A special singing convention will be held at the Antouch Baptist Church, an Antioch, Mo., church, on Saturday, May 9.

DEPOSIT IN BRT ON PROBATE CASES

Some 15 probate cases have been filed in the Tyler county clerk's office. However, in the past year and a half according to a report received this week.

Mr. Hayton in making the report stated that a deposit of $25.00 will be asked of each attorney for each case filed in the county. Also a $5.00 deposit will be required for each civil case.

There has been a general increase in surrounding counties for some time and the increased number of cases filed in county clerk's office has made the situation somewhat more difficult.

MOORE SPRINGS CHURCH CALLS NEW PASTOR

The Moore Springs Baptist Church has called Rev. Lewis C. Moore as pastor. Services are being held each Saturday night except on the third Sunday of each month. There will be services every Sunday. Every one is invited to attend these services.

ROAD BOND VOTE TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Highways

... (The text is very faint and difficult to read, but appears to be a report on the road bond vote.)

Americans are always looking for a "sure thing." We watch the stock market to find the stocks that constantly go up. When we invest in business we look for a "going business." We invest in government bonds, saving accounts and church bonds because they are "sure things."

All of Tyler County now has a chance to invest in a "sure thing." This Saturday we go to the polls to decide whether or not to invest $225,000.00 in the economy of our county.

Will our money be safe? Yes. So safe that the state government will match our funds dollar for dollar and then some. The "Plan State" will amount to over $1,000,000.00 at least.

What about the return on our investment? Who will handle it? All of them. County commissioners will have improvements made in existing roads or some new roads. Highway departments will make improvements. Farming districts will make more roads. The money will stay in Tyler County. All of which adds up to a better economy for our county.

But let's not talk about the building of roads. Here are some returns gained from a project made by former Texas Highway Commission Chairman Marshall Lumber.

The Texas Highway Department employs 10,000 people, an average of 10 permanent jobs per county. A single mile of highway would employ 100 people, an average of 10 permanent jobs per county. A single mile of highway would employ 100 people, an average of 10 permanent jobs per county. A single mile of highway would employ 100 people, an average of 10 permanent jobs per county.

The road contractor would, when he began work, add another 100 local jobs, plus bringing in his permanent employees for about 6 months. He would buy some $11,000 dollars worth of cement and lumber through local sources, plus $12,000 of structural steel, $1,500 spent locally for motor fuel, another $6,000 in royalties to landowners on sand, gravel, fire, etc. trucks, locally which would buy $5,000 of gasoline. The final billings alone would employ $18,000 locally.

Total payroll $1,000 a week spent daily in the County for six months, adding a total of some $300,000 in new spending money, plus 100 new jobs.

What about that "SURE THING"? A vote FOR THE BOND ISSUE on Saturday seems to be about the "SUREST" "SCORE THING" we've heard of in a long, long time.

Timber Tips

One of the most important factors in the success of a timber operation is the proper selection and management of the timber stand. The following are some of the most common mistakes made by timber operators:

1. Overcutting: Cutting more timber than the land can produce. This leads to a depletion of the timber stand and a loss of income.

2. Undercutting: Cutting less timber than the land can produce. This leads to a loss of income and a depletion of the timber stand.

3. Improper Logging: Logging in a way that causes damage to the timber stand. This can be avoided by using proper logging techniques.

4. Failure to Replant: Not replanting the timber stand after logging. This leads to a depletion of the timber stand and a loss of income.

5. Failure to Manage: Not managing the timber stand properly. This can lead to a loss of income and a depletion of the timber stand.

These mistakes can be avoided by following the following guidelines:

1. Proper Selection: Select the best timber for the land and the market.

2. Proper Management: Manage the timber stand properly to ensure a steady flow of timber.

3. Proper Logging: Use proper logging techniques to avoid damage to the timber stand.

4. Replanting: Replant the timber stand after logging to ensure a steady flow of timber.

5. Management: Manage the timber stand properly to ensure a steady flow of timber.
