By KEN POSTON
And the rains came! Deed they did. . . we have really received some of that "liquid sunshine" as Bill Mack says. . . and in great quantities. The Pineywoods prophet had predicted since the first of last week that there would be wetness, but it wasn't until Thursday that his prophecy was upheld.

This writer had the pleasure of attending the second annual charger day banquet of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Woodville last Thursday night. We had the good fortune of hearing a very inspiring address by the pastor of the Central Baptist Church in Livingston, the Rev. David Michael. . . I believe that his talk really hit home, especially the point he made about doing the best you can with what you have. Rev. Michael put the point directly to the persons in attendance, and issued a challenge of sorts to the residents of Woodville. . .

And here is the crux of the matter. . . Each one of us is endowed with a certain ability, an ability to do something useful for ourselves, our community, our nation and our God. . . I have seen in Woodville a great evidence of people putting to best use their abilities. . . but also, and this I am sad to say, I have seen evidence of people who could care less whether they do something useful with their abilities for our community. . . to you that really do your best, I say thank you for making this wonderful town in which to live and prosper. . . to those of you who don't have the spirit to use their abilities to their own and their fellowman's best interest, I say I feel sorry for you. Stay that way and you may be a great person in your own eyes, but eventually, you'll find out that your stature in the eyes of your peers has considerably diminished. Here's hoping that each one of us can really put out abilities to best use for Woodville and the world.

Also at the banquet I had the honor of talking for an extended length of time with Josiah Wheat, the newly elected president of the State Bar of Texas. Josiah is a real asset to the community in my opinion. The honor bestowed on him by the 18,000 members of the State Bar really reflects a confidence in his ability and a belief fairly young man, with progressive ideas, can be of benefit to his state. Josiah is already of much benefit to Woodville in his capacity as attorney-at-law, as well as a civic leader. He is, I believe, a personification of the doing what you can with the best you have theory. . . Congratulations, Joe.

The Jasper Lions Club Rodeo will already be underway by the time you read this column, but you'll still have time to journey to Jasper and take in this spectacle. I personally know Marty Robbins who will be starting through Saturday, and can say that Marty puts on a really fine show. Willie Nelson, who will star Saturday night, is also a great entertainer. So you should really get your money's worth if you attend the Jasper Lions Club Rodeo.

PEOPLE WE SAW: Uncle Drew Walker bringing some more pecans around, Harry Stafford, Josiah Wheat, and Jimmy Freeman, extolling the virtues of San Houston State College. Jose Cortero really laying some sounds out in a solo rendition of "Alfie". Our friend Arlie Allen from Jasper telling the old man and your's truly why him coffee the other morning. My brother-in-law, Cecil Chance of San Augustine, helping me catch some fish out of Dam B Sunday afternoon. Don Weir from Diboll, Texas stopping in for a visit. My buddy, Joe Hughes, trying to shake me loose for a deep sea fishing trip and nearly everyone trying to get out of the rain. "Nut" said. . .

Voter Apathy Seen For Second Primary

American Party Precinct Meetings Attended By 140
Precinct conventions of the American Party, which is supporting former Alabama Governor George Wallace for president, were attended by about 140 persons in Tyler County May 4, according to reports of the meetings filed in the county clerk's office. Support of the American Party was well scattered throughout the county with conventions held in 11 of the 15 voting precincts. The party needed nearly 15,000 voters at the precinct conventions in Texas in order to get Wallace on the November general election ballot. Latest figures showed that over 135,000 persons attended the party's conventions in Texas.

WHAT DOES TYLER COUNTY NEED THE MOST?
Last week the Booster started a new series of articles entitled "What Does Tyler County Need The Most?". We started off with four needs to be discussed. These points were based on subjects we had heard the most comment about from the average person we had talked to. We plan on discussing education, industry, financial, and youth. We have asked our readers to write letters stating their thinking on these subjects. The first one up was "Our Tyler County Educational Facilities", and we feel that this is one of the most important because here-in lies the future of Tyler County. As of present time, the Booster HAD NOT RECEIVED ONE LETTER CONCERNING THIS MOST IMPORTANT SUBJECT. This means one of several things. It could mean that everyone is perfectly happy with the educational facilities just like they are, or that some who might like to express themselves are afraid to say anything, or that people are just complacent and let it go at that. Yet everyday we hear people say that so and so or such and such should be done when we talk with them. Maybe, "however", that it is so close to time for school to be out that everyone has decided to wait until next fall to get interested in the future of our children. We feel that Tyler County does have a good school system with some very capable folks working to improve it, and it is not our desire to try to start a "ruckus" to tear our system up. We are merely trying to find out how folks feel and if they could offer some suggestions that might be helpful in making it better. We were also interested in how our area folks felt about a Junior College for the area. Since we didn't get any results from the first subject concerning education, we will pass on to the one for next week, and that is INDUSTRY. Let us hear your thoughts on industry for Tyler County.

Correction

The case of Jack Lane Ford, Inc. vs. T. K. Goolsbee which was shown to be on the court settings which was run in last week's Booster, should not have been run as the case had been dismissed due to the fact that the defendant, T. K. Goolsbee, had paid the indebtedness sued on.

Candidates for the Democratic nomination who face each other in the run-off primary June 1 all have had work in common. Will the voters turn out in any large numbers for the primary? Less than one-half of the qualified voters in the state of Texas voted in the first primary, May 4. Of the 4 million who registered only a little over 2 million went to the polls. A few were siphoned off by the American Party conventions, but for the most part they just stayed at home. There is a strong belief in both the liberal and conservative camps backing Don Yarbrough and Preston Smith for Governor that the turnout June 1 will be much less than on May 4. Of course, a high turnout will help Don Yarbrough, the liberals and liberal party. But see to it that a majority of their followers go to the polls. In local races, the same voter apathy bothers candidates who must face each other in the June 1 run-off primary. Except, perhaps, for the State Representative race in liberal versus conservative circles will not figure in district and local races in which there is a run-off. State Representative J. E. Miller is generally considered to be on the liberal side but even so local issues will have more weight here. Don Adams, his opponent for State Representative, is stressing local issues. In Tyler County, where voters turned out much better than the state as a whole, about 75 percent of the county's 5200 qualified voters went to the polls May 4. However, in the sheriff's race and in the tax assessor-collector run-off, candidates are working hard to keep their supporters interested enough to go to the polls June 1. Both Sheriff Grady Ray and his run-off opponent, Lewis E. Craven, expect the number of voters on June 1 to fall below the percentage who went to the polls in the first primary. In the other run-off in which A. L. (Pete) Thornton faces Tom Sawyer for tax assessor-collector, both candidates also are trying to keep supporters interested enough to go to the polls. Tyler County voters will have only the four run-off races in which to vote. On the ballot will be Preston Smith and Don Yarbrough for Governor; J. F. Miller, Jr. and Don Adams for State Representative; Grady Ray and Lewis E. Craven for Sheriff; and A. L. Thornton and Tom Sawyer for tax assessor-collector. Absentee voting for the June 1 run-off primary will be held at the county clerk's office from May 22 through May 26. Also voters who are qualified to vote in Texas but who have lived in the county less than the required six months perform a vote in the governor's race at the county clerk's office during this same period. The county clerk's office is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Persons who attended the American Party conventions and who have American Party stamped on their voter registration slips are not eligible to vote in the second Democratic primary. However, they can vote in the November general election for any candidate--Democratic, Republican, or American Party--they wish. They may vote a split ticket if they desire to do so in November.

What makes a Pontiac a Pontiac?

(And what makes ordinary cars better?)

Only Pontiacs have Walk-In-Back. Drive a Pontiac and you'll wonder why you didn't buy a Pontiac before.

There's no other car that has so many innovations like GTO's Burner of the Year. Make a Pontiac look expensive. But record sales prove we know how to price them, too.

The Farmers Market will have their grand opening Thursday, May 16, at 9:30 a.m. Mayor Jack Moore will be on hand to cut the ribbon.

Farmers will be on hand with new potatoes, snap beans, onions, English peas, greens and cabbage.

The market will be open daily from this date through the end of the market during the market season.

The membership of the market comes from two counties surrounding Beaumont. Nearly one hundred farmers sell on the market during the market season.

See your Pontiac dealer. He's out to smash sales records for the 7th straight year!

HOMEMAKING HINTS

By Mrs. Maurine J. Mooney, County HDA

CHECK YOUR KITCHEN FOR SAFETY FEATURES—It's never too late to make new year's resolutions. How about resolving now—the minute you read this—to become more safety minded? Safety is what we make it. Accidents don't just happen—we cause them. Being safety-aware this month may help to form new habits. Safety is a year round job.

Just think, over four million people had serious accidents in the home last year. There were about 52,000 fatal injuries. Falls caused nearly half of these deaths.

Most of these accidents occur in the kitchen. Simple little things often remove these hazards. Get rid of those electric cords on the floor. Discard any rug or mat that is not securely fastened. Don't insist on highly polished floors that are slippery. Clean up spills as soon as they happen. Furniture that extends out into pathways has caused many a tripping. A convenient light switch may reduce a hazard. A simple hot water faucet do-over lock accident-prone, but it can cause one. Turn it on and out comes a stream of hot water. It is careless to stick hands or any part of the body into hot water without testing it first. Bad burns are slow to heal.

All of the electric work-savers in the kitchen are wonderful to have. But, they can become vicious demons all in a second from careless use. Remember one little rule of thumb: If you do get caught, disconnect at the socket at once.

Make the kitchen that happy, cheerful and safe working place in the home. A check on them might reveal some needed adjustments.

Did you think that resolution to be more safety conscious?

TOWER REPORTS

BY U. S. SEN. JOHN TOWER

I have difficulty describing the feeling. It was a sort of dismay I've never felt before, and it came from seeing armed paratroopers at every door of the Senate Office Building, a machine gun on the Capitol steps, police reduced to directing traffic for looters, and arsonists burning at will within blocks of the White House. I suspect you felt pretty much the same way as you watched it on television.

It happened here in the days after Dr. King's death, but militants and lawless elements rapidly made a mockery of that death and the nonviolent philosophy Dr. King preached. (Senseless rioting is the same sort of lawlessness as senseless assassination.) Rioters and hoodlums roamed wild agitated by such as Stokely Carmichael—lately returned from Havana and Hanoi.

It all had little to do with "civil rights." Those involved were vandals, criminals and revolutionaries. They outraged civilized society, bred chaos, and directly assaulted American concepts of law and order. Unfortunately, for too long such criminals have been coddled with the restraint we traditionally apply to peaceful demonstrators. And we see what has happened. Such criminal disruption must stop in America. And the best medicine to cure the illness of lawlessness is a good, stiff dose of law and order.

It's time government remembered the law-abiding citizens—Latin, Negro and white—and protected them against terrorism and plunder. It's time the Attorney General stood up for the law instead of apologizing for it. It's time those people who want to do the right thing get some support from their leadership. The Senate has passed both a Civil Rights Bill and a Law Enforcement Bill this spring. Neither was perfect, but in conjunction they reveal, I believe, the determination of citizens of good will that our nation shall have both social progress and certain order. That's what I seek as your United States senator.

TALKING AND FIGHTING—We all are pleased that at least some preliminary talks with the North Vietnamese seem possible. I believe that in this time of sensitive diplomatic contacts it is particularly important that none of us here at home do or say anything that would hamper our President's peace efforts or that would encourage the enemy to prolong his stubbornness. I know Texans will stand firm against the prophets of "peace at any price" and will, instead, support our quest for meaningful talks backed up by impressive allied military strength.

U. S. S. PUEBLO—The Armed Services Committee has tried to keep itself advised of all developments on the Pueblo. The most hopeful thing I can report is that we probably will be able to negotiate release of the crew sometime in 1969. Meantime, we can all also hope our nation has learned its lesson and will never again allow a U. S. ship to be seized on the high seas with the captor nation going free of meaningful punishment.

DESTROYED ECONOMY—Our economy is in trouble. So is our dollar. Deficit federal spending has finally caught up with us as you and I have for so long warned. Our $10 bill has lost $1 in buying power in just three years. I supported a Senate bill to cut federal spending $5 Billion and to impose a 10% surtax. We are a national family faced with potential bankruptcy. We have worried and talked for a decade now. If we don't act promptly the next decade will be a difficult one, indeed.

LOW-INCOME HOUSING—The Housing and Urban Affairs subcommittee has sent the Senate an important bill to help make housing available to citizens of low income. It is working to ensure that the bill's emphasis remains there, where the need is greatest.

big spring fair of the Americas is underway. It's excitement and beauty will attract thousands of tourists from outside our state. I hope a lot of Texans will be able to go, too.

CORRESPONDENCE—My Washington, Austin and Houston offices receive about a thousand pieces of mail each day. I continue to do my very best to respond to your personal letters, and my experienced staff is both willing and able to help answer questions, fill requests or respond to problems involving the federal government.

I regret that these newsletters to you have been a little low and far between recently. That's because requests for the newsletter have pushed the mailing list upwards toward a quarter-million Texas individuals and families. In order to allow more frequent, flexible mailings it's been necessary to undertake a time-consuming transition to a computerized, magnetic-tape mailing system.

I hope you will not hesitate to share with me the addresses of any of your friends interested in receiving these newsletters.

And, I'd appreciate it if at the same time you would check the envelope to see that your address is correctly listed. If not, send me the envelope with the correction noted.

Presently there are two major topics of speculation in capital corridors:

1. When will Gov. John Connally call the legislature into special session?

2. Who will win the gubernatorial runoff race. Conservative Preston Smith or Liberal Don Yarbrough?

As for Item #1, Governor Connally must call the lawmakers back to the capitol by mid-June at the latest to pass a 1969 budget and a new tax bill ranging in the $125,000,000 a year bracket. Congressional approval of the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge may drive the state tax requirement even higher. This because a reduction in income will affect the sales tax revenue in Texas.

Legislators mention June 4, June 10 and June 11 as probable starting dates. Rumors were widespread at least week's Legislative Budget Board meeting calling the session before the June 1 runoff election.

Gov. Preston Smith told reporters that he feels it will be "difficult" for the legislature to pass a major tax bill in a 30-day special session, starting cold.

House Appropriations Committee Chairman W. S. Heatly of Paducah noted that never before have lawmakers been called to pass a complete general appropriations bill in a bobtailed session. He said he would like to start his committee to work unofficially on budget proposals even before the session begins, in hope of meeting the deadline.

As the legislature did not have its hands full with financial matters, liquor-by-the-drink advocates are urging Connally to submit that red hot issue to the special session. Passage of a May 4 referendum favoring mixed-drink sales by a narrow margin added impetus for early consideration by legislators.

Smith and key lawmakers feel that the referendum was not conclusive enough numerically to be of any great benefit in winning legislative approval of mixed drink sales.

As for Item #2, Smith and Yarbrough now are engaged in a runoff battle to determine who will be the Democratic candidate for governor of Texas.

Yarbrough led by 36,000 votes in the first primary. But Smith quickly picked up the whole hearted endorsements of third placed candidate Waggoner Carr and fifth place runner Eugene Locke.

Classic liberal-conservative lines are drawn in the Yarbrough-Smith clash. Researcher's contend that continuing disinterest and a light turnout on June 1 could prove disastrous to Smith.

Republican gubernatorial nominee Paul Egrers, who won hands down in a light-vote GOP primary, plans a serious, well-financed general election campaign against the winner of the Yarbrough-Smith runoff.

Ben Barnes won the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant governor over two opponents, State Rep. Don Gladson and former Rep. Gene Smith, both of Fort Worth. Barnes' near-record majority (exceeding 76 per cent) means that he will be a key figure in the state government during the next two years.

District Judge Tom Reavley of Austin and Sears McGee of Houston are new justices of the 14th State Supreme Court. They won Democratic nomination and are unopposed by Republicans.

VETERAN DPS CHIEF DIES—Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., 66, Texas' top police officer and head of the vast Department of Public Safety for 30 years, died of cancer.

All of the state's highest officials joined in mourning his loss.

"He was one of the most capable and effective law enforcement administrators in America," said Governor Connally. "Under his leadership, the Texas Department of Public Safety has become recognized throughout the nation as a symbol of law and order. His reputation will live as a personal tribute to Colonel Garrison."

Wilson E. Speil is serving as acting director of DPS.

COURT'S SPEAK—U. S. Supreme Court has postponed a suit which would require the State of Colorado to meet the obligations of downstream discharges from the Rio Grande as long as the state meets compact requirements for supplying water to Texas and New Mexico. Suit can be resumed any time Colorado fails to comply.

State Supreme Court upheld a $44,400 damage verdict favoring a Jefferson County woman who claimed she suffered back injuries when a 200-pound bill collector for a loan company pushed her against a wall by forcing open a door. Over-zealous collector came to collect a car note.

High Court set June 12 for review of an insurance company's claim that it is not obligated to pay on its bond covering a building contractor for concrete sold directly to the owner of a new apartment complex that's under construction.

Travis County 126th District Court continued its temporary injunction against the Liquor Control Board enforcing the ban on cash sales in private bottle clubs. Case will be heard in July.

NEW BAR OFFICERS—State Bar Association reports that Josiah Wheat, 89-year-old Woodville attorney, is the new president-elect of the State Bar of Texas. He defeated Bar Vice-president R. E. Schneider Jr. of George West in a balloting among state lawyers. He will assume the presidency July 1, 1969.

Yarbrough Newsletter

By U. S. Senator Ralph Yarbrough

We of Texas have always been fortunate in having a unique land, blessed by nature; an attractive and varied land. But the time has come to look ahead, to preserve our heritage and unique countryside for the day when our children will inherit the lands and environment we are creating now.

So far, Texas has been successful in her overall conservation efforts. My Padre Island Bill created an unparalleled National Seashore preserving the Texas coastline; my Guadalupe National Park Bill was passed by Congress and that mountainous region of West Texas will remain unspoiled; Big Bend National Park set up over 20 years ago insures that the Rio Grande River will be enjoyed by generations to come; but the lore and wildlife of the Big Thicket area of East Texas will be lost forever if action is not taken now to conserve this Texas jungle land.

In the Big Thicket in Southeast Texas near Beaumont, man is a stranger in nature's setting, a setting dominated by wild birds and animals becoming increasingly rare in this country. This is the only place in the United States where the Ivory Billed Woodpecker is claimed to be found. But the time is near when the woodpeckers, the wildcats, and the red wolves will fall victim of the encroachment of a modern civilization that destroys the natural habitat of these species, making them strangers in man's world.

After touring the area in Liberty, Hardin, Tyler and Polk Counties in 1966, I introduced a bill into the Senate to create a Big Thicket National Park of at least 75,000 acres. I re-introduced the bill in January of last year. Since that time I have been trying to force a report out of the Interior Department favoring the establishment of this park.

Many of the nation's conservation societies have endorsed the Big Thicket National Park, but the force of popular opinion may come too late to save the tall trees from lumber saws, adopted professional standards for Texas kindergarten teachers. This step could be in the direction of recent suggestions of public, state-supported kindergartens.

Board also took note of the state's desegregation problems by approving the appointment of two more staff members to the Texas Education Agency to work solely with local school districts in complying with federal law and court decisions on the subject.

REPORT FROM DOWDY

BY U. S. REP. JOHN DOWDY

QUESTIONNAIRE RESULTS—I have received your answers on more than 12,000 opinion ballots I sent to you several weeks ago. I am grateful for your response. A few are still counting in, but not enough to change the percentage results. I had hoped to furnish the answers to you earlier, but the primary election campaign intervened, and I felt I should spend all the spare time I had to campaign for re-election. This also made it possible to include the questionnaires that were returned to the interval.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each of you for the wonderful majority I received in the voting, and an extra expression of my gratitude for the tireless and unselfish devotion of my multitude of friends who worked so hard to insure the splendid victory. The overwhelming win gives me renewed energy and courage to carry out your wishes as your Congressman.

Your expression of opinion to the questions, to the nearest half of one per cent, was as follows:

1. Do you favor the proposal to increase income taxes? 14% yes; 79% no.

2. Do you support the proposed tax on travel? 54% yes; 43.5% no.

3. Do you favor wage and price controls to combat inflation? 54% yes; 45% no.

4. Do you support the increases in government spending proposed in the budget? 8.5% yes; 89.5% no.

5. Do you believe federal spending should be reduced? 92.5% yes; 5% no.

6. Do you favor the Poverty Program? 13.5% yes; 82% no.

7. Do you favor abolishing the Electoral College system and allowing voters to cast their ballots directly for President and Vice President? 79.5% yes; 16% no.

8. Should the U. S. continue aid and trade with nations aiding North Vietnam? 2% yes; 94.5% no.

9. In dealing with civil disorders, do you favor:

(A) Stricter handling of rioters and demonstrators by police and the courts? 97% yes.

(B) Massive increase in federal spending as proposed by the President's Panel on Unrest? 2% do not add up to 100%. The difference will indicate the percentage that did not express an opinion of any given question. Because of lack of space, the answers to Question 2 concerning the conduct of the Vietnam War, are omitted here, but will be given next week.

Beaumont Resident Recalls Indian Days

May 15, 1968. Beaumont Resident recalls Indian Days. Mrs. Myrtle Geldard of 525 E. Lucas buses heres with her crocheted book and the handwoven pillow about her chair, among fascinated watchers have been her five grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

After her marriage in Village Mills to George Walter Geldard, and moves to Beaumont, the Woodville and back, she has spent most of the past 60 years in Beaumont. Her husband, a millwright, died 25 years ago because she can't get around her house as well, she's given up her Woodman of the World lodge and church going at North End Baptist, but still manages to be active around the house.

America Still Is... ONE WOMAN'S OPINION

America is now in perhaps the greatest struggle of its existence to present to the world what our Godless Liberty has stood for these many years. But like a decent and respectable family where some of the children have behaved in a disgraceful manner, it is cut to the heart by the present hoodlums and lawlessness. Like a cancerous growth on a fair young face, a cause and a cure must be obtained. The strange and savage methods being followed by these protesters reminds one of an old time saying 'cutting off your nose to spite your face'.

Elect Lewis Craven Sheriff of Tyler County. I, Lewis Craven, will provide a positive program for all the people of Tyler County. There are old men in the sheriff's department. This is sufficient to have a man by the telephone 24 hours per day.

Let's Go Fishing

ROUGH... BUT TASTY The rough fish problem is not like the weather - every one takes a beating, but no action. Unlike the weather, though, this is one problem that can be solved by eating it up if enough fishermen would let out their boats and overcome their repugnance towards the rough species.

The table qualities of many rough fish surprise even the most finicky eater, observe the experts at Mercury outdoors. When properly prepared, they become a gourmet's delight, as is the case with most anything that swims, flies or runs.

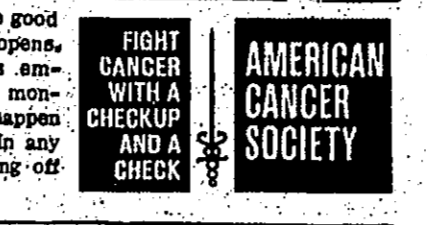

Many of these are caught commercially but find their way into the fish markets under assumed brand more palatable names. The white whiting you buy must be drum, "bonosue" cat is often the odd looking jagg fish or spoonbill. Non-sport fish in saltwater receive an even more impressive array of monikers.

Head Start By Bobwhites Forecast Good Season

Bobwhite quail have started nesting in Bexar and Wilson counties, according to Parks and Wildlife District Field Representative Roy Holstein.

They said if present conditions continue, this area could produce an exceptional quail crop this year.

South Texas should have good shooting when the season opens. Of course, the biologist emphasize, that is still seven months away, and a lot can happen in that length of time.
