Pine Hills Park Bids To Be Opened On August 23

Bids on the various projects for the Pine Hills Rural Recreational Park will be opened at 1:30 p.m. on August 23 in the Heritage Room at Dogwood Motor Hotel following the final approval of a $200,000 loan by the Farmers Home Administration last week.

Approval of the loan, announced by Congressman John Dowdy, means that the project on 160 acres of land just west of the Tyler County Airport will soon become a reality, according to Morris Clemmons, Jr., president of the park corporation board.

Plans in the project include a clubhouse, golf course, Olympic-size swimming pool, trap shooting range, baseball diamond, tennis courts and a picnic area.

The loan has been pending for several months. A membership drive was held last year to begin efforts to secure the loan and build the recreational park.

In addition to Mr. Clemmons, officers of the park corporation are Walter Rusek, vice president; Barclay Dismukes, secretary; and Grady James and George Tubb, directors.

Harry Stafford, attorney for the park board, said that any local contractors who are interested in sub-contracting the various projects may contact him for details. A set of plans will be available for study at Boykin Lumber and Supply, Pennington Building Materials and Feagin Lumber Yard, he said, as well as at Dogwood Motor Hotel. Engineers for the project are K. Gordon Johnson and Associates of Palestine.

Clinton R. Currie, Tyler County Agricultural agent for 11 years, has been named to receive the highest award given by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents, their Distinguished Service Award for 1957.

Mr. Currie is one of seven Texans receiving the award which is presented annually to a group of county agents throughout the nation who, over a period of 10 years or more, have made outstanding contributions to agriculture and improved rural living. The nominations for the award were made by the Texas Association and confirmed by the candidates by the National Association, was announced by Todd W. Berry, Texas awards Committee chairman.

Mr. Currie will be recognized at the Texas Association's annual meeting in Amarillo August 8. The presentation of the award will be made at the National Meeting scheduled for September 17-21 in Omaha, Nebraska.

The Association cited Currie "for outstanding leadership in developing programs in productive agriculture, including forestry, which have given stability and increased farm and ranch income to the county." Also for work with the county program building committee in carrying out result demonstrations, educational short courses, tourism activities and the building of a strong 4-H program, including a county council and leaders organization.

Mr. Currie is a native of Kennard in Houston County. He attended Arlington State College for two years and then graduated from Texas A & M University with a B.S. degree in agricultural education. He is doing graduate work at A & M.

He has worked closely with adults and 4-H Club members and six of the county's 4-Hers have won first place with broilers and capons in the South Texas State Fair. Currie has supervised 134 4-H Club boys who caught calves in the Houston Livestock Show and Fair. Scramble and other members who have won top positions in state competitions.

Through the county program building committee, Currie has supervised short courses in beef cattle for eight years and the first swine short course in 1957. Also, the county has been helped through the Soil Fertility Program which Currie supervised.

He has assisted area farmers in developing their pastures and promoted Coastal bermudagrass in Tyler County. The effect of these programs is shown by the fact that the county has gone from a deficit hay area to a selling area.

Mr. Currie organized the Tyler County Hay Show which has been held for three years and has aided greatly in the quality hay production program.

Tyler County has benefited from the demonstrations on pastures, hay, beef, cattle, swine, corn, broilers, layers and timber. Guidelines on production of these products have been supplied by every farmer in the county. Vegetable marketing and tourism in the area have also received the attention of the award winner.

Signs Call Attention to Information Booths

FREE TYLER COUNTY MAPS=INFORMATION

Six signs to call attention to a like number of information booths in Tyler County to dispense literature and information about the various attractions of the county have been set up by the Four-County Program Building Committee, headed by C. L. DeLoe, Grayson County. Mr. Gray and the information booths will be maintained by the Tyler County. The signs are located at May's Grocery at Rockland, the intersection of Highway 190, C. A. Williams Cafe at 12th and 13th Streets, Service Station at Spurzer, and at John Tolar's Station in Chester.

Retail Merchants Committee Meets

By I. T. JACKSON

The Retail Merchants Committee of the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce met at the Dogwood Motor Hotel Tuesday night at 7:00 p.m.

Leroy Davis, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee, called the meeting to discuss ways of promoting more business through the combined efforts of all the businessmen of Tyler County.

Clyde Gray, owner of Heritage Garden Museum informed the committee that he had bought the materials, made and erected signs at various places where people could easily see them as they entered Tyler County. At the places where the signs were erected, information booths will be set up through the courtesy of businessmen at these six locations listed below.

On Hwy. 190 east, an information booth and sign is at C. A. Williams Cafe at Dam B; Hwy. 190 west of Woodville near the county line, at Lloyd Dicken's store; on Hwy. 69 south near Warren at Everts Drive; at Spurzer on Hwy. 92 at Lem Frazier's; at May's General Store at Rockland; and at John Tolar's in Chester.

This is a good example of what one person can do if he is interested in a particular project and gives undividedly of his time and efforts for the benefit of all the business people in Tyler County.

We think Mr. Gray should be commended for the time and effort devoted to this project and should be rewarded with personal thanks and, by all means, reimbursement of funds invested and also more consideration for perpetual maintenance of these signs.

Turnout for the Retail Merchants' meeting Tuesday night was not quite as large as was hoped for but the interest among the members present indicated that future meetings will probably be more productive in bringing forth new ideas and suggestions for improving business.

The six information booths at the points listed above will contain literature and maps that will be of interest to tourists entering Tyler County. Points of interest such as Dam B, Sam Rayburn Heritage Garden, and various historical sites will be outlined in the brochures.

Also brought to the attention of the members present was the need for an educational program to enlighten the various employees and interested parties of where different businesses are located, where and when meetings are held, where and when church services convene, and answers to many other questions that are asked by people traveling through Tyler County. This does not mean to say that some people in Tyler County are dumb—it only means that some are not interested enough to be informed. So through the combined efforts of the various civic and social clubs, business and service organizations, and the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce, it is hoped that a better understanding of the county will be gained by the traveling public.
