TO RUN FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

ALLAN SHIVERS

Announcement was made today by Allan Shivers, from his home in Port Arthur, that he would be a candidate for Lieutenant Governor in the coming Democratic Primary. Shivers, who is married and the father of two children, is the son of the late Governor W. P. Hobby. He was born in Lufkin, Angelina County, moved to Woodville, Tyler County, and resided in Port Arthur, Jefferson County, for the past 20 years.

Although exempt from military service under the Selective Service Act, by virtue of his membership in the State Senate, Shivers volunteered, and served 2 years with the Army in Africa, Italy, France and Germany.

"The office of Lieutenant Governor is of utmost importance," Shivers said. "If elected, I will conduct the administration of the office fairly and impartially. I believe that my prior service in the Senate will enable me to serve the people of the State ably and efficiently."

VETERANS SHOULD REPLACE LOST SECURITY CARDS

During the war many men who entered the armed forces lost or misplaced their social security record cards. Now many of them have been discharged, and they find it necessary to secure a duplicate. They seem to think it is necessary to secure the duplicate from the office where they secured the original card and are unaware of the fact that those offices from various parts of the United States, according to C. H. Jarrell, manager of the Lufkin office. The facts is the easy way that new field offices of the Board will be able to secure information for duplicate cards from those offices by the simplest kind of letter writing. Veterans do not have to request a duplicate from the local office. Without cost to them, and they will gladly cooperate with the applicant in any way possible to expedite the issuance of a duplicate.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

NOBILITY

The true standard of nobility is not in the mind, those who think nobly are noble. Anne Hicker Martin

We might try to perfect models in thought and look at them and thereby or wonderful never ever were. — Mary Baker Eddy

It seems to almost will, a strong mind, this is the last kind of nobility. — Plato

The generous man is always just, and the just man is always generous; only contemptible people punish the thing of heaven, laughter.

He who gives what he would readily throw away, gives without generosity. — Seneca

Never did, and never will arise anything permanently noble and excellent in the character of which a strong element of regard for truth is not included. — John Foster

A full College Course for you WITH EXPENSES PAID

Here's important news for young men 18 and over (17 with parents' consent). Under the GI Bill of Rights, if you enlist in the U. S. Army before October 6, 1946, for 3 years, upon your discharge you will be entitled to 48 months of college, trade or business school education. Tuition up to $500 per ordinary school year will be paid. And you will receive $65 monthly living allowance—$90 if you are married. Get the facts at your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

How would you CHART YOUR COURSE?

Pictured here are the records of four "life lines" of our business—four things which largely control the destiny of any business, whether it be a farm, a factory or a store. They are Wages, Materials Costs, Prices, and Profits. Suppose these were pictures of what is going on in your own affairs. How would you chart your future course from these facts?

What about wages?

Wages have risen steadily for five years. Before the strike which began on January 21 in ten of our plants and which has choked off nearly all farm machinery production, earnings of employees of these plants averaged $1.15¼ an hour, not including any overtime. The Union demanded a 24 cents per hour increase and a Government board has now recommended a general increase of 18½ cents an hour, which would make average earnings $1.33¾ an hour. Weekly average would be $53.40.

What about materials?

No one seems to know how high materials costs will go. The Government has increased steel prices as much as $12.00 a ton, with an average increase for all grades of $4.70. Steel is the most important material we buy, but prices on other materials are also increasing.

What about prices?

There has been no general increase in our prices since they were frozen by the Government in early 1942. Since then a few small increases have been allowed where particular machines were substantially changed in design.

What about profits?

Risk is part of the American profit and loss system, so we do not, of course, ask either our customers or the Government to guarantee that we can be certain of profits each year. The chart tells the story of our operations during the war. Although Harvester rendered more goods than ever before and had no desire to get rich out of war, so our rate of profit has steadily gone down. What our 1945 profit will be is obviously uncertain.

What is the next step?

As you can see, our present situation is that with frozen prices and declining profits we are asked to pay higher materials costs and to make the largest tax contribution in the history of the country. Can we do it? Can we continue to pay good wages and maintain employment? We don't know. We are trying to find out. We are trying to get prices unfrozen so that we can meet increased costs. We are trying to get tax relief so that we can keep more of what we earn. We are trying to get a fair settlement of the strike so that we can get our plants back in production. We are trying to do everything possible to expedite the resumption of production.

That is not a judgment that makes us happy. The Company does not want to raise prices. We prefer to keep prices, wherever possible, and we know our customers prefer to have us do that. We have not raised 1945 prices and hope to keep them unchanged. But we have always said we would operate only if we could do so profitably. Now we are convinced that, because of increased costs, we cannot do that. Until the present situation is cleared up we do not see how we can operate the many plants we have over the country. We do not see how we can continue to pay good wages and maintain employment. We do not see how we can continue to pay taxes and keep farming out the farm machines which are now our largest employment need.

Because of the importance of the tools we make, and the dependence of the farmer and many others upon them, we have felt that we should not close down our plants unless we were forced to do so. We have felt that we should continue to operate as long as we could do so without serious loss. We have felt that we should continue to operate as long as we could do so without serious loss. We have felt that we should continue to operate as long as we could do so without serious loss.

If You Had MY JOB

KEEPING HOUSE, minding the kids, take care of the family—you would realize that business girls are not the only ones who sometimes get Headache and Tired Aching Muscles. We home girls often work just as hard and know just as many Headaches, just as many Aching Muscles and Tired Feelings. I'm not a business girl, but I'm just as tired.

About a year ago, I first used ALKA-SELTZER. I find that it eases my Aching Head, takes the kinks out of Tired Aching Muscles and brings relief when I have Acid Indigestion.

The family says, I am a lot easier to live with since I have known about Alka-Seltzer.

When you have ALKA-SELTZER in the house, why don't you buy a package today? Have a package on hand—small package 30c, also by the glass at Soda Fountains.

The Thunderhead

By Walt Coburn

"After you fell off," Ken asked, "what happened to that arm?"

"I knew I was going to land on my face, so I threw this arm up—gave it a push."

Ken examined the arm and shoulder. Ken winced several times. "Nothing broken. Anything else?"

"Well, coming home on Flicka—I couldn't straddle her, my legs acted so—I had to sit side-saddle."

Rob laughed. "I've had that feeling myself. That came from riding the stallion when he was making it. wrenched every muscle in your body."

Rob's eyes went over Ken minutely, noting the ragged, filthy clothing, the hands with dirt ground into the hastily washed scratches and abrasions, a dark bruise down the side of his face, stains of blood on the side of his jeans.

"I did think I was a goner once," said Ken.

"When was that?"

"When I fell off Thunderhead and the mares were coming right behind."

"No horse will step on a living thing if it can be avoided. Anglo supposes they were pretty well scattered."

"Well — they weren't spread much—"

"If they have little to see, they'll jump."

"That's what they did. It was as if the light went out and for a moment I would be right over me, and then dark, and I'd get a squint of hoofs and belly—then light again. But they sure spattered me all over—dirt and gravel."

"I'll say they did. What's that blood on the inside of your pants leg?"

"That's from Thunderhead," said Ken.

"Was he much cut up?"

"A lot of bites and nips. A deep one on his side and shoulder that I got all this blood from. It was the very first wound of the battle. Then he got that bad one in his throat I told you about, but nothing seemed to bother him. He didn't act as if he even knew he was wounded."

"Probably didn't. And probably the Alkali didn't know he was killed. I often think pain and death don't enter into the consciousness of horses at all. What about your friend, the one-legged eagle? No sign of him on this trip?"

"He came down. Six of them came down to eat up the Alkali—"

"Ah! They'll pick his bones! A true burial of the plains!" Rob's face lit up. "A great old boy! I've always had a corner in my heart for him, even if he did nearly brain me!"

Ken had forgotten this. His face showed him again the scar over his temple where the Alkali's hoof had left its mark and it seemed to draw them all into a close little knot.

"What a great horse!" said Rob, leaning back again. "Ken, there are outstanding individuals in the animal world as well as the human. The Alkali was like Napoleon! Or like Caesar! To be close to one of those is like being close to a charge of T.N.T."

"Yes, sir," said Ken wearily.

He knew.

Rob made a little gesture with his hand. "Well! The king is dead! Long live the king!"

"You mean Thunderhead?"

"Thunderhead. The Throwback," said Rob, and took them both back to the day three years ago when the unruly little white foal had been born in everyone had thrown at him.

"Lethal Throwback!"

"Bad—"

"Evil!"

Ken hardly dared to say it. "Do you suppose if you took a lot of—maybe ten or twenty—with you and lariats up to the valley—and show you the way—you could run him back?" Because you see, I'm only a little more than a day behind the race—"

Rob frowned gravely. "It would take a regiment of cavalry—and couldn't get him."

Ken knew. He was not surprised, deep within him, at Rob's reaction against the idea. [illegible]

C. G. SHIVERS

Woodville and Tyler County have lost one of its early citizens in the passing of Clarence Green Shivers, who died Friday afternoon, April 5, at his home in Woodville following a long illness. Many sincere and beautiful sentiments of loving remembrance, and high public attributes to their father than the man of whom Mr. Shivers was the head of a good man, one who lived a truly Christian life, has left behind the county has lost a "friend of man," a follower of the Christ and a good citizen deserving of the best.

Mr. and Mrs. Shivers, Sr., Shivers of this county, he was born April 27th, 1872. He had been a surveyor and timber cruiser all of his life and the past 33 years has been in the employ of the Kirby Lumber Corporation as their representative in the county. In December, 1893 he married Mrs. Tula Pendleton and with her has been an outstanding worker in the Methodist Church and has been on the Board of Stewards for 34 years, serving as its chairman the past seven years. At the time of his death he was a very interested member of the building committee for the new Methodist church now in the planning. He will certainly be missed. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the Mt. Gilead cemetery, the services being held by his pastor, Rev. R. E. Minter, assisted by Rev. J. N. Penney, his son-in-law and his friend, Hugh Donahoe. Beautiful floral tributes covered the grave.

Survivors are his wife, Tula Shivers, of Woodville; J. H. Shivers, of Longleaf, Ala., Otis and Paul of Beaumont, Pearl of Galveston and Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Bruce Ellis of Houston, walking with the latter. Mrs. Bruce Ellis of Houston, walking with Ouida, of the Tail only to not last resting place. Friends colonies with love ones that this sad year and mothers. The lady of the father's family is now at rest after so many years of suffering and blindness.

6,000 GARMENTS shipped

Gilbert Wood, chairman for the Tyler county drive for used clothing, announces that the packing and shipping of clothes and bedding has been completed, with approximately 6,000 garments shipped to Austin last week. The theater drive, which had been scheduled for last week, has been postponed to May 1, it was announced by Mr. Wood.

Mr. Wright and those who helped in the west part of the county did a fine job in collecting the clothes, and it was a huge job.

Patriotic address by Miller

Patriotic address by Miller speak words of truth, reminding our minds to the promises we made to God, to our country's faith in Christian by you strengthened. It was at a solemn hour also for the business world to a pow place for a woman as who Tonic believe. Humanity and, truths and to keep faith in the work of others, the hearts of our in sympathy to the bereaved wife and three brothers, W. D. of Hemphill, J. C. and Lewis Shivers of Woodville, Tuscola and Ira Shivers of Woodville, and the family. Also Mrs. Wilson of Port Arthur, Mrs. Bruce Ellis of Dallas, Mrs. Wright of Houston, Mrs. Officers of Galveston, H. E. Pendleton, Jr. and Mrs. Bernard Wilson and Marvin Nelpallbearers and gently carried to its final rest yesterday, the Rev. Penney officiating the plans of the funeral. Rest Texas. This is the second death in the family the past year. His brothers, Judge R. A. Shivers of Port Arthur, passed on last year.

Plan a Bathroom to Please Entire Family

CALL a family conference when you're planning that new bathroom is the advice given for solving to it quickly individual preferences. Then you'll not be forever after wishing the fixtures had been installed some other way.

Once when the final decision is reached, the work of preparing the bathroom may go ahead without confusion.

If the family is large, you'll prob ably want the bathroom fixtures to be only one shade in general to avoid confusion. A more pleasing effect, however, will be obtained by the selection of a three-piece color scheme—for the bathtub, lavatory and toilet are separated from the tile. Further confidence is provided by the extra step in the color combination.

Between adjoining bedrooms a partition bath may have a stool and lavatory available to each room and a tub compartment convenient to both. If there are several children or preparing for school at once, have two lavatories in the bathroom. But if still put one of the lavatories with a stool downstairs. Make a complete second bathroom by adding a prefabricated shower cabinet.

A bathroom ought to be pretty as well as utilitarian, the Capper's Farmer article points out. That will be easy enough with the good-looking fixtures now being manufactured. Porcelain enamel will be made in almost any shade your heart desires. You'll also have a wide variety of wall finishes to choose from—plastic-finished wallboard, wallpaper, tile, tile board, paint, wall linoleum, structural glass. ## Here's How to Banish Washday Stooping

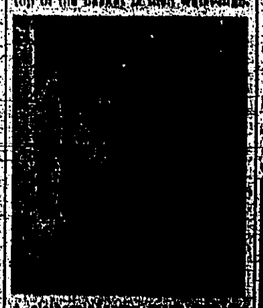
1,250,000 farm families. Mrs. Frey says that time and energy saving methods make washing easier, is also saving an hour each washday. Here are some of the tips she gives other housewives:

The washing machine should be high enough for ease in working. Mrs. Frey has elevated hers by putting bricks under the legs. A wooden platform, built to fit your needs, is additional purpose of insulating the washing machine.

Sorting clothes on the floor requires constant stooping. Mrs. Frey separates clothing into three baskets placed on chairs.

Mrs. Frey's sliding clothes basket saves time and bending. Holes were bored in each end of a sturdy wooden clothes hamper. From these holes wires are fastened. At the end of the wires she hooks to hold the handle of an ordinary basket. The top of the basket is then watched on



A clothes basket can also be carried on a table or counter or from the table to several baskets placed on chairs.

Here's Why Some People Vote Against Liquor

So our young people who vote for the drink issue on the liquor question VOTE AGAINST Tyler county will not be as dead as it is now with liquor sold here for we still have some situations that are bad but can be made worse and you and your children will pay the price if it does prevail.

Miss Lucille Boyd was home from Nederland for the week end.

Mrs. Dick Stewart and small daughter, and Miss Jones of Beaumont, visited Mrs. Hugh Davis Sunday and drove over the community to enjoy the Dogwood blooms.

A report from Navy Base at San Diego, Cal. shows us a report of advancement of two boys, one of them is Richard Lucas F. Davis from Woodville, Texas.

MOST U. S. DOGS EARN THEIR KEEP

Perform Useful Chores for Their Owners in Country and in Town

In the eyes of most persons dog's work "get by" for the largest number of America's dogs earn their keep by rendering useful services for their owners, according to the Haha Dog Research Center, New York City.

By way of proof, it need only be pointed out that of the nation's estimated dog population of 16,000,000, almost seven million live with families in rural districts on farms, ranches, and in small towns. Here for the most part they have their special duties such as keeping an eye on the children, bringing in the cows, keeping watch on the home premises, etc. Those which would otherwise take up the time and energy of a member of the family or the hired man.

The essential usefulness of the dog in American life can be demonstrated in another way. Dogs are usually classified in six different groups, including: Hounds, Working, Terriers, Toys and Non-sporting dogs. American Kennel Club registrations for the years show the number in the first-mentioned groups, definitely kept for useful purposes, to be about twice those of the other three classifications. As a matter of fact, it is the exceptionally large number of hunting dogs within its borders that is responsible for North Carolina's rank with its approximately 600,000 dogs, being the leader in dog population among the states.

This is not to imply that dogs just for pleasure, or general friendship and hunting companionship are not useful. A dog is a dog whether a fancy Chihuahua or a huge St. Bernard, and is capable of performing many useful tasks taught him by his masters in addition to providing devoted companionship, selfless devotion and other qualities associated with the dog through the ages.
