New Sallman Painting Depicts Theme of Crusade for Christ

CHICAGO — Warren Bardman, whose program of Christ has sold 4,500,000 copies, hopes to raise the support of millions of Christians to the distribution of their Leader, that it may be no more war. Methodists are among those who are working for liberty and justice for all men through their four year five fold Crusade for Christ.

Poster of the Sallman painting now appearing in more than 41,000 Methodist churches across the nation, signal for an initial contribution to the $25,000,000 Crusade relief and reconstruction fund, more than half of which will go for food, clothing and other aid for peoples of war devastated and occupied countries. Other phases of the Crusade for Christ call for support of co-operation among nations in the post-war world, renewed evangelism efforts, education for Christian stewardship and improvement of Sunday school attendance.

THE CRUSADING CHRIST

Recreational Center

It is with keen pleasure this reporter went over facts and figures Friday to learn the progress made on the plans for finishing the Recreation Center started in a very small way after school was out last year. With not much to work with, the Masons let the ladies use to ground floor of their building where were interested in those own children as well as of their neighbors, scrubbed, painted walls and hung curtains, gathered up donations of furnishings, books and games, gave of their time, money and efforts to make a place that idle hours of youngsters could be directed by the good people who loved them. Of course, everything didn't go just as was expected. It never does but as a neighbor, just across the street, we realize that most big efforts start in a small way and they is going to be no exception.

Attorney I. M. Fenglin gave a block of land to the Woodville school for recreational purposes. T. O. Sutton offered an old log house, which was was a land mark in the county, and strongly built as all early log houses were built so it was torn down and moved on to this land. Men of the town got together, cleaned the land and rebuilt the house which contained two good sized rooms with hall between. Then things slowed up because everyone one is so very busy, but this winter the youngsters urged the ladies to get busy as vacation time wasn't far off, so a couple of meetings were held and a council appointed of nine members, Mesdames Fred Matthews, Jack Kelley, Roger Read, J. W. Harrison, Messrs J. K. Wheat A. P. Little, J. H. Kennison, Jr., J. Wood Fain and Leroy Davis.

The School Board leased the block of land and log house to be under the supervision of this Council and have these folks been busy! Of course it will take money and after much discussion and conferences it is the consensus of opinion that it should be large enough to take care of the rooms without more additions later, locked on which will just match up as it is hoped to raise enough to make a plant we all can be justly proud of. Several hundred dollars have already been raised, and one man offered to give the concrete walks and barbecue pit; another will furnish truck to get material moved; logs have been promised awaiting the building; another will wire the building and grounds for electricity; and men have said they would give so many days labor. A A neighbor's bulging tank can be used.

For $4,000 a 25x50 foot room can be added; a porch across the full front and the whole building finished inside, so it is hoped that this amount will be given. If you can give a dollar or five give it to the committee [illegible]

...was plausibility were a half-truth as a plan, and in the half-world that Mr. Taussig operated in, overconfidence was more dangerous than wasted time.

"I can get to Rio Piedras to the University—and this way?"

He tipped the waiter and pointed to the left fork of the road he had come on. "And to the Tuberculosis Sanatorium on the way?"

The man nodded. "Sí, señor Orozius, señor."

"If I walk along a public car will stop for me?"

"Sí, señor."

Mr. Taussig set out, walking slowly. The road was less crowded than the other branch. Nevertheless he walked past the blue stucco house set behind a great hedge of red and pink hibiscus, because a girl leading with angel care was passing it just then. When the road was empty he turned back, went quickly through the tall gate in the hedge and closed it carefully behind him.

Diego Gongora, perched in the drive, Taussig planted at his wrist. He had allowed Shroud forty-five minutes to compensate for the disparagement, disregard of Rules that was another combination of the Latin sense that governed the prevailing mind. He had to succeed in order to arrive at the house of Isabel Quero tomorrow. Quero himself—Taussig almost had to say to Gongora about Quero. And I tell you she is an American. They do differently. In spite of your daughter, I'm sure you are to what is known as a nice girl. Don't make any assumptions to the contrary."

Anne finished the last of the gold en slip of papaya in front of her and pushed back her cup and saucer. She'd expected the coffee to be wonderful, but it was not that [illegible] as the worst of the cold cups brews at home.

FROM THE PHILIPPINES JAN 26-1945

Dear Mrs. Willard, I have received two papers since I've been here in the Philippines, they were good to say the least. The news from my home town is wonderful in a way, like this. We have shot down some jap planes since we have been here. My outfit was the first to get a plane and they sure do look good coming down in flames. It sure was tough here in combat but now is pretty quiet and that's the way I like it. The food is very good and we have fresh meat pretty often. The vegetables are canned and fresh and we have a good bit of both. The coconuts are canned and fresh and we have a good bit of both. The coconuts are canned and fresh and we have a good bit of both.
