POTA Hears Dr. Radford Speak On Dental Health

The Woodville Parent-Teacher Association met Monday night at the Kirby Auditorium for the regular monthly business meeting and to hear Dr. J. M. Radford, local dentist, speak on "Dental Health".

In his talk, Dr. Radford emphasized the following points:

That early detection and treatment of dental decay is in the long run the best method of preventing problems that may arise due to neglect.

The importance of restoring the primary (baby) teeth because they maintain the space for permanent teeth.

That the use of fluorides is the best possible method of reducing cavities. Fluorides may be used in water, tooth paste, vitamins, or by topical applications. Rigorous programs prove a reduction of tooth decay up to 60 per cent.

Many cases of malocclusion (crooked teeth) may be prevented or minimized by early detection.

Dr. Radford also discussed some of the advancements in dentistry that have taken place in the last 20 years.

Firemen Answer 59 Alarms In 1964

The Woodville Volunteer Fire Department answered 59 calls during 1964, Jimmy Freeman, president, reported this week.

Of these, 25 were in town and 34 were outside the city limits.

"When reporting a fire it is very important to give the exact location, the kind of property involved and the name of the person reporting the fire," Mr. Freeman said.

He also pointed out that if the fire is off a main road, someone should meet the fire truck at the highway and escort it to the fire.

This could save time, lives, and property, he said.

TRAGEDY STRUCK in this neat frame house last Monday morning. Funeral services were held Wednesday for Mrs. Sally Ann Morris, 37, who died from a single gunshot wound to the head. Her husband, Frank Morris, is in Tyler County Hospital recovering from a wound that over the heart. Authorities ruled death by self-inflicted wounds. Sheriff Grady Ray in the checked shirt and Justice of the Peace Joe Loggins, back to camera, are in the front yard.

Rites Are Held Wednesday For Victim Of Tragedy

Funeral services for Mrs. Sally Ann Morris were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the chapel of Edwards Funeral Home.

Mrs. Morris apparently died instantly Monday morning when struck in the head by a bullet fired from a .32-caliber automatic pistol.

Her husband, Frank Morris, 42, was in Tyler county hospital recovering from a gunshot wound just over the heart. Justice of the Peace Joe Loggins of Woodville said the verdict of the inquest would be death by self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Morris drove about 300 yards shortly after 8 a.m. Monday to the Herbert Dean home after the shooting.

"I went to the door and told him to come in," Mr. Dean said. "Then he got out of the car and I saw he was bloody and I asked him what happened and he said, 'My wife shot me, get me a doctor'."

Mr. Dean said that he immediately rushed the wounded man to Tyler County Hospital then notified authorities.

Sheriff's officers went to the scene of the tragedy, a small but neat frame house about eight miles east of Woodville on the Jasper highway.

Mrs. Morris body was found on the living room floor, the pistol under the crook of her right elbow.

Sheriff Ray said that the couple's three-year-old son Kevin was in the room crying when he got there.

The other four Morris children had all departed for school.

Mr. Morris, Woodville auto dealer, told Sheriff Ray that he and his wife had had words about his attending a church in Warren Sunday night.

She had recently undergone treatment in Rusk State Hospital and had returned home around mid-December.

Besides her husband and the small boy Mrs. Morris is survived by two daughters, Jennie Ruth and Valerie Lee, and sons, Darryl Lynn and Frank Glenn, all of Woodville; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Pearson of Houston; a brother, Grover, of Houston; a brother, Edward, of San Antonio.

Elder R. Everton Kennedy of the Woodville branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, officiated at services. Burial was at Mt. Pisgah cemetery with elders of the church serving as pall bearers.

Plane Crash Survivor Remains In Hospital; Victim's Rites Held

Dr. Theron V. Farris, survivor of last week's tragic airplane crash that took the life of the pilot, remained in Tyler County Hospital this week recuperating from the ordeal.

Dr. Farris survived two nights in the chill air after the light single-engine plane went down about three miles west of Woodville near the Howard Riley farm.

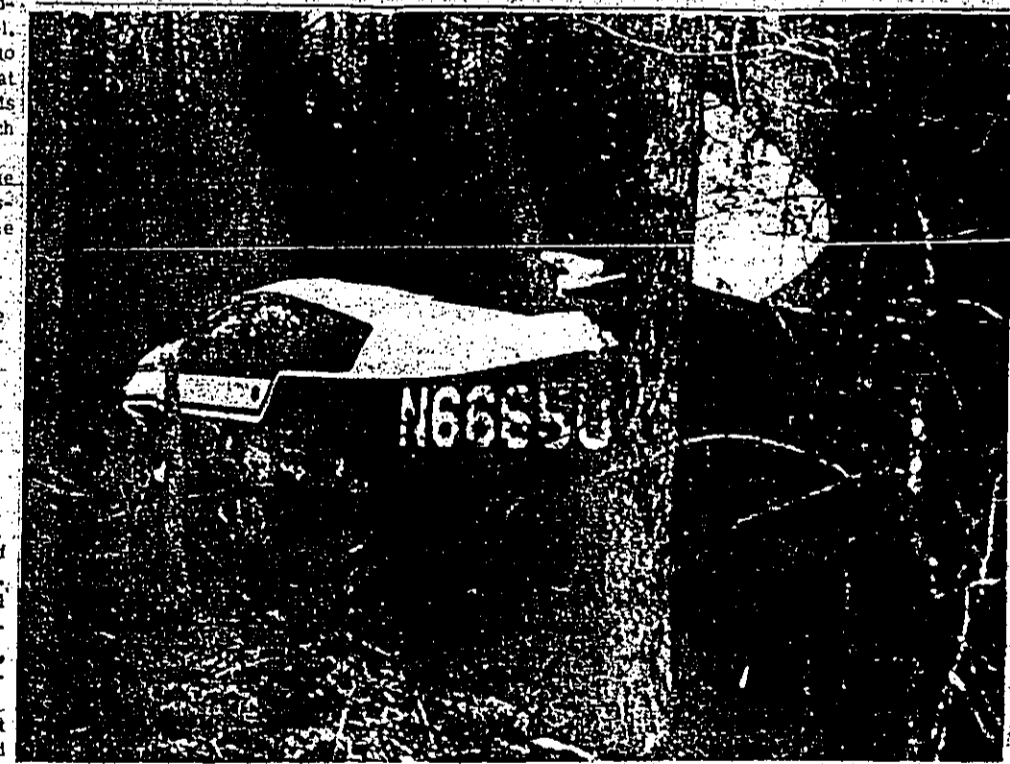

Dr. Farris was found in the heavily wooded area of the crash shortly after 2 p.m. Thursday by Sheriff Grady Ray. Sheriff Ray said the man was lying on the ground about 300 yards north from the wreckage of the air craft.

Dr. Farris, a Baptist missionary and now with the Evangelism department of the Texas Baptist Convention, was unable to stand because of a back injury.

The body of the pilot, Len M. Rogers, 44, was found by the wreckage of the plane.

Dr. Farris said from his hospital bed Thursday that he crawled away in search of help late Thursday afternoon because his companion appeared to be falling.

"I slept on the ground in the woods that night. I didn't know where I was and it was cold.

Dr. Farris had spoken at a meeting at the Evadale Baptist Church earlier Tuesday evening. They became airborne about 10 p.m., he said.

Time of the crash was fixed at approximately 11 p.m. or possibly shortly before.

Three residents in the area of the crash heard the plane go down.

Commissioners End Salary Talks

County commissioners concluded their opening session of the year last Friday morning after disposing of all the required business. Before then, salaries of all offices and deputies in offices were fixed by the court.

The action of the court drew protest from at least one office as two deputies in the county clerk's office who had their salaries reduced by $50 and $21 per month quit their jobs.

Mrs. Thelma McKee, chief deputy, and Mrs. Lila Kirkland, deputy, left at noon Friday when informed by Tom Sawyer, county clerk, that their salaries had been reduced from $271 monthly to $250 for Mrs. McKee and $225 monthly for Mrs. Kirkland.

However, both ladies were back on the job Wednesday morning. Mrs. Kirkland returned Tuesday and Mrs. McKee Wednesday. They will be paid at the rate set down by the commissioners Friday.

Commissioners met Friday morning following a few brief remarks by Judge Jeff Mooney.

Judge Mooney voiced an apology for the closed door session Jan. 11 in which several county officials and the press were asked to leave the meeting room.

"Our intentions were strictly honorable and we didn't intend to offend anybody or to hurt anyone's feelings," the judge said before declaring court in session.

The court voted unanimously on Monday by Commissioner Joe Best, sponsored by Commissioner Leon Fowler, that the offices of tax-assessor-collector and county clerk each allowed one chief deputy each with a maximum salary of $250 per month.

The motion passed unanimously.

Stating that "they are all good hands and well trained in their jobs", Commissioner H. H. Powell of Chester moved that pay of deputies be the same as chiefs, $250 monthly.

Commissioner French Hicks of Spurger seconded the motion but it failed to pass when Judge Mooney and Commissioners Best and Fowler voted in the negative.

Commissioner Fowler moved that the deputy pay be set at $225 monthly and the vote was 5-2 for with Mr. Hicks and Mr. Powell voting no.

The salary of the secretary in the county treasurer's office was left at $10 per day for the three-day work week. Likewise, employees of the various commissioners will be at the same scale with each commissioner to handle his own precinct. The court was unanimous in these decisions.

The subject of lighting at the county airport was brought up and the court decided to take immediate steps to get the field lights working again.

Judge Mooney told the court that most of the lights were not functioning.

The County 4-H Club has requested space at the airport to construct a rodeo arena. It was agreed to look further into the matter relative to restrictions by the FAA and the deed to the airport.

Commissioners also discussed the city dump and the approaches to the county further discuss county welfare policies which will remain as in the past and approving a subdivision plat the court adjourned.

Rural Route Patrons Asked To Aid Carriers

The postmaster, H.M. Ham, has appealed to rural route customers on rural routes to help their rural carriers.

The Woodville post office has two rural routes covering most of the central part of county from Dam Branch to the county line.

Mr. Durham said that all rural routes are subject to weather changes which will cause mail delivery to be delayed.

There are a few things that the carriers need:

1. Approaches to mail boxes must be kept clear.
2. Obstructions to mail delivery should be removed or minimized to the fullest extent possible.
3. Keep your boxes and equipment in good repair.
4. Where rural routes are blocked, the carrier may be able to form 4065, Major Mail Attention, a notice to the carrier.

Unless approaches are clear, it may be necessary to temporarily withhold delivery of mail. Rural carriers are required to perform service on roads that cannot be traveled by the vehicles normally used. This will make every effort to be made within reason to make delivery. If excessive delays are necessary to effect delivery, mail customers should be temporarily relocated to the new line. It is requested that you make other arrangements for their mail until the roads affected can be traveled.

9 out of 10 independent insurance agents help clients when they have an automobile accident, according to a new survey.

One-company salesmen trail by a wide percentage in offering the same type of help

Here's more concrete proof for American motorists that they are better off when they buy car insurance through an independent insurance agent.

A large, impartial research organization recently revealed the results of a survey designed to find out who gives car insurance buyers the best service - independent insurance agents or one-company salesmen.

The results revealed that a resounding 91.5% of independent insurance agents gave direct help to their clients when they needed help most - the day of an accident and when they had a claim. This same unbiased survey showed that a far lower percentage of one-company salesmen gave this kind of personal service.

An independent agent offers car insurance buyers many unique benefits. He represents several strong, reliable insurance companies. It's part of his job to select the right insurance for you at the best price, to keep your insurance up-to-date. And he'll be there to help you with all the details when you have an accident. A one-company salesman, on the other hand, can only sell the insurance offered by his own particular company. His job usually ends when he has sold you the policy his company offers. As a result, if you have an accident, you may end up with nobody on your side to help you. To make sure you have continuing, personal attention, insure your car and home through an independent agent. Look for this seal. Only an independent agent can display it.

Dry Clothes Electrically

You save up to $50 on the purchase price alone when you buy an electric clothes dryer.

You save dollars on upkeep, too, because electric dryers have fewer operating parts than non-electric dryers. Add to this the money you save by not needing to buy as many clothes and you'll understand why the 1965 electric dryer is the savingest dryer yet.

See your electric dealer soon and start saving dollars, not pennies with an electric dryer.

Gulf States Utilities Chalks Up Accident-Free Year In 1964

The employees of Gulf States Utilities Company, for the first time in the electric firm's history, finished 1964 with an injury rate of zero injuries per million manhours worked, according to Frank Robinson, local district superintendent.

This means that the 2,755 employees throughout the company's Texas and Louisiana service area had worked an entire year without an on-the-job, lost time accident. The Gulf States worked a total of 5,487,240 safe manhours in 1964. The national average injury frequency rate for electric utilities is 5.77 disabling injuries per million manhours worked.

During 1964 national recognition for their safety achievements was given to Gulf States employees on a number of occasions. Robinson said.

The Baton Rouge Division employees received the 'Award of Honor' from the National Safety Council for completing 7,000,000 manhours of operation without a disabling injury. This record was set May 23 and established a new world record in the electric utilities industry. By the end of the year the Baton Rouge employees had worked 7,940,020 safe manhours. This record safety period began April 20, 1960.

The National Safety Council's second highest award, the 'Award of Merit' was awarded to the employees of the Lake Charles Division, the employees of the Neches Generating Station at Beaumont and to the employees of the Orange District. These groups have worked well in excess of a million safe manhours.

During 1964, the employees of the Beaumont Division worked a total of 2,243,835 safe manhours. The employees of all five of the company's divisions, Baton Rouge and Lake Charles in Louisiana and Port Arthur, Beaumont and Nacogdoches in Texas, have earned the company's president's award for first place in the 1964 division safety contest in the personal injuries section.

Recognition was given to the entire company by both the National Safety Council and the Edison Electric Institute on November 13 when the Gulf States passed the 5,000,000 manhour mark without a disabling injury. This record marked a new high in the 40-year history of Gulf States. It earned the company the National Council's highest award, the 'Award of Honor'.

The Edison Electric Institute presented Gulf States with its 'Safety Achievement Award' for this record. The Institute has awarded only four other certificates for 5,000,000 or more manhours among the 1,578 certificates it has presented since the award was established more than 20 years ago.

'Safety training at Gulf States is an individual thing,' said Robinson. 'These records have been built by individuals, not just the large groups of employees in the power plants, the service centers, the division districts or general headquarters, but also the individual servicemen and many others in the smaller towns served by our company who must work day in and day out without close supervision. The safety record was established by the effort of the individual at work on the job at the time, operating the various equipment, and driving one of the 824 motor vehicles. The individual employee effort is responsible for the over-all team safety record.'

The NRA supports shooting organizations from our U.S. Olympic teams down to the local civic club projects for teaching safety and marksmanship to the youngsters (and there's an idea for a fine civic club project). The U.S. government disposes of its surplus small arms and ammunition through the NRA and no other government can dare sell its surplus weapons to the citizenry! The NRA is also a powerful voice in Washington to help promote fair gun legislation and to curb the present trend to emotional, poorly thought-out gun laws that they proposed. BYLINE:

My column of a few weeks ago, 'Guns in Pickups,' drew much mail comment from people who missed the whimsical question and came up with a very wrong idea that I am opposed to guns. For those who don't already know it, I have been a devoted hand-loader, collector and gunsmith specializing in antiques, for 20 years. I own 110 guns, mostly U.S. military rifles and muskets, and have a most complete gun shop, and am a Life Member of the National Rifle Association. Not a week passes that I don't make a free appraisal and identification of someone's old gun. And for five years I have been at work on an encyclopedia on 'American Rifles and Muskets.'

Save me from getting on my high keys about this, but I am most surely not a part of that well-meaning idiot fringe group who are trying to legislate our guns away from us! And if something is not done to stop the misinformed SOB singers we won't have any guns to put into the racks in those pickups.

Do you know how ancient and honorable our right to own guns is? It stems from the Bill of Rights, the 2nd amendment to the Constitution. It's well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

The first colonists opened this new world with the gun, the axe, the plow, and the Bible. Every major American war has been won by citizen soldiers who understood and loved guns and could shoot well from the cradle to the grave. American independence and Texas independence was won by men who carried their own hunting rifles to the battles. Even in modern times the basic weapon is still the soldier's rifle, for the issue is not decided until foot soldiers can occupy and hold disputed ground, and the foot soldier carries a rifle.

In rural areas, the father-son tradition of hunting and marksmanship can still be carried on, but in the towns and cities shooting must be carefully regulated and managed. The single greatest civilian agency that upholds and guards everything that is good and decent in firearms is the National Rifle Association.

The N.R.A., founded in 1871 and now 670,000 members strong, is to use their words, a non-profit organization whose purposes are to educate and train citizens of good repute in the safe and efficient handling of firearms, to promote social welfare and public safety, law and order, and national defense. Every reputable person who owns or shoots a gun should be a member of the National Rifle Association.

Membership in the NRA costs $5.00 per year, and includes the Sam Houston has his love back—thanks to an Argentine sculptor with an interest in Texas history. Luis Bartolome Somoza of Buenos Aires paid the expenses for himself and his wife to Huntsville to restore the broken pieces of the town's prized statue of Gen. Sam Houston, who led Texas' armies against Santa Anna and Mexico in the 1830's. Somoza read of the town's efforts to repair the statue in an Argentine newspaper and decided he could do something to foster friendship between his nation and the United States. During his visit, Somoza and his wife were treated royally by Huntsville citizens. The hospitality, he said, was unlike anything he ever experienced. Somoza made a last-minute change in his plans when he bagged a 300-pound bear in the Neches River hot springs of Angelina county.
