Details of such additions were discussed by Mrs. Grace Winn, special assistant to the public affairs office, Manned Spacecraft' Center, NASA, for members of the Woman's Study club Tuesday. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. John Reid with Mrs. Speck Risinger sharing hostess duties:

Among the items named by Mrs. Winn as being developed through the NASA program were the astronaut suit, which allows bed-ridden patients to resume a more normal life; the astronaut foods, especially adaptable to sick people; the pace-maker for the heart, which regulates the heart beat to allow people with damaged hearts to function normally; the weather satellites which have saved many lives by giving advance information on weather conditions; special ball bearings, now used by dentists in their drills; and new material for life rafts, so thin it can be folded and carried by one man yet so strong that it can support the individual in water indefinitely.

Minutes of the October meetfing were read and approved Mrs. Winn served NASA first and the treasurer's report acas head of the relocation de- cepted and bills presented and partment when the Manned paid. Committee reports were short week for Kirby High Students didn't keep it from being very busy one at that. The freshmen FHA girls were initiated early in the week. This initiation was almost as rugged for the girls as the same was for the freshmen ag boys a few weeks ago. The girls spent the night before initiation day at the house of Linda Pate. The girls participated in a slightly different form of entertainment than the girls of previous years' initiations. An informal but successful "table lifting seance was held much to the astonishment of all there. We hope that Club, Mrs, Fred Blake is president. next year's initiation might hold as many surprises for the upcoming freshmen girls. The junior play cast is still at work on its play "Springtime for Suzie" which will be open for public viewing on the night in the auditorium. For a small admission price per head, every one is invited to see and be entertained by the juniors as they present the annual junior play. The National Honor Society recently held its second meeting of the year. Discussion of business took place with the new members allowed to sit in boll.
