A number of writers have been harping the residents of Woodville for some length of time and when they look out at the city they find a city that is not clean. The City Court is a municipal and they are not. They are a nuisance to the city and they are a nuisance to the city. They are a nuisance to the city and they are a nuisance to the city.

THE OTHER day, an item in the paper mentioned a certain man who had been arrested for the purpose of being taken to the state penitentiary. It was stated that the man was a member of the Texas State Association.

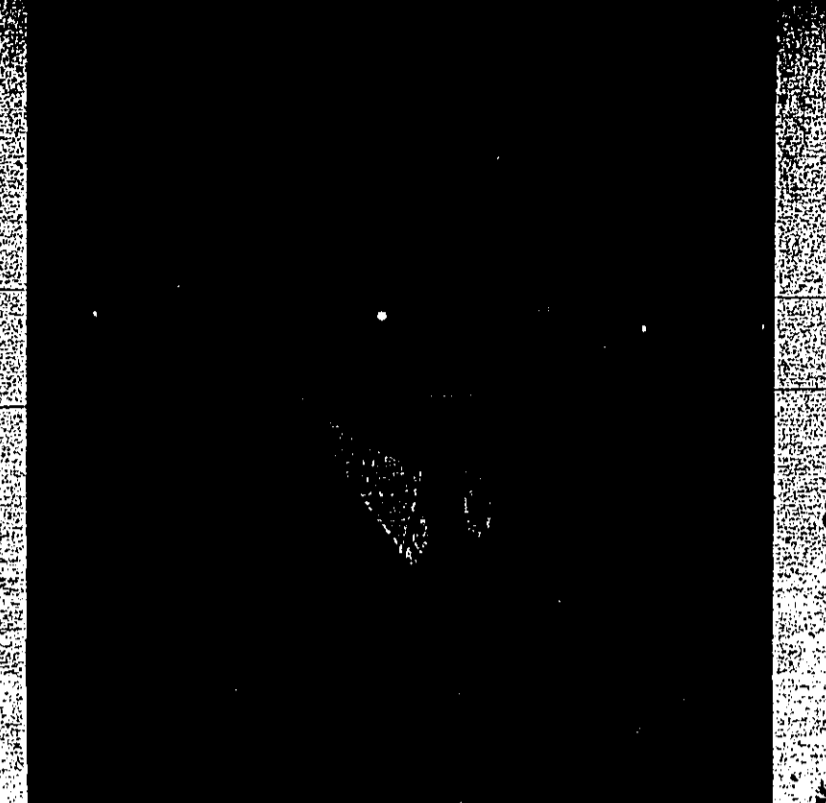

It is a fact that the Texas State Association is a very important organization in the state. It is the largest of its kind in the South and its members are active in promoting the interests of the state.

The association has a long history and has been instrumental in many of the reforms that have taken place in the state. It is a body that is deeply interested in the welfare of the people and is always ready to take the lead in any movement for improvement.

The association has a number of departments, each of which is devoted to a different branch of the state's work. These departments are active in promoting the interests of the state in various ways, and are always ready to take the lead in any movement for improvement.

"Here is a crop all ready to harvest"

says Claude R. Wickard,
 Secretary of Agriculture

MANY AMERICAN farmers have a forgotten crop that can be harvested any time—and right now is the time the country needs that crop most.

Wherever there is a farm woodlot, you'll generally find trees not big enough for saw logs, but big enough for pulpwood. When such trees grow thickly, judicious thinning will add to the value of the remaining timber, permitting it to grow faster.

By harvesting these excess trees right now, the farmer will add to his income; he will improve his woodlot; and he will be making a valuable contribution to the war effort because we are facing an acute shortage of pulpwood and the only place we can look for additional supplies is from the farm woodlot.

DEEP WATERS
 BY BEN AMES WILLIAMS

A heaving line went unheeded through the dark water. The White Queen, a small boat, was seen in the distance. The boat was moving slowly, and the water was dark and choppy. The man in the boat was looking out at the water, and his face was pale.

He took the air in a slow draw, came aboard on the deck below where she stood, and she went in to descend to that deck. Mrs. ...

"You're making a mistake," she said, "you're making a mistake." She was looking at the man, and her face was pale. The man was looking at her, and his face was pale.

He looked at her, and his face was pale. She was looking at him, and her face was pale. The man was looking at her, and his face was pale.
