Soldiers of the PULPWOOD ARMY

they're vital to Victory!

The men who wield their axes and saws in the Army of the Woods are playing a vital part in winning the war. In fact, many of them have been specifically draft deferred because their boards felt they could render a more valuable service cutting pulpwood than in the front line. Great credit is also due to the foresters and county agents and others who have supplied the technical information and helped organize the work.

A Great Responsibility

Pulpwood is a vital material with countless war uses. The shortage of pulpwood is so serious that it is now on the war production urgency list.

Men whose war job is pulpwood production are keenly aware of the importance of their assignment and the necessity of getting out every possible cord.

Keep up the Quality

Be sure your pulpwood is sound and free of rot. Otherwise your work may be wasted. Rigid military requirements demand that pulpwood products for the armed services be made of good wood.

PULPWOOD-HAULING AND CUTTING ON PRODUCTION URGENCY LIST

NOTE:
The only programs selected for inclusion on the National Production Urgency List are those which are of paramount importance because the programs have fallen so far behind schedule that balanced war production is threatened in such a manner as to interfere with military operations.

This means that on Friday, March 9, Pulpwood was ranked by war leaders of the Production Urgency Committee a top priority industry! *

Pulpwood has always been listed as an ESSENTIAL war material. A few weeks ago the pulpwood shortage became so serious that it was given a CRITICAL rating and now it has been put on the URGENCY list. This puts it right at the top of the priority scale, along with our most vital weapons of war—which for security reasons cannot be listed.

The "URGENCY" priority—and the acute shortage which occasions it—result from the many new uses that have been found for pulpwood and the general speeding up of war production.

This action by the Production Urgency Committee emphasizes the responsibility of every pulpwood producer to cut every possible cord as our armies deliver the final crushing blows in Europe and continue to move with overwhelming force into the Pacific.
