The Woodville Eagles were able to edge the Buna Cougars 6-0 and register their first victory of the 1965 season. The game was one of defense on the part of the Eagles and its outcome was determined by several stalwart goal-line stands.

Buna was able to make consistent gains and played in the Woodville end of the field for almost the entire game. The Eagles were able to move the ball for only about 100 yards against 220 for the Cougars.

COMMISSIONERS VOTE TAX ASSESSOR HELP

Tyler County Commissioners Court held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday with a short session devoted to monthly routine business.

The commissioners voted to pay current bills, and voted to accept the quarterly report of J. L. Boyd, county treasurer. County Judge Jeff Mooney brought up the necessity of completing the tax rolls so that statements can be sent out and some taxes collected. Mr. Mooney said that A.L. (Pete) Thornton, tax assessor-collector, needed extra help in the office so that the roll could be completed in short order.

Mr. Mooney said that the tax and approved by the court before October 1. He attributed the delay to the tax office's efforts to eliminate double rendition and get the rolls in good shape.

Leon Fowler, precinct three, made the motion to authorize extra help for the office. The motion was seconded by H.H. Powell, precinct two, and all commissioners and the county judge voted for it.

Mr. Mooney also brought up the point of law that all bills of the county should be approved and signed by the commissioners court before they are paid. He said that some bills were being made without the commissioners signing an approval of the payments. The court passed an order directing the county treasurer not to pay any bills which have not been approved and signed by a majority of the commissioners court.

I REMEMBER BY THE OLD TIMER
From: Clara Warner, Barrow, Pennsylvania. In reference to Wallace S. Murray's letter, I must say it brought back old time memories to me. I do not recall the exact time, but I had a soft cream center thick covered with chocolate. It came into being about the time William J. Bryan, Democrat, and William McKinley, Republican, were running for President. There was a catchy Republican song with the 16 to 1 slogan. All I can remember of it is... I was in a dairy at our street corner, getting milk to add to what we already had for oyster stew - good milk, 1/4 yellow cream, at a quart; skim at 4 per quart. The dairymen just grabbed his hat and said to his wife, "McKinley has been shot. I'm off to Washington." I went home and told Mother. Father came home and he too was in a hurry - off to Washington. During the hour of the funeral service the power was turned off all over Philadelphia. The church bells pealed and most people on the streets stood with heads bowed. I like to think they all did as we did - said silent prayer for our fallen leader. Thanks for the memories and I do enjoy the column.

VA QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA Office.

Dividends
This insurance dividend has already been paid to more than 16 million WWII veterans and is being distributed to approximately 4 million more, according to Percy J. Sims, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Houston. Sims says the dividend was highly publicized and nearly all veterans who were eligible have received payment. Sims emphasized:
"For example, he pointed out, 98.8% of the 700,000 Texas veterans who had National Service Life Insurance at the end of WWII have received the dividend."
Some few veterans with lapses policies were not reached by the Veterans Administration due to incorrect address. Those few are still eligible, the passage of 15 years without contact indicates that a great many of these veterans have since been reached by the VA Manager.

THE FAMILY LAWYER
Who Owns a Letter?
Interesting letters may give birth to interesting notions. Such as:
"I'd better not throw away this letter from Fred. He might become famous some day and then the letter could be worth a lot of money as a collector's item."
"Sure, Fred really does become famous and his letter valuable. Would it belong to you, because it was sent to you?"
The law's definition is to divide the ownership of a letter into two separate rights - the right of possession and the right of publication. The recipient has the right of possession of the paper and ink. He may keep the letter as a memento, sell it to a collector, or even toss it into a bonfire if he pleases. But the right of publication - to make copies and exploit it as publicity - will belong to the original writer.
This division of rights was illustrated in a famous lawsuit involving some personal letters written by Mary Baker Eddy, founder of Christian Science. After her death, her executor tried to prevent the auctioning of these letters. The court ruled that the sale of itself could not be prevented, because Mrs. Eddy had never given away the right of publication. Of course, circumstances arise. For example, if you write a letter-to-the-editor, you are obviously giving the editor not only the right of possession but the right of publication as well. Also, publication of a letter without the writer's consent may be justified by the necessities of law enforcement. Thus, when a woman charged with infanticide, incriminating letters she had written were held admissible in court even though she tried to keep them out. But as the law stands, the separate rights of possession and publication will be kept apart. For the law is simply lending form to the instinctive promptings of fair play.
"According to befitting decorum, such letters, written to her to keep and not to be published, are a public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will O. Perkins."

Annual New Warden Classes Soon to Begin
The sturdy youth pursuing full outdoor sports with more than that ordinary zeal, perhaps just a little taller in the saddle, may have a different role. He could be one of the young men of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, training for the annual new warden class which, sometime before late summer rains cool and rejuvenate the parched earth, will assume new positions as full-fledged Texas game wardens.
Active interest in the outdoors naturally is a requisite for the applicants since a major portion of the training will be in some form of wildlife maintenance. The law enforcement coordinator, John Reagan Bilde, no longer is confined to the actual wildlife harvest routine. "Rather," he works to help boys and girls in their outdoor recreation activities. More details are available for persons by writing the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John Reagan Bilde, Austin, Texas 78707. Applications may be obtained at regional or district Departmental offices. The deadline is October 25.

NOVEMBER 11 IS VETERANS DAY
November 11 is Veterans Day, a day dedicated to world peace... a day to recall our past achievements and our present obligations. Since insurance premiums are based on the age nearest the birthday, you may wish to wait long and find that for insurance purposes you are a year older than you really are and the premium will be higher.

VA Corrects Mistake on GI Insurance
The Veterans Administration labeled "totally incorrect and misleading" recent reports that certain veterans were entitled to $200 for a 1946 GI Insurance Dividend.
"This insurance dividend has already been paid to more than 16 million WWII veterans and is being distributed to approximately 4 million more, according to Percy J. Sims, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Houston. Sims says the dividend was highly publicized and nearly all veterans who were eligible have received payment. Sims emphasized:
"For example, he pointed out, 98.8% of the 700,000 Texas veterans who had National Service Life Insurance at the end of WWII have received the dividend."
Some few veterans with lapses policies were not reached by the Veterans Administration due to incorrect address. Those few are still eligible, the passage of 15 years without contact indicates that a great many of these veterans have since been reached by the VA Manager."
