THE POWER of falling water is a gift of God, consequently belongs not to a privileged few but to all the people.

FROM WASHINGTON comes the statement Texas collection of scrap metal during the program of the first six months of 1942 was exactly 66.9% of its quota.

THE PETROLEUM Administrator, Harold L. Ickes has issued a proclamation calling for the drilling of 4,500 wild cat oil tests this year. Well that may mean a Tyler county well bring in a couple of dusters. And the story ends there.

THE HOUSTON Rotary club is putting out a card for the benefit of all who are in the war. The card is sent to all Rotary clubs and members who have boys in the army service, or a wife or daughter in the service are sent the card, and wherever the service people are they have to sign the card and will be admitted to the Rotary banquets and meetings. Of course it is the home members of every that send the cards. It is a splendid gesture. And, how many people these cards have at some time some place been guests of the local.

FIND ELSEWHERE a story about politicians attempting to find out if Roosevelt is figuring on running again for the exalted position he now fills. Talking about 1944 elections is pure bunk. Many things can happen. But, it only seems the president is too much alive to get caught by 2x4 explorers or prognosticators. At the correct (to him) time the public will know just what are his intentions. The story is published in The Booster for no other reason than to show up those 2x4 politicians who would like to become (un) popular catching the president off balance. "If he heard, he smiled not the query."

A NEW law permits youths of 17 to drive school busses. This law was signed by Gov. Coke Stevenson one day last week. The measure was passed by the legislature in an effort to meet the shortage of bus drivers. Passage lowered the age of drivers from 18 to 17 years. The only redeeming feature of this measure is that permission of local school boards must be given the youths before they may apply for school bus drivers permits . . . In every community there are mature women drivers who could drive busses who, in some, are careful, have had more experience, that could and would exercise better judgment than any old youth. Furthermore, this clause will put a stop to hero, there and yonder wives wondering why their husbands discriminated against.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR MEANS SOMETHING

Miss Cecelia Mahaffy, 1943 Betty Crocker queen contestant wishes to express her appreciation to the Christian Endeavor of Tyler county for the splendid support given her in the contest. Miss Mahaffy has been an outstanding worker for Christian Endeavor and was very much pleased to be selected for such an honor. Her goal to which she is striving for herself, for the local unit, and we for Tyler county home. Friends have been getting in touch with C. E. workers in Washington, inquired as to help-ing in this busy city and one of the Christian women of the church who had gone through a like experience when she was a girl helped by a C. E. worker at the end of her journey wrote to Miss Mahaffy to come to her home, and she would help her get located. This certainly means that the C. E. world and would be enjoyed with the many that meets as many working girls who go to a crowded city.

DYSENTERY MENINGITIS AND TYPHUS FEVER

Reporting to the 15th Corps Area Office at the Texas Quartermaster Depot, Fort Worth, Texas, the Army Medical Department announces that epidemics of dysentery, meningitis and typhus fever have shown a sharp increase for the first months of 1943. Reported cases of epidemic dysentery and diarrhea total 11 times the number shown for the corresponding period in a recent year, an average of hundreds of dysentery or diarrhea communications showed over the state point to local failure to solve certain sanitation problems which would endanger the life downward trend of typhoid fever. Typhus is reported as being [illegible] the state health officials emphasize the fact that rigid rodent control measures will require the wholehearted cooperation of every individual in the state, since [illegible] control is absolutely necessary to bring the trend of typhus down to a satisfactory level.

Considerable increase has been reported in the incidence in pneumonia, whooping cough and measles, while poliomyelitis has been slightly more prevalent since last fall, but has shown a very gratifactory decrease in recent weeks. Diphtheria has fallen to show any significant decrease for the state as a whole although it has been controlled satisfactorily in certain communities.

Dr. Cox asked the cooperation of parents in immunizing children as against diphtheria, whooping cough, typhoid fever, and smallpox. These diseases are preventable by the use of safe and effective immunization methods. While the first two diseases mentioned are more specifically recognized as childhood diseases, typhoid fever and smallpox can take a heavy toll among adults as well and every individual should be made immune to their debilitating effects.

DON'T CHANGE HORSES

The people will elect no man to Congress this year who has failed to do everything possible to advance preparedness in 1940-41 and promote American war efforts since Pearl Harbor. This means the "in" who have voted right for the vigorous prosecution of the war will stay in. It will deny election of some good man, just as [illegible] since it [illegible] always

OTHER BOO STORIES BROUGHT TO MIND

Most folks have read, and maybe [illegible] over the stories and incidents published about faithful and loving dogs. Woodville now has a few of its own. The "mad dog" scare of the past few weeks has really brought heart aches into many homes. Mrms Miles Jordan, though not knowing whether their beloved police dog had been bitten or not, asked that "Tippy" be shot. They had loved the dog for seven years; he was a part of the family. Virgie Hatnot (Col.) had two dogs he loved. Both one bit his the mad dog had bitten them, so he tied them up, and asked a neighbor to shoot them. He just couldn't kill, such friends, but didn't want to endanger the children around him, white or black.

Sunday ... [illegible] ... the parsonage, Miss Mary Lynn Knight led the worship service during which a special service vocal number was given by seven of the group and an accordion solo by Miss Virginia Dunn. The special program on "Stewardship" which was led by Warren Pennington followed. The following talks were given: "Stewardship acceptance," Buckie Pennington; "Week of Dedication," Betty Jane Rotan; "Democracy and Christian Stewardship," Warren Pennington; "Magic Words," Mary Elenor Harrison; "Origin of the Word, Steward" Cynthia Alexander; "Philosophy of Life," Bobbie Waters; "Meaning of Stewardship," Virginia Dunn; "Living Belief," Bobbie Pate; "State of Mind of a Christian Steward," Addie Mae Ford; "Mode of Conduct of a Christian Steward," Lila Phillips; "Conclusion," by Rev. MORE THAN THEY CAN BEAR

It is no wonder President Roosevelt's opponents are going around mumbling to themselves these days. Every time he told the American people the truth about World conditions and the danger facing America they laughed and said "Just some more interventionist chatter." And now to have those words proved ridiculous by events occurring every day. It is more than they can bear without increasing their hatred. The Houston Sentinel. (Dem.)

Oscar Phelps and Sarah Joyce Gipson, whose residences are unknown and spouses of each and all of said named persons and the heirs, devisees and legal representatives of each of them, if deceased and their spouses, heirs, devisees and legal representatives of each of them, if deceased, and the heirs, devisees and legal representatives of each of them, if deceased, and their spouses, heirs, devisees and legal representatives, if deceased, the places of residence of each and all of such parties being unknown, and the names of each and all of said spouses, heirs, devisees and legal representatives being unknown and whose residences are unknown as defendants.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows to wit: Suing in trespass to try title to recover title to and land being 46.0 7 acres more or less part of the Thomas Aid survey, Abstract No. 37, and 32 8/7 acres of land more or less part of H. B. B. & C. R. R. Co. Survey, Abstract No. 116, in Tyler County, Texas, and being the same land conveyed by J. B. Chamberlain by J. B. Moore and wife Fannie Moore by deed dated August 5, 1913, recorded in Volume 37, pages 114 et seq of the Deed Records of Tyler County, Texas. To which it is alleged that on or about the 1st day of January A. D. 1943, the plaintiff was lawfully seized and possessed of said tracts of land and that the defendants and each of them entered upon and premises and unlawfully ejected plaintiff therefrom and unlawfully withheld from plaintiff the possession thereof to his damage in the sum of $500 and that the reasonable annual rental for said land and premises is the sum of $50.00.

That plaintiff is the owner in fee simple of said land under a regular chain of title from the sovereignty of the soil and that any cause of action that the defendants may have is barred by the three, five ten and twenty five years statutes of limitation; and further that the claim of defendants cast a cloud upon the title of plaintiff which should be removed by decree of court.

Wherefore plaintiff prays for citation and judgment against each and all of said defendants for title to and possession of said land, for removal of the clouds from title, for writ of possession and restitution and for costs of suit.

Issued this the 26th day of February, 1943.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, at office in Woodville, Texas, this the 26th day of February A. D., 1943.

WAR

By GEORGE E. SIMPSON
Pres. Kansas Wesleyan College
Salina, Kansas

Endowed Inertia

Approximately 2,000,000 men have left the farms of the United States to enter war and war industries since the Pearl Harbor raid. The only thing that can replace the consequent shortage of manpower is power equipment. This statement was made in middle January by Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois on the floor of the House of Representatives in Washington. The shortage of farm machinery is well known to every farmer.

On a farm regularly using horses, one man might formerly own more work with a tractor, but the few new tractors being built will never replace the worn-out tractors this year, not to mention farm teams. Farm hands are being imported to the United States from Latin America. Every farm worker is a real help but not all imported laborers are suitable for all kinds of farm work.

Stay Keeping Idle

Nothing seems more apparent to a serious observer than that literally thousands of government employes in essentially essential industries are losing a hard time trying to justify the existence of their high-salaried jobs. Read this typical utterance by Rep. Forget A. Harness of Indiana made in the House of Representatives:

"There is hardly a Federal agency, emergency or regular, where the pruning knife cannot be used to great advantage. We have one civilian employee for every two men in fighting uniform. I am sure we can weed out upward of a million Federal employees who can go into the essential private fields now crying for help."

An enterprising planner in the National Capital recently got a Congressional signature to the effect that certain crowded rooming houses in the section of night workers were unsafe in daytime. The signature:

"Quiet! Please. A man is sleeping here."

But the signer hadn't an unexpected idea. Just for three days spent each of both the signatures of responsible officials of agencies and passed through desks of functionaries who seemed to have nothing to do. Plan for the subject's guidance in World War II might suddenly find the answer is a vitally necessary matter.

There is a Congressional bureau in Washington whose function is to select unanimously some device or idea that appears to be an especially good one for public and Congressional consideration by Congressmen. The selection of any product dropped down the supply cavity is the duty and that the price is right and that enough of it is a patriotic act.

There is another bureau in Washington whose duty it is to keep a look out for fool economies. It pays attention to specific cases in which a shortage seems to be developing and urges that farmers increase their production of such things it improves their yield per acre also as an act of patriotism.

Dry Edible Beans

The whole thing looks pretty good on paper but to paraphrase the old phrase it shows strange infidelity. For instance, on January 16 news papers announced a new Victory Food Special to Americans: Dry edible beans. The first was hailed by housewives, mainly, as a real boon to high. Spokesmen were likely to praise about the good value of beans. Experts in finding published formulas for making beans taste good. Wives and mothers had an service to home and country rallied forth to buy beans.

The next day, January 17, an official press release by the U. S. Department of Agriculture began urging farmers to increase their acreage of dry edible beans 500,000 acres more this year than last, a gain of about 17.7 per cent from 2.8 million to 3.3 million acres. A bonus per acre to farmers planting above a certain minimum was announced. At the same time a 25c increase in the support price was proclaimed for new No. 1 beans at country points.

Not Hard to Keep

This is a sample of planned economy. One planner sees a shortage coming, another one sees a surplus. If beans were things that would not keep, like bananas or cantaloupes, you could admit that the planners after all, might be seeing eye to eye. But beans will keep indefinitely in a clean dry place. If there is to be a shortage, if the Army is going to need beans in a few weeks to win the war, there is no point to choking the immediately available supply down the necks of the civilian population.

This is not a prescription against beans. They are good food. I am offering no protest against setting up inducements and making arbitrary price bids to stimulate production of any military necessity. My protest is only against pure asinine. A Washington correspondent I know, remarked bitterly, "It looks like the planners will have to have a co-ordinator to keep them from playing both sides against the middle."

Will Congressman Harness' suggestion come to anything? Can we take out the idle millions and ladies in Washington and send back a million people to the food producing farms?

OUT OF DEBT

The last remnant of debts owed by the Baptist General Convention of Texas will be wiped out, with the burning of final notes, at a convention board meeting in Dallas April 6, it was announced on Wednesday afternoon by Dr. W. W. [illegible], executive secretary, as he addressed the annual midwinter meeting of the Southern Baptist State Convention Board.

Announcement that 1,000 air-raid shelters are to be constructed in Philadelphia for protection of the people against forays by enemy bombers, Franklin was in France on that day nearly two centuries ago when a first successful balloon ascension was staged for the King's pleasure. No other witnesses of the history-making event were more greatly impressed than this American. He prophesied the use of aircraft in future wars.

Not even Franklin, wise as he was, could foresee the time when air power would become the determining factor in wars, when destruction would be rained from the air upon cities, death upon civilians. That time is upon us, and Ben Franklin's town is among the first of my great cities to make provision for protection of the people again air raiders.

Other cities in raiding distance from our coasts should not be slow in making the protective provision. Our enemies, granted a first opportunity, will not hesitate to strike from the air.

THE RED CROSS

When far away in a distant land,
Wounded and sick unto death,
Who came and took me by the hand,
With the gentleness of an Angle's breath?
Who knelt down my couch of anguish and pain,
When away from home and mother?
Who dressed my wounds again and again,
And treated me just like a brother?
My nurse from the dear Red Cross.

When in the trenches numb and cold,
Standing in mud and rain,
Who came to "No Man's Land," to hold,
The comfort of the boys to gain?
Who brought the sweaters so nice and warm,
The sox and cigarettes, too?
Who talked to us cheerily of home and farm,
And left us not nearly so blue?
Our nurse from the dear Red Cross.

Oh, mother and friends in the dear home land,
Wake up! Wake up I pray.
Work heart to heart and hand to hand,
That we may not lose the day.
We're fighting for the justest cause on earth,
Fighting for our homes and you,
That peace may dwell 'round the old home hearth.
Now friends, what will you do?
Will you give to the dear Red Cross?

solutely essential to the welfare of our nation," Russell O. East, of Richmond, Ind., general agricultural agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, said in a General Electric Farm Forum address that if railroads were allowed to cease operations for 48 hours "every city of any size in the United States would be without an adequate supply of the more perishable foods."

"Nor could the production of poultry and dairy products in the great producing area of the northeast continue long, for the bottom of the feed bin is seldom over five or six days out of sight unless replenished. Should farmers cease operations during the planting season, wheels of industry all throughout the country would soon be forced to stop.

Agriculture and railroads have ahead of them the great task of producing more food and more transportation, with plants for which provisions have not been made for much expansion, due to the necessities of war, according to Mr. East. He said they must compete for labor and materials with industries whose costs are subordinated to speed.

"Farm machinery, locomotives, cars and trucks wear out, and it is easy to get materials for their repair or replacement. Never before, both agriculture and the railroads are going all out for the war program, no matter how destitute of physical resources they may be after it is all over. Both rail and farm equipment will be badly depleted as will also be soil fertility.

"Occupying as they do the front ranks of importance, these two industries are interdependent during peace or war. One without the other would be lost, and the country would be lost without either."

DEALERS CONTRIBUTED 71,398 TONS OF SCRAP METAL

Tabulation of final reports from all parts of the country show that in 1942 the Chevrolet dealers of America contributed a total of 154,643,927 pounds of 77,320 tons of scrap metal, rubber, paper, and other needed materials to the Nation's salvage program.

The scrap iron and steel, copper, brass, aluminum, lead and other metals collected by the dealers totaled 144,600,370 pounds or 72,300 tons; rubber, paper, rags, burlap bags, tires and miscellaneous scrap included in the contribution reached a total of 9,999,999 pounds or 4,999 tons.

The scrap drive results of which are regarded as impressive evidence of the dealers' patriotic efforts, is but one of several vital wartime programs in which they are now engaging through the auspices of the Victory Service League, national patriotic alliance of car and truck owners sponsored by Chevrolet dealers. With more than half a million members, the league is assisting in the sale of war bonds, collecting books and sports equipment for the armed forces and in other vital home front movements.

FDR SILENT ON SUGGESTION HE RUN FOR FOURTH TIME

Washington, March 3 "Two or three" members of the Democratic national committee suggested to President Roosevelt Wednesday that he run for a fourth term if the war still is on next year, Democratic National Chairman Frank C. Walker disclosed, but the suggestion "got no reaction" and the conversation was dismissed "as a joke."

Walker and Roosevelt discussed war and politics for 30 minutes with the Chief Executive on the eve of the latter's 10th anniversary in the presidency.

After describing the President as "optimistic" over the trend of the war, the party chairman and postmaster general was asked whether a fourth term was mentioned.

"Not that I recall," Walker replied. "If it was, I would have to be a candidate.

"But they got no response from the President," Walker added. "I don't think he heard it, as he was doing most of the talking. If he did he smiled it off. It was said rather lightly and there was no discussion."

In response to questions, Walker said the committee group is [illegible] him. "The candidates [illegible] very serious[illegible] can happen."

About his [illegible] fourth term, Walker [illegible] "I don't think it [illegible] tive of the chairman [illegible] cratic National Committee [illegible] fect the candidate. ROVING GYPSY-MAN

He's just a "rolling stone,"
A roving Gypsy-man.
He swings no sweet guitar,
But man! O man! O man!

He sings no ardent song,
He wears no gaudy clothes,
But he can charm a gal
Until her eyelids close!

He's just a Gypsyman,
No gold rings in his ears,
But he can love a gal
Until she bursts in tears!

He's just a Gypsyman,
He has a Gypsy heart,
He takes his love and says,
And then he says, "We part."

He lives without a home,
Most any place will do,
He lives without a wife,
Yet many would be true!

He's just a "rolling stone,"
A roving Gypsy-man,
He swings no sweet guitar,
But man! O man! O man!
He doesn't need one!
