NEW CHEVROLET

We are doing our best to see that you get your new car as quickly as possible

We want to thank our customers and prospective customers for your friendly patience while awaiting your new Chevrolet.

We know it is a hardship to wait for needed transportation, but we believe you will understand that we and Chevrolet are as eager to deliver cars as you are to obtain them. Unfortunately, production as for this year is far under expectation. Chevrolet Motor Division sum up the situation thus:

"Even though our rate of production normally exceeds that of any other manufacturer, we have been able to build only 12.5 percent as many cars as we had built up to that date in 1947. Production is still far below normal, because of frequent shortages of essential materials and parts. Strike after strike of the plants of our suppliers has seriously impeded our progress toward full production, and the cumulative effect has been to reduce our output. In June we were able to build only 29.2 percent as many cars as we produced in the same month in 1947."

While production is restricted, to-in proportion—are shipments of cars to you. As production increases, we are assured of getting our proportionate share of the total—and as quickly as cars are received, we will speed deliveries to our customers.

You can't expect wiring designed for this

... to provide efficient service for this ...

Today's home wiring must supply a higher level of lighting and many more appliances than the home wiring of 10 or 20 years ago. Tomorrow's electrical living will place even greater demands upon home wiring. It must be big enough for the job.

Wiring that is too small chokes off the power between meter and outlet, just as small pipes limit water pressure at the faucet. When wires are too small, lights and appliances compete against each other for a too-meager supply of electricity. Lights dim when the refrigerator starts up at the time it is in use. Appliances operate sluggishly, taking longer to do their jobs and wearing electricity. Circuits become overloaded, and cause fires in blow of wires to heat up dangerously.

If you plan to build, buy or modernize insist on ADEQUATE WIRING

ADEQUATE WIRING

Adequate wiring simply means service entrance large enough to bring in as much electricity as you have any need at any time. Enough branch circuits of large enough wire to conduct a full measure of electric energy to your lights and appliances. And plenty of outlets and switches properly located. Think on adequate wiring. It's the key to full enjoyment of better electrical living.
