Nazi Sneered At U. S. As A 'Great and Dangerous Foe'

THINKIMBOBBIES

● Keep your mind from being lulled into a false sense of security by the fact that the American people are not yet fully awake to the danger that the Nazi menace represents to our country.

● We must not be lulled into a false sense of security by the fact that the American people are not yet fully awake to the danger that the Nazi menace represents to our country.

New Dealers Plan Can Candidate Dewey Win Out?

Chicago, Sept. 28.—The New Deal is planning to carry over OPA as a permanent postwar feature, according to a report from the New Deal's "New Deal" magazine, which is published by the National Association of Retail Dry Goods Stores.

Recent Gallup polls are showing that Dewey is favored in the election by a margin of 100,000 votes in 1944. In November of both of those years, Roosevelt was from 4 to 7 votes in 100 stronger than Dewey.

Passing of Scapping S. S. McClure Reviews the Book 'For Americans Only'

FOR AMERICANS ONLY

Two modest appearing books are being published by the American People's Party. One is "For Americans Only" by S. S. McClure, and the other is "The American People's Party" by James E. Ferguson.

Written in collaboration with Dr. Paul C. Bartholomew, "For Americans Only" is a book of 100 pages, published by the American People's Party.

James E. Ferguson

James E. Ferguson, the former governor of Texas, is the author of the book "The American People's Party".

He is a member of the American People's Party and has been active in its work.

Can Candidate Dewey Win Out?

Recently, I pointed out the narrow margin by which Mr. Roosevelt won the election in 1936, and how little it would take to put Dewey in the White House.

Recent Gallup polls are showing that Dewey is favored in the election by a margin of 100,000 votes in 1944.

Politics, Why Not?

After many years of professional disrepute, the political arena is now being entered by a new breed of politicians. These are men who are not content with the usual political routine, but who are determined to bring about a real change in the government. They are men who are not afraid to speak the truth, and who are not afraid to stand up for the people.  LITERATURE

The eye to reveal that in his thought and feeling through his words, which is the gem which all his facts are classified—Kemp.

Gems of Thought, and thought alone, shines right from words, it is also thought only that elevates or degrades human deeds and desires—George Moore.

In poetry John thought, the state of mind permeates with the force of feeling all the minutiae of human affairs—Mary Baker Eddy.

It is not that of a gem in even a thought we could cut the gem of a truly thought, and the heart of a brand, that would be the gem of the single word—George Marshall.

At Leaning's fountain it is sweet to drink, but in a fuller privilege to drink—John Wesley Saxe.

As he tinkered in his heart, so is he—Proverbs 23:7.

COLMENSEN

Miss Lora Colmensen, 11, of the Colmensen family, of Woodville, was the recipient of a letter from her father, Mr. J. H. Colmensen, who is in the military service. The letter was dated from Camp Hood, Texas, and was the first one she had received from him since he left home to join the army. Miss Lora is a very bright and cheerful girl, and she is very proud of her father's service. She has been very busy with her school work, and she is looking forward to seeing her father when he returns home.

POPE'S MILL CENTER

The Pope family, of Woodville, has recently moved into their new home at the Pope's Mill Center. The new home is a very nice one, and it is very comfortable. The Pope family is very happy to be in their new home, and they are looking forward to many good years there. The Pope family has been in Woodville for many years, and they are very well known in the community. They are very friendly and helpful people, and they are always ready to help anyone in need.

REPORTORIAL INSTINCT

One of the most interesting quotes from the latest Quaker conference was "to get out in the field every day," which Mr. Roosevelt called a "reportorial instinct." This was almost in the class of "reportorial instinct," which is a very common trait among reporters. It is a very useful trait, and it is one that every reporter should have. It is a trait that is born, and it cannot be taught. It is a trait that is very important in the world of journalism, and it is one that every reporter should strive to have.

QUOTES OF THE WEEK

"I do not own a job," said Hon. Charles McNary, new Ambassador to U. S. Great Britain. "I own a job, but I do not own it." This is a very interesting quote, and it is one that is worth remembering. It is a quote that is very true, and it is one that is very important in the world of politics. It is a quote that is very wise, and it is one that is very helpful. It is a quote that is very useful, and it is one that is very important in the world of politics.

WOODVILLE NEWS

Miss Nannie Feagin and son Don are home from Beaumont where Don has been in the hospital for treatment for an infection in his foot. The doctor at Beaumont reports that the infection has been completely cured, and Don is now able to walk without pain. This is a very good news, and it is one that is very important to the Feagin family. They are very happy to have Don home, and they are looking forward to many good years together.

One of the most interesting quotes from the latest Quaker conference was "to get out in the field every day," which Mr. Roosevelt called a "reportorial instinct." This was almost in the class of "reportorial instinct," which is a very common trait among reporters. It is a very useful trait, and it is one that every reporter should have. It is a trait that is born, and it cannot be taught. It is a trait that is very important in the world of journalism, and it is one that every reporter should strive to have.

"I do not own a job," said Hon. Charles McNary, new Ambassador to U. S. Great Britain. "I own a job, but I do not own it." This is a very interesting quote, and it is one that is worth remembering. It is a quote that is very true, and it is one that is very important in the world of politics. It is a quote that is very wise, and it is one that is very helpful. It is a quote that is very useful, and it is one that is very important in the world of politics.

Miss Nannie Feagin and son Don are home from Beaumont where Don has been in the hospital for treatment for an infection in his foot. The doctor at Beaumont reports that the infection has been completely cured, and Don is now able to walk without pain. This is a very good news, and it is one that is very important to the Feagin family. They are very happy to have Don home, and they are looking forward to many good years together.

Miss Lora Colmensen, 11, of the Colmensen family, of Woodville, was the recipient of a letter from her father, Mr. J. H. Colmensen, who is in the military service. The letter was dated from Camp Hood, Texas, and was the first one she had received from him since he left home to join the army. Miss Lora is a very bright and cheerful girl, and she is very proud of her father's service. She has been very busy with her school work, and she is looking forward to seeing her father when he returns home.

The Pope family, of Woodville, has recently moved into their new home at the Pope's Mill Center. The new home is a very nice one, and it is very comfortable. The Pope family is very happy to be in their new home, and they are looking forward to many good years there. The Pope family has been in Woodville for many years, and they are very well known in the community. They are very friendly and helpful people, and they are always ready to help anyone in need.

IF YOU THINK WAR IS OVER

Read This - Get On The Ball
The United States Army, Navy, and Air Force are still in the thick of it. The war is not yet won. In an editorial illustrated by a picture of a man in a trench, the newspaper said: "These boys have a life of death before them, and when the guns stop, they will still have a long way to go. It is not until the very end, and you will not believe it until you see it. The boys are still in the thick of it, and they are still fighting for the freedom of the world." The editorial said that if the men in the trenches could only see the end of the war, they would say "The day you see this, you will see the end of the war." ## Eyestrain Picks Its Victims YOUNG!

ON school child in eye, on the average, has defective vision. Four college students in ten are victims of eye troubles. Accommodated for centuries to outdoor living, mankind has never adjusted eyes to indoor lighting. Fortunately, science is bringing sunlight indoors. And the science of seeing is teaching us how to use indoor light with less danger of eyestrain. Here are four simple rules for eyesight conservation. It will pay every family to follow:

1. Do all reading, studying, sewing or game playing close to a good light source, preferably a modern reading lamp.
2. Avoid shadows when you have good light. Shut your book or work. Think and study eyes.
3. Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Clean lenses.
4. Have your eyes examined regularly. If you are wearing glasses, have them rechecked.

When the sun is setting, so are all going to bed. Light is better than dark. In the meantime, let science and the science of seeing help you see better.

MISS ISA BEVY
 This reporter was shocked and grieved when she learned late Tuesday afternoon that Miss Ila Bevy, 19, Warren has passed away and that the funeral was already over. When the funeral was held in the Warren funeral home, Miss Bevy had been only a few days out of the hospital. She was a beautiful girl, a daughter of the late T. H. Bevy and Mrs. Bevy. She was born in the city of Warren, and had been in the hospital for some time. She was a member of the Warren church, and was a very devoted Christian. She was a very kind and gentle girl, and was loved by all who knew her. Her death is a great loss to her family and to the church. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Warren funeral home. It was a very touching service, and was attended by a large number of friends and relatives. The burial was in the Warren cemetery.

REMEMBER THE DAY YOU DROVE THAT BRAND NEW '39 INTO JIM'S STATION?

What a beauty she was... all gleaming with chromium and new paint! Jim was as proud of her as you were and the boys on the wash-rack used to polish the fenders 'til you could see your face in them.

Well, the old buggy isn't quite so rolicky looking today, but the motor is still sweet-running for Jim has done a good job of keeping her young.

As you drove less, Jim watched the motor and battery more, knowing that idleness could be more harmful sometimes than wear. He proached the gospel of adding to the repair program, he cross-switched the tires and kept a nonchalant eye on the little troubles that could grow to big ones.
