URLAND IS SCENE OF ACTIVITY

180 Boys Encamped This Week

Camp Umland is the host of some 180 Boy Scouts this week from throughout the Trinity-Neches Council which covers some 12 counties, including North Jefferson County. All told, there are 11 units encamped this week, with troops 37 and 54 of Woodville among them.

According to Program Director Bill Travis of Beaumont, 210 personnel were encamped this week.

The boys arrived there this past Sunday afternoon, and will leave this coming Saturday afternoon.

In the top photo, the boys are shown getting ready to receive instructions on the proper way to set up camp. Second photo, the youngsters are receiving instruction in marksmanship and later will try to qualify for merit badges in this skill.

Third photo, the boys are receiving instructions in the proper way to conduct oneself in the water. The boys already know how to swim, but they must further qualify themselves in rescue of a drowning person, how to handle themselves if it were them drowning and they were by themselves, and also qualify in long-distance swimming.

Finally, in the bottom photo, these boys are learning how to handle a canoe, and more specifically, how to handle one if it should capsize. At right is a swamped canoe, and on the left is the result, if the proper course is taken to put a swamped canoe back in commission.

Area leaders are: Camp Director George Scott of Beaumont, Camp Ranger Lee Tesson of Woodville, Business Manager Leo McLaughlin of Jasper, Program Director Bill Travis of Beaumont, Waterfront Director Charles Beam of Anahuac, Outpost Camp Director Paul Stickland of Bayshore, South Houston, and a staff of thirteen junior leaders.

Scoutmaster, Troop 37, Dave Page of Woodville, and Scoutmaster Troop 54, Max Graham of Woodville accompanied the boys on this endeavor and give a week of their own vacation time each summer to lead and guide the youngsters through their scouting endeavors.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ADJUST SALARIES & EXPENSES FOR BUDGET

SALARIES ARE CUT AND SOME EMPLOYEES WILL GO

Judge Mooney Gives Statement To The County

Tyler County Judge, Jeff R. Mooney, issued a statement to the citizens of Tyler County this past Monday. He wished to explain the why and wherefore of the announced county deficit.

According to Judge Mooney, the County Commissioners Court in July of 1962 voted the county employees a salary raise that more than doubled some of the employees' salaries. And that these raises were made retroactive to January 1st of that year. This is with the exception of the Justice of the Peace, who was allowed to collect dues up to the amount of the raise. This figure at that time was raised to $6,750 per year. Also, in July of 1963, the County Library was accepted and was budgeted the amount of nearly $8,100 yearly.

Judge Mooney stated that the figure is not alarming, however, the Commissioners Court has gone ahead and made salary adjustments and cut expenses without raising property evaluations.

The Judge wished it to be known that he has requested of the Commissioners Court several times in the past that salary adjustments be made, and until now, they had failed to act upon his recommendation. Judge Mooney stated that he feels an excessive budget for the library and failure to make salary adjustments are the prime cause for the county running out of available general funds.

Judge Mooney also wished to announce that some people will be receiving cards in the mail regarding property evaluation, because the county is attempting to equalize all property on a fair and equal basis to all landowners.

Judge Mooney extends an invitation to any person to come by his office or see any of the commissioners. The Court has always been open to the public since he took office and will remain so.

Judge Mooney said, "I personally feel that a full-time county auditor would be of enormous benefit to the county and by constant vigilance over the county funds would actually pay for his own salary."

Chester Youth Dies From Auto Accident

William Stephen Bryan, 18, Chester High School graduate of this year, died in Tyler County Hospital from injuries received in a one-car accident at about 5 a.m. Monday morning past.

The youth apparently hit a culvert approximately seven miles east of Chester on Farm to Market Road 1745. He was alone.

Highway Patrolman Hall Stewart investigated the accident. Bryan had lived in Chester sixteen years, was a letterman in football, track, and baseball. He was employed by Cecil Construction Company of Houston since his graduation. Funeral services for the boy were held in Tyler at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 15th. The Rev. J. W. John, Jr., of Marshall and

DAY SCHOOL TO OPERATE IN NEW CHURCH BUILDING

Wee Wisdom Day School will open in September. This school is non-denominational and enrollment is limited. The facilities of the Day School will be located in the soon-to-be-completed educational building of Woodville Methodist Church.

The building will be completely modern, centrally heated and air conditioned and of fireproof construction. The grounds are extensive, allowing outdoor recreation and study.

Wee Wisdom Day School has been organized by a board made up of the following members: Mrs. J. Malcolm Radford, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Bob Belt, Mr. James Shields, Mrs. John Smitley, and Mrs. Ray Baker. The purpose of the school is to build a foundation for the first grade by developing the areas of Language, Social Studies, Number Concepts, Reading Readiness, Natural Science, Music Appreciation, Health, and Safety.

There will be separate classes for three-year olds, and attend three days a week, and four and five-year olds, and attend five days a week. Brochures and application blanks are now available in the church office.

The teaching staff consists of Mrs. Kenneth Leslie, who will teach five year olds, Mrs. Kenneth McKinnon, who will teach four year olds, and Mrs. Martha Sue Gregory, who will teach three year olds. Substitute teachers will be Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. Dan Kent, Mrs. Luther Owens, Mrs. C. M. Harris, Mrs. Allen Sturrock, and Mrs. Robert Allen Mann.

The County Commission voted unanimously to accept these changes in the county. They will become effective July 1st.

Also, at this special session the commissioners voted to accept a new budget for the Allen Shivers Memorial Library of $7,015 annually. The proposal was accepted with one dissenter, Commissioner Fowler, who stated he thought this budget for the library was still too high.

It is interesting to note that the County Judge's salary alone was cut by some $1,200 per year.

COMMISSIONERS HOLD REGULAR MEETING

The Tyler County Commissioners Court held its regular scheduled meeting this past Monday, June 14th.

This meeting was noticeably different from previous meetings. It was normal, and normal business took place.

The first order of business was brought before the court in the form of a motion by Commissioner Hicks and seconded by Commissioner Fowler to purchase a blackboard for the District Courtroom. All other commissioners voted aye to the proposal.

The commissioners then voted unanimously to accept the final plat at Wildwood Resort City, Block 41, which extends into Tyler County.

Final business attended to by the Court this day was a unanimous vote to pay all current bills incurred by the county.

Pete Thornton Announces Personal Plates

The bill was passed to help finance the Texas program for tourism, recreation and state parks in Texas.

City Councilmen Met Monday

Woodville City Councilmen held their regularly scheduled meeting this past Monday, June 14th.

All the Councilmen were present, as well as City Attorney Josiah Wheat, City Secretary Lois Brockman, and Mayor E. W. Gassiot.

The first business of the evening was selecting from three bids submitted for a water and gas line digger. The bids were as follows:

Oil City Tractor, $2,680; C.L. Seary Co., $2,225; and Witch Equipment and Supply, $3,028.50. The council voted unanimously to accept the C. L. Seary Co. bid of $2,225.

Plans were discussed at this regular meeting for expanding the city's water and natural gas facilities.

The councilmen also voted unanimously on the closing of an Alley, City Block 2, which runs behind the Farmers Feed and supply Bldg.

The council discussed the delay in fire plugs for the Cobb Mill area residents, and it was learned that the delay was from a strike in the Mueller Co. plant, which is the plant from which the fire plugs were ordered.

Lois Brockman Appointed As Special Judge

Woodville's City Secretary Lois L. Brockman has been appointed a special judge for the third week June term of the 88th Judicial District. He was appointed by 88th District Judge H. A. Coe, who excused himself from sitting this week, because relatives of his are involved in one of the suits appearing before the court.

U of Texas Doctors Have Isolated "Pink-Eye" Virus

Doctors at the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston believe they have isolated a virus which causes "pink-eye".

They plan to use the virus in a vaccine which they hope will prevent the disease. If they are successful, it will mean a saving of millions of dollars annually to the beef and cattle industries all over the world. The scientists think the action of the "pink-eye" virus may be related to the development of "cancer-eye" in cattle. If this proves to be true, one vaccine could serve as a shield for two costly cattle diseases.

Now is the time to consider CARE AND STORAGE OF ELECTRIC BLANKETS. Electric blankets should never be dry cleaned or machine washed. According to recent consumer research regardless of what claims the manufacturers might make to the contrary, Study results pointed out that drycleaning fluids might attack the insulation that covers the wiring and studding action of a washing machine can cause a break in the wiring that runs through the blanket.

Damage also could result from any excessive twisting or squeezing, which led the researchers and engineers to conclude that electric blankets should be washed only when absolutely necessary and then only by hand.

In hand washing, the researchers caution against any wringing action and recommend that excess water be removed by gently squeezing the fabric in the direction that the wires run.

If the blanket is not too heavily soiled, it may be dried by gently placing it across parallel lines on a still day. After airing, it should be folded neatly and stored in a box.

If it is just placed on a shelf, other blankets may put too much weight on it and cause the insulation to break.

Now is the time to consider CARE AND STORAGE OF ELECTRIC BLANKETS—Electric blankets should never be dry cleaned or machine washed according to recent consumer research—regardless of what claims the manufacturers might make to the contrary.

Study results pointed out that drycleaning fluids might attack the insulation that covers the wiring and tumbling action of a washing machine can cause a break in the wiring that runs through the blanket.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN KNITS—A new process has been developed to keep cotton knits from shrinking when machine washed and dryer dried. This process involves compressing the fabric, making it highly resistant to shrinkage in normal laundering. Investigation shows that these new processed knits shrink about one percent whereas conventional knits shrink up to ten percent, both were machine washed and dryer dried several times.

Some manufacturers use the Is process after Carter's, Crocker's, E-Z-Glo's, Hanes, Mac-

Do's, Modern Glove, Mustang wear, Spencer's and others.

All knits still need proper laundering. The use of a hot (not too hot) water and heavy duty spray setting on the dryer will result in less shrinkage.

Using an automatic clothes dryer with a "no-heat" or "air only" setting before completely drying and pull them gently by the ends.

Acrylic or other synthetic fibers dried completely, and they are related to little shrinkage.

will wrinkle more than a dryer which has been turned off. Wool knits are best machine washed in a special soap for wool and they need to be blocked and dried flat.

Do not overcrowd the drawer space to knit garments are on a flat surface. Some knit items stretch, becoming limp and lose their shape.

If the storage space is completely smooth on the inside, they should be lined with some type of paper to protect the garment. Printers ink from newspapers may transfer to the garment, so don't let them come in contact with printed materials.

Arrange garments loosely in the drawer to avoid pressure of tightly packed garments.

Place light colored or white knit garments on one side of the drawer, and the dark colored knits on the opposite side. Protect all garments with tissue paper.

FOLLOW THE LEADER

One of the best tips for protecting your knitwear is to follow the leader.

Commissioners Act To Cut Expenses

The Tyler County Commissioners Court at a special meeting Friday acted to cut county payroll expenses due to the county's financial condition.

The commissioners cut most elected county officers from $6760 annually to $6460, a reduction of $300 per month. The county treasurer's salary was fixed at $5500 and the district clerk's salary was reduced to $5000 by the order.

The justice of the peace in precinct one was authorized to make $6000 per year. At present he is allowed to make $6250.

The order also set the county's part of the county attorney's secretary at $100 per month, the veteran's service officer at $50 per month, and the county judge's secretary at $10 per day for three days a week.

The order also cut the personnel in the tax assessor-collector's office to three instead of four persons, reduced the sheriff's deputies to one chief deputy and two others, including the stock deputy. This was also a reduction of one employee.

The order also reduced the janitors at the court house from two to one. It also ordered the discontinuance of the telephone in the county health office and the extension phone in the district clerk's office.

Herman Young, who is with the William Black Agency, general insurance agents in Fort Worth, was announced as the honor agent for the month of June. Mr. Young, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Young of Woodville, was cited for doing an outstanding job in creating new estates for clients of the agency in April and leading the organization for the month in volume.

REV. WAYNE ODOM GOES TO TYLER METHODIST CHURCH

The Rev. Wayne Odom, who has served as minister of the Woodville Methodist Church for the past five years, was transferred to the Pleasant Retreat Methodist Church in Tyler by Bishop Paul Martin at the recent Methodist District convention in Houston.

The Rev. and Mrs. Odom and family left Thursday of last week for their new home.

The county's budget for the Allan Shivers Library was also reduced from $8905 to $7015 per year. One commissioner, Leon Fowler of precinct three, voted against the library budget, stating that he felt it was still too high.

All the new salary schedules become effective July 1. The order was introduced by Herman Powell of precinct two.

The new salary schedule for elected officials is as follows: County Judge, $6460 annually plus $600 per year expenses. County attorney, county clerk, assessor-collector, and sheriff, $6460 per year. County treasurer, $5500 per year. District clerk, $5000 per year.

B. M. Minter, county school superintendent, informed the commissioners that his telephone bill, heretofore included in the county budget, will henceforth be added to the other expenses of his office which the state pays.

The county superintendent's salary is paid by the state as well as other expenses of the office except office space.

Other business at the special meeting included the setting of the land valuation for tax purposes. Leon Fowler introduced a motion seconded by Joe Best to raise the value on land company's holdings and on dry minerals. The motion was defeated with Best and Fowler voting for and F. C. Hicks, Herman Powell and County Judge Jeff Mooney voting against.

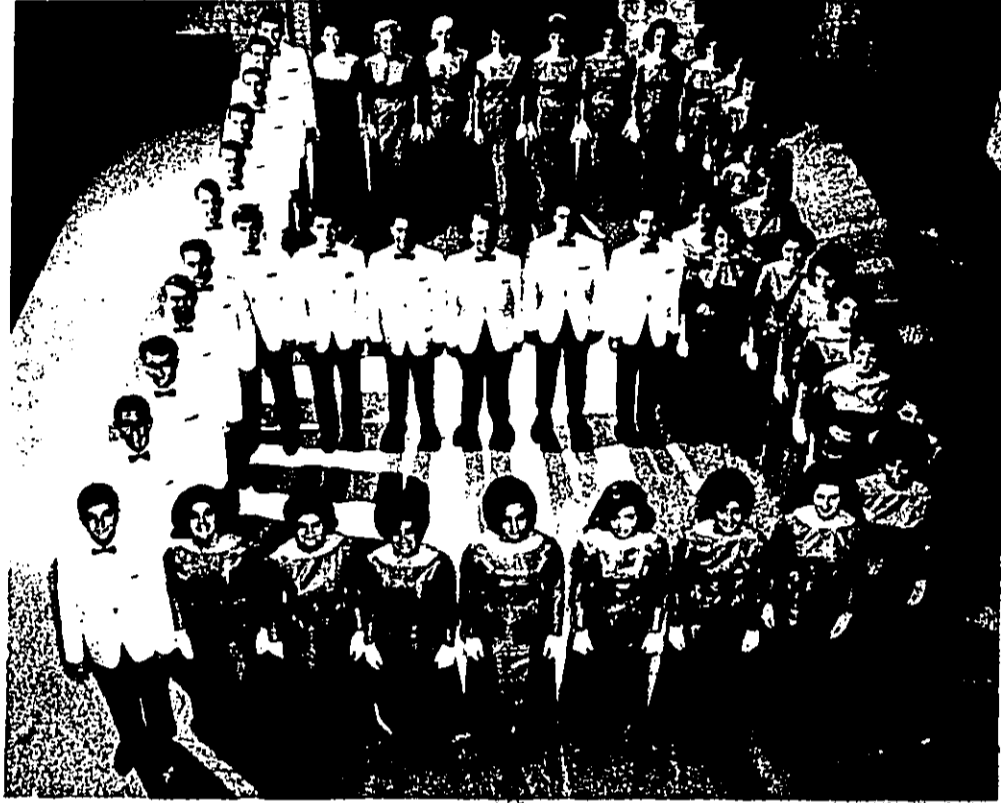

Mr. Powell introduced a motion seconded by Mr. Hicks to leave the valuations for tax purposes the same as last year on land companies and dry minerals. Powell, Hicks and Mooney voted for this motion with Best and Fowler against.

At a meeting last Thursday, the commissioners agreed to accept the Farm-to-Market Road designation of the old Antioch road running 5.2 miles from FM 1746 to FM 92. The county agreed to acquire the right of way for the road free of cost to the state and to remove all obstructions. The road will be built by the highway department at an estimated cost of $107,000 and the state will assume responsibility for its upkeep.

BYLOR'S FRESHMAN A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The Freshman A Cappella Choir of Baylor University, Waco, will present a concert Tuesday, June 22 in the First Baptist Church, at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

The Freshman A Cappella Choir, Baylor's newest choral organization was formed in 1960 by Dr. Euell Porter. The choir is open only to freshmen.

In 1964 the Freshman Choir toured the Eastern states and was an official representative of the State of Texas at the World's Fair in New York City. This year the choir will sing at The Baptist World Alliance to be held in June in Miami, Florida.

Dr. Euell Porter, conductor of the Choir, has recently received an honorable charter membership in the Choral Conductor's Guild "in recognition of outstanding work in the general field of choral music."

Dr. Porter received notification of the honor from Roy Anderson of New York Secretary of the Choral Conductor's Guild. Tyler County's application for Neighborhood Youth Corps Funds to provide jobs this summer for as many as 316 students is expected to be acted upon by the Governor's Office of Economic Opportunity the latter part of this week, according to Terrell Blodgett, state economic opportunity chief.

Tyler County commissioners court has applied for a total of $191,414 in funds to provide jobs for 316 students who will be used on various projects in the county.

The program is designed to provide jobs for students who need summer jobs to enable them to continue school next fall, and thus prevent dropouts. Projects which the students will be employed on will be varied. Park, cemeteries, and office assistance in the county offices will provide summer employment as well as experience.

Tyler County's application provides for the minimum wage scale of $1.25 hourly, a rate objected to by many school districts which earlier indicated an interest in the program.

County Judge Jeff R. Mooney said that he had hoped the application could be approved by June 15 so that the program could start at once. However, the large number of applicants received has created a slowup in approval. However, in a telephone conversation with the state economic opportunity office Tuesday, Judge Mooney learned that the Tyler County application would be acted upon as soon as possible, probably by the end of the week.

Tyler County's application is not the largest, several in the state office now being for a larger number of students and greater amounts of money. However, it ranks near the top in both categories.

Some nearby applications include Panola County (Chahage) 30 students and $18,163; Port Arthur, 95 students and $39,377; City of Jasper, 30 students, $17,847; City of Hemphill, 45 students, $19,980; South Park Schools, Beaumont, 155 students and $84,030.

All these applications listed the $1.25 minimum rate hourly except Hemphill, which set the hourly rate at $1.

County Commissioner Johnson's plan for a poverty program: Neighborhood Youth Corps is financed on a 90 percent Federal and 10 percent local basis. Local part of the financing can be done with goods and services, thus cutting down on actual cash expenditure.

However, unless the law is changed, the second year of the program will be on a 50-50 basis.

Pine Beetle Control Meeting Held Monday

Several landowners of Tyler County were among the 200 persons attending a public meeting at Kountze Monday where an entomologist from the Texas Forest Service explained the Southern Pine Beetle Infestation and the control measures necessary.

Heaviest infestation is in an area of about 216,000 acres from US Highway 190 between Woodville and Jasper south to State Highway 1013 between Hillister and Kirbyville.

ANOTHER VIEW

Beware The Pied Pipers of Recreation

The following article is reprinted from the Texas Tax Journal, which reprinted it from Weyerhaeuser News. The author is Ernest Swift, conservation advisor for the National Wildlife Association.

The viewpoint is printed as a matter for public consideration.

The extent of forest influence on America's history, on the character of her people and on her culture and economy is almost beyond estimation. With little prejudice, it can be said that North American forests were the aristocracy of the world's sylvia. Inturn austere, beautiful beyond description, warmly comforting.

Forests felt the first impact of settler invasion, and with mixed feeling the invaders felt the impact of the forests. Timber stands supplied many of the basic elements of livelihood, but also were considered an obstruction to agriculture a place of ambush by Indians, and a barrier to western migration.

Our forests were so lush and vast that for generations they were taken for granted thus fostering a mass ignorance of them. This ignorance was evident during much forest destruction, and also evident when many forestlands were later rehabilitated. The mass mind has never caught up with either extreme.

Forest taxation laws are one of the most important factors that influence the forest industry and the multiple use concept, which today includes re-

INTERNAL REVENUE QUESTION AND ANSWERS

Q. I pay a maid $5 a week for some part-time work. Instead of deducting 3 5/8 % of her wages for Social Security, can't I just pay the full 7 1/4 % myself at the end of the quarter when the report is due?

A. Yes, you may. Your responsibility as a household employer is to send in the social security taxes due each quarter with a tax return on Form 942 when the wages paid amount to $50 or more in a calendar quarter. Whether or not you pay the maid's portion of the amount due is up to you.

Q. My refund check arrived and I think a mistake was made. Whom should I contact, my district office or the office that sent me the check?

A. Inquiries about refunds or on any matter relating to your return should be directed to your local Internal Revenue office. The office issuing your check is a central disbursing office and does not handle other aspects of tax administration.

Q. I recently won a prize in an essay contest and I understand this is taxable. The prize was a washing machine. Do I report the retail or the wholesale cost as income for tax purposes?

A. Report the fair market value of your prize. Fair market value is defined as the price at which the property would change hands between a willing buyer and a willing seller, neither being under any compulsion to buy or sell.

Q. My husband and I are thinking about becoming foster parents. If we take two of these children into our home, may we claim their exemptions?

A. You are entitled to their exemptions if they live with you and you provide more than half the children's support. In other words, if they are with you the full tax year and the amount you contribute towards their support is greater than the amount you receive from the welfare department and from any other sources for placing the children in your home, you may claim the exemptions.

Q. We're planning our vacation trip this summer to take in several of our National Parks. A good part of our travel will be by air. Is the tax on plane tickets deductible?

A. No, it is not. This is a federal excise tax and such taxes are not deductible.

Q. I just got a promotion and a sizable raise. How can I make sure that I will not be underwithheld next year?

rites held Tuesday for William Bryan of Chester

Funeral services for William Stephen Bryan, 18, were held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at Enon Baptist Church with the Rev. J. W. Jolner, Jr. of Marshall and the Rev. F. G. Harding of Silsbee officiating.

Burial was in the Mt. Hope Cemetery near Chester under direction of the Edwards Funeral Home of Woodville.

pallbearers were Douglas David, Joe Lynn Whitworth, Rex Snelly, Gene Howard, Steve Havis and Wayne Phillips.

Bryan, Chester High School graduate of 1965, died at 5 a. m. Sunday in the Tyler County Hospital in Woodville from injuries received in a one-car highway accident two hours before.

The youth apparently hit a culvert in his late model vehicle approximately seven miles east of Chester on FM 1745. He was driving alone.

The accident was investigated by highway patrolman H. A. I. Stewart of Woodville.

Bryan was born in Highland. He had lived in Chester for 18 years. He was a letterman in football, baseball and track. He was also a member of the Future Farmers of America.

He was employed by the Ceco Construction Company of Houston. He was a member of the Enon Baptist Church of Chester.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bryan of Chester; two brothers, Robert Bingham Bryan of Odessa and Phillip Powell Bryan of Palestine; five sisters, Mrs. W. H. Gulley of Jasper, Mrs. J. V. Collum of Houston, Mrs. C. M. Tarkaly of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Mrs. De Wayne Herrington of Jasper and Miss Vickie Bryan of Chester, and his grandparents, Mrs. Dovie Bryan of Houston and D. W. C. McShan of Highland.

may file an amended declaration and increase your quarterly payments.

Q. Our son has a physical disability. For this reason we are planning to send him to a special school this summer which will help him overcome or compensate for his handicap. Can we deduct the school costs as a medical expense?

A. These costs are deductible if your son's condition is such that the resources of this special school for alleviating his type of handicap are a principal reason for his enrollment there. For example, the cost of sending a blind child to school to learn braille is a medical expense.

Q. I've heard that you can fight a tax case all the way to the Supreme Court. Is that true?

A. Yes, it is, although the likelihood is that the dispute would be settled at a lower level.

There are three levels set up within the Internal Revenue Service at which an agreement to the results of an examination may be reached. The first is the audit by an examining officer, the second is a conference with a member of the District Conference Staff, and the third level is the Service's Appellate Division. If you still do not agree to the proposed increase in your tax, you may then appeal to the Tax Court of the United States, from which decision appeals may be taken to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals and, ultimately, the Supreme Court of the United States. If a claim for refund was the subject of discussion at the district conference, and no agreement was reached at the Appellate level, your appeal would be then filed with the U. S. District Court or in the U. S. Court of Claims instead of the Tax Court.

All but a few of the tax disputes are settled in a district conference or at the appellate level.

Here's a quick and easy way to prepare hard cooked eggs for salads and sandwiches. Grease a large casserole and break in eggs--to not more than 2 inches in depth. Cover and set casserole in larger pan containing boiling water. Bake in preheated 400 degrees oven for 40 minutes or until eggs are done. Remove from oven and score eggs. They'll come out ready to use--no muss no fuss. This method is especially suited for quantity cooking, it saves work and eliminates difficulty encountered in peeling fresh eggs.

FROSTINGS THAT FREEZE WELL
Most cakes freeze well; few frostings do. Frostings containing egg whites are not suitable for freezing. They dry out and become crystalline. Whipped cream fillings are also unsuitable.

For best results, top your to-be frozen cake with an uncooked frosting made of confectioner's sugar. The fat will keep it moist and creamy for 4 to 6 months.

PLANNING TO CAN A FEW PEACHES AND PEARS?
Figure on 2 to 3 pounds of fresh fruit for each quart canned. Ask for Bulletin "Home Canning of Fruit and Vegetables"--B-194 or "Frozen Foods"--B-175.

NO WEEPY SALADS
Ever try to freeze a molded gelatin salad. Chances are it came out watery after freezing and thawing. It needn't. Simply use one-fourth less liquid than usual. When using lemon-flavored gelatin, for example, use 1 1/2 cups water instead of the two cups recommended on the label. Not only will you avoid weepy salads, but the celery in them will stay crisp.

Here's a recipe for a molded salad which you can put in your freezer, then bring forth when company comes.

MOLDED CHICKEN SALAD
(adapted for freezing)
1 can condensed cream soup (mushroom preferred)
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup water
2 cups diced meat
(any substitute--such as turkey, veal, ham or tuna fish)
1 cup diced celery
2 pimientos cut in small pieces
1/2 cup cooked salad dressing (not mayonnaise)

Soak gelatin in cold water and add heated condensed soup. Stir to dissolve gelatin then add other ingredients. Mix. Pour into a mold and chill in refrigerator until firm. The freeze-for no longer than two weeks.

THAW OVERNIGHT IN THE REFRIGERATOR.
SHEPHERD REUNION TO BE HELD SUNDAY AT DIES

The annual Shepherd reunion will be held Sunday, June 20, at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Eaves near Dies Community. Friends and relatives are invited to come and bring a basket lunch.

98-Year Old "Bull-Whacker" Still Going Strong

LOGHAULERS WERE BACKBONE OF THE TIMBER INDUSTRY

At the turn of the century while the rest of the nation was developing its natural resources, the deep East Texas Pineywoods area and the Central Louisiana tall timber region were busy developing their vast timber resources. During the Timber Era both large and small timber companies developed, such as the mighty empire of John Henry Kirby, the small Hyatt mill of the Rice Brothers, and the myriads of other mills that were born out of the virgin forests and now only exist in the worn memories of the log haulers. Regardless of the well publicized sawmill owners and timber tycoons, the rugged, common men known as the log haulers were the real backbone of those early high timber empires.

Ben Odom, the father of Mrs. A.M. "Slats" Ralmer of Warren, is one of those early "bull-whackers" who lived during the days when the timber industry was just beginning to develop. On June 7, 1865, Mr. Odom celebrated his 98th birthday; he is now the oldest known living log hauler in Central Louisiana.

Born in 1867, Ben Odom has lived to see more progress in his lifetime than most people are fortunate enough to encounter. Mr. Odom's career as a "bull-whacker" or log hauler began at the turn of the century when he was still a single man. He first worked for the Zimmerman Company around 1900; and he was later employed by the Hart and Field Mill located between Hombeck and Leesville. However, Odom reached the height of his career while working for the Nona Mill Company in Leesville, Louisiana. He became widely known for his skill in handling the eight-yoke ox teams to effect large, quick log deliveries. A testimony to Odom's ability is found in a letter written 55 years ago to Odom from Dan Warner of the Nona Mill Company; the original letter is still in the Odom family's possession. The letter reads as follows:

Leesville 5/8/10
Boyce, La.
Dear Sir and friend
As I have not heard from you since you left I will write you a few lines. Ben I write you to come and drive for me again. I have 4 of the best teams in the state. I am logging a small mill for the Nona Mill Co. in the best timber you ever saw. If you will come I will give you $1.50 and straight board and a good rig. Let me hear from you soon.

Your friend,
D.A. Warner
Mr. Odom enjoys recalling many of his early experiences in the logging camps. With a note of pride, he recently recalled the time when he and his crew flooded the Nona Mill with so many logs that the logging crews became weeks ahead of the mill. He also recalled a certain log eight feet in diameter which lay in the woods for weeks because no crew could load the log and pull it out of the woods. Much to everyone's surprise, Odom and his crew, with two teams of oxen, appeared at the mill one evening with the large log. These, and others, make up a vast store of tall timber tales which Mr. Odom likes to spin for anyone who will listen, but the good part is that they are all true.

Undoubtedly, Ben Odom could have pursued a very successful career as a logging contractor, but he decided at the age of 44 to settle down to the quietness of family life. In 1911, Odom married Martha Nichols, the late sister of Dock Nichols of Warren. No one could have been happier those days than the Odom family; however, only eleven years after his marriage, Odom was left a widower with five small children. The family still remarks with wonder about their survival during those trying years. Today, Mr. Odom lives near Sharp, Louisiana, on a small farm located about four miles from his nearest neighbor. Although he is now 98 years old, Odom enjoys such hobbies as raising livestock, hunting, horse-back riding, occasional sharp shooting, and swapping tall timber tales with anyone who will listen. In spite of his age, he has found much in life to live for. He particularly enjoys visiting with his friends and he takes a most active interest in his nation's politics. He has been a lifelong Democrat, and he was a most avid supporter of the late Huey P. Long.

Mr. Odom's family includes two sons, Benjamin Odom of Mora, Louisiana, and Willie Odom of Hot Wells, Louisiana; and three daughters, Mrs. John Phillips of Mora, Louisiana, Mrs. A. D. Guins, Sr., of Boyce, Louisiana, and Mrs. A. M. Ralmer of Warren, Texas. There are also seven grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren, all of which are Mr. Odom's pride and joy. Although Ben Odom is only one of many such men who took an active part in the building of the East Texas and Central Louisiana timber empire, his spryness and wit in his late years make him one that stands out in the memory of all who have met him.

PIED PIPERS--

creation. More and more forests, regardless of ownership, are playing a dual role. Forests furnish much of the physical land area for recreation, while converted forests products supply a money surplus above daily wages so people can afford to recreate. Hunters, fishermen, hikers and all other weekend woodsmen have a big stake in equitable taxation policies on forestlands. But to pick an enthusiastic, city-bred hunter out of the barber shop and try to relate forest taxation to his favorite custard pie to the wall. It's all so foreign to his conservation understanding that he won't even stay to listen. Millions like him can generate an emotional head of steam about their favorite sport, but won't contribute one ounce of serious study. Whenever a taxation adjustment related to the peculiar problems of the forest industry is mentioned, a preconceived label of some form of fast deal or special privilege peddling usually is applied. The stereotype reaction is that "big business" gets all the breaks.

Many recreationists just don't approach the management of resources with economic realism. They castigate the forest industry for the well publicized abuses of the past without realizing that an unrealistic tax system was at least in part responsible, since high taxes on standing timber probably encouraged the cut-and-get-out period of history. The average urban or country dweller, bent on a few hours or weeks recreation, doesn't bother with the profundities of economics. Many have only the vaguest notion of even the ecological relation between plants, animals, soil and water. They have less understanding yet that resource management, the cornerstone of survival, is concerned with industry, standards of living, education, markets, legislation, taxes, and the interrelationship of community, state and national economies. They fail to realize that there can be no extensive recreation without a sound economy, although it seems obvious that no one can have recreation time on his hands most scratch for a living seven days a week. Neither industry nor recreation can flourish today without an intelligent understanding of forest-land taxation. It is difficult to understand why the basic principles of resource management have been so long glossed over and ignored. In my opinion, this present vacuum of understanding is due to a delinquent education system in teaching conservation and resource management, narrow, specialized interests mental laziness and pied-piper leadership more interested in telling people of their constitutional rights to leisure and the outdoor experience than in insisting on an understanding of conservation precepts and citizenship responsibility. In the midst of our leisure boom, a frantic reach for recreation is beginning to upset the base which makes recreation possible. Countless Americans are turning to the open spaces. The recreational and speculative urge to buy land is in the boom stage and has extended into nearly every corner of the nation. It is no longer a matter of buying beyond the fringe of a city. Metropolitan dwellers are buying land 500 to 1,000 from their homes and are not quibbling over prices. A private plane can take them to their weekend retreat in a few hours. There are many reasons for this upsurge of the desire to own a plot of ground a nostalgic holdover from their rural background; some simply want a hideout, if that is possible anymore; some buy for investment and anticipated profit, others to soften their personal tax situation, still others as a status symbol. Whatever the reason land prices are booming, populations are increasing--and the amount of land area remains the same. The high prices being paid in many instances are adding confusion to the problems of the tax assessors and headaches to the land-based industries. Investigations show that people in all states are buying forest, farm and wastelands, almost helter-skelter, at prices far in excess of values justified for the usual economic use of the land. When this happens, local tax assessors are tempted to increase the valuation of all adjoining tracts on the basis of prices paid for recreation values. Then up go the taxes on the forest-land, sometimes to heights that make mill owners turn purple. When an assessor sees fantastic prices paid for recreation or residential lands, he is tempted to hike all land taxes regardless of use. If he does not recognize the difference between quick development for recreation or residential and long-term crop use, an assessor could run a farmer or timber operator out of business. The land-based industries are only media to convert raw material to finished products for our demanding consumer society. There is no element of resource management which so sharply delineates realism or lack of it between land-based industries and millions of free wheeling recreationists as the general subject of taxation. In the case of the forest industry there must be assured an equitable taxation base or it could be faced with the specter of destructive practices or bankruptcy. Uncertain future tax levels are a sure deterrent to any long-range forest management and allied investment. Intensive study is needed to classify lands for their proper long-term use and to establish a tax base which will guarantee long-term land productivity. The man who really needs to know the facts is Mr. Average American who knows little about land-use problems or land ownership. His only contact is through recreation. We must start the job of educating Mr. Average to at least a minimum understanding of the basic economics of land-based industries which convert resources to products and paychecks. The job of education will have to start with driving home the fact that his recreational opportunities are tied to the economy of the land. Less pied-piper talk of the right to leisure and more awareness of the basic productive resources which make leisure possible is needed in these coming decades of the recreation boom. We must successfully communicate that the nation will prosper only as land productivity is increased and that the forest industry can prosper only with an equitable and guaranteed tax system. Tax valuations of forestlands cannot be allowed to skyrocket every time someone pays 10 times commercial land value for a weekend cabin site. The power to tax still has the potential power to destroy. Taxes are not just something for other fellow to worry about. For the recreationist, they are part of the complex system which makes his weekend outing possible. ROTARY TO MEET L. M. Feagin will report on the "Student Loan Fund and Rex Kennerly will give a financial report at the meeting of the Rotary Club when it meets Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Community Inn.

Historic Mound Near Alto

The home site of a tribe of Caddo Indians who lived about 1000 A.D. near Alto, in Cherokee County, today supports a forest of small trees. This is the site of Texas Forest Service Indian Mound Nursery, located six miles southwest of Alto, along State Highway 21 where it crosses the Neches River.

Only a granite monument atop a 30 feet high, "L" shaped mound testifies to the Indians' having been there. A portion of the mound and surrounding area was excavated in 1940 by the Department of Anthropology of the University of Texas. Although no important artifacts were found, items of pottery, flint and sites of several houses were located. Archaeologists believe the mound was used as a place to worship their sun god. Occasionally, pieces of pottery and flint are unearthed as the area near the mound is cultivated by nursery personnel. Presence of several constantly flowing springs nearby probably accounts for the Indians' use of the area. Availability of surface water for irrigation was a major factor in selecting the area as a state tree nursery.

To the citizens of nearby Alto goes a large amount of credit for their part in purchase of the 173 acres in 1940.

GRANDSON TAKES PART IN VIET NAM COMBAT

Radioman Third Class Azile R. Bice, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bice, Sr. of Route 2, Alto, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Bice of Dam B, participated in the largest amphibious operations since Inchon, Korea, in 1950, while serving aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Canberra. Initial elements of the Fourth Marine Regiment and Third Reconnaissance Battalion were landed at Chu Lai, Republic of Viet Nam, on May 7, 1965. This was the first completely "over the beach" landings that have been made in South Viet Nam.

The Canberra was the task force's principal source of gunfire support during the Chu Lai assault.

Without the harbor landing ramps of Da Nang to rely on, all the Marines' equipment and supplies were landed over the Seabees installed causeways or flown in by Marine helicopters from the ships anchored off Chu Lai, to the south of Da Nang.

The landing also incorporated the initial combat use by Americans of vertical assault with the landing of combat troops by helicopters from the amphibious assault ship USS Princeton. The Marines were quickly followed ashore by Navy Seabees who immediately began construction of an airfield behind the Chu Lai beaches.

The Marines were landed at the request of the Republic of Viet Nam government and are to provide security for the airfield, similar to their mission at Da Nang, relieving South Vietnamese Army troops presently in the area.
