish influence and racial admixture, and it on that ground excluded from the alliance in the war which the Nazis aim at reserving exclusively for themselves.

The people of Great Britain and the United States, and the Scandinavian peoples are those against whom the Nazi denunciation takes chiefly this second form. England and America are the two great "democracies" which the Nazis regard as the principal obstacle in the way of their path to world power.

The French and Latin peoples generally (including the Italians) they look on with contempt as natural inferiors; the British and the Americans are not so much inferior by nature as by the alleged corruption of their character by the democratic institutions under which they live.

But they are none the less marked down to become hevers of world dominion of water for the Almighty Germans; for that is the future marked out by the Nazis philosophy for all people all the world over, except the Germans themselves.

The most naked and unashamed version of this doctrine of Germany's world peoples, I mean the most naked that I have seen, was in the famous speech made by Darre, the Nazi Minister of Agriculture, last May, at a secret convocation of Nazi leaders.

The speech was not published until a copy of it found its way to America and was printed in the magazine Life, and in the New York Times.

For Europe his plans were simple and comprehensive. "England," he declared, "must be destroyed as once Carthage was destroyed. The center of this perfidious phylacteria must be pinned into ruins, so that this thing in itself might serve as a lesson to all who will attack this nation. Thousands of our planes will fly over proud Britain and the thunder of bombs and fire will shake to the very foundations this accursed island that has hindered for centuries our development. Our U. S. regiments, with the rest of the army, will finish the work of destruction without any sentimentality."

Well, the bombs have fallen, but England remains erect and unbroken, and will so remain. For the rest of Europe, the fate marked down by Darre was not this utter destruction, but enslavement—literal enslavement to the Nazi conqueror.

The lands of Europe were to be taken away from their possessors, who were thereafter to labor as slaves for the new German owners. The factories were to become German property, and the non-German workers to labor in them as slaves, getting no wages, but only a slave's pittance.

DAARRE IN ANY SERVICE

And now comes America's turn. Darre did not propose that the Nazi should conquer America by force of arms—not yet. He began by boasting of the number of highly-placed persons in the political and economic life of the United States who are Nazi sympathizers, asserted that the Nazis "have during the United States police an organization operating with the same exactitude as in Berlin or Prague," and declared that "the United States is present so demoralized and corrupt that, like France and England, it need not be taken into consideration as a military adversary."

Darre then came to his plans for bringing the United States to their senses even without military conquest. Aided by slave labor ruthlessly exploited all over Europe (and even over Africa, which was to have been fully in German hands by the end of 1940), the Nazis would be able to drive United States manufacturers out of every market in the world. They would simply shut the European and African markets to the produce of slave labor.

"This," said Darre, "would cause the United States to have, not 7,000,000, but 30,000,000 or 40,000,000 unemployed."

Darre added that the President of the U. S. A. would then "beg the Führer to give over to Germany from the United States, not manufactured products, but raw materials at prices set by the dictator."

To the ruin of the American manufacturers and industrial workers would then be added the exploitation of the American Nazi lords of the earth.

Besides this, it seems a small matter that Darre would be the gold now in the United States as belonging rightly to Germany, as the legitimate successor of its past European and African possessions. America, as part of her "final capitulation" to the Nazis—Darre's own words—was to be compelled to surrender this gold.

Already, in the parts of Europe which they have conquered, they are beginning to carry out their plans. They have thrust many thousands of Polish farmers off the land, and given it to German settlers. They are deporting from elsewhere, hundreds of thousands of Czechs, Poles, Norwegians, Belgians, and other victims of their advances.

They are holding in virtual slavery the French prisoners of war. Always and everywhere, they proceed on the footing that nobody except a German has any rights, and that other peoples exist only to be exploited for the grand schemes of Germany.

For America, the economic subjugation of the United States is a more serious matter than that of Europe. It is the power to carry a large part of the world's production of raw materials, but defeat Great Britain and free to organize all Europe as a closed slave state.

To quote Darre for the last time, the United States "must not remain unpunished," and the purpose of our offensive against the United States is forever to get rid of another bulwark of phylacteria; to regain what belongs to us and to teach America to respect Germany."

America is to be the "final capitulation" which will crown the world triumph of Nazism.

FREE DOM TO WASTE

Freedom to waste is among the luxuries we must sacrifice during the war. We've got to begin saving our resources, turning them to be best account for victory. Though we may have to pull in our belts now, in the long run the habit of saving will do us good. Perhaps after the war when our factories begin turning out all kinds of civilian goods again, we'll make more careful use of our raw materials and have a greater appreciation of manufactured products than we've ever had before.

A POINTER FOR SLACKERS

Grandpa Jim Fry of Aberdeen, S. D., isn't going to sit idly by. Told by the Army he's too old for active service, the Civil War veteran (he's 102) became one of the first to sign up for civilian defense.

"I'm ready to do anything," he said, "especially if there's going to be any fighting involved."
