MANAGER AT DOUCETE

I. R. Fisher, pictured, general manager of the Long-Bell operations at Doucette, Texas, has known the aromatic scents of southern pine and gum, cypress, oak and magnolia, since Hec knows when. He has been with Long-Bell more than a quarter century and has been in charge at Doucette since last year.

Mr. Fisher began his service with the company as timekeeper on the Hudson River division at DeRidder, Louisiana, and later was assigned to Quitman, Miss., where he worked as chief clerk.

make the wheels go round.

One of the best loved and popular men of the county is A. (Preacher) King, scoutmaster and civic leader of Doucette. Preacher King has been with Long-Bell Co. most of his life, coming to Doucette 16 years ago from the holdings in Rapids Parrish, La., and is the efficient bookkeeper for the company. T. P. (Perry) Crews, in charge of sales was born a mile this side of Doucette and for 17 years has been associated with the plant although every spare minute he had been spent at the mill, since he was a small boy. That mill was the biggest thing in the world to him. L. W. Hooper, retired chief engineer has

THE STORY SO FAR-Joan Leland her employer, owner of a night club. She Sberman, his manager. Her sister, Syba friendly manner warns her about Karl. Karl shoots Eric in Joan's presence, tricks her into placing her finger-prints on the gun, then admits he is a Nazi spy with a wife in Germany. He tell: Joan unless she continues to work, and remain silent about the murder, he will blame it on her. The terrified girl agrees and later Paul reveals himself as Paul O'Malley of the FBI, working to trap the higher-ups of the spy ring. Sybil fails to come home, and a suicide note later is thought by them to mean Joan agrees secretly to help Paul, and reports that Karl has hired a beautiful young girl to sing, and is already mak-ing love to her. It's Paul's runaway sister. Joan gets her to share her apart ment. Paul and Joan search the beauty shop of Mrs. Murdock, who had em-ployed Sybil at Karl's suggestion.

CHAPTER XIII

The light revealed a desk, a shortwave radio set and three large filing cabinets. He drew on a pair of gloves, "Don't touch anything," he autioned Joan.

Now continue with the story.

Joan's heart was in her throat. "Oh Paul, what if Karl should find out we were here?" "By that time," Paul replied grimly, "it will be too late."

Joan looked curiously at the radio set. "Do you suppose Karl has a "Probably, though where it would this?" She seized a gray glove lying among pencils and bits of papers. "This is Sybil's glove!" she said excitedly. "She always wore these with her suit, and she was wearing that suit the day she disappeared." Paul gazed speculatively at the slender gray glove. "It could mean that Sybil discovered this room, that she knew what was going on in nere, and that's why Karl put her out of the way."

Joan pressed the glove against her check. "Oh Syb!" she wept. "I still think Sybil Is alive," said, "Karl is saving her as an ace up his sleeve. In that way she is of more use to him living than dead Anyway, that's my hunch. It will be better if you can believe it too ' ling herself with an effort. Half an hour passed while Paul's nimble fingers explored the contents of drawer after drawer.

He tapped the walls but they revealed nothing. It was Joan who cried, "Paul! Look at this desk. There's something odd about it." Chere seemed to be a panel on the side of the desk. Paul said, and gently forcing the wood, he pulled it to one side. "Here gazed into a small hidden compartment. Eagerly Paul thrust in his hand and drew forth a large envelone. He opened it. "Let's have a game of riddles to pass the time," said the professor.

War Material Shortage Limits Telephone Service

You probably have heard about certain government restrictions on telephone service and equipment now in effect. We should like to tell you a little more about these restrictions-why they are necessary, and what they will mean to you.

The reason for them is simple and complete. They are to save materials which are needed to fight the war.

the telephone user?

If you have a telephone now, they mean no change except that in many Texas cities affeeted by war growth you may have to have other parties on your line. And, in all cases, you can't get an extension telephone in your home if you
