125 ATTEND TOURISM MEET HERE

Football Opens In County Fri.

The Woodville Eagles will go to Newton Friday night and the Chester Yellow Jackets to Danburg while Colmesneil tangles with the Warren Warriors on the Warrior home field as high school football's 1963 season is inaugurated in Tyler County.

Game time is 8 o'clock except at Warren where all home games start at 7:30 this year.

The Woodville Eagles rate a slight edge over Newton's Eagles. Woodville suffered two training casualties that may be felt—losing all-district quarterback Max Hill with a fractured foot bone and End Phillip Boyd with a foot injury also.

The game at Warren will pit the District 25-A contending Warriors against the 26-B Colmesneil Bulldogs. The Warriors should be slight favorites.

In Danburg, the Yellow Jackets run into an unknown quantity. Little is known here about the strength of the Danburg eleven.

The three games Friday night should shed a little light on the Tyler County teams' strengths and weaknesses.

Woodville, which plays in 22-AA with Madisonville, Crockett, Cleveland and Livingston, will again have to contend with a strong Livingston team in the district reckoning later in the season.

Warren, in 25-A, may be one of that district's dark horses although it looks as if East Chambers may be the team to give Hull-Daisetta, a rugged crew, its toughest competition. Other teams in the district are Hardin, West Hardin, Orangefield, and Tarkington.

Chester and Colmesneil both play in District 26-B. Barbers Hill, Coldsprings and Evadale are the other teams in the circuit. Barbers Hill, Colmesneil and Coldsprings are rated 1-2-3 in the district.

SHRINE CIRCUS SLATED
Rudy Bros. El Mina Shrine Circus will be at Jasper Lions Club arena for two shows Tuesday, at 4 and 8 p. m. Tickets are available here from P. F. Spell. First and 2nd grade school children free.

Amanda Haralson, District 9 blue ribbon winner in the recent 4-H Favorite Food Show from Tyler County, is one of 11 girls eligible to enter her records in the Food and Nutrition Contest and compete for the right to represent Texas at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago this fall. Miss Haralson's winning entry in the fruit-vegetable division was avocado dip. The girl with the best average score on her records and in the food show will be named state winner. She will be eligible to compete in the National Foods-Nutrition Awards Program.

Approximately 125 business and civic leaders from Southeast Texas cities were told of the possibilities of tourism and given concrete plans for attracting visitors at the District 5 meeting of the tourist committee of the East Texas Cham-

Fred Pool, manager of the East Texas chamber, presided at the meeting.

Details of the work being planned by the tourist committee of the East Texas Chamber was given by Howard Rosser, principalspeaker and manager of the group's new tourist development committee.

The meeting here is one of five regional meetings being sponsored by the group in its stepped-up effort to develop a tourist industry in East Texas.

Mr. Pool in his introductory remarks said there is a tremendous potential in East Texas for tourism, but that it is overlooked and underdeveloped.

He said that no small effort is going to do any good. The East Texas Chamber of Commerce now has a tourist development department which will promote tourism in the area.

The East Texas Chamber has a tourist guide and a tourist map in the works which will be mailed to all 50 states, Canada and other places, Mr. Rosser said. Advertising will be carried in national media, travel editors will be invited to the area, and other methods of publicizing the tourist attractions of the area will be used.

Local chamber groups are encouraged to develop local attractions. These can be natural such as the Big Thicket, man-made such as lakes or historical sites and pioneer buildings, or special events—such as the Dogwood Festival, Mr. Rosser said.

Among local persons taking part in the discussions were H. Kenesson, Jr., chairman of the tourism committee of Woodville Chamber of Commerce; Clyde E. Gray, local artist and creator of the CeramaStar of Texas; Dallas Chandler, Morris Clemmons and W. H. Risinger.

The group was welcomed to Woodville by Dr. R. E. Swearingen, president of the Woodville Chamber of Commerce. The Rev. Wayne Odom, pastor of the Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

Carey Lee Cruse, president of the county unit, will preside. A division representative will be present.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

The regular monthly meeting of the Woodville Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday night at 7:30.
