End of War Control

Control of the war effort is being relinquished to the private industry, according to a report from the War Relocation Authority. The report states that the government has decided to let private industry take over the production of war materials, and that the government will only regulate the distribution of these materials.

The report also states that the government will continue to regulate the production of war materials, but that it will allow private industry to take over the production of these materials. This is a significant step towards the end of war control, and it is expected that it will lead to a more efficient and economical production of war materials.
