Justice of the Peace J. H. Loggins, who conducted an inquest, said the man left a note directing persons to be notified. He had checked into the motel about 5 p.m. Monday and had apparently occupied the bed for some time before hanging himself from the tree.

Brandl was a salesman working out of Yaokum for a sading out of Yoakum for a saddlery firm. He was driving a pickup truck with a cover in which he carried saddles and other leather goods. However, he directed that a Yoakum funeral home be notified to come for his body. He cities for the coveted crown of also directed that his employers at the saddlery firm be notified of his death...

Woodville's Volunteer Fire Department has had more than its quota of fires during the past week.

The volunteer firemen have answered II calls from Thursday through Monday. No calls were received Tuesday up to 3:30 p.m. as this was being written.

Monday's rash of fire calls, four in all, were rural and kept the fire department's rural truck on the run.

The busy week for the firemen began last Thursday with a call to a residence in town where, a stove was thought to be overheating. Two grass fires Friday and two Saturday were answered with the rural truck, and another Sunday morning north of Doucette in which residences were threatened by woods fires.

Monday's four calls started with a run to a bridge fire on a county road one mile south of Triple D Guest Ranch, Firemen reported that the wooden structure had apparently been set on fire about the center A woods fire west of Woodville on the old Pure Oil road just west of Harmony threatened some buildings and the fire destroyed one storage shed.

Monday's third call was to a ._ house fire three miles east' of Doucette. The house and a pickup truck parked nearby were destroyed. The house was occupied by the Arthur Settler family.

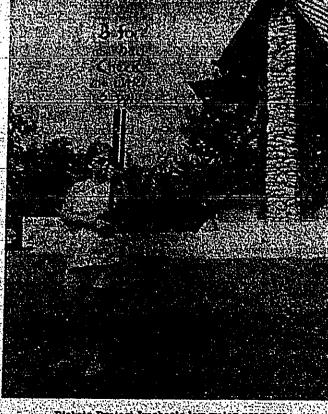

Later Monday the firemen answered a call to a pulpwood truck fire about seven miles south of Woodville on Highway A dragging chain evidently hit the truck's gas tank causing an explosion. The driver jumped from the truck and was apparently unhurt.

Firemen caution everyone t the extremely dr makes the fire danger high and urge caution in burning trash and leaves. Any outdoor fire can quickly spread to adjoining grass or brush to cause a woods or grass fire which can endanger dwellings and " other buildings.

The Texas Forest Service's district office also is pointing up that dry conditions can cause wild forest fires, which can burn across several acres before being brought under control. Only two large fires have been controlled by the Forest Service in the past few days. One was in Polk County which burned 20 acres and another in Hardin County which also burned 20 acres. . Unless some rain falls the fire danger will become greater as the dry, hot weather
