THE REASON was not to be found in any real need on the part of the people for the goods to be purchased, but in the desire of the manufacturers to keep their factories busy and their employees working.

IN CHINA buildings used for various purposes are painted certain colors (green denotes an office, red signifies a school, banners proclaim a cafe, a restaurant, hotel, or cabaret, etc.). Perhaps we could use a few signs of that sort in Woodville. Suppose a red flag should fly from the Booster office. What would you suppose it did when Wallace is appointed to a Cabinet position?

THERE APPEARS to be good reason for Democrats, regarding their colleges from the standpoint of the Army-Navy game, as regards color scheme. Maroon and gold, the Texas colors, are the same as those of the Army, while the Navy has blue and gold. Texas A. & M. has maroon and white, and Texas has orange and white. Navy blue and gold would be good for Texas, and would be in keeping with the Navy.

LAWS OF LIVING, the president's book of inspirational talks, is not only a book of inspiration, but one which will pay a living wage. When one stops to consider that 40 per cent of the soldiers were boys just out of school, or at school when they came, it is not to be wondered at that we are not as efficient as we will be after the war. Many of the boys have had no chance to learn a trade, and will be forced to take the jobs that will pay a living wage. When one stops to consider that 40 per cent of the soldiers were boys just out of school, or at school when they came, it is not to be forgotten when they come they come as men, not as boys. Opinions also may not be so plentiful. And yet there's another angle to the affair. Do you remember those days when you were going to be a fireman, or a railroad engineer, or a cowboy, or a pilot, or a soldier, or a sailor, or a policeman, or a lawyer, or a doctor, or a preacher, or a banker, or a merchant, or a farmer, or a cowboy, or a sailor, or a soldier, or a pilot

Anne turned her head in the dark. A little gasp broke from her throat as the meaning of it came to her in a blinding flash of understanding. Miguel was sitting there this way—Watching—Tensely. That's what he had been doing in the room.

She put her hand up to her cheek. It was wet. She was panting out of her eyes and rounding them to slits.

Beside Miguel's quiet breathing

Suddenly Miguel's fingers were crushed in a hard grip. There was a quick movement and Miguel's wrist was caught in a steel vise. Anne's head fell back on the pillow.

Miguel's voice was harsh with pain. "Anne! Anne! Don't!"

Anne's head rolled from side to side. Her hair was damp with perspiration. Her face was white and drawn. Her eyes were closed.

Miguel's voice was hoarse with anguish
