Citizens State Bank To Observe 50th Anniversary

Citizens State Bank is planning a gala open house celebration—with music, refreshments, souvenirs, costumes and free savings accounts—from 3 to 6 p.m., Friday, May 8, in honor of its 50th year in Woodville.

The anniversary celebration will feature a "1920's" theme, based on the bank's first day of business—May 8, 1920.

"We are inviting everyone in Woodville and the surrounding area to our open house," said Carey L. Cruse, president. He said that more than 300 invitations had been sent to officers and directors of every bank in East Texas and several other banks in the state.

Three $50 savings accounts will be given away at a drawing sometime during the open house, Cruse said. Savings account passbooks will be issued to the winners.

"Flappers"—Cherry Swearingin and Rhonda Sloan—will serve punch in the bank lobby during the open house. The girls are juniors at Kirby High School and daughters of bank employees, Mrs. Hazel Swearingin, assistant cashier, and Mrs. Robbie Sloan, secretary.

An added attraction will be Mrs. Alma Peritecosti, of the Citizens State Bank bookkeeping department. She will dress as an old-fashioned "Grandma" and serve teacakes and butter-milk from a churn.

Favorite tunes of the '20's will be played by a "Dixieland combo" to be led by Jerry Brown, band director at Kirby High School.

In addition, special anniversary souvenirs will be given away in the lobby. These will include a souvenir newspaper filled with authentic 1920 news and advertisements.

"This will be a very special day to us, and we'll try to make it a special day to everyone who attends our open house," said Cruse. He added, "May 8 will mark half a century of financial service to Tyler County on the part of Citizens State Bank."

During the early years of its life, Citizens State Bank was the smallest of three banks in Woodville.

The other two were Tyler County State Bank and Woodville State Bank, later reorganized into the Guaranty Bond State Bank.

During the bank moratorium of the 1920's, Citizens State, though small, proved to be the strongest of the three financial institutions. It absorbed the Guaranty Bond State Bank, and Tyler County State Bank went out of business.

Since its organization, the bank has had six presidents: Alex Thompson, Hoxie Thompson, L. M. Feagin, D. P. Mann, Robert A. Mann, now chairman of the board and chief executive officer, and Cruse.

Citizens State's first directors were Thompson, Feagin, Mann, secretary of the board; J. A. Mooney, chairman; G. C. Lowe and T. E. Coleman. Charles Sigler was also a stockholder in the new bank.

The bank's first building was a two-story brick structure facing Bluff Street, which was then red clay.

In 1951, Citizens State moved to its present location at 102 West Bluff Street. Remodeling and modernization took place in the summer of 1967.

Now Citizens State Bank boasts a handsome, two-story white brick building with more than 16,000 square feet of space and an adjacent parking lot big enough for 64 autos. A community room, with adjoining social room, is used almost every night by civic and other groups, according to Cruse.

It was the first bank in Southeast Texas to construct a television motor banking facility, considered one of the most modern in the world.

There are 14 teller stations and five loan officer stations at Citizens State. The bookkeeping department is computerized.

Today the bank offers a total of 34 customer services, including checking and savings accounts; commercial, real estate and installment loans of all kinds, trust and fiduciary powers.

"We've come a long way since 1920," said Cruse. "And we hope to go even further during our next 50 years in Woodville."

Robert A. Mann and Carey L. Cruse, chief officers of Citizens State Bank, have long been active in both business and civic endeavors in Woodville. Both were born and reared in Tyler County.

Mann is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the bank, and Cruse is president.

Now a Waco resident, Mann is chairman of the board of eight financial institutions, including Citizens State Bank. As president of the Fidelity Services Corporation, a bank management company headquartered in Waco, Mann owns extensive interests in the bank here and in Sabine National Bank and Fidelity Savings and Loan, both in Port Arthur; first bank and trust, Richardson, East Texas Bank and Trust, Longview, Kilgore National Bank, Kilgore First National Bank and Bellmead State Bank, both in Waco. Total assets of the corporation are $218,982,328.

The Woodville native is the son of D. P. Mann, a former president of Citizens State. Robert A. Mann was president of the bank here from 1959 to 1967 and a director from 1953 to 1959. Since 1967, he has been chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

Mann is a member of the Finance Commission of the State of Texas. He was appointed by former Gov. John Connally.

While in Woodville, Mann was active in Woodville Methodist Church, where he was chairman of the board of finance.

Mann was a director of the Tyler County Industrial Corporation, president of the Woodville Chamber of Commerce and of the Rotary Club. He also was a member of the Boy Scout Finance Committee and active in the Trinity Neches Council of Boy Scouts of America.

The bank officer holds a degree in banking and finance from Southern Methodist University. He is a former member of the board of members of Lamar State College of Technology, Beaumont.

Carey L. Cruse, a lifelong resident of Tyler County, has been president of Citizens State since 1967. He started his career with the bank here in 1940, after graduation from Baylor University, Waco.

He began as a teller, then became assistant cashier in 1946. Cruse was elected to the board of directors in 1950, and was named vice president of the bank in 1952. His next promotion was to senior vice president in 1962.

The bank president is a past president of the Woodville Lions Club. He is chairman of the Dogwood District of Boy Scouts of America, and is on the board of directors of the Southeast Texas Savings and Loan Association, Woodville; Sam Houston Electric Co.,

A runoff primary will be held June 6 in Tyler County to choose Democratic nominees for the offices of county judge and for commissioner in precinct two (Chester).

In the race for county judge on the Democratic ticket, Richard (Tom Dick) Mann led the three-man field with 1424 votes to 1282 for Allen Sturrock and 280 for Robert E. Jackson.

In precinct two, H. H. Powell, the incumbent, received 298 to trail H. M. Parks with 328. The third candidate, Cecil Barnes, received 132 votes to throw the race into the runoff primary.

In precinct four, Thomas R. (Bo) Jordan defeated Adriel Outom, 593 votes to 342.

In the precinct one race for justice of the peace, E. A. Sturrock scored a surprise win over Joe H. Loggins, the incumbent, with 829 votes to Loggins 461.

Other county officials seeking re-election had no opposition in the primary. Candidates and the votes polled are Hilda Coats, district clerk, 2151; Otha Miles, county clerk, 2152; Fletcher Boyd, county treasurer, 2081, and E. M. Minter, county superintendent of schools, 2112.

In state races, Lloyd Bentsen carried Tyler County over Ralph Yarborough, 1569 to 1311, about the same margin the Bentsen defeated Yarborough statewide.

Attorney General Crawford Martin carried the county overwhelmingly over his opponent, David H. Brown, 2086 to 495. In the land commissioner race, Jerry Sadler received 1327 votes, Bob Armstrong 1057, and Steve Williams 225. Over the state, Sadler lost. He is a former saw mill operator in Doucette, moving from here in the 1950s.

Ben Ramsey received 2090 votes to 463 for Connie Lawson to easily carry the county for re-election as railroad commissioner.

For associate justice supreme court of Texas, place 3, James G. Denton got 1220 votes in the county to 390 for each of his opponents, Matt Davis and Hawthorne Phillips.

In the only other contested race, for judge of the court of criminal appeals, Truman Roberts carried the county with 1089 votes to Earl W. Smith's 1070.

Unopposed state and district candidates in the Democratic primary were U. S. Rep. John Dowdy 1870; Lt.-Gov. Ben Barnes 1992; Comptroller Robert S. Calvert 1917; State Treasurer Jesse James 1966; Commissioner of Agriculture John White 1840; Supreme Court Associate Justice Jack Pope, place 1, 1754 votes; Justice Ruel C. Walker, place 2, 1659; presiding judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, John F. (Jack) Onion, Jr. 1627; State Rep. Don Adams 2000; State Board of Education, Carl Morgan 1727; and Associate Justice, Court of Civil Appeals, Ninth District, Quentin Keith, 1637.

Welcome Service Greets Three New Resident Families

The visiting team of the Welcome Service of Tyler County had the pleasure of greeting three new resident families this week. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fitzwater have decided that Woodville is the ideal spot to raise their two children, Theresa Jean 9, and Howard, Jr. 7. They were greeted while in the midst of painting and polishing their home before moving their furniture from Bridge City. Mr. Fitzwater has been employed by the Continental Can Co. in Beaumont for many years as a machine adjuster. Prior to residence in Bridge City, the Fitzwaters lived in Long Beach, California. Mr. and Mrs. Ovey Segura were greeted by the visiting team soon after they purchased their beautiful retirement home in Colmesneil. Mr. Segura retired from Texaco, Inc., where he worked many years as a special equipment operator. They are looking forward to enjoying retirement in the country and meeting many of their former Port Arthur friends. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dupuis, Jr., former residents of Bridge City, are looking forward to enjoying their new home in Ivanhoe. They are the parents of daughters, Debbie 14, and Donna 11. Mr. Dupuis is employed as administrator at the Woodville Nursing Center.

Local Couple Attends Convention In New Orleans

Mr. and Mrs. David Mann of Mann Furniture in Woodville were among members of the Retail Furniture Association of the Southwest who attended the 47th annual convention in New Orleans May 2 through 5. The president of Baumritter Corp., and the executive editor of House and Gardens Magazine headlined the list of speakers. Nat Ancell, president of Baumritter, manufacturers of Ethan Allen furniture spoke on "The Shape of Things to Come," outlining predictions on design and merchandising trends which would affect the furniture industry in the decade ahead. Annette Francis, House and Gardens editor, discussed how to capitalize on color for prestige and profit, pointing out new color trends in home furnishings. Ray Bohman, National Furniture Traffic Conference president, conducted two sessions on solving freight problems. During the convention the group had a tour of the French Quarter and the Garden District; the ladies had luncheon at the Court of Two Sisters, and social highlights included the annual awards luncheon and the president's ball which honored incoming and outgoing officers. Guest speaker at the final luncheon was Cajun raconteur and philosopher Marie LaBlanc. Approximately 300 furniture people from throughout the Southwest attended the convention which was the first one ever held outside the State of Texas.

LIBRARY NOTES By Ruth White

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Shivers on a recent visit gave books and magazines to the library. They also brought additional books for the rare book room. Mr. Shivers says, "We want readers to feel welcome to read in the rare book room." These books are not to be checked out but readers can spend a pleasant afternoon there on Saturday or Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Edwards gave a book in memory of "Speck" Risinger. Mrs. Vicki Warfield gave fifty books to the library. Readers liking novels may be interested to know that the Allan Shivers Library has Wilson's "Fiction Catalog." This reviews the books suggested for purchase by public libraries. In it books are briefly reviewed and readers can become acquainted with the newer novels.

America Still Is...

ONE WOMAN'S OPINION
By Mrs. Ethel O. Hill

America, the beautiful. And East Texas America, the super-beautiful. And highways from this area on to San Antonio cannot be described in mere words. The highway edges bordering our paved travel lanes were more like broad strips of fresh rainbows unrolled by celestial hands. I could not feel patriotic, or have a proper love for my native land. If my whole being did not thrill with ecstacy at the sight of it all. Bluebonnets, red-roses (pink) star flowers, field daisies, whole meadows of shining gold, Indian paint, and galardias, also called Indian Blankets, hendes of honey suckle, silvery-white wild poppies, little bushes of pink or pale lavender asters. It would take an entire book of wild flowers to name them all. Many visitors from the north and east think these are planted by our official highway department, especially the miles of pink prim roses. (In an old scrap book I have a snapshot of these fragile blossoms bordering the road from Port Arthur to Anahuac, about fifty miles without a tree or bush (this snap shot was taken in 1927) and still clear. Then, as now, the highway department refrained from mowing these, and other wild plants, until they had finished blooming and shed their seeds. I salute our beauty-conscious highway officials. Some of the younger ladies in our group had never heard that blue bonnets were once called buffalo clover, and that farmers said that watermelons grew bigger and sweeter and corn grew higher and yellower when planted on fields formerly covered with Blue Bonnets. We also thrill to see the care and preservation of that wonderful, mysterious bit of forest called "The lost pines" since no one knows how it became started there, far from the natural pine forests of East Texas. The highway has been cut through the very center of this grove and leaving a beautiful border of trees on either side. Conservation indeed! The recent, and continuing practice of destroying marvelous trees of historic beauty and value is a shame to the commercial-minded persons, or organizations who ordered this sacrilege. It burns me up! There I go again. But I think my remote ancestors must have been tree worshippers. This is one column in which I have not even mentioned "head lines" but I have a pile of them on my desk for later.

Arriving in San Antonio, we found surprising beauty on every side. This from a once sun-dried, dusty little town with scarcely a tree within the city limits.

Astide from what the cities garden club has sponsored and accomplished, the city fathers have set an example that might be followed by big cities and small towns.

But the tremendous work of beautifying the river from end to end and from bank to bank, points up another thing often overlooked in the thinking of this mechanical age. Modern power tools and equipment still depends greatly on the time-honored labor of human hands. Those beautiful, high brick walls, that retain the earth from drift into the water, were erected by hand labor. No machines yet invented can place brick by brick, countless thousands of them, into perpendicular walls, which are worked of art and beauty, and every skilled brick layer and cement mason is as much an artist as though one who paints the picture of the completed work. Man's handwork is still a valuable asset to the most complicated earth.

Source of man's sustenance since human birth. So let all men try to preserve, enhance, earth's beauty. Make it a task of pride and joy.

Not merely civic duty. And with heart and mind salute those fine young Americans who did such a wonderful work on the recent "Earth Day." No moon dust or rocks were needed, just its silvery light shining on earth's beauty. And I think that is all the moon is supposed to do.

O. L. Marsh On State Textbook Selection Committee

O. L. Marsh of Woodville is one of the 15 public school teachers and administrators who will select the 1970 list of textbooks to be adopted for the next one to six years in Texas. The committee was named Monday by the State Board of Education.

The new State Textbook Committee will meet for the first time at 8:30 a.m. Friday at the Texas Education Agency in Austin to begin its five-month series of work sessions and public hearings.

New text materials will be adopted November 9 by the State Board of Education. This list of new books will then be mailed to local school districts November 23. Here, local textbook committees will make the final selection for their own districts from the state adoption list.

Members of the State Textbook Committee, each representing a different Congressional district will examine new materials submitted by publishers beginning June 1, and continuing through the summer. The committee will hold a public hearing if there are any protests at the Agency building September 15. Final balloting on each series of books will begin the following day.

The State Board of Education will hear final appeals and adopt new textbooks on November 9.

Other committee members are Dr. Nolan Estes, Dallas; Mrs. Sue Sanders Loew, Bryan; Mrs. Reta W. Elrod, Spring Branch (Houston); Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, Austin; Samuel Howard, Waco; Mrs. Margie Hendrick, Corpus Christi; Antonio Molina, Zapata; Jimmy E. Walters, Clear Creek (Galveston); Rosendo E. Respiratory Therapy Department Set-Up At County Hospital

By JERRY STEPHENSON

The Board of Managers, medical staff, and administration of the Tyler County Hospital are proud to announce the finalization of plans to establish a respiratory therapy department at the hospital.

In keeping with the hospital goals of better patient care, a respiratory therapy department has been added to the many services already available to patients. Respiratory therapy can be used in the treatment of patients with various types of pulmonary or cardio-pulmonary abnormalities.

Increasing pulmonary disease requires and demands that this type of department be organized and operated by specially trained personnel. Treatments will be available for inpatients as well as outpatients under the physicians' directions.

Various types of equipment which the physician may require will be available to provide optimum care for his patients.

Emergency respiratory care will be provided in those cases when time is important as well as long-term management of patients having respiratory difficulties.

21 sponsors, 73 endorse and 44 directors of Southeast Texas RCD&D working with all local, State and Federal Agencies are helping the local people provide a better environment in which to live.

The purpose of the organization is to provide local leadership, required for developing and carrying out a plan for the orderly conservation, improvement, development, and revise use of the natural resources, thereby improving the entire opportunities of the people within the Southeast Texas Resource Conservation and Development Project. The Project covers 5 1/2 million acres. This is all of San Jacinto, Polk, Tyler, Jasper, Newton, Hardin, Liberty, Orange, Jefferson and Chambers Counties and a portion of Galveston County.

There are more than 150 project measures in the Southeast Texas RCD&D Project that will improve the environment. One of these is accelerated soil surveys. These surveys properly interpreted are a must for all land use planning. Every individual, group, organization, association, or agency of government must develop plans based on these surveys. Many have come to recognize the value of these surveys for example, Timber Companies and River Authorities are setting up Trust Funds to help the Soil Conservation Service pay for these soil surveys.

Another project measure is the many State Health Department approved Refuse Disposal Areas.

There are more than 70 Rural Communities that will receive adequate and clean water supply systems. Ten of these are already in operation. Loans are being provided by the Farmers Home Administration.

Group action plans for minority communities and low income areas to improve housing, health, sanitation, recreation and education.

Eradication of the Imported Fire Ant. It is estimated that this ant causes one billion dollars damage annually in the Southern States. The ant causes human suffering, loss of life for many animals and birds. Adequate Sewage Systems to reduce water pollution are also a part of the plan.

Questions and Answers

Q. Last year, my cousin got his first job, and his employer insisted on seeing his social security card before he would let him start to work. Being a nice guy, I lent him mine since he had lost his card and we both go by initials only—the same ones. I now know that we made a mistake, but the problem is how can we straighten this out with social security?

A. The best approach is for you and your cousin to visit your nearby social security office. Take with you all available wage receipts or other records of employment. The social security people will then examine both social security records and make the needed corrections. They will also assure that your cousin is issued a duplicate social security card showing his correct number.

Q. My wife and I have both worked full time since our marriage 10 years ago. We are both concerned over the social security contributions she must pay, especially since she can get payments on my work record. Why deduct from my wife's earnings when she can get payments with her work record, whether she works or not?

A. It's true that your wife could qualify for payments on your social security record whether she works or not. However, an important consideration is the valuable protection she has built up as a result of her own work. Now that she has worked 10 years, she can be assured of a benefit on her own record at 62 or later. She can receive this benefit even if you continue to work after her retirement. Also, the chances are that the benefit on her own record will be higher than the benefit payable as a dependent wife. Your wife's work also gives her disability protection if she should become disabled before 65. If you have children, they also would be eligible to receive survivors benefits based on her work. And, in the event of her death, a lump-sum death payment would be made even if you had no children.

4-H Team Wins First Place In District 9 May 2

The Tyler County entomology team, competing in the District 9 contest at Nacogdoches Saturday, and came back with a first place ribbon, according to County Agent Clinton Currie.

Members of the team are James Lee Chapman, Phil Hicks, and LaWayne Ratcliff.

The team was trained by Donald Sheffield, junior 4-H leader.

Frosty Weather Follows Rains

The cool front which caused heavy rains that dumped up to four inches of rain in this area Thursday and Friday gave way to partly cloudy election day.

But it was Monday morning that Tyler County's temperatures plunged all the way down to 48 and perhaps cooler in the north part of the county. Tuesday morning also was cool with readings around 50 degrees.

King Loses No-Hitter; Eagles Lose 1-0

Jimmy King lost a no-hitter in the last inning and the Eagles dropped a 1-0 decision to the Little Cypress Bears last Thursday night. Jimmy had hurled six strong innings, fanning nine men and striking five. He had one out in the seventh inning when he lost his no-hitter. Don Dean, Danielis, this put runners on first and second with one out. Jimmy fanned John Young for strikeout number ten before Dwight Morris drilled an easy ground ball to Bruce Burton. Bruce in his haste to get the runner, making all the time in the world, made a poor throw to Weldon McCallion. But Jimmy's pitching performance was superb. He struck out 10 and walked just two. Citizens Takes Two 14-11, 9-7 Citizens State Bank opened their season play against the Big Sandy Indians in action last Wednesday night. Citizens took both games by scores of 14-11 and 9-7. In the first game, the Indians jumped out in front in the second game 6-3 with the fifth inning when Phillips started a rally with a single. The rally garnered five runs and gave the Bankers an 8-3 lead. The final scores came in the next inning. Henigan and Richard Evans were once again the leaders in the hitting department with each getting three. Jimmy Evans and Larry Odom were next with two hits for the winners. Odom and Henigan were each hit home runs also. George Boulware was the winning pitcher for the Bankers.

Eagles Tame Cougars 7-4

Woodville took a 7-4 decision from the Buna Cougars in their game last week. Woodville opened the scoring in the second inning when Robert Greenwood touched base. Greenwood lined a single to center. Gary Simpson followed and was struck by a pitched ball. Then a double deal was performed by these two speedsters and out runners as second and third with no one out. Jimmy King walked to lead the bases before Bruce Burton rolled a durner to the shortstop scoring Greenwood from third. Steve Jones walked to the catcher before Weldon McCallion walked to once again load the bases with two runs. This rally was stifled out when Buna backstop Richard Roundtree pegged to first base catching McCallion a little far from the bag. Rod Bartley opened the next frame with a single. Phillip

Water unbraked on Cougar. The Or. Don Brown, for his third district honor this year starting Monday night at 10:30. This Brown was not far from as Robert Greenwood touched base. Greenwood lined a single to center. Gary Simpson followed and was struck by a pitched ball. Then a double deal was performed by these two speedsters and out runners as second and third with no one out. Jimmy King walked to lead the bases before Bruce Burton rolled a durner to the shortstop scoring Greenwood from third. Steve Jones walked to the catcher before Weldon McCallion walked to once again load the bases with two runs. This rally was stifled out when Buna backstop Richard Roundtree pegged to first base catching McCallion a little far from the bag. Rod Bartley opened the next frame with a single. Phillip

Mantle Honored In Astrodome

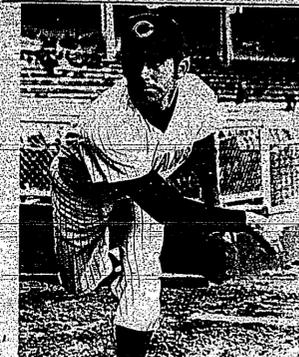

Mickey Charles Mantle, certainly to enter baseball's Hall of Fame four years from now. He will be honored with the first "Great Moments in the Astrodome" award at home plate Saturday afternoon, May 9 in the Astrodome. Mantle, one of the great names in baseball, made his history in the Astrodome by hitting the first home run in the

SIX CHEERLEADERS CHOSEN

MANTLE

Special guest that day, the Astros also are inviting Boy Scouts and Astro Buddies to attend free of charge. On the centerfield message screen flashed the early morning 92-member Bishop High School Band of Bishop, Texas, will play. Mantle's feat certainly was a memorable event in the Astrodome. A doubtful starter when the New York Yankees were scheduled to meet the newly-named Astros (the Colt .45s from 1962-69), Mantle played despite an ailing knee. An overflow crowd of 47,876 persons including President Lyndon Johnson attended the inaugural game. Mantle, a switch hitter who was swinging from the left side against Pittsburgh's Dick Farrell, led off the sixth inning in a 9-0 game. He drove the ball high and deep toward right center for a homer in the Astrodome, and Jimmy Wynn backedpedaled frantically, then looked against the fence. Halfway around the bases Mantle hesitated, uncertain whether the ball had been caught or not. But umpire Stan Lane waved him on, and the stands erupted in a cascade of "Why I hit that with my forearm," Mickey told him.

PHIL HENIGAN
and mother, watching from the stands. Phil is a former freshman of the Cleveland Indians. He is the brother of local high school great who along with his brother led the Bulldogs to many a championship. Henigan is a relief pitcher for the Indians and pitched out three hits to lead the attack. Gary Evans and Larry Odom were next with two hits for the winners. Odom and Henigan were each hit home runs also. George Boulware was the winning pitcher for the Bankers.
