Equipment For Air Control Extrusion Plant Arrives

Two pieces of heavy extrusion equipment are being set in place at Air Control Window Corporation's new aluminum extrusion department.

The new addition to the plant will add a complete extrusion facility, and the aluminum windows will be manufactured here from raw aluminum to complete window units.

The new department is being installed in the addition to the firm's building which is under construction on the north side of the present building.

The heavy pieces of equipment are being placed in the building before the walls are completed, since they are so large.

The extrusion machines were shipped by railroad flat car. The weight of the machines are in excess of 200,000 pounds or 100 tons.

Special unloading equipment was brought here from Houston to get the machines from the flat cars and transferred to the plant site. The railroad cars were set on the siding at Doucette for unloading, since it is closer to Air Control's plant than Woodville.

The extrusion plant will use refined aluminum ingots which will be shipped in from a plant in another state. The refined aluminum ore is melted and extruded into various shapes needed in window manufacture.

It will be several weeks before the extrusion plant begins operation. Air Control now purchases made-to-order extrusions from an extruding plant. By doing its own extruding, Air Control will have complete control of manufacturing from aluminum ore through extruded shapes to complete window units.

Poll Tax Is Available In 7 Towns

A. L. (Pete) Thornton reminded Tyler County voters again this week that they must have a poll tax receipt in order to vote in the 1964 elections.

While there are several weeks left in which poll taxes may be paid, Mr. Thornton urged county voters to purchase the receipts early in order to avoid the usual last-minute rush.

Poll tax substations have been set up in seven county communities for the convenience of poll tax purchasers. They are:

Doucette: International Paper Company office. Colmesneil: Dean's General store.

Rockland: Dean's Grocery. Chester: J. L. Veal Store. Warren: School tax office. Fred: Jenkins Grocery. Spurger: Spurger Mercantile.

Poll taxes are still $1.75. Those over 60 years of age do not need to secure an exemption certificate in Tyler County.

Persons becoming 21 years of age and entitled to their first vote free must come to the tax office in Woodville to pick up a certificate of exemption.

Texas Land Use Pattern Changes

Urbanization is having its effect upon the pattern of land use in Texas. Land in urban areas, cities and densely populated suburbs, accounted for 2,501,000 acres in 1959 compared with 733,000 acres in 1945, reports Gerald F. Vaughan, A&M Extension Service rural-urban affairs specialist.

Texas had more land in urban areas in 1959 than any other state and more cities with 100,000 or more population (11) in 1960 than any other state except California with 14. Texas cities favor elbow room, too. Houston, for example, with a 1960 population about equal to Baltimore, contained 328 square miles or four more times more area than the Maryland city. In fact, Houston was larger in land area than New York City.

The urban population of Texas increased from 4.8 millions to 7.2 millions between 1950-60. This tremendous jump has brought on added problems and shifts in land use in the developing areas.

Along with the population increase, land used for highways, railroads and airports outside of cities increased from 1,151,000 acres in 1945 to 1,501,000 acres in 1959. Rural parks and wildlife areas increased from 790,000 to 1,502,000 acres and national defense areas increased from 773,000 acres to 972,000 acres during the same period.

On the other hand, the acreage of cropland remained stable over the period, 32.2 million compared with 30.6 million acres. Pasture and grazing land increased slightly from 85.3 million to just under 103.1 acres during the 1945-59 period. Farm and nonfarm woodland dropped from 35.7 million acres to 24.3 million, and miscellaneous land uses, such as marshland, desert and bare rock areas amounted to a few thousand acres to round out the state's total land area of 168,218,000 acres.

Rainy Weather Mushroom Time

With the rainy season of the year approaching, many people will begin to see mushrooms or toadstools in their yards, Wendell Horne, plant pathologist at A&M University, says. Mushrooms are the fruiting structures of fungi and may be of various shapes. They originate from thousands of tiny thread-like strands that penetrate the soil and breakdown organic matter. Many kinds of mushrooms grow in lawns and turf and may be found in clumps or individually.

Some mushroom producing fungi are capable of living on growing plants and can cause serious damage to them. One harmful type causes a disease known as mushroom root rot and affects shade and fruit trees. If this condition is a problem the soil should be fumigated before planting young trees.

The condition known as fairy rings is caused by the growth of certain kinds of fungi in lawns and turf areas. Mushrooms grow on the outer limit of the fairy and the ring enlarges as the fungi grows outward. These rings are both unsightly and harmful to lawns. Fairy rings can be controlled by making sure the lawn is properly cared for and when the condition becomes serious, treating the soil with fungicide.

Unless one is an authority on mushrooms, gathering them for food is dangerous. Several species are poisonous and can cause sickness or even death. The pathologist advises people to leave the mushroom picking to experts and if children should accidentally eat some, to see a doctor immediately.

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION

Officials of the Texas Safety Association today praised Texas Governor John Connally for his proclamation designating December 8, 1963, "Safety Sunday in Texas."

"The Governor's interest in the welfare of the people of Texas is evidenced by this action," TSA President Quincy V. Tuma of Houston, said. "The purpose of 'Safety Sunday' is to focus public attention on the moral obligations and responsibilities of vehicle drivers to protect their own lives and the lives of others."

In proclaiming "Safety Sunday," Governor Connally said, "It is essential that every Texas driver realize that safety for himself, his loved ones and his friends as well as other drivers and passengers is a matter of moral responsibility, and that useless infliction of human injury is an abuse of God's most precious gift—life itself."

He noted that 2,421 persons were killed and 144,943 were injured on Texas streets and highways in 1962 despite an intensive and continuing campaign by both official state agencies and citizen-support groups.

"The experience of the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Governor's Office, the Texas Safety Association, local safety councils and thousands of law enforcement officials indicates that the solution to this critical problem lies in the hands of the individual driver," the Governor explained.

He urged all citizens to join in a united effort to awaken the conscience of every driver and further urged the pastors of all churches to remind their members of their personal and moral responsibility "to drive carefully, to obey the traffic laws and to protect the sanctity of human life in our State."

As hundreds of lives are lost each year during the Christmas-New Year holiday season—a season that is dedicated to peace and good will—it is fitting that "Safety Sunday" be set early in December when the various campaigns for holiday safety get into full swing, Tuma said.

The Texas Safety Association Holiday Safety Campaign will be conducted during the month of December and through the New Year's holiday.

Approximately 1,000 kits of Holiday Safety Campaign materials already have been mailed to various individuals and groups throughout Texas. The Association will furnish news releases to all Texas newspapers and spot announcements on holiday safety to all radio and television stations in the state.

HUNTERS — PREVENT FOREST FIRES

This hunting scene is now a common occurrence in East Texas. Thousands of Texans will enter the Pineywoods in search of game. Once again, the Texas Forest Service asks for the help of hunters in preventing forest fires. These fires not only endanger valuable timber, but may destroy wildlife and its food and cover. Remember — true sportsmen don't use fire to burn game out of trees or to make it easier to hunt. They make sure their camp or warming fires are DEAD OUT before leaving. These individuals crush out their smokes when in the woods or use their ash trays when traveling in vehicles. Forest fire prevention this year will mean better hunting next year.

DEAD OUT CAMPFIRES DON'T KILL GAME

A true sportsman makes sure his camp or warming fire is completely out before leaving. He knows that next year's hunting is dependent upon this year's fire prevention. Mixing the coals of his fire with soil or drowning it with water are simple precautions which he observes.
