THINK 'MOBBIES

Ever stop to think that the word "mob" is a very old word?

In front of a gas station, I saw a sign that said "MOB" and I thought, "That's funny."

Well, it's not so funny as you think. The word "mob" is a very old word.

All right, I'm not so smart as you think. But the word "mob" is a very old word.

We are publishing a letter from a reader who writes that he has seen a "mob" in the street.

Remember, the word "mob" is a very old word. It has been used for centuries.

It is a word that is used in many different contexts. It can mean a group of people, or a group of people who are acting in a certain way.

NOT WORKING NOW—SO WHY?

A leading American doctor located an Indian Chief lying at the door of his wigwam somewhere out west. "Chief," demonstrated the doctor, "why don't you get a job in a factory?"

"Why?" grunted the chief.

"Well, you could earn a lot of money, maybe thirty or forty dollars a week."

"Why?" insisted the chief.

"Oh, it isn't worked hard and saved your money, you'd soon have a bank account. Wouldn't you like that?"

"Why?" again asked the chief.

"For goodness' sake!" shouted the doctor, "what's the matter with you? You could have a bank account and you'd be able to buy a new wigwam."

Telephone furlough to home

A Long Distance call is almost as good as being there in person. It's the way to get your message across.

Doesn't Make Sense

Maybe some learned expert on human behavior could have explained the man's behavior. A suffering child wept, unknown injuries waited treatment while duty constituted authority did a hard job of attacking blains without investigation. Understanding that the right help came to the people, openly admitted to the interests of labor, work so effectively making jobs scarce.

Destroying jobs does not help labor. Workers are never so well off as when there are plenty of jobs. An employee's right to quit his job and take a better one makes pay good, class workers better off. Employers who are liberal and considerate of their employees get the best men and head the best organizations. This is as much a part of America's "Free Enterprise" system as owning property.

Where the Jobs Are

Not many years ago, unemployed workmen often quit their jobs with big corporations to go in business for themselves. They did it not because they were sure to earn more. In fact they knew they might earn less. They did it for the liberty to use their own ideas. They had full confidence and faith that their plans would prosper. The element of chance made it fun to operate businesses of their own.

Running your own business is so fun now, more like a headache, and this sad fact is closing the doors of many one-time thriving little enterprises. Government pay and all other interests have no bigger stake in anything than in small enterprises. Be they farms or factories, what good is it to the workers? What good is it to the workers? What good is it to the workers? What good is it to the workers?

THE NIGHT'S POLITION

The Morning News a number of times in the past has endeavored to impress on the people of the South the importance of becoming independent politically. It believes that this year, especially in an excellent time for Southern States to show the some sort of political independence regarding the two major parties that is shown in the east, the Middle West, or the West.

When the South becomes doubtful politically it will be serving its own best interests—Bavannah (Ga.) Morning News.

Is He the UNLUCKY One?

One school child in five, on the average, has defective eyesight. And the percentage increases to 4 out of 10 at college age. No parent can afford to neglect eyesight.

Even in those war-busy days, anyone can take these four simple precautions against eyestrain. Read these carefully and teach them to your children!

1. Do not rub your eyes. Rubbing only irritates them and makes them more sensitive to light. Use eye drops if necessary.
2. Hold your books near your eyes. Hold them close to your eyes.
3. Avoid shadows. Make sure you have good light when you work or read. Avoid eye strain.
4. Rest your eyes. Stop every 15 minutes. Look at something far away for a few minutes.
