SHIVERS TO RUN FOR SENATOR?

Tyler County voters will be interested in persistent rumors over the state that Former Governor Allan Shivers will be a candidate for the United States Senate against Senator Ralph Yarborough.

Shivers, of Austin and Woodville, is said to be strongly considering entering the race against the ultra-liberal senator.

In other statewide races, the incumbents are all expected to seek re-election. Many of them have already announced their intentions.

Gov. John Connally may once more face Don Yarborough of Houston (no relation to Sen. Yarborough) although there are indications that many of the young Houston attorney's supporters are trying to dissuade him from making the race this year.

In the Lt. Governor's race, Albert Fuentes of San Antonio, PASO state leader, has entered against Preston Smith.

Jesse James, state treasurer, has filed for re-election. So far no opposition has appeared against Attorney General Waggoner Carr.

Political observers say that Jerry Sadler, land commissioner, may get through the Democratic primary without opposition.

Agriculture Commissioner John White, faces a strong opponent in Millard Shivers of Waco, who has resigned as the organizational director of the Texas Farm Bureau to make the race.

Millard Shivers is no relation to Former Governor Allan Shivers.

Two members of the railroad commission who were appointed to fill vacancies, will seek the offices.

They are Ben Ramsey, who was appointed by then Gov. Price Daniel, in 1961, and Jim C. Langdon, who was named to the post by Gov. Connally in May following the resignation of William Murray. Robert Calvert, state comptroller of public accounts, has filed for re-election.

Judge K. K. Woodley, presiding judge of the state Court of Criminal Appeals, will run for re-election although he has not announced.

Three members of the nine-member Supreme Court will be elected. Associate Justice Frank P. Culver Jr., winding up 36-1/2 years on the state judiciary, has announced he will not seek re-election.

District Court Judge Sears McGee of Houston and Jack Pope, associate justice of the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio, have announced they will try for Judge Culver's bench.

Two other associate justices of the Supreme Court will run for re-election.

They are Ruel C. Walker and Robert W. Hamilton.

Congressman-at-Large Joe Poll is expected to have several opponents unless a U. S. Supreme Court decision forces all Texas congressmen to run at large.

Congressman Jack Brooks of the second district has not yet drawn an opponent.

POLL TAX PAYMENTS REACH 1150

Only 1150 poll taxes had been sold by Wednesday, according to an estimate by the tax assessor's office. With just a week left, time is running short for voters to qualify before the Jan. 31 deadline.

In the last presidential election year, over 2400 poll tax receipts were issued.

A. L. (Pete) Thornton, county tax assessor-collector, said that poll taxes will continue to be issued at the seven substations over the county.

Poll taxes are still $1.75. A person over 60 years old does not need to secure an exemption certificate in Tyler County, but persons 21 years old who are entitled to their first vote free must come to the tax office to pick up a certificate of exemption.

Poll tax substations are located at the following places: Doucette; International Paper Company office, Colmenares; Deans' Store, Rockland; Dean's Grocery, Chester; J. L. Veal Store, Warren; School Tax Office, Fred; Jenkins Grocery, Spurger; Spurger Mercantile company.

Gray is Building Heritage Garden

Clyde E. Gray began the expansion of his studio this week to include a handicraft showroom and the addition of an outdoor display area for Texas heritage photographs, paintings and artifacts which, when completed, is expected to become a prime tourist attraction in this part of the county.

Gray's handicraft showroom will handle all types of handicraft products which are made by hand by area people. This will provide a permanent display and sales outlet for handicrafts in wood, metal, knitting, crocheting and weaving.

All articles, to be handled in the showroom must be original and not factory made. Any person interested in placing handicraft articles for sale in the showroom are urged to see Mr. Gray at once.

In the Heritage Garden area will be permanent displays of old photographs reproduced in ceramics, paintings, old objects of general interest, etc.

Gray is particularly looking for photographs of general interest, and already many have been loaned from the Gulf Coast area. The photographs are reproduced in ceramics in a special process Gray has developed, and the original is returned unharmed.

Persons who loan photographs to be reproduced will be given a credit line on the reproduction on display in the garden. Gray is also looking for old objects to display in the garden. Mr. and Mrs. J. Wood Fain have loaned the gristmill stones from the old Bevil Mill for display in Heritage Garden when it opens.

Mr. Gray said that he will do his utmost to have an interesting display open for the Dogwood Festival.

TWO MORE FILE FOR ASSESSOR

A three-way race for Tyler County tax assessor-collector developed this week when two more candidates filed with Morris C. Clemmons, Jr., democratic county chairman, for office on the May 2 primary election.

D. (Ted) Tidwell, who has served as a deputy sheriff for the past three years, entered the race Monday morning. He resigned as deputy sheriff and said he would make a vigorous campaign before the primary on May 2.

Herbert Dean filed also with Clemmons and said he would make a formal announcement next week.

A. L. (Pete) Thornton, the incumbent, had filed for reelection last week.

The race for nomination for State Representative drew two candidates this week with at least two more persons known to be considering running.

Ruth Gillespie, who served for 18 years as district clerk in Tyler County, filed for the May 2 primary and J. E. Miller, Jr., Burkeville school teacher, announced for the office.

Joe "Bill" Kelley of Woodville and D. P. Ferrell of Buna had previously filed for State Representative.

Sam Forse Collins, who said this week he would not seek reelection, is the incumbent. Three other persons filed for places on the primary ballot this week, Clemmons said.

W. T. McNeill, associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, 9th Judicial District, is seeking reelection.

Jack Haynes filed for reelection as constable in precinct one, and J. H. Loggins, who was recently appointed justice of the peace in precinct one, is seeking election to that position.

Candidates who had previously filed for places on the May 2 primary ballot are:

Martin Dies Jr. for reelection to the State Senate.

District Judge H. A. Coe for reelection.

District Attorney R. A. Richardson for reelection.

County Attorney Clyde E. Smith Jr. for reelection.

Sheriff Grady Ray for reelection.

Constable Ralph Marshall in precinct 3, reelection.

Carl Shepherd, Joe L. Best and Howard Riley, the incumbent, for commissioner, precinct 1.

H. A. Crews, the incumbent, and C. Edd Cruse, Leon Fowler and Ray Bundy for commissioner in precinct three.

Candidates have until February 3 to file for places on the May 2 primary ballot.

In contested races, candidates who do not have a majority of votes cast in that race must face their next highest opponent in the June 6 run-off primary.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

BY MAURINE MOONEY

Citrus fruits contain many minerals. The ones in largest amounts are potassium, calcium, phosphorus, and magnesium. Each is essential to human nutrition.

Potassium is needed for the body's muscle. The amount of potassium in the body increases at about the same rate as the body grows. This is greatest between ages 14-18 in boys, 18-14 in girls, but every year a child grows at least 4 or 5 pounds. Muscle must grow during pregnancy, too, and the diet must provide potassium for it. When the day's food comes chiefly from the BASIC FOUR FOOD GROUPS, there is generally enough potassium. Potassium is also very important in maintaining the proper amount of moisture in the body cells, and the Nobel Prize research for 1963 showed potassium takes part in every nerve impulse in the body.

Magnesium, as well as calcium and potassium, is important in building bones and teeth. Two-thirds of the body's magnesium is in the bones and teeth. The other third has important uses as activators of many of our life processes including some of the controls of our vital muscle-nerve coordination. It oranges the peeled fruit and fresh juice are equally good sources of magnesium.

If you are a woman over thirty and have more than 2 children, all of the sources of calcium should be of interest to you. Many studies show that it is the woman of the American family who is most apt to get less calcium in her diet than other members of the family, and less than the amount recommended for her. Still, she's the one who needs extra calcium for having babies and nursing them, may have drawn on her body stores.

Although a great deal of the calcium consumed in this country has been estimated to come from milk and milk products, many women do not drink milk regularly. Therefore, the fruit and vegetable sources of calcium are very important to them. The "four or more servings" recommended in the DAILY FOOD GUIDE can readily provide an amount of calcium equal to that in a cup of milk. When using citrus fruit it is best to eat the whole fresh fruit for the peeled fruit has four times as much calcium as the same amount of strained juice. Peeled fresh citrus fruits, melons, figs and berries have more calcium than most other fruits.

In fresh fruits and vegetables, calcium is available with a minimum of calories and in most cases, no fat. This may be a worthwhile consideration to men and women who are watching their weight or their hearts.

For copies of DAILY FOOD GUIDE, call the County Home Demonstration Agent at Bu 3-2462 or call by the office in the Courthouse.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

BY CLINTON CURRIE

The 1964 edition of the Farmer's Tax Guide is now available, says Clinton R. Currie, County Agricultural Agent. This handy, easy-to-read guide contains information applicable to every phase of farm income tax reporting, Currie explains. It shows sample returns completely filled out with an explanation of the figures, he says.

Investment credit, one of the newer features of the tax structure, is fully explained in the new guide. It points out that a reduction in taxes paid for 1963 is based on tangible personal property and real property acquired last year. As much as seven percent of the cost of these items is allowed as a deduction but the percentage varies with the useful life of the assets, says Currie.

Another feature of the guide is an explanation of how to sell a farm on installments and examples are given to help clarify the procedure for computing taxable gain. Also an explanation of depreciation methods and the additional first year depreciation is given.

Other sections of the guide cover importance of good records, farm business expenses, farm inventories, casualty losses and thefts, and explanation on completing the return, and many more.

Copies of the Farmer's Tax Guide may be obtained without charge from the county Extension office. Currie recommends that a copy be kept handy for reference of tax matters concerning the farm.

Using pesticides on animals which have been formulated for plants can be dangerous, warns County Agent Clinton Currie. His advice, don't do it. He points out that although the same material may be used in some cases on animals or plants, the concentration and chemical formulation may be vastly different. If the insecticide is manufactured specifically for plant use, the formulation may contain solvents that speed up absorption by animals and results in poisoning. The difference can mean a sick animal.

Trouble most often comes, says the county agent, when directions on the labels are not closely followed. Pesticides are safe when used as intended by the manufacturer and in accordance with his recommendations.

read the label prior to each use of the pesticide and follow the instructions to the letter.

Also, use care in treating crops to be used as livestock feed and observe all limitations and precautions; be careful when treating for other pest problems in areas open to livestock. Particular caution is advisable when treating around water, feed or milking utensils.

And Finally, Currie advises that pesticides be stored in their original containers so there will be no confusion when they are used and be sure to keep the label securely fixed to the container. Read and follow the manufacturer's directions as listed on the label.

TIRE BIG PART OF FARM TRACTOR UPKEEP
The repairs and replacement of tires accounts for about 30 percent of the repair costs on farm tractors, according to Henry O'Neal, extension agronomist, engineer, Texas A & M University.

A few simple practices will reduce these repair costs and extend the life of tractor tires, O'Neal says.

Keeping tires properly inflated is the most important part of their care. They should be checked every two weeks, according to the engineer. Under-inflated tires may not appear low but the sidewalls will buckly when the tractor pulls a load and will eventually break. Continued operation at low pressure will reduce tire life by one-fourth, says O'Neal.

Tire slippage causes excess wear and wastes fuel and time. Weights can be used on the wheels or they can be filled with calcium chloride treated water to give additional traction and prevent this slippage, he says.

Careful driving and stopping will prevent much injury and wear on tires. The careful tractor driver stops smoothly, drives slowly and is careful to avoid stumps and stones that might cause punctures and bruises.

Sunshine and grease are very harmful to rubber, according to O'Neal. Never allow tires to stand on an oily floor or to sit in the sunshine while not in use. He also recommends that implements not in use be jacked up so that the tires are not supporting their weight.

O'Neal advises the prompt repair of cuts and bruises to prevent costly tire replacement. Cleaning up nails and glass can also reduce tire repairs around the farm, he says.

Adventures In Homemaking

By RUTH WHITE

"We like the recipes you used to write for the newspaper. Can you write some more?"

"Yes. We eat everyday at our house. It's a habit we have no intention of giving up. The food is simple but oftentimes after a busy day a dish or a meal tastes like the best we have ever eaten."

Dr. A. M. McAfee of Woodville grows his own corn and then has it ground into meal. He shares a sack of this home-ground meal with his friends each year.

Boone Tavern on Berea College campus at Berea, Kentucky has the reputation of serving the best meals between Miami and Chicago. They have the custom of bringing to the tables unexpected dishes that had not been ordered for the guests to help themselves. One surprise dish was Southern Spoon Bread.

Following is the recipe we use at our house:
1 cup corn meal
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 cup milk
3 egg yolks
3 egg whites

Stir cornmeal into 2 cups of hot milk and cook to the consistency of mush. Beat together the egg yolks, salt, baking powder, and 1 cup of milk. Add egg yolk mixture and oil to the cornmeal. Fold in the well-beaten egg whites. Pour into two-quart sized pan and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for one hour. Serve hot with butter.

While the spoon bread is baking the table is set, slices of cold roast meat, cheese and carrot strips are arranged on a platter. There is milk and a choice of fruit for dessert. And time to read another chapter in Santha Rama Rau's book "Home to India."

Santha after being away to England to school for ten years is trying to find how she fits into the new India and her grandmother, who had never been away is as much a stranger in her changing country.

Sam Collins Not To Run for Rep.

State Representative Sam F. Collins of Newton announced today that he would not be a candidate for re-election to the Legislature this year.

In making this announcement, Representative Collins stated, "It has been an honor and a privilege for me to have served the people of this District during three Regular Sessions and six Special Sessions of the Texas Legislature, and to have been the first person in the history of District seven, which is composed of Jasper, Newton, Sabine, and Tyler Counties, to be elected for more than two consecutive terms.

"My now being employed as Project Supervisor for Administration with Toledo Bend Project has caused me to reach this decision not to seek re-election, since my feelings are that this Project is one of the most progressive plans that will occur during this century and will cause this area of East Texas to advance more economically.

"During my tenure as your Representative, my desire has been to cast a reflection that would cause other people in our State and Nation to have respect for this office and for our District. Now and in the future I humbly offer my assistance to the people of this district."

erty National Bank of Liberty for 11 years. Returning to Woodville, she served as deputy county clerk until she was elected District Clerk of Tyler County.

During the past year, she has been engaged part time in the abstract business.

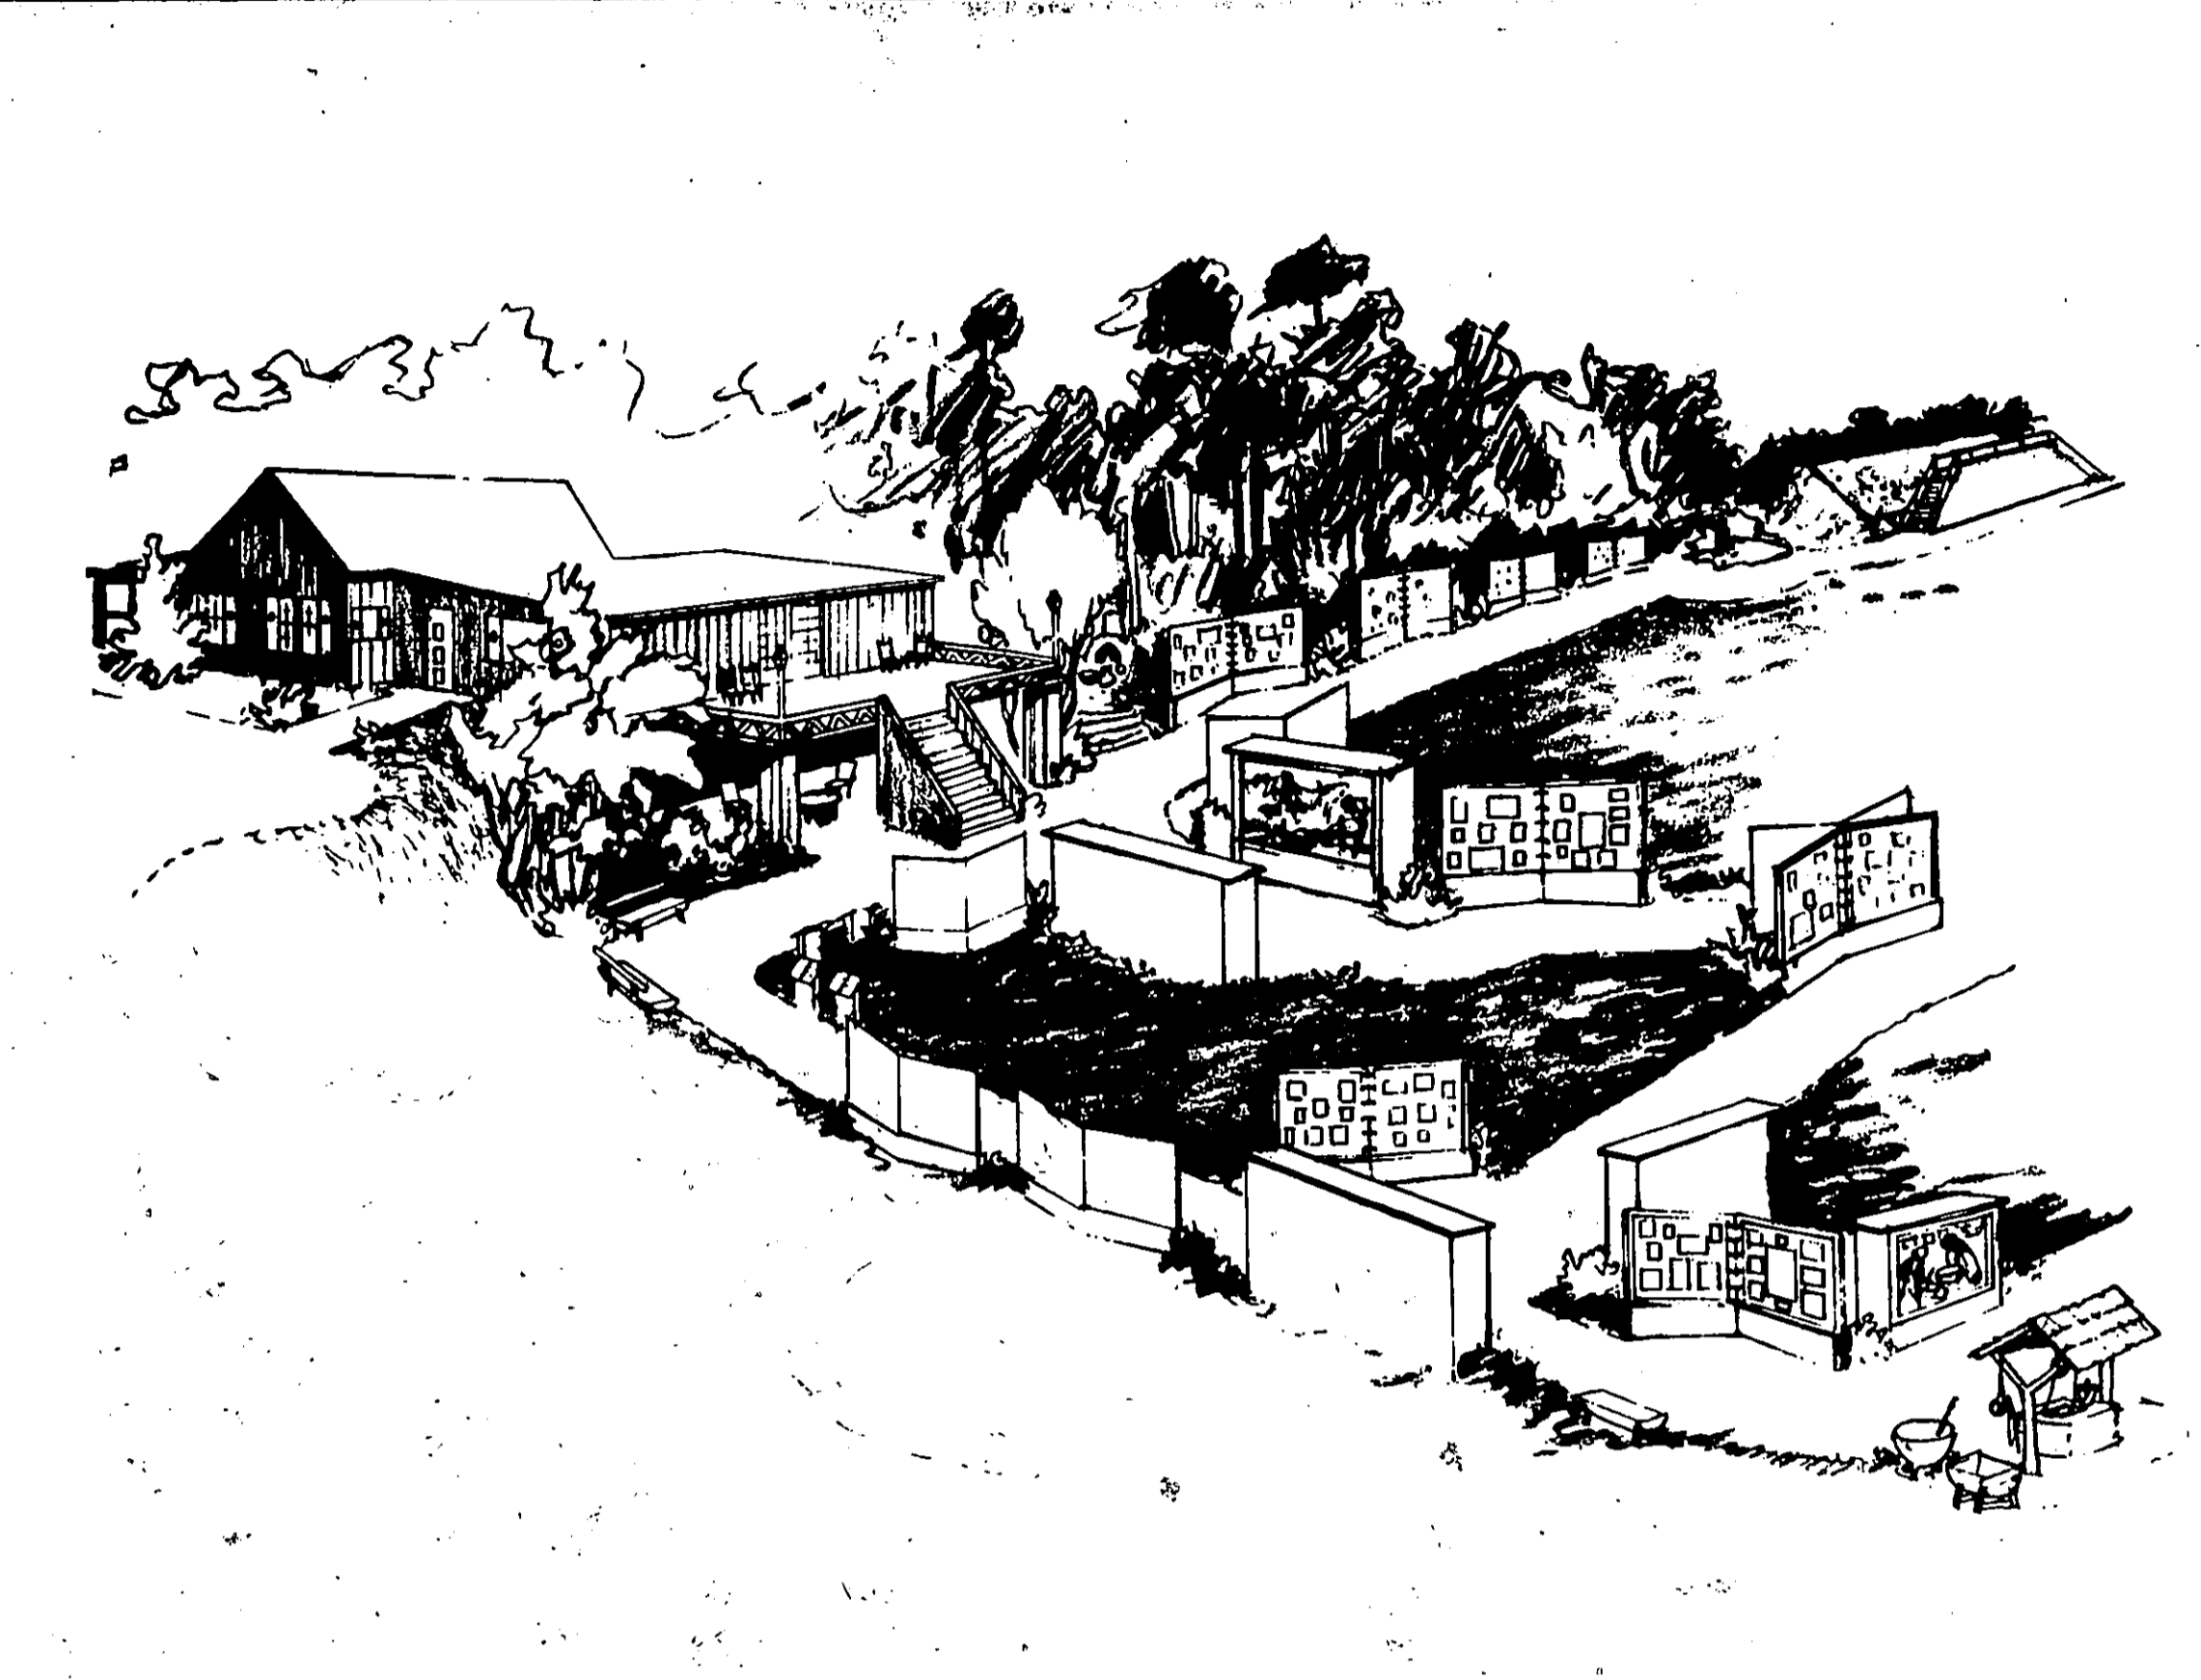

She is the daughter of the late John T. Gillespie, who died in 1915, and of Mrs. J. A. Eden, with whom she lives. She is the sister of Associate Justice Clyde E. Smith of the Texas Supreme Court and of C. B. (Curly) Smith of Woodville.

She is a member of the Baptist Church of Woodville.

In seeking to be the legislator from this district, Miss Gillespie stated, "I am grateful to the people of Tyler County for having elected me to the office of District Clerk. I also have enjoyed my association with people from other counties in the district, and I shall try to see as many of you as possible prior to the first primary.

"I shall be my purpose, if elected, to represent all the people all the time. From time to time during the campaign, I shall discuss with the people my views on vital questions that unquestionably will affect you, the people.

"To properly care for the needs of the people of this rural district (classical rural as comparable to the populous districts), we need a representative who can compete with the constant effort of the populous areas in obtaining adequate funds for education. I plan to discuss this as well as water conservation, farming, timber, and the oil and gas industry. These industries should be kept in mind. At the same time, the needs of the people who work in these industries, are to be given the undivided attention of your representative.

Gulf States Puts In New Billing System This Month

Gulf States Utilities Co. began this week mailing out bills produced through a new system-wide billing procedure that will benefit its 307,000 customers as well as its own general accounting department, it was announced today by Glenn Richard, president.

The ultra-modern billing system, implemented while Richard was treasurer of the company, went into operation late this week to produce the first batch of new bills. According to Richard, GSU is putting finishing touches on the installation at its general offices in Beaumont, Texas. Billing will be processed via transistORIZED magnetic tape machines that will effect immediate savings in time and operating costs for the company.

Richard said such practices, plus greatly increased usage of electricity, have helped our company hold down cost of service. GSU customers stand to gain in other respects as well, he added. Henceforth, Gulf States will be able to keep an extensive and detailed record of each customer's history of electric service and payments.

The faster new system will shorten time lapse between the meter reading and when the GSU bill is received at home from seven days to only five.

Located on the newly renovated third floor of GSU's main office building in Beaumont, the Data Processing Center is in sharp contrast to the former billing methods employed by the wlectric utility company, Richard said. The magnetic tapes replace a computer system that record keeping which, in turn, eliminates the slow handling of cards by hand.

To further underline the tape's speed advantage over the former system, the punch-type cards had only 80 digits per card whereas the new tape can accommodate up to 556 digits per inch. The old system permitted the reading of only 150 cards per minute.

In sharp contrast, the magnetic tape will improve on that figure by 20,000 digits per second.

The speed differential is brought about by the new transistORIZED-core computers and machines used for magnetic tapes as opposed to tubes and magnetic drum for the older computer and punch-type cards. The new machines operate in the millions of seconds.

GSU customers can quickly spot the difference in appearance of the new bills they will receive in the mail. The new statement will have a white background in contrast to the present blue, and each customer's account number will be on both the customer receipt and return stub of bills in the future.

Also, the date will be imprinted on return stubs and a small color patch often featuring Gulf States' symbol, Reddy Kilowatt, with a brief message will be used.
