West Family Goes On Camera Safari In Angola, Africa

Mr. and Mrs. Bob West and children, Rusty and Angela of Texas, Angola with a group of Americans, went on a "camera safari" in the Quicama National Game Preserve in Angola, Africa. While there they saw many different kinds of beautiful birds in wild animal. The most exciting part of the trip was meeting a herd of elephants.

At night the group stayed in huts on the camp on top of a mountain overlooking the game preserve and Quicama river. The huts were of a stone with grass roofs.

Seeing the animals live in their natural surroundings was a new experience and one that will be remembered by the entire group.

The West family returned to Africa in July where he is employed by Cabana Golf Oil Co. after a visit with their daughter, Amber, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Weaver and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. West of Warren.
