WAR EMERGENCY calls for MORE PULPWOOD

RECENT CHANGES in the War situation on both fronts have skyrocketed demands for pulpwood products. The Pacific timetable has been stepped up—so have the needs for packaging material shipping containers made of pulpwood. Prospects of a Winter War in Europe require many additional tons of supplies packaged in pulpwood products. Because most packaging materials for the Armed Forces come from the South, the nation looks to us to step up the supply of pulpwood immediately.

The importance of quality
 Make every axe stroke count. Cut only wood that is sound and straight.

THEY NEVER STOP WORKING

Except when you're asleep!

Beesbees has said that with the exception of the heart, the muscles of the eye are the hardest working muscles of the human body. Because your eyes never stop working except when you're asleep.

Right now—with your wartime duties and responsibilities—you're probably working harder than ever before—and that means your eyes are working harder, too. Don't neglect them! Give them all the help you can by following these rules for conserving strength and energy.

There's a Shortage of Copies of The Dallas Morning News—But NOT of Our Desire to Serve!

The special shortage of newspaper paper has forced a curtailment of the supply of copies of The Dallas Morning News to our readers. This curtailment is a small part of the curtailment of newspaper paper which is being experienced by all newspapers in the country. We are confident that our readers will understand and bear with us while we're making every effort to restore service.

In the meantime, although many patrons will not have The News delivered to them temporarily, their names are still on the Dallas News Big Book and we look forward to serving them again.

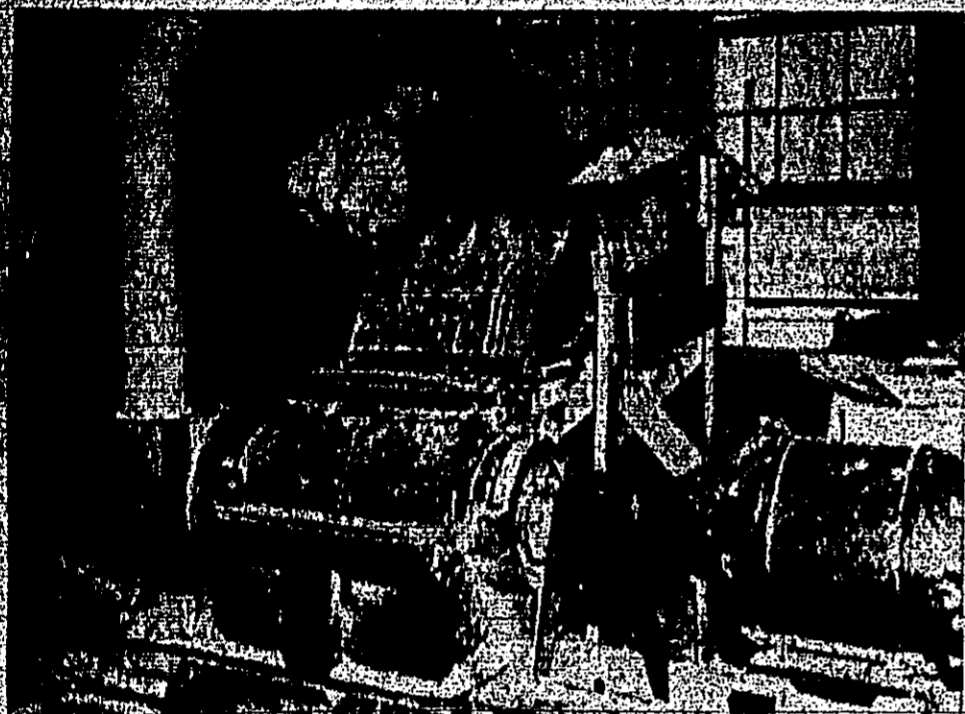

Thank you.

NOTABLE NEWS EVENTS IN PICTURES

TO SAVE PAPER—Navy is doing its part in paper salvage drive by even saving rejected papers instead of burning them. Herb workman of Washington Navy Yard feeds paper to hopper of shredder to be ground into tiny bits, then blown up pipe at left in making room for further processing.

PICKING CHAMP—Proudly displaying result of effort in Arkansas shagcropper, Virgil Mote, World's champion cotton picker. Fast worker, he received $1,000 after picking 102.6 pounds of cotton in one and one-half hours in Nlytheville, Texas.

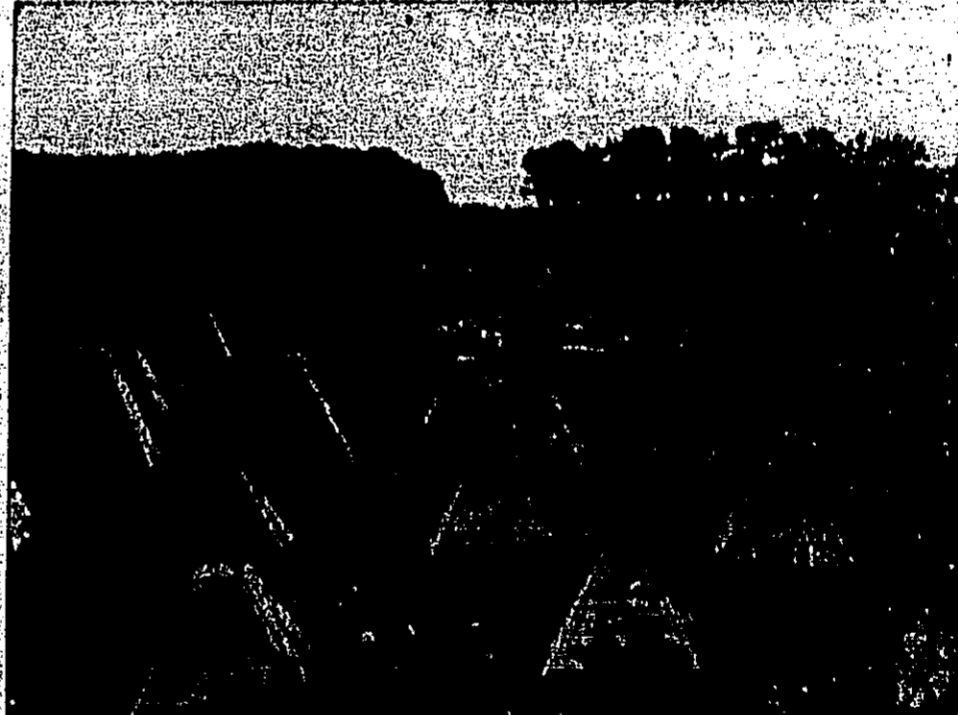

MOTHER AND CHILD—Stork walked over from Brookfield, Ill., recently when zebra, kudu, gazelle and rhinoceros babies arrived all within 24 hours. Here baby zebra of Abyssinian strain poses with proud mother in zebra domicile.

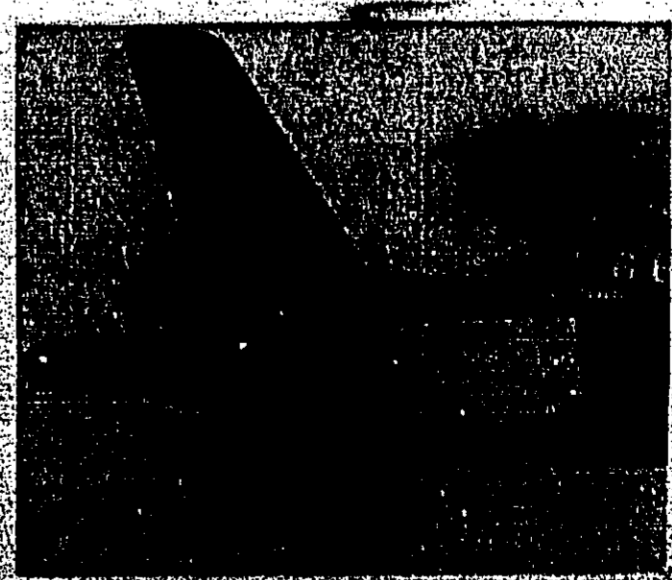

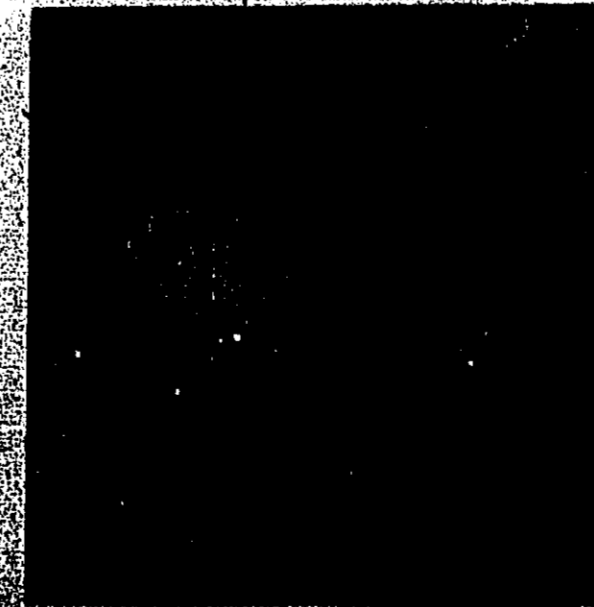

SO DAD—Now that Belgians may laugh again, these members of the country's White Army use fearful caricature of Der Fuhrer's face as object of mirth. With Edgo libeled and resistance job done, patriots flaunt V for Victory at weeping Adolph.

FROM AUSTRALIA—Actress Ann Richards is getting along in shoeless career after boarding last boat out of Australia prior to Pearl Harbor bombing. Here she arrives in New York for brief relaxation from films.

COMING THROUGH—These white objects are not tombstones, but concrete and steel obstacles placed by Nazis to delay Allies crossing Siegfried Line. Here American jeep and trailer sink deep into mud to blast path through German Aachen area for oncoming American troops.

Power Peace Talks

Four power conversations for a world security organization, which opened on August 21, ended at Dumbarton Oaks, near Washington, D. C. with a planary session at which the governments of Britain, the Soviet Union, China, and the United States. The official statement by the chairman of the delegation, said the talks had resulted in an agreement on a general framework of an international organization and the machinery required to maintain peace and security. No claim was made that the agreement provided the completed plans for the proposed international structure, but the leading delegates made optimistic statements with regard to the lasting character of their work.

Value of Personality

The college graduate with a good personality, with a record of participation in campus activities and with high grades will have the best chance of being hired by business and industry in the postwar era. Moreover, personality will be more important than high grades for all positions except those in technical and scientific fields. The survey on the employability of college graduates to business and industry, recently completed by Prof. Frank S. Edulcott, director of placement at Northwestern University, Co-operating in the survey were the personnel and employment officers of seventy of the nation's largest firms engaged in manufacturing, transportation, retailing and finance.

Bridge of Vessels New Spain Pacific

Steaming westward every day in the Pacific with military and naval supplies are about 200 ships. Rear Admiral Carlisle H. Wright, commander of the Twelfth Naval District, has disclosed, emphasizing the huge shipping problem which will arise when the war in Europe ends and the allied attack against Japan begins. "Assuming one-third of our total number of ships in operation are west-bound, one-third east-bound, and one-third loading or discharging, we need a total of 600 ships in the pool at present. If the length of the run is doubled, we will need at least 500 more trained crews." The answer is obvious—they don't exist.

Life Expectancy Recedes Slightly

The average length of life of American industrial workers in 1943 was 43.86 years, only slightly lower than that of the previous year. On the basis of records, it is reported by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. This was true despite a sharp increase in military deaths and widespread outbreaks of respiratory disease at the beginning and end of the year. Thus the chance of the rank and file of the civilian population for living to a ripe old age remains practically unchanged in our second year of war. The statistician points out: "Science Service notes that among white men over 20 and all white females, the expectation of life in 1943 was only 7.4 months less than in the preceding year. But the longevity among white men 20 and over was 2.4 months less than in the preceding year. The longevity among white men 20 and over was 2.4 months less than in the preceding year. Germany Exports Billions From Occupied Nations

Germany has extracted $20,400,000,000 from the occupied countries of Europe in the form of "contributions" and "loans" for goods and services. The figures are reported by the United States Department of Economic Warfare.

Building Bulldozers

Admirals had no secret fighting weapon in the war—just bulldozers. Your county commission or city street department probably had one long before Pearl Harbor. They used it to move dirt to building roads and streets. But that same bulldozer in action against the Axis does everything from knocking down trees and building high ways to acting as a shield against Japanese bullets and killing a dozen of the enemy at a time.

Holiday Turkey for Service Men

Food processors in 24 States have donated 20,000,000 pounds of turkey for the Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's dinners of American fighting men on 60 fronts. Paul H. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., disclosed recently. With the turkeys will go traditional trimmings. Mr. Willis said. One food manufacturer has earmarked 1,000,000 pounds of mince meat for overseas and 10,000,000 pounds of cranberries; one-third of the crop has been set aside for the armed forces. Shipments of turkeys to Switzerland to be distributed by the Red Cross to American prisoners of war have started.

It is a beautiful thing to see a young man and woman sitting on a bench in a park, talking and laughing and enjoying the day. It is a beautiful thing to see a young man and woman sitting on a bench in a park, talking and laughing and enjoying the day.

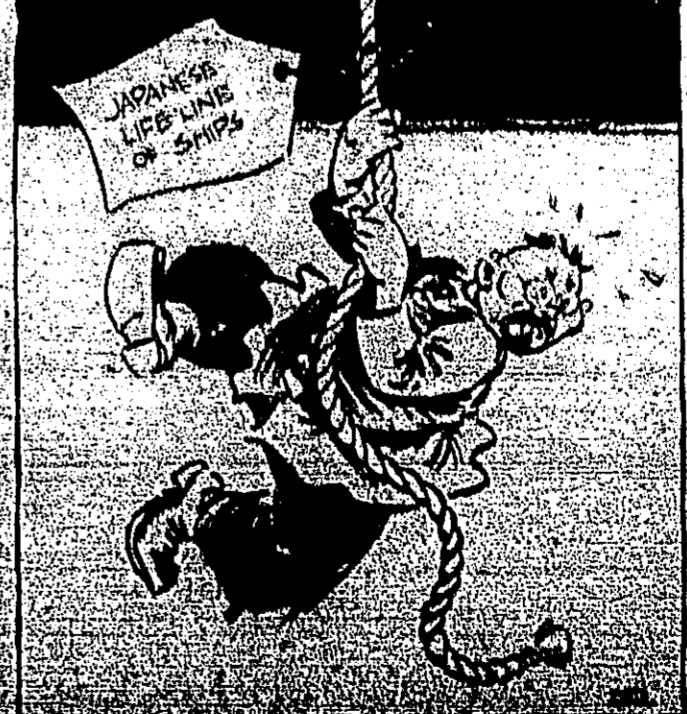

I am not prejudiced against the word "Yank" but I believe it more appropriate to refer to men fighting for their "American soldiers" for they are fighting in a common cause and for home and country.

Mending one day a week for four months, woman at Gardner, Kan., has made more than 20,000 surgical dressings for the American Red Cross. The women meet every Thursday at Gardner's Masonic Temple, which is furnished with a well-equipped kitchen. At noon they stop work, repeat the Lord's Prayer, eat lunch, then go back to work. Some of these workers are farm women who have done a day's work before they arrive. What these women have done at Gardner, Kan., for the Red Cross has been repeated in hundreds of Texas and Oklahoma towns and villages. When the war is over all heroes will not be on the battle front, many will be on the home front and they will be women.

Would be shoppers at a certain drug store stopped at the door and said "Out of ice cream, out of sherbet, out of cigars, out of gum, out of films, out of stamps, out of pictures, out of luck, out of town." Despite shortages incident to the war it is surprising how much merchandise is on sale in the stores. Wife went shopping the other day with a $20 bill and came home with an armful of things, food, bread and dead broke. She wanted more money to buy a fur coat, but I told her to forget it, that we had to buy War Bonds.

A LITTLE FUN

That's Easy
You Laugh

Older Lady "I'm so worried about my grandson, Paddy McMullen. He says his car that he's been running around with a jeep."

Second Elderly Lady "Why, Mary, that's nothing to worry about. A jeep is a little automobile used by the Army."

Well, Helen "I'm so glad to hear that. I thought a jeep was a female jeep."

Counting the Enemy
During the early part of the War between the States, when the Union armies were losing one battle after another, a friend asked Abraham Lincoln how large the Confederate Army was.

"About 1,400,000," the President replied.

"Are you sure?" exclaimed the other.

"That figure is so large it sounds almost incredible."

"Well," answered Lincoln, "whenever one of our generals is killed, he always says he was outnumbered three to one—and we have 400,000 men."

He Likes His Job Better
In New York an Italian was being examined in court after applying for citizenship.

The answered correctly questions on the rights of the President and the capital of the United States. Then came this:

"Could you become President of the United States?"

"No," was the reply.

"Why not?" persisted the official.

"You please excuse me," begged the Italian. "I've a busy night now selling de peanuts."

Ah, the Boss
A traveler in Ireland stopped for a drink of milk at a white cottage with a thatched roof and, as he approached, he noticed on a table under a glass dome a brick with a faded rose upon the top of it.

"Why do you cherish in this way?" the man said to his host, "that common brick and the faded rose?"

"Sure," was the reply, "there's certain unquieted spirits in this house. Do ye see this big dent in my head? Well, it was made by that brick."

"But the rose?"

"The rose," he explained, "is off the grave of the man that threw that brick."

The Old Maid and the Burglar
An old maid who had a sweetheart in years, saw a burglar elbowing up the side of the building to her apartment.

"There's a burglar elbowing up the building, trying to get in my apartment," she cried. "Come over right away!"

A voice answered: "What you want is the police department."

"I know it," she exclaimed. "He'll never get up here without a ladder."

That's Easy
"I want to buy some machinery," said Mrs. O'Brien. "But it's the way the advertisements speak of so highly."

"What kind?"

"I don't remember the name," replied Mrs. O'Brien. "But it's the one the advertisements speak of so highly."

A New Father
"YOUR WIFE JUST GAVE BIRTH TO AN 8-POUND BABY GIRL THIS MORNING," read the telegram to a new father.

Attached to the telegram was a sticker reading: "WHEN YOU WANT A BOY CALL WESTERN UNION."

Increasing Consumption
President Taft, who weighed about 300 pounds, consumed waffles in enormous quantities.

"I have a regular formula for eating waffles," he once explained, "and I recommend it to everyone. You eat the first half dozen waffles with syrup and lots of butter. Then you eat the next half dozen waffles with honey and lots of butter. The next half dozen waffles with plum jelly and lots of butter. If, after you eat the last half dozen you still feel a bit hungry, top it all off with a piece of apple pie and cheese."

Arithmetic Bugs

Major: "But why do you call them arithmetic bugs?"

Reastus: "Cause dey multiply my misery, dey subtract from my fun, and dey divide my attention."

Lower the Boats
A sailor spent his leave with his old friend the parish vicar. When the time came for him to return to his ship he asked the vicar to take care of his parrot for him.

Next night the sailor awoke each night from 2 a. m. onwards by yelling "Lower the boats, men!"

"You can easily stop that by putting him right out in the garden with a blanket over his cage," replied Jack.

Next night at 2 a. m. came faintly from the bottom of the garden, "Lower the boats, men! Lower the boats, men!"

On hearing about this, the sailor said: "The only thing to do is to have him right under your window. The moment he starts calling, chuck a bucket of water on him. That should stop him."

Promptly at 2 a. m. the parrot started, "Lower the boats, men!"

The vicar jumped up and flung down the water. "Lower the boats, men! Lower the boats, men! And bring your oilskins. It's raining like hell," the parrot shouted.

Fumigating
In one house I observed...

In fumigating a room, one is supposed to have all the birds out free to obtain the benefits of the fumigation. I doubt if a common fowl would be thoroughly disinfected unless it were thoroughly cleaned first. Aye solution makes a slight agent for cleaning such things. For raising clean clean combs with are quite then use a blow torch to kill bacteria. If I were going to fumigate the house with a dirt floor, I first would remove about four inches of the dirt and replace it with dirt from some field or roadside. That would be an excellent chore to do even if one doesn't fumigate. Some prefer to use sand for the flooring since it is more easily removed, and in some places, more easily obtained than what we call clean dirt.

Colds or Snuffles
Chickens, like humans, have their seasonal troubles so it is not surprising that many of the inquiries that now are coming to my desk are concerning colds or snuffles as some readers call them. One reader writes: "My chickens sort of snuffle or make noisy noises. Could it be that they have a cold or what? Their eyes are bright and they eat their corn and are fat and plump. They look OK. Can you tell me what to do about it?"

It is the season of the year when one should give his flock the best of observation. If any birds have what is called snuffles, and if one or more are observed to have such, those birds should be removed from the flock at once and the mucus from the nasal passages of those snuffling birds may have been deposited on feeders and bowls, all such articles should be disinfected. Birds removed should be placed in warm quarters and fed moistened mash and plenty of green feed if possible.

As stated here before, quite often birds have been sent to the bacteriology department of Kansas State College, suffering from some form of colds or bronchitis, cough, etc. Usually the crate with bird was placed near the steam radiator and with often a checked arrangement followed the warmth and moistened air inhalation, we were told.

One treatment that has often proved successful in treating birds afflicted as described has been either a liquid chlorine spray or a dusting with some of the powders used for such purposes. Most poultry remedies companies advertise such products. If most of the flock is afflicted it may be well to try the fumigation known as the Klein (Klein) remedy because it was given by G. T. Klein, former extension poultryman in Kansas State College. It is as follows:

In one-half cup of pine tar add one-half cup of spirits of turpentine and about four tablespoonfuls of sulphur. Place coals of fire in an old enamel kettle, put the kettle on a scow shovel, place the scow shovel on a bare floor near the stove. When the coals have gone to coals and pour the pine tar mixture on the coals. Clean the windows and floors.

Additional cod liver oil added to mash or placed on drinking water aids in fortifying birds that have developed colds, also plenty of greens and fresh, or green alfalfa leaf meal is an aid. One reader writes that he added cod liver oil to his water and using a sprinkling can minus the sprinkling tip, he poured the liquid over the troughs of mash.

The writer cannot refrain from suggesting that usually dampness or drafts in the poultry house are responsible for the first colds. A moderate diet is another contributing cause. What is known as "snuffles" is generally due to lack of vitamin A. Certainly it pays to keep the birds in a clean, dry, well-ventilated house.

Editorial: "Admission to the New York Daily Mail, New York, N.Y."

Admission to the New York Daily Mail
An important step in the development of the poultry industry has been the development of special hybrid strains of eggs, and that is what the new hybrid strains are so many farmers are so interested in. Because this hybrid seed is almost entirely free of other grain and foreign material, it produces a sound, well-matched crop far superior to those produced by ordinary seed. According to Mr. E. W. Rouse, National Oiler Co. has played an important part in persuading farmers to switch to the new hybrid strains.

FARMALLS ARE FIRST

ANY MAN WHO BUYS A TRACTOR buys it for one big reason—the work the tractor will do. The quality of work, the volume, and the variety for the real measure of tractor value. Couple these factors with efficient cost, plus upkeep and operation, and you have the whole story.

That's the way most farmers figure it out when they make this important investment. The answer has proved and it is a Farmall tractor more than that. It makes more work, and it makes it easier.

That doesn't happen by chance. It happens because these tractors are designed and built to do more work, better work, and it's better.

More than 1,000,000 Farm Families Cure Meat this safe, easy Morton Way

And it's cured to keep with the last ham tasting just as good as the first

MOST of us like to follow a regular way of doing things. We cure our meat in a certain way... have done it that way for years. For the most part, we've had good luck so why change, we ask.

No doubt that's how the million and more families who use the Morton Way also felt before they tried it for the first time. Curing the Morton Way is simplicity itself. First pound the meat with Morton's Tender-Quick dissolved in water. This farcating curing pickle starts the cure around the bone where all flavor and bone-taint are likely to develop first. Then rub the outside with Morton's Sugar-Cure. This sugar curing salt strikes in, curing toward the center and imparts a rich, wood-smoke flavor.

And the result?—Sweet-tasting delicious hams, shoulders and bacon, perfectly cured from hind to bone... no flavor... no bone-taint... no waste—bone-cured meat is very, very best.

ATHLETES IN ANIMAL WORLD

Have you ever thought about who is the fastest in the animal kingdom? The fastest runner is the cheetah, which can run at a speed of 30 miles per hour. The fastest swimmer is the shark, which can swim at a speed of 25 miles per hour. The fastest flyer is the peregrine falcon, which can fly at a speed of 240 miles per hour. The fastest crawler is the slug, which can crawl at a speed of 0.01 miles per hour.

DOG

Every morning Sam follows his master to a certain street intersection. That is the dog's business for the day and he makes his way along several blocks to the Times office. Though he is now nine years old, he still keeps tightly to schedule. He arrives in front of the Times office at 9 o'clock, always one of the first to report for work. Upon arrival, he places his paw against the plate glass window of the news room to attract attention of someone who then lets him into the building.

The little dog, at press time, sometimes comes to attend the heavy rolls of newspaper into the washroom at the rear of the building.

At noon, Sam moves into the stateroom room where some of the men share their lunch with him. On cold afternoons Sam crawls into an ideal spot in the boiler room. Nobody worries about him, as his routine is known to his owners.

After the paper has gone to press, Sam knows it is time to quit. He usually gets back to the Patterson residence about 5 p.m. While the dog is known as Sam, the animal was named "White Fox" because each of his four paws is white.

Seedless and pitless fruit may become quite common after the war is over. A tiny gas filled bomb that is being used at the front for killing mosquitoes, will be used to spray plants with a chemical that will make virgin flowers bear seedless fruits. Scientists with the Department of Agriculture have already produced faster growing, seedless tomatoes by this method.

CANINE PRINTER

Printer's ink must rarely flow in the veins of "Sam," a black and white mongrel dog of belligerent breed, owned by John F. Patterson of Watertown, New York. Eight years ago, Sam strayed into the great room of the Watertown Daily Times, liked the atmosphere and the roar of the press, and has returned daily except Sundays ever since.

BETTER EATING

By Genevieve Callahan

For too many women, eating is a chore. They eat to get through the day, and they eat to get through the day. They eat to get through the day, and they eat to get through the day. They eat to get through the day, and they eat to get through the day. They eat to get through the day, and they eat to get through the day. They eat to get through the day, and they eat to get through the day.

WINTER STORAGE FOR SUMMER CLOTHES

No matter how the war develops this winter, supplies of summer clothes fabrics, cottons, particularly, are expected to be short throughout the next spring. The best clothing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest storing the fabric early in the fall. The best clothing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest storing the fabric early in the fall. Doing is the time to catch up on what ever your earlier two meals may have lacked. You'll want and need meat for fat or oil, or eggs, or chicken for additional protein. You'll also want to have potatoes in one way or another, and probably some, for energy. You'll also want to have some raw vegetables for those vitamins and minerals. You'll want bread and butter, and a glass of milk and some kind of dessert.

Don't eating that way make me gain a lot of weight? you ask. No, it doesn't. Chances are you won't actually be eating any calories than you are in the habit of eating. You will be redistributing them better through the day, and you'll probably be eating more of the low-calorie, high-vitamin and mineral, green vegetables cooked or in salads.

Strong muscles, steady nerves, good digestion and elimination, clear eyes and skin, ability to throw off colds and other infections, good joints, pep for fun as well as for work, these are some of the personal rewards that the habit of right eating can be expected to give you.

And there's more than that, of course. There's the consciousness that by keeping the machine that is your body in top-notch condition, you are able to do more and better work in your job of helping to win the war.

TESTED RECIPES

Pork and Lima Beans. How long since you baked lima beans? They make a welcome change now and then, and if you are a little short on time, you can use canned or quick frozen lima beans. When using the dried product, proceed as follows: Soak a pound of dried lima beans for five minutes, wash them, and soak several hours or overnight. This amount will serve five persons. So, in determining the amount of pork steak or chops you will need for your dish of beans, figure on five servings. Put the beans in a casserole and almost cover with water. Add one teaspoon of salt. Bring to a boil, then place in a layer or two of beans. Add two or three tablespoons of fat cooked out of pork and cover the casserole. Bake beans in a moderate oven for an hour and a half to two hours. Cook covered most of the time. Remove lid at end of one hour and add a little water to brown pork chops a bit more.

Combine with meat balls. 1/2 cup spaghetti, 1/2 cup bread crumbs, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup onion juice, 1/2 cup onion fat, 1/2 cup tomato sauce, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup salt, 1/2 cup pepper. Combine with ground beef, ground crumbs, milk, well beaten egg, onion juice, and salt. Shape into balls and bake in 350° oven for 15 minutes.
