Sheriff Phillips Overhauls Thieves

Arrest in Silsbee of two women and three men, all in their early 20's is believed by officers to have cleared up a series of burglaries in Silsbee, Pine Grange and possibly other south east Texas counties during recent months.

Most of the cash and household also taken in five recent burglaries was recovered, according to A. D. "Red" Lindsey, sheriff of Hardin county, who worked on the case with Will Whittaker, Silsbee Deputy and Claude Phillips, sheriff of this county.

The two women and three men were taken into custody at a Silsbee hotel several days ago after the landlady told officials the women acted suspicious. Questioning all day and during most of the night, the merchandise and some of the cash was found in the hotel room. We can't mention the burglaries and apprehension of other men involved in relation to Silsbee, Tuesday.

The officers left on hand to greet the others when they arrived in Silsbee and recovered a large quantity of cash, including about $225 in silver found on deposit in the bank and $50 cash paid by a deputy who made a bail in the Hotel Security Fund.

Officers said the gang was definitely implicated in the burglary of the Grain Belt Store at Pine Grange, October 27, where nothing was taken except some cash, the burglary of the Rountree grocery at Silsbee, where a quantity of silver and other articles and some men's clothing were taken October 29th, Friday night, the Calder Lumber company office, and the burglary of the Grain Belt Store at Pine Grange, October 22

FOREST CONTROL TO BE AIRED

Proposed control of timber cutting on privately-owned woodlands of the Nation is slated to be discussed at the Texas Forestry Association meeting to be held here Nov. 9th, N. D. Canterbury, association president, states.

The issue will be one of several presented by E. O. Sloan, Conroe, Texas state forester, who will give a report on the American Forestry Congress recently held in Washington, D. C., which he attended and at which the regulation matter was hotly debated.

Federal control of timber cutting has been proposed by federal authorities for several years and is receiving more attention now than ever before in view of dwindling timber supplies.

The national association of state foresters recently went on record favoring state control if any was required. The group has also favored a cooperative plan to extend forestry assistance to owners of small woodland tracts.

JUDGE L. HARGRAVE

Miss Virginia Boyd called on the Reporter Saturday to give us the news of a death in the Hargrave family. The letter came from Willing Barclay of Temple will speak for itself:

Mr dear Cousin:

I wanted to write and tell you that my father, Judge L. Hargrave, passed away last Saturday night at 10:30 home here in Temple. He suffered a fatal hemorrhage the day before and never regained consciousness. He was ill only about 24 hours. I was with him when he died, and we came from New York arriving about 24 hours later by plane.

We had a quiet and simple service for him Monday morning which was most private in accordance with his wishes. He is buried in the Hargrave family lot here in Temple very near where his parents, brother and sister...

...Barclay, Judge Mrs. Hargrave) are buried.

The several times we came to see Woodville and visit with our Barclay relatives meant much to him and to Mother and me. You, our cousin Belle, Pinkie Walter's children and her brothers, and Uncle Dave were at least to us. We have always been proud of the fact that we are of the Hargrave family, but most of all we were proud to Woodville and meet you good people all, we realize just how much it means to have such a good, lovable family. Mother has taken it pretty hard, but she is standing it splendidly, and she asks that I request you to write your friends at Beaumont and Port Arthur and tell them you had "kinfolks" here.

Very sincerely,

—WILLIAM HARTRAY.

...Chevrolet salesmen was Herman Blanks, veteran engineer who worked shoulder to shoulder with Louis Chevrolet in building the first model a horseless carriage. He also was instrumental in the design of those first Chevrolet motors that have undergone many changes but are basically those being built today.

...Mr. Keating, the approximately 6,000,000 Chevrolets in service today constitute more than 25% of all cars on the highways of the nation with Chevrolet trucks handling fully one-third of the nation's hauling tasks.

"Transportation has become the keystone of the American economy," Mr. Keating said, "and the Chevrolet role during 30 years of service to motorists and commercial vehicle operators is one that we can review with satisfaction.

"It is, however, as a challenge rather than as an achievement that we view the 15 million dollar expansion in better our best in the years ahead. We stand today on the threshold of an era that offers every opportunity to elevate the American standard to a new high plane. As a business barometer, the automotive industry is striving diligently to fix production levels to serve the nation by improving its fighting stock and to lead in placing the nation once again on the highroad to prosperity."

Despite strike-imposed inactivity of its production facilities...the first quarter of 1946, Chevrolet is credited as the top dealer leader for the year thus far. For the same reasons that prevail throughout industry, we are not resuming at present to pre-war production levels, but we have given dealers and motorists our assurance that everything that can be done to increase output will be done in increasing amounts.

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS BOOST EGG OUTPUT

One among many means of increasing winter egg production is artificial lighting.

The layer house belongs to no one, but to the early bird. Each day is over when sunlight no longer filters into the poultry house after ready for the roosts, and the production of the next egg will have to wait until the light of day appears again tomorrow.

To offset the effect of short winter days many poultrymen resort to the use of lights to fool the hens on either end of the morning or evening. Through morning or evening lighting the hen is encouraged to lengthen her day. Lengthened day means longer periods of feeding and egg-laying, but between that the profitable lighting problem strikes about the right balance between feeding time and laying time.

Lighting is an important factor because it helps maintain proper body weight, tends to sustain activity of the reproductive glands, and thus the effect of bringing pullets into egg production. All these in addition to lengthening the daily laying period.

If the weather retards feed consumption during early lighted pullets that begin laying in June or July, the lights prevent the loss of body weight if weight cannot be maintained.

...ment at 50% production or better for 12 to 15 months by the use of lights.

The most satisfactory method of lighting is to turn the lights on at about 4 a.m. Usually poultrymen contrive to do this by the alarm clock system of some similar method.

Under the evening lighting pan birds get up at dawn and lights are turned on when it begins to grow dark in the evening and are left on until 9 p.m. or as it is desirable to make a 15-hour day.

Morning or evening lighting should be discontinued when the days become 15 hours long in the spring.

WONDER WHAT THIS COUNTY IS DOING

Lead by Nolan county, believed first of the nation to raise its quota in the 1940 campaign, the Lone Star state may soon have an addition to its long list of firsts in Texas, Col. Carl C. Phinney, state chairman of the Texas 1940 committee, said in Dallas this week.

The opening day of the Texas game campaign October 2nd, Navarro county's chairman, Irving Lamb of Rowena, announced his county had gone over the top. Most counties did not make their quotas until the second or third week in October.

Soon after Brown county passed its campaign, and while a few days the Edward F. Hutton of Brownwood reported his county had followed Nolan's example. Hooking quickly under the wire, Hutton's goal was the third to qualify as a full county.

Now, all of Texas' 254 counties have organized, Chairman Phinney urged the citizens of Texas counties to begin immediately completing their campaigns by the first of the week.

We feel sure Texas will lead the way in this important project, the people in the Lone Star state will not forget the fine service which their Texas Boys' ranches are doing it through with their fine work.

Nearly all of these boys ranches are organized, Chairman Phinney urged the citizens of Texas counties to begin immediately completing subscriptions for their support for the worthy causes.

We confident fail to answer the appeals of Governor Coke Stevenson, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann and others. These men know what our participation and returning need and they need the cooperation of the entire citizenship of Texas.

...of do not agree with a word that you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it.—Voltaire.

The observance of National Newspaper Week in October should make every American proud of the privilege guaranteed by our Constitution to say and to write what we think within the reasonable bounds of the libel laws. This right is of record origin in the history of mankind and was won by courage and sacrifice. Men have died in defense of their right and their duty as they saw it to write and print the truth as they felt it. Their hearts, for centuries, rulers and dictators of church and state denied them the right to express their opinions for the free press is the end of tyranny. As Wendell Phillips said: "What gunpowder did for war, the printing press has done for the mind; the steamboat is no longer chief of the triad of social civilization."

As George Creel ... letter of the Houston Chronicle said in Dallas recently, the freedom of the American press is the admiration of free journalists the world over.

T. P. A. MEETS AT HUNTSVILLE

A five man panel discussion, led by Victor Schoffelmayer, agriculture and science editor of the Dallas Morning News, on "What Are We Doing to Make Texas Forests" will be the highlight of the afternoon session of the 32nd annual meeting of the Texas Forestry Association which was held in Huntsville on November 6th.

Mr. Schoffelmayer is well known throughout the country as a leading exponent of agricultural and science matters and is in a position to ably direct the panel discussion.

D. W. Cranford will report the proceedings of the forest products laboratory. Dr. W. G. Hoyle will point out needs for education in timber growing and forest practices to reduce wastes and increase use of Texas timber.

H. A. W. Birdwell will emphasize the various phases of a more aggressive forest utilization program needed in timber areas of Texas.

H. Kountz, professional trained forester and timber contractor is slated to tell of the problems of fire protection, selective timber cutting and future needs along these lines.

Hiram R. Peoples will voice the needs of some 60,000 other woodland owners who are seeking more of the profits assistance in their timber cutting and marketing problems, Canterbury said.

After these experts have expressed their views, the conferences will be opened for general discussion on the part of the audience, A. D. Caylerburg state president of the Texas Forestry Association stated.

Mrs. J. N. Thompson and daughter, Elizabeth, of Trinity brought the three year old daughter of George Thompson to visit him last week end.

...ure all will be open and ... this will mark the ... years of complete ... on Main St. will be over to some extent.

A number of changes are to be made soon. Mrs. Marion Dean has released from Lee Phillips in the old Laundry building. Mrs. Joe Darlow have bought out the store and filling station of R. MANY YOUNGSTERS NOW PERMANENTLY ENTERED FOR SOCIAL SECURITY

October 1940 is the first month in which workers under the old age and survivors insurance program may become permanently insured. J. H. Jones, District of the Fourth Social Security Administration field office reported. As a general rule, to be insured, a worker must have been in covered employment at least half the number of calendar quarters between January 1937 and the time of reaching age 65 (except in the general rule some insureds to qualify as few as six quarters of coverage are necessary). No one qualifies for payments if he has worked in jobs covered by the law for less than six months after January 1937.
