Legislative Report

By J.E. MILLER, JR.

The second week of the 59th Legislature was much like the first, "Le. disposing of more resolutions and routine business. More resolutions and bills were also the order for this week. I enjoyed the session. Ben Barnes, the new Speaker, was quite informal, baroque, witty, and a little funny. I spent a lot of time orienting myself with various agencies, committees, and the Speaker's office. I had a long talk with Mr. Waters, the head of the Department of Public Welfare. I asked him about the Department of Public Welfare. I asked him about the Department of Public Welfare. I asked him about the Department of Public Welfare.

Other bills about which you might be interested that have been introduced are: (a) A bill to allow sale of miniature bottles of spirits in restaurants. (b) A bill which would legislate para-mutual horse race betting. (c) A bill which would require a long talk with Mr. Waters, the head of the Department of Public Welfare. I asked him about the Department of Public Welfare. I asked him about the Department of Public Welfare.

This coming week will be our first full business week. In my next report I will be able to inform you of some positive steps taken by the Legislature affecting all of us. I encourage you to get to let me know how you feel about any legislation that we will consider.

First available official figures on the 1964 big game harvest in Texas indicate that the total deer kill was an estimated 202,777, according to J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department. These figures represent a decrease of approximately 100,000 deer from 1963.

For the same season, however, the take of wild turkeys increased 100 percent, as combined bag of 14,345 compared with an estimated 10,680 killed the previous year. Texas has the nation's largest wild turkey population.

The harvest estimates were based on reports from department field personnel stationed throughout the state. He said 211 counties reported a harvest of deer on deer hunting results and 104 counties reported a harvest of wild turkey. Watson said the decrease of the species deer bag from an estimated 202,777 in 1964 was primarily caused by a quick of nature.

The season opened in shirt sleeve weather which prevailed for an unusually long period. Meanwhile, there had been one of the best mast crops in recent years. This combined with the fact that deer had natural cover on into late fall and also had so much natural food they did not have to rove for food. And because all the deer did not have to patronize baited areas around the bluffs.

Some areas reported a higher percent of spike bucks in the harvest in 1964; however, Watson said that this was a normal occurrence following the drought condition in these areas in the summer of 1963. Many long horns have been reported to appear in the early spring and summer of 1964, the period of antler development. Watson said it is a matter of concern now that severe weather might be hard on the large deer. He said that in the event ranges are depleted of natural food prior to next hunting season.

It is now sunset in Washington... The record number of hunters swarming afield last year may have been the most safety-conscious in recent years, according to J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Reports from staff members, admittedly incomplete, significantly showed that the accidents listed by the department were a decrease from 118 fatalities in 1963 to 104 in 1964. Accidents likewise dropped from 99 in 1963 to 86 in 1964. The department cooperates with the National Rifle Association in recording hunting casualties.

The percentage of self-inflicted fatal wounds was high last year but in 1964, five of the 166 fatalities were caused by the victim compared with eight of the eighteen reported last year. Most of the casualties occurred during November and December in both years.

For the high school students the big social occasion of the past week took place Saturday night when the annual football banquet was held in the school cafeteria. By seven o'clock the gayly decorated luncheon was overflowing with bright, smiling faces and as equally handsome suits and semi-formals. Following the supper, recognition of both the 'A' and the 'B' team football players was given by Head Coach Charlie McGinty. Then came the honoring of the cheerleaders who have done such an outstanding job this year, working for the team and the school. The highlight of the banquet came when Coach T.C. Miles of Dallas, a former student here at Woodville, gave a heart-warming address to all those present. He started his talk with a series of "knee-slappers" concerning the topic of football. Then turning to a more serious side he spoke along the lines of how we can become successful in life. In words of wisdom he explained that we need to possess the qualities before we can truly achieve success. These, he said, were desire, determination, and 'de faith'. Certainly each of us gained greatly from having heard Mr. Miles speak.

After the banquet, the students drove to the Lion's Den where the dance was held. This lasted until late in the evening. The banquet was both an enjoyable and rewarding experience. The dance served to end this social event on a high note.

State of Texas House of Representatives Austin, Texas

J. E. MILLER, JR. P. O. BOX 88 BURKEVILLE, TEXAS 75322

On Tuesday the governor was inaugurated in front of the Capitol building. The honor guard, 19-gun salute, dignitaries and all made for an impressive ceremony.

Wednesday at 11:00 a.m. the governor presented his message to the joint session in the house chamber. I was among about 15 legislators escorting the governor to the speaker's rostrum and consequently was seated behind the governor during his address before a full house and gallery.

His proposal could be refined to a single sentence it would in my opinion be that he proposes to place more responsibility and burden upon James A. Lumpkin, Miss Charlene Gardner, Olin B. Crumpler, Miss Lavette Miles, Jerry Dale White, Mrs. Florence Williams, Mrs. Dianne Jordan, Arthur Carson, Loyd E. MacLin, Mrs. Jessie Lee Pentecost, Baby Jami Lyn Lumpkin, Carrie Ann Williams and baby girl Shirley Denise, Vivian P. Johnson and baby girl Sylvia Wrenn, S. Elton Barclay, Ed Harden, Mrs. Naomi Battise and baby boy Derek DeRoe, and Mrs. Josephine Kidd.

the local school district as for financing is concerned. Having talked before with all public school district superintendents in District 7, I believe that I can assume that most or all of them cannot go along with the governor's proposal. I have been asked by the governor's assistant to endorse the proposal, but I have informed him that I cannot do this at this time.

In keeping with my policy to hold open my legislative efforts and actions to the public, I would like to explain my position concerning the topic of hospital districts and especially concerning the district of Jasper county.

Senator Martin Dies, Jr. and myself went to the attorney general's office and were informed that based on the present constitutional provision, there can be no legislation to dissolve a hospital district.

It must then be submitted to the people of Texas and passed by a simple majority before it becomes law. Of course this constitutional law would apply to the whole state if passed. I am firmly convinced that the legislature and the people of Texas will study this proposal and its adoption or rejection will stem from its merits or demerits.

Bill's are being introduced by the hundreds now and I find it difficult to keep up with them. I will report to you later on specific bills that you may be interested in. Write to me. Also my phone is listed. Just ask for information. J.E. Miller, Jr. State Representative District 7

Cotton Farmers Should Sign For Annual Allotment

Cotton farmers who want to grow their upland crop this year under the domestic allotment plan will have an opportunity to sign up at the A.S.C.S. county office, Aaror B. Durham, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced. The sign-up covers the period February 8 through March 26, 1965.

The chairman pointed out that this sign-up is a new development for cotton farmers, and for that reason a special effort is being made to get the word around to interested farmers. The domestic allotment program was also in effect for the 1964 upland cotton crop, as authorized by special legislation, and the program for the 1965 crop is very similar to last year's.

By keeping the cotton acreage within the farm's domestic allotment, the farmer qualifies for the price-support loan, based on 29 cents a pound for middling 1-inch cotton at average location, and also for a price-support payment of 4.35 cents a pound on the farm's established normal yield times the acreage planted for harvest in 1965. The payment is to compensate farmers for reducing their acreage and thereby holding down unneeded supplies.

Growers taking part in the domestic allotment program also stay within the farm's feed grain base if the domestic allotment is smaller than the effective allotment. The second choice is to plant cotton within the effective allotment for his farm. (The effective allotment is the allotment after any release or re-appointment.) If this is his choice, he need not sign up. By keeping his cotton acreage within the effective allotment, the grower would be eligible for the price-support loan, described above.

Fooling Bill Will Affect County Oil Producers

Citizens of Tyler county, producer of some $24 million worth of oil and gas a year, have a special interest in the 'pooling' bill now before the Texas State Legislature, James L. Sewell, Dallas, president of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, reported this week. Although Tyler county has production, the oil men who operate here, as well as the landowners and governmental officials, are interested in securing maximum development, Sewell said. 'A pooling law will encourage a more efficient and more equitable approach to development of our oil and gas resources.'

A measure, supported by all segments of the Texas petroleum industry after two years of intra-industry conferences and study, was recently introduced as Senate Bill 2 by Senator Galloway Calhoun, Jr., of Tyler, and as House Bill 2 by Rep. Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge. Sewell stressed that the measure does not affect normal leasing and voluntary pooling arrangements between landowners and operators, nor does it affect in any way reservoirs discovered and produced before March 5, 1961 (date of Supreme Court decision that wells on small tracts could not produce at rates disproportionately higher than adjoining tracts). 'The pooling bill is designed to make it possible for mineral owners—regardless of the size tract of land they may have—to get their fair share of the oil and gas that may underly their acreage,' he said.

GSU Employees Extend Safety Mark

The employees of Gulf States Utilities Company extended the longest safety span in the company's 40-year history to six million manhours without a lost-time, on-the-job accident at midnight, Wednesday, January 20. The 2,745 employees began this record on December 20, 1963.

It takes the Gulf States approximately 45 working days to complete a million manhours. The employees completed five million manhours on November 13.

The new record will add two more national safety awards to those already received for previous records. If qualifies the utility firm for the award of honor from the National Safety Council and the safety achievement award of the Edison Electric Institute. This is the first time EEI has awarded this certificate to an entire company for six million safe manhours.

To date EEI has presented only two other such certificates, both to groups within electric companies. One of these was won by the 800 employees of Gulf States' Baton Rouge Division January 14, passed the eight million mark. The other award was made to the Power Transmission Substation group of the Baltimore Electric Company which worked a total of ten million manhours before suffering an accident. 'To achieve such a goal indicates that each Gulf Stater has accepted his personal safety responsibility—the meter reader, station operator, welder, serviceman, all who work alone; every member of a crew, department or section,' said Glenn E. Richard, president of the utility firm. 'This was an individual and joint effort. Gulf Staters have clearly indicated safety accomplishment that accidents can be controlled. The rewards for such an accomplishment are not national awards, but the absence of pain and suffering.'

Letter To The Editor

2103 Belvedere Baytown, Texas

Dear Mayor, I visited your city last Sunday for the first time, though I have lived within a hundred miles of it for a good many years. As we drove around looking for a place to eat, I got a vague feeling that there was something different about this town—more than the tall pines and holly trees and the unusually well-kept old houses. Then one of the men with me asked 'Where are the beer cans?' and I became aware of the reason for your different appearance. Woodville, Mr. Mayor, is the cleanest town that I have ever seen. What is wrong with you people, don't you know how to litter your streets? Aren't you aware our rich land, 10,000,000 children are part of the one-fifth of our people who are stressed, underprivileged, forgotten, 10,000,000 children. And each seems destined never to know the bright promise that could be his simple birthright as an American.

10,000,000 Children just like yours. Almost.

of us derive our sense of it from the place where we worship. And if you care, the center of your faith can also be a center for thought, reflection and action about moral and ethical challenges of your community and your country—problems like injustice, need, inequality, violence, delinquency. President Kennedy said it: "God's work must truly be our own." Worship this week—put your faith to work every day of the week!

Worship this week

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health
Accent on Health
 T. E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Noise can rob us of sleep, make us tense and jumpy and decrease our general efficiency. A continued exposure to noise may make us more susceptible to accidents by cutting down our ability to discern signs of shouted warnings.

What's to be done about our noisy society? Many industrialists have already taken steps to sound-proof work areas in plants, factories and office buildings or earmuffs to workers.

The best of us who are plagued by the day-to-day noises of a busy world and family, can do something, too.

If you plan to build or buy a new house, check with the contractor; he'll be able to offer suggestions to cut down on noise in your home.

If you are already settled in your home, remember the noise problem if you make any additions or changes.

One simple step costs nothing and can be used in almost every home to combat the noise problem. Set a side a room or an area as a quiet place. Study your house for apartment or see which part of it can be easily cut off from the majority of noise. Put out TV, stereo and other noise-makers in the opposite end of the house.

Such a quiet place won't completely solve the ever-growing problem of noise, but it will reduce it. Ward cutting down on family tension and giving you a place to rest.

Who would ever think noise could be a health hazard? Health experts rightfully think that excessive noise can be a serious health problem.

We can no longer confine this problem to industry, factories and structures; homes are no longer exempt. Bigger and bigger appliances are being crammed into homes; we have more extensive heating and cooling systems, more

TV and hi-fi sets, more of just about everything that adds to the general supply of everyday noise. And if these marvels aren't enough, our children fill in playing 'shoot'em up' or the latest pop record.

Modern home design with its spaciousness and smooth, hard surfaces is no help. Popular decorating materials such as glass, stone, brick, paneling and vinyl floor covering reflect sound waves instead of absorbing them.

Last Rites Are Held Tuesday A.M. For Mrs. Ollie T. Rawls

Mrs. Ollie Taum Rawls, 84, of Huntington died on arrival at Tyler County Hospital at 1 p.m. Sunday after a long illness.

A native of Tyler county, she had made her home in Huntington with her daughter, Mrs. Coy Jones, since the death of her husband in 1955.

Farmers In Feed Grain Program May Get Top Pay

Farmers taking part in the 1965 feed-grain program may get the top rate of payment on the entire acreage diverted into conserving uses if they sign up and actually divert at least 40 percent of the farm's feed grain base, Aaron B. Durham, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, reminded growers today.

The key figures for estimating diverted acres and diversion payments are 20, 40, and 50, the chairman explained. The minimum diversion under the feed grain program is 20 percent of the feed grain base. The maximum diversion is 50 percent of the base. And there are two diversion-payment rates.

If the grower signs up and diverts only the minimum acreage, his diversion payment will be figured at the lower rate—one fifth of the county's total price-support rate (price support loan plus the price support payment).

If the grower diverts between 20 and 40 percent of his base, the lower rate applies to the minimum diversion and the higher rate to the balance diverted. The higher rate is one-half the county's total support rate.

The feed grain program for 1965 is basically the same as in 1964. It is voluntary and applies to corn, grain sorghum and barley. Participating farmers may qualify for diverted-acre payments and price-support payments, and they will be eligible for price-support loans on their corn, grain sorghum and barley.

Chairman Durham points out that signing up is a necessary first step in taking part in the feed grain program. The sign-up covers the period February 8 through March 26. It will be held at the A.S.C. county office.
