Come Clean and

NOT BIG ENOUGH FOR THE JOB

Is your home wiring system BIG ENOUGH for its job?

Just as many a returning veteran has outgrown his clothes, many a home has outgrown its wiring system.

Whereas the home wiring of 15 or 20 years ago was called upon only to conduct current for a few low-voltage lights and small appliances like an iron, vacuum cleaner or toaster, today's wiring systems must supply many additional appliances and a much higher level of lighting. Tomorrow's electrical living will place even greater demands upon home wiring. It must be big enough for the job.

Before you build, buy or remodel a home, it will pay you to check the wiring system with your electrical contractor. Make sure it has the capacity to handle enough current and enough outlets and switches to take care of your electrical needs now and in the future. Adequate wiring is the key to better electrical living.

What is adequate wiring?

Adequate wiring, simply stated, is service entrance, large enough for using it as such electrical loads may need at any time, enough branch circuits of large enough wire to conduct a full measure of electrical energy to your lights and appliances, plus plenty of outlets and switches, properly located.

Wise Owner Teaches His Dog To Eat Only From Own Dish

Proper Training Saves Much Unpleasantness; How to Go About It Described

It's not only the dog's own dish, but no part of his training will be complete until he has learned to eat only from his own dish. This is a simple matter, but one that is often neglected. A dog that is trained to eat only from his own dish will be a much more pleasant companion. The dog should be taught to eat only from his own dish from the very beginning. This can be done by placing the dog's dish in front of him and allowing him to eat only from that dish. If he attempts to eat from another dish, the owner should firmly rebuke him. This training should be continued until the dog is completely accustomed to eating only from his own dish.

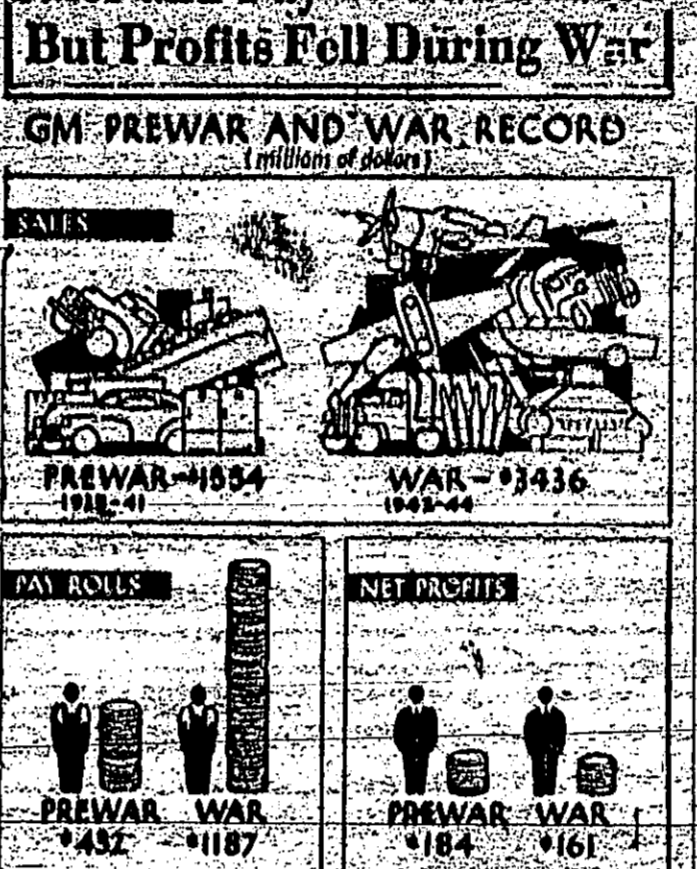

THIS MAY SAVE YOUR DOG'S LIFE

Cure—But No Mongrels—Popular Early U. S. Dogs
 It is incorrect to use the term "mongrel" when referring to a dog. The term "mongrel" is a derogatory term and should not be used. Early U. S. dogs were popular and well-loved. They were bred for various purposes, such as hunting, herding, and companionship. These dogs were known for their loyalty and intelligence. They were a source of pride for their owners and were an integral part of their lives.

It is an effective method of teaching the dog to eat only from his own dish. The dog should be taught to eat only from his own dish from the very beginning. This can be done by placing the dog's dish in front of him and allowing him to eat only from that dish. If he attempts to eat from another dish, the owner should firmly rebuke him. This training should be continued until the dog is completely accustomed to eating only from his own dish.

Sales and Pay Rolls Doubled But Profits Fell During War

GM PREWAR AND WAR RECORD (Millions of Dollars)

The nation's largest war producer made less money during the war than before. A year ago sales and profits were much more than double the average of the seven preceding peacetime years, yet the wartime voluntary profit limitation policy of the company resulted in a lower net profit—$161 million yearly average for 1945—than the $184 million yearly average for 1939-44. The company's sales, however, were nearly doubled to $9.4 billion in 1945 from $4.5 billion in 1939. The company's profits, however, were only slightly higher than in the peacetime years.

What may we see?

A school board in Woodville, Texas, has decided to build a new school building. The board has approved the plans for a new building that will be larger and more modern than the current building. The new building will be built on a site that is currently vacant. The board has also decided to purchase the land for the new building. The new building is expected to be completed in the next few years.

"JOB DIVIDENDS" at General Electric

For the year 1945, $35,000,000 in addition to wages was spent by General Electric in extra benefits for employees

It isn't a new thing for General Electric to put more than money into pay envelopes for its employees. "Job Dividends"—those extras that G-E employees get in addition to wages—have a sound business reason. To be successful, a company must be efficient. A man with fewer worries can produce more efficiently, which makes further benefits possible.

Profit-sharing plans, relief and loan plans began over 10 years ago at General Electric. Life insurance for employees, cash for suggestions began over 20 years ago. Pension plans were started 30 years ago. And vacations with pay began 55 years ago.

Every employee has a stake in the future of General Electric. For out of its success—and only out of success—can come further advances in living standards. That is the aim of General Electric, not alone for its employees, but for the public, who gain by new and better products, continuously improved.
