(For roster of Eagle team, see inside page)

EAGLES JOURNEY TO MADISONVILLE FRIDAY; WARREN, COLMESNEIL IN HOME GAMES

The Kirby High School Eagles go to Madisonville Friday night favored to take their second district win over the Mustangs.

Madisonville lost its District 22-AA opener last Friday, taking a 44 to 0 drubbing from Livingston.

Madisonville's season record is all on the minus side. They have lost seven straight this season—scoring only six points and allowing 267 to be scored against them.

Livingston and Woodville now stand atop District 22-AA with 1 win against no losses. Cleveland will play its first district game Friday night against Livingston. The Lions are favored to win, but should Cleveland rise up and slap them down, Woodville has a chance to ride the top of the District 22-AA standings with 2 wins provided the Eagles defeat Madisonville as expected.

While Woodville is away from home, there are two games in the county Friday night. Colmesneil is host to Coldsprings in a District 26-B contest. The Bulldogs won their first district game last Friday against Evadale, 22 to 6. The Bulldogs are favored to take their second win Friday, but the Coldsprings eleven is capable of pulling off an upset if the Bulldogs should relax a bit.

In the other District 26-B tilt scheduled Friday, Evadale goes to Barbers Hill to meet the powerhouse of the district who move into Class A next season.

Barbers Hill is also 1-0 in the district, having crushed Chester last week, 48 to 6.

The Warren Warriors will try to get their first District 25-A victory Friday night against Tarkington. Tarkington has a 1-1 record in the district, and Warren 0-3.

George Jarrott Picks 8 Winners

George Jarrott, Box 878, Woodville, is the winner of the $5.00 Football Guessing Contest prize for last weekend's games. George missed on two games—he picked Cleveland over Central Catholic of Beaumont and Sam Houston State over East Texas State College for his two misses.

He was right on Woodville over Crockett, East Chambers over the Warren Warriors, Barbers Hill to defeat Chester, Colmesneil over Evadale, Hull-Dalsetta over Hardin, Tarkington to defeat West Hardin, Lamar Tech to win over Sul Ross, and Southwest Texas to defeat Stephen F. Austin.

George didn't get tied on his guesses, but he was prepared for it on his tie-breaker guess at the Livingston-Madisonville game—his guess at the final score was 44 to 0, and the final score happened to be 44 to 0, which is as close as you can get.

Runners up for the prize, with only three wrong guesses, were Joe V. Ramsey of Woodville, Dianne Wingate of Livingston and Roger Russell of Woodville.

There will be another winner for this weekend's games, and a list of next week's games are on the contest page.

All you need to do to enter is check the team in each of the ten games that you think will be the winner. Then in the tie-breaker game, fill in the scores you think each team will make and get your entry in the mail by next Wednesday.

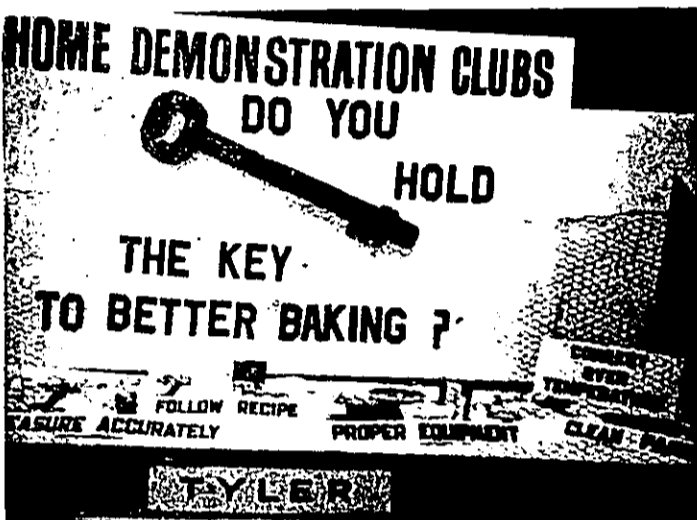

The score in the tie-breaker game is used to choose the winner in case three or more persons tie in picking the winners in the ten games. If two persons tie, the prize is divided between them.

FROM THE BOOK, PILGRIM CIRCUIT RIDER BY LILLA W. ANDERSON, HARPER, BROS.

"But one of the most important contributions which college made to me was to put me on the road to health. It was during my senior year that the gymnasium teacher took spinographs (spine x-rays) of the members of the class and after examining mine assured me that most of my physical difficulties could be overcome. "Just put yourself into the hands of a good chiropractor," she said, and he'll straighten you out. " "Had I heard correctly? Everyone at least everyone in the world in which I had grown up—considered chiropractors something less than doctors, and yet a college teacher had told me to go to one? It was months before I could overcome my prejudice and take her advice, but finally I did as she suggested and by higher shoulder lowered. In addition to feeling better, I discovered that I studied more easily and had a more retentive memory. Surely doctors of many kinds are God's channels for healing."

WATCH FOR FOREST FIRES DURING SQUIRREL SEASON

With the opening of squirrel season in southeast Texas, there's no doubt that you are aware of the close relationship between the forest and our wildlife.

Careless hunters who attempt to smoke squirrels from hollow trees represent a grave danger to our game and forest.

These hollow trees where the squirrel makes his home, if set on fire acts as a chimney and will spread fire over a large area before burning down, again creating another problem.

Because of the location of these den trees, usually in bottom lands, which are difficult places to reach with fire fighting equipment, a serious problem is created for the Texas Forest Service during the hunting season.

Good hunters know that the amount of time it requires attempting to smoke out a squirrel, and the odds are great against getting them, might well be spent hunting for other squirrels.

To insure good hunting in the future let's all be true sportsmen, and never hunt squirrels with fire. REMEMBER ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT FOREST FIRES.
