ABOUT A LITTLE DOG

I will give a generous reward for the return of little brown Pekingese dog. Answers to the name "Lady Bird" and is vaccinated and tagged. She was picked up near my home last Saturday afternoon. I can't possibly believe she could be important to just anyone for she is a one girl pet and that little girl has shed a million tears since that day. Her name is Miss Jan Thompson.

The reward I offer will more than buy another dog for the person who picked this puppy up, but I will gladly pay it and ask no questions, for it will mend a broken heart in my home.

EAGLES SHOW NEED AND LIVE

Was good refreshing to see the performance last Friday night of the Ruby High Eagles. The showed championship all the way and if this type of performance keeps up, the Eagles will have to be reckoned with in District play. The line was charging, the backs were driving and the whole team played fast and alert. It just shows that it can be done. This week the Eagles will have their hands full when they tangle with the Crockett Bulldogs. But only eleven men can be on the field at one time, and if we play like we did last Friday, there will be some scrambling at the end of the game and Woodville should very easily be the victor.

TAKE A LOOK AT OUR BAND

While we are bragging about the performance of the Eagle footballers, please do not overlook the very fine band parade music that has been presented every week. Under the direction of Don Payne, we quit the Woodville High School Band against and I believe they play better, they march better and they look better, than any I've seen around here. All our twirlers and others leaders are tops in their field. But maybe I'm prejudiced.

WE CONTINUE TO GROW

Lots of building going on around Woodville, several new homes under construction, all signs of prosperity and good times. Then the new plant on the highway into side of Dogwood is going up in a very steady fashion. And it is really big and we do mean big. Then our new Post Office, as fine as could be built. Something we should all be very proud of. And how very smooth they made the switch from one building to another without one bobble or trouble. Milton Durham and his fine staff deserve congratulations on this job.

YOU CAN'T WIN

According to one father, his family consists of three men: well, nobody, everybody, and anybody who's anybody. When a difference of opinion arises, say the father, his teen-age daughter invariably prefaces her remarks with, "Anybody who's anybody knows that..." His wife usually claims that, "Everybody knows that." His own opinions, he reports, are usually met with a shrug and, "Nobody believes that these days."

THE WORD IS "PROFIT"

This is the oil industry's Centennial Year. In that century it has contributed immeasurable services to the nation in war and peace. And, in the view of President H. G. M. Burns of Shell Oil Company, that record of service can be capsulized in one word.

The word is profit.

It is a word which is much maligned by the thoughtless, the ignorant and those with genuine alien ideologies. So says Mr. Burns, we need to remind ourselves that reward for accomplishment is a basic precept of a free society. The strides that have been made by American business in the twentieth century are due principally to the fact that there is a reward for effort in the form of profit.

In the case of oil, the pioneers were scoffed at. They were most people then thought, carried away by their folly. They were sure to fail. But they went ahead, taking the risks, spending their money and their time and their energies. The hope of profit drove them.

It drives them presently still. The search for oil is an exceedingly risky — only one wildcat well in about nine produces anything at all. The costs of drilling have soared, with inflated prices and wages and the necessity to go deeper and deeper into the ground. But the risks are accepted and will likely be taken — because of the hope of profit.

And who has profited most? The answer is undeniable — the public at large. Our living and working standards are largely a result of abundant low-cost supplies of energy, of which oil and natural gas supply 70 per cent. To take but one little example, cited by Mr. Burns, about 27 gallons of diesel fuel in a bulldozer can move as much earth as a man with a shovel in an entire lifetime.

In a free society, there can be no natural quarrel with out profit.

Newton Hi Ex-Student's Aunt
Newton, Texas

Dear Editor,

We Old Ex-Students of Newton Hi would like to take this opportunity to express our thanks to the Woodville people and Booster, aiding us with our Homecoming. The Woodville Band was a vital part of the pageant parade in our history of Newton and we greatly appreciate their coming and taking part in our celebration. It was also seldom that Woodville and Newton play in the same community. And we thank you for the publicity.

Elderly Women Devote Time To Civic Affairs

Picture above are two of Tyler County's senior citizens. At the left is Mrs. Ethel Graham Hill with Mrs. C. W. (Fannie) Brown beside her. Both these ladies are in their eighties and yet are two of the most active women in all of Tyler county each taking part in many civic and church activities.

Mrs. Hill, who lives in a quaint, cozy cottage made of logs set on the location she chose, says it's what you make it and most of the exciting years of her life were spent in the country. She is living in that spirit every day.

Mrs. Hill had a varied and interesting life and a useful and helpful one. After successfully rearing a family of four, two boys and two girls, she entered into public service work with the same unbending enthusiasm that has characterized her activities since girlhood.

At the beginning of the New Deal era, she was the first woman appointed to the position of rural home supervisor in the Rural Rehabilitation program with a territory (Continued on Page 4)
